TOKIO LOSES CHINA GRIP

Dream of Power Fades Fast

Fear of Russia Drives Her to Defensive, Currying Peking's Favor

Financial Weakness and Boycott Threat Back of Withdrawal

BY EUGENE J. YOUNG
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1926, by Eugene J. Young]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Six years ago Japanese troops at Hankow were in control of the Yang-tse Valley. Other Japanese troops were at Tsing-tao and Tsinan controlling Shantung Province, its railroads and the southern approaches to Peking. Manchuria and Inner Mongolia and the northern approaches to Peking were completely under Japanese domination.

The pro-Japanese Anfu Club manipulated the wires which controlled the actions of the Peking government. Japanese garrisons held the strategic points in Siberia east of Baikal. Tokio dreamed of a commercial empire in Eastern Asia which would be bigger and more populous than the United States.

FEAR REPRISALS

Only six years ago! And now, having lost her grip on Hankow and Shantung and Peking and Siberia, Japanese troops are hastening out of Mukden and loosening the grip of the Tokio militarists on Manchuria, the final stronghold in China. They were rushed to Mukden recently to overawe Chinese factions fighting for possession of that city. They are withdrawing because the Japanese authorities fear Chinese anger and reprisals.

By her action, Japan confesses that for the present at least she cannot pursue in safety the intrigue she has been carrying on for years to make Manchuria a Japanese province.

SIGN OF WEAKNESS

Japan fully realizes that if she loses her hold on Manchuria she may next lose Korea and be driven off the mainland. For years it has been a cardinal principle of Tokio's military and foreign policy to hold this land as a bulwark and a jumping-off place for a further advance for the empire which was to sustain the teeming millions of the homeland. Yet we see

GOVERNOR ASKS FOR NO. 999-999

State Chief Applies for Auto License Plates in San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 3.—One of the first applicants for new license plates when the motor vehicle branch office here began issuing the 1926 series was Gov. Richardson. The Governor did not appear in person, but sent his request through the mail. His action was prompted by the fact that one of the numbers assigned to San Diego this year was one he particularly desired. So he sent to this city for No. 999-999 and got it, too.

CABINET OF KING BORIS QUITS POST

Resignation of Ministry Due to Dissensions, Says Bulgarian Premier

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SOFIA (Bulgaria) Jan. 3.—Premier Tzankoff tendered the resignation of the Cabinet to the King today and it was accepted. The inability of the Premier to obtain harmony within the ministry brought about the resignation.

There was a stormy session of the Chamber of Deputies last night at which the lack of harmony was extremely evident. This prompted the Premier to call a meeting today of the leaders of the majority and after this meeting the report was current in Parliament circles that the resignation was imminent.

Andrey Liaptcheff, former Minister of Finance, it is expected, will be asked to form a new ministry, in which he would be supported by the same political groups as were represented in the outgoing ministry

M. Liaptcheff, who is a Macedonian, enjoys the reputation of being a good financier.

GREEK RULE COLLAPSES

Premier Seizes Control

Dictatorship Declared and Military Will Back New Regime

Guard Parades Streets of Athens Acclaiming Pangalos

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ATHENS, Jan. 3.—Premier Pangalos today announced what amounts to a military dictatorship. He will take over control of the entire government immediately. The announcement was made at a banquet given in honor of the Premier by the Democratic guard regiments.

After paying tribute to the patriotic conduct of the army in the grave national crisis since 1919, Premier Pangalos declared that he was compelled, for reasons that he will make public, to modify his attitude as from tomorrow. Henceforth he will assume entire responsibility for the government of the country and rely solely upon the power of the army and the national conscience in order to save Greece.

Some of the other Ministers attended the banquet, but not the head of the Foreign and Navy departments.

In his speech, M. Pangalos contended that since the revolution of 1909, the man who had made Greece powerful (Venizelos) had tried the experiment of Parliamentary government, but from that time the power of Greece had waned. Then came disaster in Asia Minor, followed by the revolution of 1922. That revolution was only a partial success, for it failed to produce a condition of healthy politics.

At the close of his speech, Pangalos was accorded an ovation. A guard numbering 200 then left the hall and paraded the principal streets acclaiming Pangalos.

It is understood that an official proclamation will be issued tomorrow. Elections to the Senate have been indefinitely postponed, but quiet prevails everywhere. It is declared that both the navy and the army are ready to support the Premier.

Gen. Pangalos, Greek Premier and Minister of War, intimated last August that he would establish a military dictatorship.

Pangalos was among the leaders who ousted King Constantine and put Crown Prince George on the throne. He resigned as Ministe of War in the Gonatas Cabinet to join the Greek army in Thrace fighting the Turks, and advanced to Generalissimo of the Greek army.

He resigned in 1923 and began a series of political military maneuvers designed to overthrow the existing dynasty and establish a republic. He was appointed military governor of Athens and in December, 1923, proclaimed a republic and demanded the resignation of the Gonatas government. Last June he overthrew the Michala Kopulos government through a military coup and became Premier. One of his first acts was to banish Col. Plastiras, another revolutionary, but an archfoe. He closed the Assembly and held new elections.

Mine Operators to Return With Failure of Plan

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The anthracite operators' negotiating committee is due in New York tomorrow night from the hard-coal region, with no additional plan for a settlement of the strike, which is in its fifth month. Neither have the mine workers any new plan to end the strike, it was indicated by their representatives in the anthracite region.

The American Coal Journal, in its current issue, asserts that the anthracite strike is a development growing out of signing of the soft-coal agreement in February, 1924, which was followed by idleness in the unionized soft-coal territory and the consequent shrinking of the union treasury; the hard-coal strike increasing the work in the union bituminous mines.

MARGHERITA OF ITALY IN NEW CRISIS

Dowager Queen Sinks Into Coma After Last Rites of Church Are Administered

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BORDIGHERA (Italy) Jan. 3. The death of Dowager Queen Margherita, mother of King Victor Emmanuel, is imminent. The last rites of the church have been administered. The Queen was in a coma throughout the day.

An official bulletin issued by the physicians this evening says: "During the early hours this morning the Dowager Queen suddenly showed symptoms of cerebral thrombosis. The end drew near rapidly, hour by hour. At 8 o'clock this evening her temperature was 102.2, pulse 118. The patient was in a state of coma."

King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena have arrived and are at her bedside. The end is thought to be not far off.

Queen Margherita was stricken December 16, 1925, with pulmonary pleurisy. Despite her advanced age—she celebrated her seventy-fourth birthday November 20, 1925—the royal patient showed steady improvement after the initial crisis and was officially declared convolescent.

RUBBER POLICY DEFENDED

Former British Chancellor Declares Present High Price Follows Increased Demand

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Jan. 3.—"The present outcry of America against the British rubber policy is not only ungenerous but unjustified." This opinion was expressed by Sir Robert Horne, M.P. and former Chancellor of the Exchequer, who recently returned from America, in a special article in this morning's Sunday Express.

Contrasting the conditions in England and America, Sir Robert said:

"For the last two years the high cost of raw American cotton has been to a considerable degree responsible for the inability of Lancashire to sell its goods with the consequence that unemployment has stalked like a grim specter through the streets of that once prosperous country."

It is only a few weeks since Sir Robert, who is a strong advocate of Anglo-American amity, stated in an American speech that the most important thing in the world is that America and England never misunderstand each other and it is for this reason he says that he enters the rubber controversy.

MISCONCEPTION SEEN

"When my friend, Nicholas Longworth, describes England's actions as an 'international swindle' it is clear to me that there is some misconception, which should be cleared up in order to preserve the happy relations of the two countries."

Sir Robert adds that he is probably in a better position than others to express an opinion owing to the fact that he was Chancellor at the time when the Stevenson plan was formulated. Then he points out the fact that restricted export was inaugurated in order to save the huge capital investment in rubber plantations, which was in danger of ruin in 1920 from the serious slump.

"Far too much importance," he says, "has been attributed to this restriction. The chief cause of the increased price is the enormous growth of the demand, particularly in the United States. The demand suddenly ran out the supply, balloon tires having much to do with the increased demands."

The truth is, he states, the old law of supply and demand applies to rubber as well as to other products. He expresses the opinion that without restriction many plantations would have had difficulties in 1921-1922 and the present supply of rubber would now be less with consequent higher prices.

COMPETITORS PAY SAME

"I am puzzled," he says, "as to what disadvantage the American consumer and manufacturer thinks he suffers from. He is paying exactly the same price as his British, French and Italian competitors. The British manufacturer has not gained at the expense of the American. In the world's markets they are on an absolutely equal footing.

"This, indeed, is understating the case because the United States is much more prosperous than the other nations and it can afford to pay the increased price better than the others. If it is true that they bear a greater total burden on account of their consumption it is also true that they make greater total profits."

He asks ironically if the Americans are being deprived of necessities and even luxuries by the rubber prices or if they are being prevented fom buying cars on account of tire prices.

Sir Robert sees behind the present outcry the fact that the Americans could have purchased a five years' supply of rubber up to a few months ago at a shilling, 6 pence (roughly 35 cents) but held off because they had seen the price at 11 pence (22 cents) and gambled on getting it at that price again. He states that when a business man makes an error in speculation he must take the consequences. He suggests that the manufacturers congratulate themselves that they had such a long time when they obtained rubber at philanthropic prices which benefited the consumer and ruined the producer.

MEXICAN REVOLT QUASHED

Army Frustrates Plot, Killing Leader and Fifteen Followers, With Loss of Six in Hour's Battle

BY JACK STARR-HUNT
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 3.—Federal forces completely frustrated an intended insurrection movement at Aguas Calientes early this morning. Eighty men led by Col. Jose G. Marquez attacked the barracks there in an attempt to launch an antigovernment movement. Official confirmation of a report which circulated during the day was issued by the War Office tonight.

The statement declared that Marquez and fifteen of his men were killed. The Federal forces lost one captain and five soldiers killed and two wounded. The official report stated that Marquez made a dying statement to the effect that it was his intention to inaugurate a revolution which was to be seconded in various sections of the country and which had the backing of exiled leaders of the 1923 De la Huerta revolution.

In connection with the plot, it was stated, arrests and executions were made in Guadalajara. Among the conspirators summarily shot was former Deputy Reynaldo Martinez. Others court-martialed and executed were Gabriel Ocampo, Arturo Galindo, Manual Ramirez and Felix Gallegos, all forming part of the Guadalajara revolutionary junta.

Prisoners declared that De la Huerta and former Gen. Enrique Estrada, both leaders of former frustrated revolts, were the chief movers. It also was reported that several persons were arrested here, number and names not being given. The fight at Aguas Calientes lasted an hour.

MARYSVILLE, Jan. 3.—Richard (Blackie) Ford will go to trial in Superior Court tomorrow on a charge of murdering E. T. Manwell, former District Attorney, during the Wheatland hop-field riots in 1913.

Ford was paroled from Folsom penitentiary several months ago, where he had served twelve years of a life sentence for the second-degree murder of Deputy Sheriff Riordan, also killed during the hop-field riots.

Fifty Cart Off Whisky Stocks Worth $80,000

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WESTMINSTER (Md.) Jan. 3. A band of thieves said to have numbered at least fifty men last night broke into the government liquor warehouse of the Industrial Grain Products Corporation at Tannery, bound three guards and four other men, and hauled away between seventy-five and 100 barrels of whisky.

The liquor was valued at $80,000.

FRESH DOWNPOUR BRINGS NEW PARIS FLOOD PERIL

Bodies Block Sluice Gates as Epidemic Threatens From Contamination of Wells

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Jan. 3.—The Parisians shifted their anxious scrutiny today from the Seine, whose troubled waters ceased mounting, to the skies, which are completely opened. The flood menace which forced the capital to prepare to get out rubber boots and rowboats thus is momentarily averted, but renewed rains pelting Paris and the most of France all day long have aroused fears of another crisis.

Great areas of France and Belgium continue under two or three feet of water from the countless streams, changed into dangerous torrents. Caen, William the Conqueror's Norman capital, saw the funeral services at Notre Dame interrupted and the mourners forced to flee for their lives when the muddy waters from the rampaging Orne crept in their nave.

The keepers of the locks of the network of canals in France and Belgium report that bodies of farm animals and sometimes even humans are blocking the sluice gates. While the waters in many areas are abating the authorities are taking desperate means to avoid an epidemic as a result of the contamination of the wells. The succor of families marooned on the second floors of houses still is straining the relief organizations, which are using motorboats to cover the vast inundated regions.

WORLD-WAR RAVAGES REPEATED BY FLOODS
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

COBLENZ, Jan. 3.—The full measure of ruin wrought by the Rhine floods becomes evident in a survey of the valley southward from Cologne to this erstwhile citadel of the American forces in Germany.

With the river overflowing its natural banks as far as two miles on each side, the entire countryside has been laid waste as thoroughly as by years of war. Dozens of villages bordering on the stream are completely submerged, not even their roofs showing above the surface. Scores of cottages, small stables, garages and granaries have been torn from their foundations and whirled out into the raging current to be battered to pieces against some stone bridge or other obstruction many miles away.

Farm lands and vineyards are inundated and when the water recedes will be coated with thick slime which cannot be removed until spring. The amount of live stock lost reaches a terrific total.

LIKE WAR SECTOR

Roads running from the flooded areas look like roads behind the western front in the war, with dejected caravans of homeless refugees wending their way to the nearest town for food and shelter. Scarcity of food is making itself felt in all the smaller centers. At Trier, where 2500 flood victims are housed in municipal barracks alone, the food shortage approaches a famine, owing to the rupture of railroad communications. Authorities are considering placing the entire population on rations.

Efficient rescue work here as elsewhere has extricated all inhabitants in inundated quarters of the city from their precarious plight in the upper stories and on roofs of dwellings surrounded by the swollen Moselle. At Rotenkirchen on the Rhine, a bursted dam let loose a volume of water as thick as pea soup against the British barracks occupied by a half-infantry company. On a call for volunteers to bring boats for the garrison's relief three Tommies swam through the stormy torrent, a distance of a quarter of a mile and returned minus their uniforms.

In near-by villages officers of the mess reached safety through water above their waists.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS

The small town of Neuwied, across the River Rhine a few miles is four-fifths submerged. Many homes were swept away or battered in by waves when the flood was at its worst and 15,000 persons, virtually the entire working class population, are jobless and homeless.

Doughboys who once knew Coblenz so well would scarcely recognize this city today. The famous bridge of boats long since disappeared and Ehrenbreitstein seems leagues away across a turbu-

TURN DOWN RABBI WISE RESIGNATION

Statement on Reality of Jesus Declared Not Violation of Faith

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The executive committee of the United Palestine Appeal tonight rejected the proffered resignation of Dr. Stephen S. Wise, of the Free Synagogue, as its chairman.

The retention of Dr. Wise as chairman was voted by the committee despite the intense opposition of Orthodox rabbis who denounced Dr. Wise as a heretic because of a sermon December 20, in which he said that Jesus was "a man, not a myth." The appeal's committee rejected the resignation by a vote of 59 to 9 after a session lasting twelve hours. The committee affirmed its faith in Dr. Wise's Judaism, rejecting the charges of the Orthodox rabbis that his stand on the question of Jesus's authenticity as a man and a Jew would tend to lead to the conversion of Jews to Christianity.

The committee of the appeal conducted its meeting tonight after resolutions had been adopted by the national executive committee of the Zionist organization of America urging the appeal to vote aginst acceptance of his resignation. The Zionist committee adopted the resolution by a vote of 70 to 1, two members not voting.

The opposition to Dr. Wise was led by representatives of Mizrachi and the New York Union of Orthodox Rabbis, which threatened the withdrawal of their support to the appeal's $5,000,000 campaign for the rehabilitation of Palestine if Dr. Wise is retained as chairman.

Scion of Noble Roman Family Dies in Crash

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ROME, Jan. 3. — Duke Guilio Lante Della Rovere, scion of one of the noblest Roman families, and son of the late Duke Ludovico Lante Della Rovere and Susanne Flighman of Philadelphia, was killed today in a motoring accident on the outskirts of Rome. Many of the most aristocratic Roman families will go into mourning in consequence of his death.

Duke Guilio, who just passed his twenty-second year, was in a high-powered car practicing for a race wherein he was to have participated next week.

While traveling close to 100 miles an hour he struck a horse-drawn car, which crossed his path from a side street His skull was fractured, his spinal column smashed, his chest crushed, and he died almost instantly. The mechanic at his ride was unhurt.

NATION GIVEN OIL SECRET

New Method of Increasing Production from Wells Laid Before President's Board

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Discoveries through which it is hoped to increase greatly the country's crude oil production have been laid before the President's oil board by Henry L. Doherty of New York, engineer and industrialist.

As a result of scientific study of the condition of the oil underground and the manner of its migration through the sands. Mr. Doherty believes that by new methods of mining it will be possible virtually to treble the output of many wells.

With several of his engineers he demonstrated recently before government scientists the practical operation of his plan. Details of the process are kept confidential and board officials refuse to comment, but it is known that those who witnessed the tests regarded them as of great importance to the future of the industry.

Under present mining methods many wells give up only about one-third of oil content due to dissipation of the gas pressure, which is the force moving the oil. Much effort and much money has been spent by the industry in search of a method of prolonging the gas pressure so as to maintain "flush production" until all of the oil has been drained out.

In providing a possible solution for this problem, the discoveries made by Mr. Doherty touch upon several important phases of oil production. They are understood to have demonstrated that when a portion of the gas in virgin pools is dissolved with the oil, the oil becomes more fluid, and is much more efficient for various purposes than the present product.

Oil in an undisturbed pool is said to have been found vastly different in character than the same oil when brought to the surface by present methods.

JAPAN LOOSENS GRIP ON CHINA

Fear Causes Dream of Empire to Fade

Financial Weakness and Russia Held Cause

a sudden weakness, instead of strength, in dealing with this critical situation. Why?

Because, for one thing, Japan is suffering from "a severe financial depression throughout the empire," according to the Tokio Ministry of Finance, and it has been necessary to warn her people to be careful in monetary affairs. So she is in no position to support a military adventure; and could not get loans for that purpose from America.

BOYCOTT FACTOR

Because, for another thing, the dispatch of troops to Mukden was followed immediately by anti-Japanese demonstrations in China and the reimposition of the boycott, which had been lightened recently. Last summer's boycott cost the Japanese immense sums and is largely responsible for the financial depression. The Manchuria the boycott was applied so effectively and quickly that the Japanese in Mukden sent strong protests against the government's action.

Because, for a third thing, Japan realized that she was acting in complete isolation. Britain would not support her, America was antagonistic. Her action was driving China into an accord with Russia which might mean that sooner or later the two nations would act in concert to expel her and, perhaps, take Korea away from her. She realizes at last that she must placate China or court the greatest danger.

APPREHENSION IN TOKIO

We have been hearing for years of Japan's military and other strength and of her threat to dominate China and to make war on ourselves; and many have come to think of this nation as one of tremendous power. But those who have followed closely the course of Tokio in meeting this crisis have plainly seen the exhibition of keen apprehension rather than of consciousness of Power. Instead of a strong policy there has been indecision, vacillation and division of counsels.

The Kato Ministry has had a clear view of the situation from the first and has tried to hold to a position of neutrality in the civil war, merely insisting that Japanese treaty rights in Manchuria should be respected no matter which faction might come out on top. Its policy has been to regain the friendship of the Chinese as an offset to growing Russian influence.

That policy has been opposed, largely for political purposes, by the Seiyuqai opposition party, which has been trying to get into power. Its leaders and press have been telling the people that Russia is behind Feng Yu-Hsiang and that he has been trying to oust Chang Tso-lin as a means of handing over Manchuria to the soviet. Memories of the war with Russia have been stirred effectively and a large part of the press has supported the Seiyukai view that Feng must be kept from dominating Manchuria even if it is necessary for the Japanese to fight him.

ARMY CHIEFS BLUNDER

The Ministry of War stood by the Cabinet at first in proclaiming neutrality as between the Chinese factions, but it has been evident all along from the carefully phrased Tokio dispatches that it did not wish to remain inactive. The army had given a great deal of assistance to Chang Tso-lin in the way of advice, training and supplies (because of its policy of holding Manchuria strategically) and when it appeared that he was in danger of defeat early in December Gen. Matsui, who had been the adviser with Chang's army, hastened to Tokio and demanded strong measures. He attacked the Foreign Office for its policy of neutrality and advocated independent action by the army.

Under the Japanese system the military forces are not subject to the authority of the Premier or Cabinet and Premier Kato was finally forced to let them take a hand. First the Japanese commanders forbade the Chinese to do any fighting within a zone twenty miles from the Japanese railroads or near the Japanese leased lands. When some Chinese forces showed a disposition to combat these orders the War Office insisted that adequate action should be taken and 3500 troops were started in a hurry from Korea and Japan to Mukden and other points.

That this action was a blunder was quickly realized. The Cabinet tried to minimize its importance, pointing out that Japan had the right to maintain a garrison of 15,000 men in Manchuria and that its force was less than half this number. It also gave out a statement that the foreign consuls had asked for protection. This assertion was shown to be incorrect so far as the American and British consuls were concerned and it soon became evident the Chinese were resentful and other nations distrustful.

DECIDE TO WITHDRAW

Within two weeks Tokio came to a decision to withdraw the reinforcements and to modify orders which had been issued by the Japanese commander intended to put Mukden under foreign control.

The Associated Press correspondent at Tokio showed how it came about when he reported that Foreign Minister Shidehara had conferred with Minister of War Ugaki "urging the immediate recall of all Japanese troops stationed at Mukden;" that "all Korean troops were ordered to return to Seoul immediately and the Kyushu troops will return to Japan early in January;" and "that Japan plans to withdraw the remaining 3000 troops as soon as conditions permit."

This decision was hastened because even Chang, long the tool and ally of the Japanese, was alienated by the blundering of the Tokio authorities. As one careful American correspondent put it: "Japan calculated that Chang was doomed and has been trimming her sails accordingly." When Kuo was advancing triumphantly on Mukden the Japanese forces did many things to hamper Chang. They declared his Mukden arsenals within the neutral zone, they would not let him use the railway for transport of his troops and supplies and they made a plain bid for future friendship with Kuo and Feng, who were expected to dominate Manchuria in the future.

LIFTS FIGHTING BAN

So when Chang suddenly captured Kuo's army and killed that leader he naturally felt resentful over the desertion of his former allies. On his return to Mukden for a reason which nobody has explained but which can be easily guessed, "the commander of the Japanese forces withdrew the manifesto prohibiting fighting within a six-mile radius of Mukden"—in other words he withdrew the claim that Japan controlled the city.

Various dispatches have indicated that Chang now feels he is free to make new deals independently of the Japanese. "He has gained tremendously in the opinion of all China through his refusal to desert his cause even when apparently beaten," says one Tokio writer. "Several other war lords are expected to ally themselves with him in order to crush Feng."

It is not improbable, under these conditions, that Chang will try to form a combination with the Yang-tse Valley chieftains, who are led by Wu Pei-fu. Wu and Chang have been enemies but they have in common the necessity of smashing the Russian and Communistic menace represented by Feng Yu-hsiang. Wu represents the middle classes of Central China and the great merchants' guilds. Chang represents the new industrialism and agricultural development of Manchuria and Inner Mongolia. The interests behind both would suffer if Russia were to gain ascendancy through Feng and they may unite against the common enemy.

FACES TWO FORCES

Should they do so Feng would be caught between two forces. Chang has been greatly weakened by the fighting between factions of his army and by the expenditure of reserve ammunition, but Feng also has had to do some hard fighting for the capture of Tien-tsin. Wu has been inactive for weeks, apparently preparing [illegible] his armies had approached within less than 200 miles of Peking and he should be in force to the south of Tien-tsin, in position to strike at Feng's rear if that commander should engage in hostilities with Chang.

Whatever the developments it is practically certain that Japan will keep her hands off for the time being. Her financial condition will neither permit her to take a big part in a military way nor to finance any of the factions. She is paying dearly for the vast ambition which caused her to try to erect a great empire as a result of the World War. She has reaped so far only enmity and huge losses. She will have to make some new friends and some more money before she will be in position to play a commanding role in China. And when she does get ready it is quite probable that China will be in no mood to be commanded.

PRINCESS CONDESCENDS TO POSE

Princess Mary (Viscountess Lascelles) and Her Pet Terrier

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Jan. 3.—It isn't very often that royalty condescends to sit privately for a photo, but Princess Mary, daughter of the King and Queen and wife of Viscount Lascelles, recently granted such a request.

Princess Mary affects only the simplest of costumes and has resisted the bobbed hair craze. Her jewels, while valuable, are always subdued. She follows closely the lines laid down by her mother, who has repeatedly informed court circles that she looks with disfavor on the modern modes.

PARIS MENACED BY NEW FLOODS

lent sea from wheih an old fortess rises in Gibraltar-like isolation. Kaiser William the Great's bronze steed valiantly breasts the waters swirling above his hocks at the stone base of the massive monument at the confluence of the Rhine and Moselle, being entirely submerged. Big hotels, once harboring American headquarters and officers clubs, are immersed to the second floor and deserted save by caretakers on upper stories. The flood is receding at the rate of several centimeters per hours and all danger is over.

FLOOD INUNDATIONS CONTINUE TO SPREAD

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

THE HAGUE, Jan. 3. — The flood inundations continue to spread, the worst in recent history. The navy and war offices have canceled furloughs and recalled reservists to cope with the inundations. The Diplomatic Corps reception has been postponed because of the Queen's tour of the stricken areas, where Red Cross organizations are co-operating with the government in assisting the victims. The loss of life is remarkably small, practically all being due to exposure and not to drowning. Renewed rainfall today made the situation worse and it is reported that the flooded areas increased by several miles.

TAME FOX AIDS PAL IN FLIGHT TO FOREST

MAGGIE CHEWS OFF COLLAR FOR PETER, WHO LEAPS FENCE TO FREEDOM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAUNTON (Mass.) Jan. 3.—Maggie, a tame fox, which created great excitement in the Cohannet School a few months ago when she followed her little mistress, Dorothy Davis, to school, became great pals with Peter, another tame fox owned by Romeo J. Roberts at the latter's home in Raynham, where Maggie went to live, following her purchase by Mr. Roberts. The other day she nestled up close to Peter, chewed his collar and freed her chum, who cleared a six-foot wire fence and disappeared into the woods.

Maggie had a guilty look as Mr. Roberts came into the yard in time to see Peter dashing into the brush.

OAKLAND BOY NEARLY GOES OVER NIAGARA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NIAGARA FALLS (N. Y.) Jan. 3.—Robert Saunders, 7 years of age, son of H. G. Saunders of Oakland, Cal., slipped while walking along the ice covered runway near the Horse Shoe Falls today and went under the railing. He fell about eight feet to a rocky ledge near the falls' brink. His parents succeeded in getting him to safety, badly frightened but uninjured.

FIGURES PROVE FACTOR IN WAR

Professor Says American Mathematics Helped Win

Theory of Planets' Orbits Applied to Gunfire

Enemy Submarines Located by Calculators

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—American mathematicians had a large part in winning the World War, Prof. O. D. Kellogg of the mathematics department of Harvard University, told the American Mathematical Society last night.

He said American artillery was supplied with the best data of any of the armies in determining the effectiveness of their fire on the front, as a result of the work of Prof. F. R. Moulton of Chicago University. The speaker said Prof. Moulton gathered a band of expert mathematicians, who had been calculating the movements of the heavenly bodies, and they discovered that the theory of the orbits of these bodies could be used in determining the range and effectiveness of cannon projectiles.

While attached to the New London submarine base during the war, Prof. Kellogg said he and other mathematicians determined the most effective way of locating submarines. The range and position of the enemy guns were determined by mathematicians who obtained the basic data for the tests, he asserted.

SAYS ROMANCE HAS PLACE

He discounted the idea that mathematicians are impractical. He also asserted that romance and imagination have a place in their lives. The greatest need of mathematics today, he said, was men who apply mathematics in practical fields.

The views upon the importance of mathematics in war expressed by Prof. Kellogg were echoed and amplified in an interview after the meeting by Thomas H. Gronwall, technical expert of the War Department, during the World War, and now a consulting mathematician.

Future wars will be won by small armies of trained mathematicians, machinists and scientific experts, he said, rather than by great armies of soldiers.

SCOUTS LARGER GUNS

However, these smaller armies of technicians will not depend on larger guns and huge projectiles for the large guns of the present are the limit in accuracy and mobility. Projectiles weighing more than 1800 pounds—the largest at present—he believes too heavy for practical use and impossible to direct with accuracy at more than thirty miles. He predicted the infantry of the future would be replaced by machine guns and the cavalry by units of high-speed armored tanks.

Added attractions at the meeting were a playlet, called "Relativity," and written around the Einstein theory presented by fifteen Hunter College girls and an address by Marshall H. Stone, 22 years of age, son of Supreme Court Justice Stone. Young Stone is instructor in mathematics at Columbia University, and is due to receive his Ph.D. degree soon from Harvard.

FOUR DROWN IN LAKE AS ICE BREAKS

Boy Alone Escapes After Seeing Mother, Father and Two Brothers Die

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

GRANITE (Idaho) Jan. 3.—Waters of Kelso Lake, two and a half miles west of Granite, claimed the lives of a father, mother and two children tonight when the ice gave way beneath Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Clark and two of their sons. A fifth member of the family, Paul, 7 years of age, escaped.

The Clarks were taking a short cut across the end of the lake to a skating party near Granite. Paul had run on ahead and made the passage over thin ice safely. As he paused to look back he saw his brothers and parents, a few steps behind, suddenly sink from sight.

The boy ran around the rim of the lake to his home, where he notified his grandfather. By that time it was too late to go to the aid of the victims.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Clark, those drowned were Arthur, 6 years of age, and Harold 3. A baby, 1 year of age, and Paul are the sole survivors of the family.

TWO DIE OF FUMES IN MOFFAT TUNNEL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EAST PORTAL (Colo.) Jan. 3. Two men are dead and another is in a critical condition as the result of inhaling powder fumes, following a blast in the main heading of the Moffat Tunnel here early today. The dead are: Pete Giaconeli and Dan Metroff, both of Denver. The three were working in the pioneer tunnel, a bore parallel with the main heading, and were trapped by the fumes when a canvas bulkhead in a cross cut was thrown aside by the force of the explosion.

TOTAL SUN ECLIPSE DUE ON 14TH INST.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 3.—A total eclipse of the sun at sunrise is predicted for the 14th inst. by Rev. John B. Kremer, S. J., head of the department of physics at Marquette University. The maximum duration of the eclipse will be four minutes and eleven seconds, Father Kremer said. The full effect of the phenomenon will not be seen here because the path of the moon's shadow begins in East Africa, sweeps across the islands of Sumatra, Borneo and Mindanao and ends in the Pacific.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—An American Indian, Red Fox St. James has been ordained as deacon of the Angelican Universal Church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Winslow Plummer, bishop of that church.

Red Fox is known as a lecturer on Indian life. He was born on the Montana plains and educated at Carlisle, Pa. He wanted to become a missionary to his own people and for some time has been studying toward that end. In six months he will become a priest.

MYSTERY IN GIRL'S DEATH UNDER TRAIN

Fiance of Young Kentucky Woman Expected to Shed Light on Tragedy

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HOPKINSVILLE (Ky.) Jan. 3. Developments concerning the death of Miss Agnes Robertson, who was killed by a passenger train near the station here, have caused a search to be renewed for a young man said to be from New York and formerly of Nashville, Tenn., jewelry salesman and reputed fiance of Miss Robertson. It is asserted that he was to arrive on the train that killed the girl, and was to meet her at the depot. There is no charge against him, however.

Jack Tandy, an automobile man of this city, said he saw a hatless, bobbed-haired girl, whom he believes to have been Miss Robertson, run up and embrace a man who left the train ahead of Tandy. Tandy said he did not pay particular attention to their meeting, except to note that the man seemed rather indifferent to the girl's affectionate greeting. Tandy said the stranger carried a traveling bag, which he did not release, nor did he remove his hat.

The girl, according to her friends, was in good spirits when she left a store where she was employed. Her mother, Mrs. Minnie Robertson, says her daughter seemed joyous when she kissed her mother good night the night before her death. The girl had told her employer she intended to leave her place shortly when she would visit her fiance in New York and spend several weeks with friends there.

Whether the man sought can help police clear up details of the investigation is regarded here as doubtful. The general belief is that the girl's death was accidental.

FRANKLIN SLEEPS IN UNPRETENTIOUS GRAVE

SESQUICENTENNIAL VISITORS WILL PAY HOMAGE TO FAMOUS MAN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—Patches of sunlight streaming in through the iron gate of the Christ Church Burying Ground in Philadelphia, reveal a simple inscription on a plain flat slab, the grave of Benjamin Franklin. It is a lowly grave, a worthy tribute to the unpretentious qualities of the man.

During the Sesquicentennial International Exposition, commemorating the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of American Independence, which will open in Philadelphia, on June 1, next, millions of visitors will pay silent homage to Franklin.

The remains of Franklin were interred on April 21, 1790. His body was placed beside that of his wife. "Benjamin and Deborah Franklin, 1790," thus only is his grave marked.

The funeral procession, headed by the clergy of the city, attracted a crowd estimated to have numbered more than 20,000. Minute guns were fired and bells tolled.

Distinguished honors were paid to his memory. Members of Congress resolved to wear mourning for one month. In France, the news of his death was received with expressions of sorrow and respect.

The casual passerby may wonder that no larger and statelier tombstone was left to mark the remains of Franklin. It was the emphatic request of the seer that his grave be marked by but an unadorned small gravestone.

Each year on the birthday of Franklin, members of the "Poor Richard" Club, an organization of advertising men in Philadelphia, place a wreath upon his grave.

DRY ACTIVITIES IN YEAR SHOWN

Wheeler Statement Says Progress Made

Eleven Anti-Smuggling Pacts Drafted in 1925

Decrease of Drunkenness Pointed Out

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A statement reviewing the 1925 progress in "prohibition activities" was issued tonight by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League.

"Prohibition," he said, "made advances in legislation, judicial conditions, administrative efficiency and as a hygienic and economic force in 1925.

"The Sixty-eighth Congress rejected all wet legislation, voted $11,000,000 for enforcement, including $1,300,000 for narcotic enforcement, $150,000 for special counsel for the Department of Justice for prohibition prosecution and provided for storage of all liquors in government warehouses where such are available. The Coast Guard was given surplus naval vessels, an appropriation of $14,500,000 for rehabilitation and $9,000,000 for maintenance. The use of forfeited automobiles and other vehicles by the Coast Guard and prohibition unit was authorized.

"The Sixty-ninth Congress, in its first test vote, in December, defeated the wet attempt to cripple enforcement by limiting the purchase of evidence of illicit sales. Only seventeen wet votes were cast to 139 drys, although more than 175 dry members were absent.

NINE DRY TREATIES

"Antismuggling treaties with eleven nations have been drafted and nine are now in effect. The Senate approved three of these treaties last year with Canada, Panama and the Netherlands. Those with Mexico and France have not been completed.

"The reorganization of the prohibition enforcement activities, under an assistant Secretary of the Treasury, supervising 8000 customs officers and 8000 Coast Guard officers besides the prohibition agents, will simplify administrative problems. More effective control of liquors and industrial alcohol is provided by ten new regulations just issued, for which the Anti-Saloon League has contended for more than two years.

"The Department of Justice has announced it will prosecute all offenders, both large and small. During the last fiscal year, there were 38,925 convictions in Federal courts, an increase of 1317, with twice the length of jail sentences imposed in 1923 and an increase of 90 per cent injunction cases. These cases do not include those brought in State courts. In some States 90 per cent of cases made by Federal officers are tried in State courts. Fines and penalties imposed in these cases in Federal courts totaled $7,934,854.59, nearly replacing the $9,201,534.06 expended for enforcement.

UPHOLD AUTO SEARCH

"The United States Supreme Court during the year upheld the right of officers to search an automobile without search warrants when they had reasonable cause to believe liquor was being transported illegally, upheld the Georgia prohibition statute, which makes it unlawful to possess liquors acquired before the law became effective, and established the power of Congress to regulate manufacture and distribution of nonbeverage alcohol.

State enforcement codes were strengthened in Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah and Wyoming. Massachusetts repealed the law requiring an annual vote on license.

"The popular approval of this policy of government has been increased by the improved health of the nation, the drop in drunkenness, crime and alcoholic insanity, the economic gains registered in steady employment, stimulated retail trade and home building, multiplied savings and insurance and more wholesome recreation."

SUSPECTED BANDIT QUEEN IN CUSTODY

TERROR OF CHICAGO TAXICAB DRIVERS BELIEVED SAFE BEHIND BARS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Betrayed by her fiery red hair, Mrs. Florence Wright was delivered today into the hands of the police, who hail her as the earnestly sought taxi bandit, who has given some twenty chauffeurs into the hands of a "stick-up-artist," her partner in crime.

Seized with Mrs. Wright, who, the police say, has the kind of a temper that goes with the Titian locks, was her boy friend, Stephen Gravett, 28 years of age, identified as the man who relieved of their profits the cabbies lured into likely spots by the woman. Mrs. Wright is 35.

Some two weeks ago a taxi driver, John Crowley, came to the police with a story of having been hailed by a red-headed woman who ordered him to drive for her trunks to a certain address. When Crowley jumped from the cab there he was met by a stick-up man who robbed him. The red-topped lady was nowhere to be seen.

On succeeding days twenty drivers reported driving her to their own downfall.

COUNCIL ALL WOMEN

Fair Sex Outdistances Men in Mexico State Capital

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 3.—Villa Hermosa, capital of the State of Tabasco, yesterday elected the first City Council in the world composed altogether of women, among them many who are young. More than a year ago Tabasco extended complete and unlimited franchise to women, married and unmarried.

The women at once plunged into politics and outdistanced the men at their own game. Tabasco women are expected to attempt to control the next State election, electing a woman Governor, with a full party ticket of State Deputies and Senators.

Society Leader in New York Pegs Down Uninv Guests in Opening of Warfare

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Society has declared war against th cial gate crasher," the uninvited guest whose name has become at the larger social functions of recent years. Mrs. John T. Prat first woman member of the Board of Aldermen and for many recognized social leader, is one of the first to take definite act what is believed to be a concerted move to eradicate the gate cr evil at fashionable gatherings.

Mrs. Pratt gave one of the largest dances of the season at a hotel last week for her daughter, Miss Sally Pratt. Some 700 invitations were issued. As has become the custom at social functions, several hundred more men than had been invited appeared.

Instead of being allowed to drift in with the expected guests, however, they found a secretary with a typewritten check list as the ball room door opened. When it was found that their names were not on the list, they were away.

SOVIET FOES WILL MEET FOR PARLEY

Opponents of Bolshevism to Assemble in Paris and Appeal to Legion

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Jan. 3.—What is planned to be the greatest reunion of anti-Bolsheviks since Russia fell under the soviet regime is to take place in the French capital on February 15, next, with 200 delegates present. They will come from all corners of the earth.

The congress, which represents the 4,000,000 Russians who fled their native land shortly after the ending of the war and are now scattered in practically every country of the globe, is to send a committee to the League of Nations in an attempt to be represented in all League conferences, the representative to be the spokesman for the scattered refugees as a single unit.

Protests against calling the congress "the monarchal congress" has resulted in the meeting being conducted under the title of "The National Russian and Anti-Bolshevik Congress."

Among those interested in the gathering are Strouve, Kroupiensky and Novikoff. It is said that the Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaievitch, although not officially named as leader, will probably play a principal role in the congress.

PRAISES WOMAN AS FAMILY HEAD

Feminine Farmer Kentucky Legislator

Believes Sexes Should Have Same Legal Rights

Scouts Idea of Special Point of View on Laws

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

UCUM (Ky.) Jan. 3.—In many cases women are better qualified to be the head of the family than the men, is the attitude of Mrs. H. G. Jorris, Kentucky's only legislator-elect.

When the General Assembly convenes the 5th inst., she will be the second woman ever to sit in Kentucky's law-making body of 138 members. She will represent two counties in the House.

Asked what a woman's idea of proper legislation was, she reported her stand as "very masculine." She saw no reason why a woman's idea should not be identical with those of men.

"The time is now here and has been for some years, when women are placed upon an equal footing with men when it comes to the question of making a support for themselves or families.

"In fact, in many cases the women are better qualified to be the head of the family than the men. There is only a very small sentiment of the old Kentucky chivalry in the minds of the people today and this condition prevails throughout the entire country."

Mrs. Jorris, woman farmer, supported eight brothers and sisters when her parents died while she was young. Since Mr. Jorris's death in 1920, she has stayed on the farm here in Russel county with her three young boys.

She believes legal restrictions should be removed to place women absolutely upon a par with men in every respect as to their personal liberties and property rights."

She will fight for legislation as to woman's ownership of real estate and the right to dispose of it at will.

Mrs. Jorris is not unduly militant for her sex, for she says:

"I think any other legislation that would be for any special reason best for women would be class legislation and would really be unconstitutional as I have always thought some of the present laws are."

She is 53 years of age, farmer, Presbyterian, Republican, and W.C.T.U. member.

Civil Engineer's Device Controls Blood Pressure

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 3.—The Oregonian says physicians here are interested in the invention of J. H. Pos, Portland civil engineer, of an apparatus operated on the electro-radio principle, which, they say, experiments show is able to control organic matter. The newspaper article in essence says:

"The instrument, prominent doctors here state, for the last four months has been used in regulating blood pressure and they declare that persons afflicted with high blood pressure have had the pressure lowered to normal and others with low blood pressure have had the pressure raised.

Pos is a graduate of Zurich Polytechnic School in Switzerland, the same school in which Einstein taught.

County Swells State Treasury by $4,524,637

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 3.—Settlements of the county treasurers' office with State Controller Ray L. Riley were completed yesterday, bringing a total of $4,524,637 into the State treasury. The sum represents amounts due the State from the county from inheritance tax collections, estates escheating to the State, care of county inmates in State institutions, and other minor items.

Inheritance taxes make up the greater part of the total, or $3,988,219, most of which was collected in Los Angeles and San Francisco counties.

Autoist Dead After Trying to Beat Train

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MANCHESTER (N. H.) Jan. 3. Alonzo M. Carlton, real estate dealer of this city, was killed here, when the automobile he was driving was struck by a southbound train of the Boston and Maine Railroad at the West Central-street crossing.

Mrs. Jennie C. Parkman of this city, who was a passenger in the automobile is so badly injured that she is not expected to live. Mr. Carlton drove his car on to the tracks as the gates were being lowered and evidently stalled his car in his haste to beat the oncoming locomotive.

CONGRESS BACK AT WORK TODAY

Post-Holiday Session May Last Six Months

World Court Main Business Before Senate

House Concerned Chiefly With Appropriations

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—With the Christmas recess behind it, Congress will reassemble tomorrow to remain continuously in session for probably six months.

All of the major problems which faced it when it first met a month ago still are to be solved and new ones are yet to be met.

While the World Court is the unfinished business before the Senate, and appropriation bills are the order of business in the House the most troublesome problem confronting administration leaders is that of working out some means of handling surplus farm crops.

CONFERENCES CALLED

Conferences looking to this end have been called for this month by Secretary Jardine, but meanwhile members of the Iowa Congressional delegation will introduce surplus crop bills and seek immediate hearings before the House Agriculture Committee.

Fiscal legislation will be taken up by committees of both Houses, the Senate Finance Committee beginning closed hearings on the tax reduction bill and the House Ways and Means Committee taking up consideration of the foreign debt settlement agreement. Secretary Mellon will appear before both committees during the day. Although the World Court has right of way in the Senate, it probably will be displaced temporarily by the Nye case, in which is involved the legal right of the Governor of North Dakota to fill a Senate vacancy by appointment. Leaders hope to dispose of this matter within two or three days.

RUBBER QUIZ TO START

After disposing tomorrow of the Treasury and Postoffice appropriation bill, the House Tuesday will take up a resolution proposing the appointment of a joint Congressional Commission to receive bids for the Muscle Shoals power and nitrate plant. The interior appropriation bill will be the next measure on the House calendar.

An investigation which is expected to have far-reaching consequences will be started during the week by the House Interstate Commerce Committee. It will center around a resolution asserting manipulation of the price of crude rubber by the British Colonial governments.

At the same time the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee will begin hearing on the Gooding Bill which would prohibit railroads from making a greater charge for a short haul than for a long haul. This is one of the several pieces of railroad legislation to be pressed at this session.

SUBSTITUTE FOR WORLD COURT PROPOSED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A measure modifying the proposed war-time conscription of industry scheme to provide for an American boycott of any warring nations during its belligerency and a period of two years thereafter, will be introduced in the House within the next week by Representative La Guardia, Socialist, New York, it became known today.

The La Guardia plan, which is said to have received the approval of the United Spanish War Veterans and other ex-service men's organizations, is to be pushed as a practical substitute for the World Court.

PATCH UP OPERA ROW

Max Von Schillings of Germany Gets Conciliatory Note

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—A settlement has been reached in the controversy between Max Von Schillings, former director-general of the State Opera, and Dr. Becker, Prussian Minister of Art and Education, who recently dismissed Von Schillings from his post.

In a conciliatory letter to Von Schillings, Dr. Becker frankly acknowledges the former's service in behalf of the German grand opera and further agrees to make suitable material amends for Von Schillings's summary dismissal. The former director has notified the Minister that he has withdrawn his suit for indemnification.

Von Schillings has been offered his choice of a professorship of music in the Prussian Academy of Arts, or a cash settlement covering the unexpired term of his contract.

WONDERFUL BUILDING PLANNED FOR BATES

The Bates College Alumni Association in announcing that the Maine institution of learning is to have a new athletic building at Lewiston calls attention to the fact that "our athletic building is not a gymnasium." It will be the latest development in physical education equipment occupying a plot of ground 160 feet square covered with roof half of slate and half of glass. Inside there will be a running track, baseball diamond and an opportunity for practice in track and field sports, tennis, football, hockey and soccer for girls and other games played on a dirt surface. A board running track will also be available and showers, locker rooms, etc., will be installed.

VENICE TO ORGANIZE BASEBALL TEAM SOON

Venice, the locale of the Vernon Tigers early in Pacific Coast baseball history, is soon to have a Merchants team in the Southern California Managers' Association. Venice has had many semipro teams in its time, but none quite so locally organized as will be the Merchants.

Former high school, club and league players, will make up the personnel of the team, many members of which have been active with other clubs of the Southland.

PRODIGAL HEARS RADIO PRAYER

Young Wanderer, Listening In, Answers Plea to Return Home

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—A prayer of Rev. S. Parks Cadman, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, broadcast by radio has, today brought home Edward Ryder, 14 years of age, who ran away from his Brooklyn home on November 14. Dr. Cadman, in broadcasting, prayed for those who had strayed or been lost from home, and he mentioned that Ryder's parents longed for his return. Edward, in Haverstraw, N. Y., heard and decided to come back.

DINNER TO CELEBRATE GIFT RICHES

Barber's Act of Courtesy Thirty Years Ago Won Favor of Wealthy Man

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—An act of courtesy that made a millionaire of a penniless man was celebrated by an anniversary dinner given today by Louis Morgen, proprietor of the barber shops in the McAlpin and Martinique hotels.

Thirty years ago tomorrow Morgen, then a poor immigrant, was working in a little barber shop at Eighth street and Broadway. A man of distinguished appearance entered. Morgen, alone of the three barbers in the place, bowed courteously. The stranger told him his name was D. H. McAlpin and became a regular customer.

A little later McAlpin offered Morgen the proprietorship of the barber shop in his hotel, which was then new. Morgen had no money and McAlpin put up the money to start him in business.

Now Morgen has homes in Florida and other resorts, automobiles and a fortune in real estate holdings. His dinner was given at the McAlpin for the 100 employees in his shops.

St. Paul's Dean Loses Ground in Fight for Life

The condition of Dr. William MacCormack, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, was reported as less favorable yesterday by officials of the Good Samaritan Hospital, where he lies after having been stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was still unconscious yesterday, but his physician announced there was no immediate cause for alarm.

Dean MacCormack became ill Thursday, while on his way to a dinner arranged by friends in honor of his fifty-ninth birthday.

CONSCIENCE LEADS TO CONFESSION OF THEFT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HARTFORD (Ct.) Jan. 3.—An uneasy conscience led Guy L. Baker to confess today the theft of $16,300 from the First National Bank of Putnam, of which he was assistant cashier. He made his confession to George H. Cohen, assistant United States District Attorney, here. His peculations had been over a three-year period, from 1921 to 1924. Baker said that in covering up his own acts he had discovered that G. Harold Gilpatric, the cashier, was wrecking the bank by diversions of large sums of money to private uses. Gilpatric is serving a sentence at Atlanta penitentiary for wrecking the bank.

CUSTOMS OF CHINA DECREASE IN YEAR

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PEKING, Jan. 3.—The receipts of the Chinese maritime customs for 1925 showed a net decline of approximately £500,000 from the 1924 receipts, when the average exchange value of income is computed in British currency. This was shown today by the report issued by Sir Francis Aglen, British inspector-general of the international organization which administers the customs. The income was sufficient to cover China's foreign and domestic loan obligations, but the report shows that redemption of the consolidated debt is a year in arrears.

WEATHER RECORDS IN SEATTLE ARE BROKEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, Jan. 3.—Government weather records for thirty-five years were broken in Seattle in 1925, M. B. Summers, weather forecaster, showed in an official summary. The minimum temperature for the year was 30 deg. above zero, the maximum temperature was 98, rainfall was eight inches below normal and there were only fifty-four days when the sun failed to shine. Freezing temperature was recorded for only fifteen hours during the whole year.

MAGIC HELD STILL EXTANT IN RELIGION

PROFESSOR CITES SUN DANCE OF INDIANS WITH EUCHARIST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—A survey of the modern and primitive significance of magic, producing a new definition of "white magic," has been made by Dr. Pieter Roest, in the department of anthropology at the University of Chicago.

Pointing out that magic is the art of achieving certain desired results by means of an established series of words or acts believed to owe their efficacy to super-physical power, Dr. Roest declares that magic is not disappearing with the advance of civilization.

"It flourishes luxuriantly in our organized religion," he said. "Theology firmly clings to its efficacy whether intelligible or not, and modern occultists give it an explantation which outdoes even science in nationalization."

Primitive and modern white magic have many points of similarity, Dr. Roest says.

"The sun dance of the plains Indians provides some interesting parallels to the Christian eucharist," he says. "Both are mainly religious and in part dramatize a sacred story, but both have their magical side. They have in common the elaborate preparation up to a climax. Both are full of symbolical acts which often have a magical efficacy; and in both, food is consecrated and taken by those who are especially prepared to receive it, although in the sun dance this is not the central act."

WILKINS FLIGHT RICH IN PROMISE

Arctic Conquest Forecast by Stefansson

Result Awaited With Keen Scientific Interest

Flyer's Courage and Skill Praised in Address

The following article is the text of an address delivered by Mr. Stefansson, the famous Arctic explorer, at a dinner given by the Detroit Aviation Society in honor of Capt. George H. Wilkins, who will soon conduct a polar expedition by airplane. Mr. Stefansson will write on the progress of the Wilkins expedition exclusively for The Times and its associated papers of the North American Newspaper Alliance.

BY VILHJALMUR STEFANSSON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

(Copyright, 1925, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

DETROIT, Jan. 3. — If Capt. George H. Wilkins succeeds in his attempt this spring to cross the Arctic by airplane, it will be a success as sober as it is important. I think he has at least three chances out of four of success. If he fails, it will be only as if he had died in France, where he ran far greater risks than he is now running and where, as now, he was fighting for what he believed to be a worthy cause.

I have many reasons for supporting Wilkins in his present enterprise, but chief among them is a keen scientific interest in the results that will come from success.

The legendary "boiling ocean" and "burning lands" of the tropics were, throughout the Middle Ages, a barier between Europe and the southern temperate zone, in which scientists of the time believed, for theoretical reasons, but to which they thought no human being would ever attain because of the intervening heat. For they did not consider Africa to be burning in the sense that it was 120 deg. in the shade; they thought the stones were actually red hot and that the ocean was bubbling like a cauldron. Then came Prince Henry and his associates who heretically disbelieved in all these terrors and ship after ship went south from Portugal until finally the equator was crossed without the boiling ocean being discovered. Then came the rounding of the Cape of Good Hope and the discovery of a sea road to the Indies.

Similarly, the Atlantic was a barrier between Europe and the lands to the west because of supposed dragons, whirlpools, darkness and many other terrors. But the Norsemen crossed it and so did Columbus later. Between the year 1000 and 1493 ships voyaged across it now and then; since 1492 it has been a highway.

ARCTIC "MYTHS"

The only ocean that remains a barrier between the lands is the Arctic. The scalding waves of the tropics were a myth that kept Europeans from the southern world; the dragons, whirlpools and darkness of the Atlantic were myths that kept Europeans from the western world.

About three-fourths of the supposed terrors of the Arctic are similar myths that have kept us from flying across the northern world. For if people had not been about as badly misinformed about the natural conditions of the Arctic as they once were about those of the tropics and the Atlantic, Wilkins would not now be setting out on this pioneer voyage. He or another would have crossed the Arctic a year or two after Alcock and Brown and the navy flyers crossed the Atlantic, and we would by this time be accustomed to addressing our mail with air postage stamps to go north to China and Japan, instead of by the long and therefore slow east and west routes.

I realize the importance of specified scientific discoveries in the North. I agree that the supreme physical achievement in our hemisphere is to reach by one means or another the inaccessible pole that lies at the center of the ice, more than 300 miles more remote from navigable water than the mathematical or North Pole. My various books and other writings about the resources of the Arctic will show that I am as alive as anyone to the intrinsic value of any land that may be discovered.

FUTURE IMPORTANCE

Nevertheless, I emphasize especially the strategic value of such a land. The Hawaiis have an importance in the Pacific that depends more upon their position than upon their size or riches. Similar value will attach to any land discovered anywhere near the inaccessible pole, for it will be a way station in our developing air commerce when we shall cease flying round-about but shall go straight from point to point, covering the Arctic within the next twenty-five years with a network of airways even more intricate than the network of steamship lines that now covers the Atlantic.

Flying in the Arctic is more important than flying the Atlantic and Pacific, for the reason that on those oceans you are competing with other means of transportation. After all, the ocean greyhounds cross from New York to Southampton in less than six days. But the mails now take about thirty days from London to Tokio. Something could be saved in normal times by using the Trans-Siberian Railway instead, and much could be saved by flying airplanes or airships along that line. But the only logical thing is to fly north from England instead of east, for thereby you can save 3000 miles in distance and get better flying conditions on the whole. The Los Angeles can do the distance in four or five days now. Later, when way stations are established, airplanes can cut even that time in half, thus competing with the Asiatic cables rather than the ordinary railway and steamship lines.

PROMISE OF ACHIEVEMENT

It is to drive every last imaginary dragon from the Arctic that I chiefly support Wilkins's flight, and every other Arctic flight. And Wilkins is better than any other man that I know for doing it, not only because of his qualifications but also because he will bring back the least heroic story of any possible flyer. That may not suit the thrill-loving part of the public, but it will contribute to the rapid advance of science and commerce.

Sir John Monash, the commander-in-chief of the Australian armies in France, told me that if he had to select the bravest, most soberly sensible man of his entire force, he would name Wilkins. That was what he thought of him in France; that was what I thought of him in the Arctic.

He will bring back a sensational story from his flight, but it will not be the sensationalism that we term "a traveler's tales." It will be the sensationalism of achievement rather than adventure; not the sensationalism of Marco Polo or Ossendoswki, who wholly imagined half of their stories and half imagined the rest. It will be the sensationalism, if you can call it such, of Pytheas, whom the ancients did not believe, because his travel stories sounded too commonplace for their taste, but whom we now revere as the greatest of all explorers, for he went to distant places at a time when people swallowed marvels even more eagerly than now, and yet told only the truth when he came back.

Columbus saw mermaids and heard of fabulous gold mines and magic fountains. In that sense Wilkins will not be a Columbus, for he will bring back only the marvels of fact. Before he goes he will use all the opportunities he has of convincing people that the dangers in front of him, however great they may be, are neither mysterious nor extraordinary, but similar to those of other climes.

E. D. BOYLE OF NEVADA SUCCUMBS

Ex-Governor and State Journal Head Taken by Heart Disease in Sleep

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RENO, Jan. 3.—Emmet Derby Boyle, former Governor of Nevada and publisher of the State Journal, died here today. He was stricken with an attack of heart disease while inspecting mining property near Yreka, Cal., December 9. Later he was brought here, where his condition improved until today, when a second attack came during his sleep.

Former Gov. Boyle was chief executive of Nevada two terms, 1915 to 1923. He was a native of the Silver State and was graduated from its university with the degree of M.E. As a mining engineer he operated in British Columbia, Sonora, Mex., and California, and at his father's death succeeded to the management of Nevada properties.

Previous to his election on the Democratic ticket as Governor he held the positions of State Tax Commissioner and State Engineer.

During the war the former Governor rendered expert service to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue on mine taxation and served on committees for the stabilization of the mint price of silver and on the Treasury gold-inquiry committee.

He was born at Virginia City, July 26, 1879.

Women's Pleas Redouble Hunt for Lost Yacht

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The pleas of two distraught women caused Coast Guard stations along the Atlantic Coast today to redouble their search for the Dolphin, a sixty-five-foot yacht that cleared from Riverhead, Long Island, October 19, last, with six men, and has not been heard from since.

Mrs. Marie Zimmerman of Seaside, Long Island, was the first one to call the attention of the authorities to the disappearance of the vessel. She despairs of ever again seeing her husband, George.

The other is the wife of Capt. Gus Asprenburg, owner of the yacht, who is a wealthy manufacturer of Atlantic City.

Mrs. Zimmerman became worried for the safety of her husband on the afternoon of the day he left with Asprenburg on a trial trip in the yacht. A terrific storm swept along the Atlantic shore, sending small boats upon the beach or scurrying for cover.

COLLEGE HEAD ADMITS ENJOYING WILD LIFE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NORMAN (Okla.) Jan. 3.—"For many years I have had a hobby for promoting and enjoying wild life," said Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the University of Oklahoma, the other day, in introducing to the student body in assembly a representative of the State Forestry Commission. Ripples of sniggers in the auditorium quickly developed to laughter and laughter into a din of applause. The president smiled and stood his ground and when quiet was restored he concluded and sat down:

"Well, I guess I've said enough."

HUGE JAIL DELIVERY FOILED

Police of Eastern City Frustrate Daring Gangsters After Bungling by "Trusty" Reveals Plans

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

JERSEY CITY, Jan. 3.—Tipped off in advance by the bungling work of a "trusty," Jersey City police frustrated at Hudson County Jail what they believe was the most daring and determined attempt to accomplish a wholesale delivery of prisoners ever made in the State, it was revealed yesterday.

Gangsters from New York, friends of four asserted hold-up men locked in cells awaiting trial, were to besiege the jail, beat the two keepers, John Cahill and William Norton, into insensibility, and then release everybody in the cells, according to Inspector John Beggans. Armed with sawed-off shotguns, the gangsters then intended to convey the prisoners to waiting automobiles and make their escape.

KEEPERS DRUGGED

Seven prisoners questioned by the inspector at the jail said an alternative plan had been tried and the shotgun raid was only attempted after this failed. By the first plan the trusty, Paul Raiboldt, a forger serving sentence, was to dope the coffee of the keepers with morphine and turn everybody loose, the inspector said. But Raiboldt did not make the dose strong enough. The keepers were made drowsy, but they remained conscious, telephoned the police and told their story.

Investigation by police revealed the jail was a hive of persons bent on breaking out. Besides the quantity of morphine asserted to have been found in Raiboldt's mattress, police found concealed files, iron pipes, several jimmies and numerous places where brick had been already loosened preparatory to making larger holes through the walls.

A large package of gunpowder was found concealed in a cell, and officials believe it had also been planned to blow up the jail if anything occurred to foil the other plans for the jail delivery.

After information of the conspiracy came to Inspector Beggans, he assigned detectives to stand continuous watch in the jail. When the three automobiles, filled with asserted gangsters, drew up outside the jail near midnight Wednesday, detectives lurking in the doorway and massed in the office to repulse any attack may have been visible to occupants of the car or else the detectives' presence was signaled from inside the jail, for the three cars lingered for only a moment and sped away, escaping the car which followed.

MERCED—Center of the San Joaquin

Fancher Lands Open to Farmers

After being in one ownership for over half a century, the FANCHER LANDS, known the Valley over for their sustained fertility, are being made ready for small-acreage farm homes.

Lying in the heart of the great Merced Irrigation District, watered by the Giant Exchequer Dam, the FANCHER LANDS virtually adjoin the oncoming city of Merced, county seat. Just to the east lies the 4000-acre Del Monte Orchard of the California Packing Corporation, one of the world's great deciduous plantings. Also nearby are the 3000-acre holdings of the Planada Fig Gardens. Adjoining are parcels of winter garden lands renting for $60 an acre.

The soil is a rich silt loam, shown by U. S Soil Survey to be free from alkali. Irrigation water is abundant. Natural drainage is provided by gentle slop, toward Bear Creek, which traverses the property.

Favored by a climate that is friendly to agriculture, possessing the all important asset of good transportation facilities by main line rail and paved highway, FANCHER LANDS spell opportunity—long sought opportunity—to the family seeking 20 acres and the life outdoors.

Tractors and teams are now leveling the tract. Engineers are plotting the parcels into small tracts. Irrigation laterals and roads are being built.

Western Electric
SUPPLY DEPARTMENT

Changes name–

Effective January 1st that part of the Western Electric Company known as the Supply Department takes Graybar Electric Company as its name.

This involves no change whatever in the existing distributing organization. Nor does it affect the facilities offered to buyers of electrical supplies in this city and in the 54 other cities where Graybar distributing houses are located.

The significance of the change is found rather in the source of the new name—derived from Gray and Barton, the original business title of the founders of Western Electric in 1869. Pioneers of 56 years' standing in the electrical industry, the Graybar Electric Company looks forward to the next 56 years of service.

Depend on Graybar Electric to play an ever-increasing share in the industrial development of this city—rendering service to the electrical contractor, the manufacturer, the public utility operator and all wholesale users of quality electrical supplies.

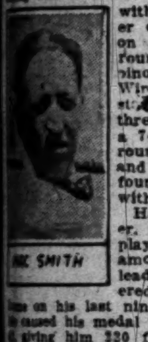
BILL MEHLHORN WINS LONG BEACH OPEN

CHICAGO STAR IN GREAT FINISH TO BEAT LINARES

Makes Up Seven-Hole Margin on Last Eighteen to Pass Local Pro by One Stroke; Smith Third

BY BILL WISE

Smiling Bill Mehlhorn, professional and director in the Old Colony Club, Chicago, picked up seven strokes on Dick Linares, Long Beach Municipal mentor, through two par rounds of 71, and finished with 215 to win first prize in the fifty-four hole Long Beach open tourney, at the Virginia Club, yesterday.



MAC SMITH

MacDonald Smith, Great Neck, Long Island, won third money, finishing one stroke over Linares with a 216, after clipping par on his final round. Al Espinosa, another Windy City star, slipped three over with a 74, after two rounds of 72 and collected fourth prize with 218.

Harry Cooper, Texas flash, playing well up among the leaders, wavered coming home on his last nine and trouble caused his medal to mount to [illegible], giving him 220 for the play and a tie with Mel Smith of Portland for fifth place.

Frank Minch, Sacramento, Al Watrous, Grand Rapids, and Johnnie Golden, New York, tangled with 221s, while Hutt Martin, Parkridge (Colo.,) and Billy Creavey, Oklahoma City, with 222s, divided the last place money.

VON ELM FIRST

George Von Elm, California western, northern and State amateur, and southern open champion, after a disastrous 80 in the morning, was home with a 72, for [illegible], and first amateur trophy. Harold Thompson of the Oakmont Club, finished three strokes over California's greatest amateur to win second low gross with 228.

E. M. Jones, of the Virginia Club won first low net, 232-18-214. Earl Cody, another fast home club amateur, with 244-18-226, tied with Arnold Statz, former Chicago Cub baseball star, who had 232-[illegible] for second low net.

The story of the greatest tournament the West has ever sponsored is the age-old tale of a little oval of gutta percha, propelled by unwavering clubs, in the hands of proven champions carrying dead on eighteen greens, while a similar ball carrying the prayers—and but partially stifled hopes of a gallery numbering thousands of persons—roled over, around and beside, many, many cups.

LINARES FIGHTING

After burning up the course with a 68 in the morning, Linares started away from the first tee with a lead of six strokes over Mehlhorn and five over Cooper. The high wind that bothered the players Saturday increased in volume yesterday and, while the wind might have bothered, it was the strain of carrying on in the face of thousands of friends, while Mehlhorn, Cooper and Mac Smith and others were setting the pace, clipping pars, and occasional birdies, picking up a stroke here, two strokes there, and sinking easy putts for halves, while the home-town boy was fighting desperately to hold his rapidly decreasing lead.

Linares's title hopes were wrecked as he started away in the afternoon. To appreciate the strain the Long Beach player was under, it is necessary to know Dick

SCHAEFER VIES WITH HOREMANS

World's Billiard Champion Risks His Newly Acquired Title Tonight

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—For the second time within a month the world's 18.2 balk-line billiard championship will be at stake tomorrow night when its present holder, Edouard Horemans, Belgian, and Young Jake Schaefer meet in a 1500-point match at Orchestra Hall.

Jake Schaefer

It was only a month ago that Horemans wrested the crown from Schaefer in one of the fastest matches in billiard history, which also was played in Orchestra Hall.

The contest which opens tomorrow holds an added interest because it is an outgrowth of a disagreement at the last meeting of the two stars that threatened for a time to terminate their match. Schaefer was going strong in a long run that looked as if it might carry him into the lead during the second block of the match when the referee said that he had missed a billiard from a double freeze. Schaefer protested, and it was only after the intervention of peacemakers that he consented to go on with the game. After the fireworks had quieted, it was arranged that a return match be played tomorrow night.

The match will be played in three blocks of 500 points each, tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Both players are reported in excellent shape, at the height of their form, and a contest that will make billiard history is looked forward to by the fans. The betting is said to be an almost even-money affair.

PALISADES QUINTET LEADS CHURCH LOOP

After the third round of scheduled matches, the Pacific Palisades quintet leads in the Bay District Church Basketball League. The Palisades players have conquered the hoop for three wins, while closely following in percentages are Christian, Trinity, and First Methodist, Srs., teams.

Other squads in the league are First Methodist, Jr., Ocean Park Methodist, Presbyterian and First Baptist.

"FOUR-FIGGERED" CONTRACT BINDS NEVERS TO BROWNS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 3.—The price the St. Louis Browns, American League club, paid to obtain Ernie Nevers, Stanford University athlete, has not been disclosed, but reports here tonight were that "it was well up in four figures," P. D. C. Ball, owner of the Browns, when questioned concerning the transaction, said he does not know himself the terms of the contract with Nevers. Ball said the Pacific Coast star was signed at Jacksonville by Manager Sisler of the Browns on instructions he received from the club owner.

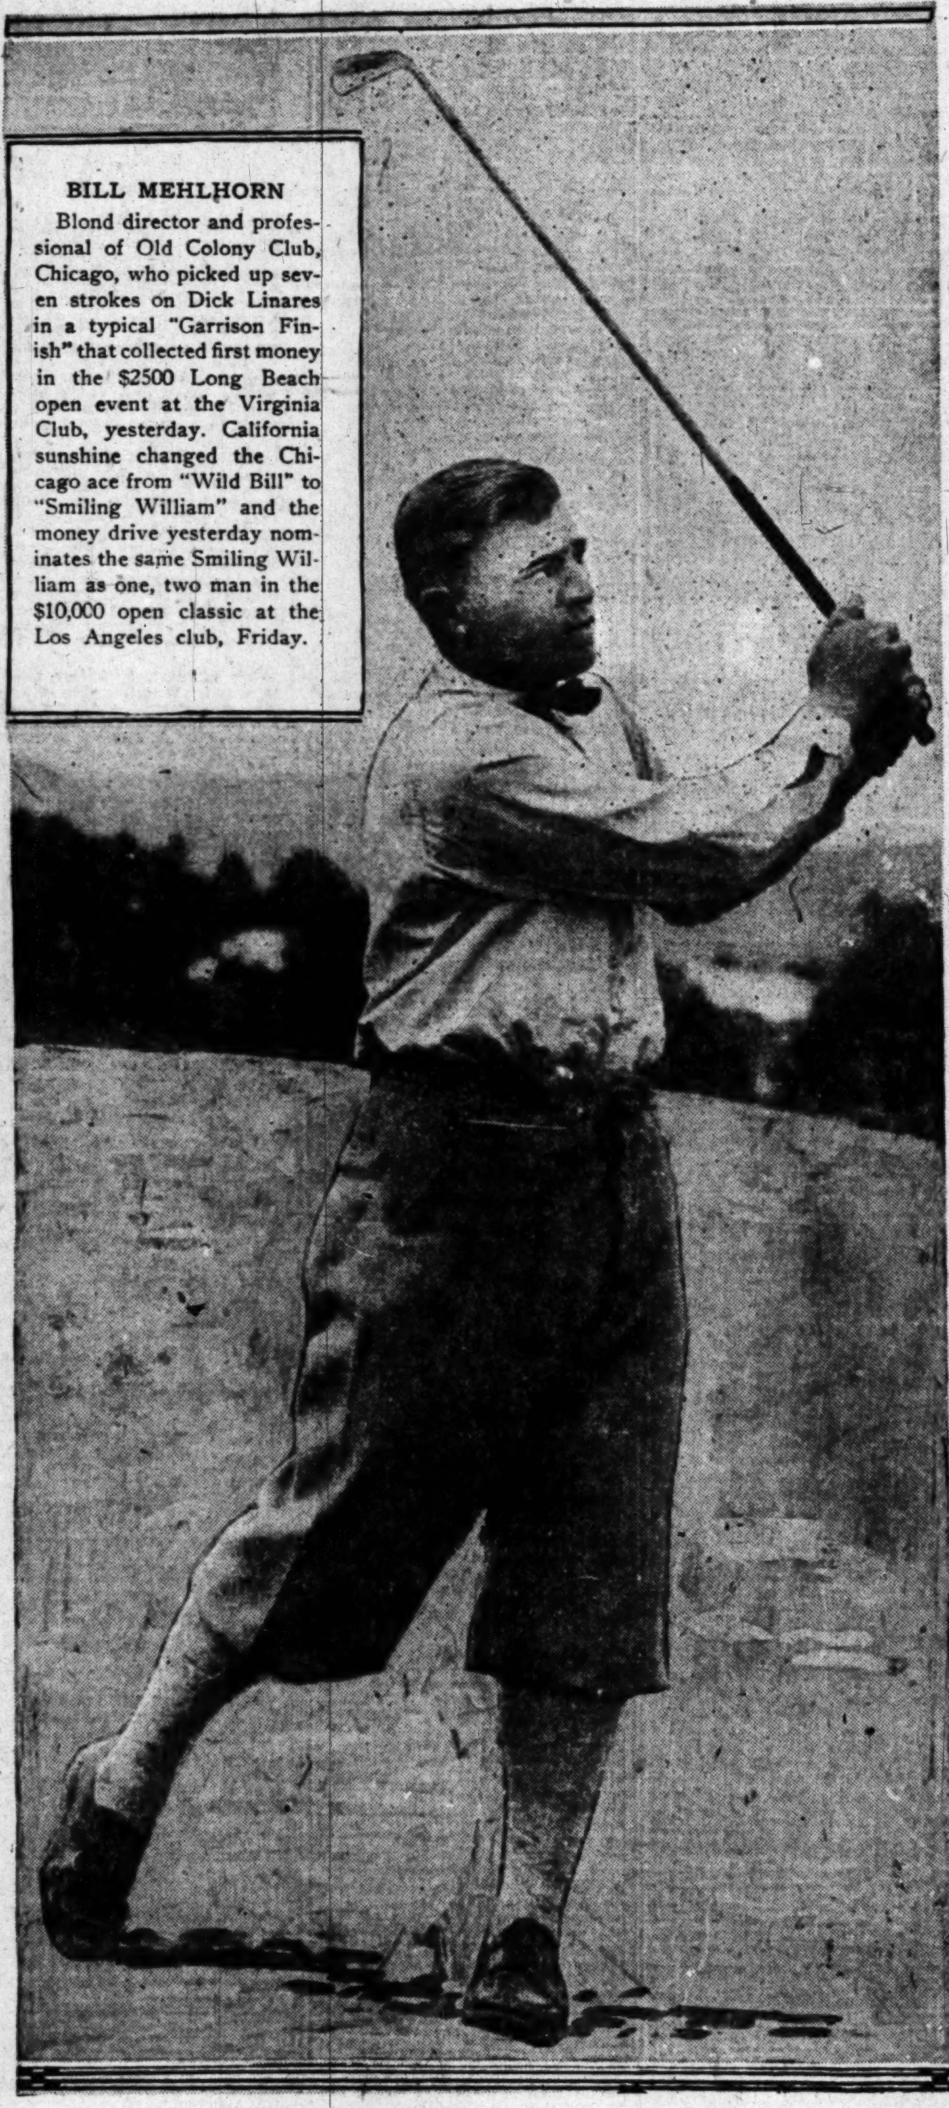
"Sisler did not include the terms in the telegram he sent me Saturday," Ball said, "but he will write a letter detailing the transaction."

Reports are that the New York Giants offered Nevers a $5000 bonus to sign with that club and that a similar offer was tendered him by the Cincinnati club.

WILSON MAY MEET "RED"

George Wilson, University of Washington halfback, was tendered a proposition yesterday to play with the Los Angeles Tigers against Red Grange's Chicago Bears on the 16th inst. at the Coliseum. There is a movement to make the All-American halfback the Red Grange of the Coast. The information that Wilson will turn professional came from an authentic source, but what the offer was or the terms of the agreement were not made public.

Wilson told a Times reporter on Saturday that he was considering several pro offers, but had come to no decision. Wilson's spectacular playing in the Alabama game made him a popular favorite with local fans and would attract much attention should he play against Grange. Experts claim Wilson is one of the greatest halfbacks of all time and a personal clash between the two outstanding halves of the year would add zest to the game.



BILL MEHLHORN

Blond director and professional of Old Colony Club, Chicago, who picked up seven strokes on Dick Linares in a typical "Garrison Finish" that collected first money in the $2500 Long Beach open event at the Virginia Club, yesterday. California sunshine changed the Chicago ace from "Wild Bill" to "Smiling William" and the money drive yesterday nominates the same Smiling William as one, two man in the $10,000 open classic at the Los Angeles club, Friday.

FAIR SUZANNE IN BREAKDOWN

Mlle. Lenglen Stricken by Nervous Attack

French Tennis Player Faces Two-Month Rest

Chance to Meet Helen Wills Goes Glimmering

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NICE, Jan. 3.—Suzanne Lenglen suffered a serious nervous breakdown following two strenuous matches this afternoon in the semifinals of the Beausite tennis tournament at Cannes.

SUZANNE LENGLEN.

Mlle. Lenglen was taken to a hotel in Cannes and physicians declared after an examination that she is suffering from a nervous breakdown and her condition is very serious. She was brought to Nice tonight in an ambulance. Her home is here and she probably will be confined to bed for two months.

Her illness probably will eliminate Mlle. Lenglen from meeting Helen Wills in the tennis tournaments on the Riviera during the next two months, which has been greatly anticipated on the Riviera.

Blows Finish Foe; Bellows Finish Show

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Jan. 3. — Joop Leit, heavyweight pugilist known as the "Singing Dutchman," proved his contention last night that prize-fight fans like grand opera as well as rough and tumble bouts, if served to them with fitting surroundings.

After punishing Billy Prestage of Nottingham at the Black Friars fight hall so severely that Billy surrendered at the end of the second round, Leit regaled the ringside patrons by singing selections from Pagliacci, with Wagnerian airs for encores. The spectators were so pleased with the Amsterdam boxer's singing that none of them thought of asking the management for their money back because the fight ended so abruptly.

'Big Ten' Grid Stars Liable to Suspension

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 3. — Western Conference football stars who were members of "Navy Bill" Ingram's eastern picked team in the charity game at San Francisco with a western team, December 26, last, and in a game at San Diego New Year's Day, violated Big Ten rules and are liable to suspension, Maj. John L. Griffith, Big Ten commissioner announced tonight.

Only three conference men who are studying in school were on the list of all-stars. They are Edwards of Mhicigan, Fry of Iowa and Marks of Indiana. While Maj. Griffith said he believed all the Western Conference players concerned had finished their college football careers, the action will make them ineligible for competition in basbetball, baseball and other sports.

The particular rule the players violated, Maj. Griffith said, is one adopted several years ago when several college players took part in a game at Taylorville, Ill. This rule prohibits any conference player from playing on a team during his vacation if admission is charged.

MEXICAN GIRLS PLAY BASEBALL

Empalme and Guaymas Nines Play Game; More Fun than Bullfight

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GUAYMAS (Mex.) Jan. 3. Attracting more attention than a bullfight, two women's baseball teams from Guaymas and Empalme, a suburb, clashed here today, ending in a victory for the Guaymas nine, 4 to 3. The women played in bloomers and were distinguishable only by their differently colored ties. Miss Francisca Linan, Guaymas pitcher, had too much stuff on the the ball for the Empalme team.

TROJAN FIVE TO TAKE ON L.A.A.C. MEN

Rival Basketball Teams Mingle Tomorrow Night in U.S.C. Gymnasium

One of the hottest basketball games of the year is scheduled for tomorrow night at the U.S.C. gymnasium, where Les Turner's Trojans will engage the Los Angeles Athletic Club quintet. The game is billed for 8 o'clock, with plenty of action promised.

Les Turner

It will be the first real test of the season for the Trojans. U.S.C. plays the Utah Aggies Friday and Saturday and Turner signed the clubmen in order to get some tough opposition before the Mountaineers took the floor. Fred Olney, Maynard Laswell, Ben Gerpheide, Aubrey Kincaid and Linnie Larson will make up the Mercury team, with Collete, former University of Utah forward, doped to see action also.

McEWAN SEEKING THREE ASSISTANTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ALEXANDRIA (Minn.) Jan. 3. Three assistant coaches are being sought by John McEwan, former football coach at West Point, who is now coaching at the University of Oregon. He was here today visiting his former home.

LOCALS ANNEX CLASH, 2 TO 0

Crowd of 3500 See Home Club in Fast Victory

Billy Downie and Pearson Get Local Scores

Bay City Eleven Unable to Puncture Net

Los Angeles evened the score with San Francisco at Loyola Field yesterday afternoon, when its soccer representatives trampled on a northern team, 2 to 0, before a crowd estimated at 3500. On the run of the play, the locals deserved more goals, but the combination of Lady Luck, McBride at left back and Bigarani in goal was too much for the home guard to completely overcome.

Time and again Bigarani stopped shots that seemed labeled for goal. His saving of a penalty kick in the second half drew much deserved applause. Slawson sent the ball goalward with plenty of speed behind, but the goalie got squarely in its path and saved a goal at the expense of a corner. Davidson, right half on the visiting team, also got in some good licks for his side, but outside of these three positions the locals had it all over the visitors.

A sample of what was to follow was given San Francisco when almost from the kick-off the home guard took the play toward the San Francisco goal by nice teamwork. The advantage which the visitors hoped to get from the strong wind at their backs in the opening period was neutralized by the tactics of the locals. The ball was kept low, although occasionally when the situation demanded it the leather would be swung across the field.

San Francisco tried desperately to open up the game and carry the attack to Los Angeles, but except for sporadic raids, which, however, seldom reached the dangerous stage, their every effort was turned back. Southern, the Los Angeles goalie, did not have to handle more than half a dozen shots during the first half, so well covered was he by Thomas and Walker. Thomas especially was effective with his powerful punting and his tackling.

After thirty minutes of play, during which Los Angeles was the dominate side, Billy Downie bulged the net. Bigarani had no chance to save, the ball leaving Billy's toe from a few yards out.

San Francisco staged a rally which gave Walker and Thomas some trouble, but it was finally definitely repulsed, with no damage suffered, and

RUNCLAR COPS CLASSIC

Baron Long's Steed Romps Off With Feature Turf Event on Tia Juana Track

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK, Jan. 3.—Outbreaking the field and opening up with a long lead in the early racing, Runclar, bearing the colors of Baron Long, San Diego turfman, lasted long enough to beat out General Thatcher by a head in the Hindoo handicap, six furlongs feature here today. Sunspero, owned by H. H. Cotton of the La Brea stable, took the show.

Runclar's splendid early effort furnished the margin which barely stalled off the fast closing General Thatcher. The latter started a brilliant stretch drive and would have passed the winner in a few more strides. Sunspero showed a splendid effort and will improve with future races.

The gallant Osprey was outrun from the start, but met with some interference in the back stretch and was pulled up toward the end. Runolathe, Dangerous and Edmon ran well in the first part but soon tired.

Extra Edition proved easily best in the secondary feature at a mile and a half, the Talmadge Sisters claiming handicap, and won as he pleased. Pathan came strongly in the last quarter and finished

WOMEN'S HILLCREST EVENT STARTS OFF GOLF WEEK HERE

Local and visiting women will play 18 holes medal for class low gross and low net trophies in the women's invitational, sponsored as a most enjoyable feature of Golf Week by the Hillcrest club.

The comprehensive program for the next six days includes an 18-hole amateur invitation at Brentwood, tomorrow; a similar tourney at El Caballero, Wednesday; the amateur-professional event at Los Angeles, Thursday, and the $10,000 Los Angeles open, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Beautiful trophies will be awarded in all local events by the clubs sponsoring the play. A record field is expected to play through both the El Caballero and Brentwood affairs—while more than 200 players will be in the amateur-pro field Thursday.

LACOSTE WINS OVER BOROTRA IN PARIS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Jan. 3.—Rene Lacoste defeated Jean Borotra today in the finals of the men's singles of the French covered-court tennis championships, 6-1, 4-6, 8-6, 7-5.

Lacoste and Borotra are ranked at the top of French tennis as equals, but experts who witnessed the day's play predicted that if Lacoste continues to show the form he displayed today he will be in first place alone in the 1926 rankings.

New York Fighters' Mecca With Five of Eight World Champions Among Native Sons

SWAT ON NOSE EFFECTIVE ARGUMENT IN OLD GOTHAM

Bowery Streets Yield Champions in Great Numbers; Berlenbach Learned in Gymnasium

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The art of fighting with the fists seems to be declining in the great open spaces of the United States and the time may soon arrive when the hero of the piece, instead of hoisting a round-house right from the ankles, will challenge the other guy to eighteen holes of golf or a rubber, if that's what they call it, of bridge.

This idea dawned during the contemplation of the list of those athletes with the gnarled noses and the ears like soft pillows who chance to hold the championships of the prize ring as the air resounds with the cheery hiccup, "same to you."

There are eight classifications of knuckle operators, ranging from the knob kneed and often famished flyweight who may subsist on a diet of fresh air and leaves from the family cook book in the process of making the weight, to the billowy models of limitless poundage over whom Jack Dempsey reigns so passively. At this hour, there are three New Yorkers among those eight and two others who can go home from New York on the street cars, and another title is a matter of dispute, but not necessarily of blows, between Frankie Genaro of New York and Fidel La Barba of California, both alumni of the American Olympic deputation.

NEW YORK STILL REIGNS

Thus New York and the region thereof, holding five and one-half of the world championships of the ring, would seem to be the only territory in the country in which tah swat on the nose, once an emphatic argument in the national repartee, is still generally regarded as the most effective form settlement of any and all disputes.

Among the flyweights, Genaro was a better fighter than the champion as long as Pancho Villa lived and held the title. He had beaten Villa twice before Pancho happened to get the match with Jimmy Wilde and won the honor and the limousines that went with it. But after Villa died, Genaro, gracefully accepting the title by inheritance, went to California and met La Barba, who violently intimated that the swat on the nose, although it might be decadent form in large areas of the land, was by no means a lost art with Fidel La Barba of California. La Barba, having licked Genaro, claims to be and probably is the flyweight champion of the world, but just now the New York State Athletic Commission has ruled he is not old enough to be champion and the commission is just stubborn enough to make the long-lost Charlie Ross champion by proclamation.

Charlie Rosenberg, nee Green, although he operates on a schedule of one beating a week, preserves his title by fighting at overweight figures, and he is just one of a numerous line of runty New Yorkers who have held the bantamweight title since One-Eyed Pete Herman of New Orleans lost it for the last time to Johnny Buff. Buff, an elderly Pole, was a commuter from New Jersey, and Joe Lynch, who beat him, was a hot order from Hell's Kitchen, the ugly back yard of Broadway. Abie Goldstein and Cannonball Martin, who fought him out of the championship, learned the science of efficacy of the swat on the sneezer during childhood's happy hours on the sidewalks of New York.

TAYLOR MAY GET IN

Perhaps Bud Taylor of Terre Haute will break the New York line. He is a gifted fist fighter and he claims he can produce himself at 118 pounds if properly induced. But the fact he thoroughly understands the rough medium in which these debates are conducted will not make Rosenberg especially eager to meet him.

Louie Kid Kaplan, champion of the featherweights, travels out of Meriden, Ct., and usually travels toward New York. The man who held the championship next before him was Johnny Dundee also of Hell's Kitchen, and the next one is likely to be one of the oncoming band of ghetto kids who learn their trade among the ash cans of the slums.

Rocky Kansas of Buffalo is lightweight champion, pro tem, and Mickey Walker, like Buff before him, is a commuter from the Jersey side.

Greb of the middleweight captaincy is a notorious Pittsburgher and often goes there without any particular motive, which proves the widespread suspicion that the man is peculiar. His title, the middleweight championship, is one of the two which don't reside here, the other one being Jack Dempsey, which is the subject of insistent claims by Gene Tunney, born in Greenwich Village near the corner where 100 girls jumped out of the thirteenth-story windows of the Triangle Shirt Factory.

And Paul Berlenbach, light-heavyweight champion, learned to fight in the gymnasium of the New York Athletic Club.

DAN TOBEY TO LEARN NEW NAMES

Fight Announcer Has His Troubles Ahead of Him at Legion Show

Dan Tobey, official announcer at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium, spent all day yesterday at home learning to pronounce the names of some of the fighters on the Legion bill Friday night.

Dan is expected to have little trouble with the names of Doc Snell and Jack Roper. Snell is William McEachern and Roper is Jack Roper Hammond. Champ Monroe is Louis Esquvil and Young Polo, Perfecto Mendoza.

It wasn't so long ago that Tobey had occasion to pronounce the name of Tex Rickard, world's renowned boxing promoter, and when Dan bellowed forth the name of New York's biggest, it sound like this: "Ladies and gentlemen, I have here a wire from Tex Richard that I would like to read to you."

Tom Gallery, manager of the Hollywood American Legion Stadium, has engaged a tutor to help Tobey out for the first few shows. Gallery believes that Dan will eventually equip himself with enough Mexican, Filipino, Greek, Armenian, French, German, Polish, Russian, Turkish, Chinese, and a few more dictionaries to be able to pronounce the names of fighters correctly.

On the Hollywood Legion Stadium card this week are four fighters who will have to get accustomed to being called by their family names. All contracts filed with the Boxing Commission must have the family names of the boys attached to them or they will be null and void.

European Golf Stars Defeat Yank Players

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. AUGUSTINE (Fla.) Jan. 3. European golf triumphed over American in the first international sporting competition of the new year here today. Its foremost professional golfers, Archie Compston and Arnaud Massy, defeated Bobby Jones, national amateur champion, and Watts Gunn, 3 and 2, in a thirty-six-hole match over the St. Augustine links.

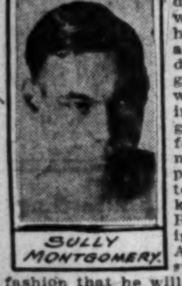
It was the first appearance in America for Compston, the British professional champion, and Massy, former British open titleholder and present French open champion.

Massy, the star performer of the day and his partner had a best ball of 68 and 66 over the par 73 course. Massy was brilliant despite his 49 years. He produced a 144 for the thirty-six holes, the low ball of the day and it was his sensational work that was responsible for the defeat of Jones and Gunn.

MONTGOMERY TOUGH CHAP

George Godfrey Facing Real Fighter in Wednesday Night's Main Event at Olympic Auditorium

George Godfrey, a black shadow in the path of both Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, meets Sully Montgomery, the two-fisted ex-Centre College football star in the best heavyweight fight billed for Los Angeles in years, Wednesday night in the Olympic Auditorium's main event.



SULLY MONTGOMERY

Godfrey will find Montgomery everything that a lot of his opponents were not . . . a man who is confident he can win and who has the punch and ability to do it. Montgomery has worked himself into a dangerous mood for the big negro championship contender. Sully knocked out Ralph Smith in his first Los Angeles start in such impressive fashion that he will be close to an even-money bet despite Godfrey's amazing record.

Montgomery trained all sorts of right hands against Smith's chin and it's 50-50 that he will reach a location on Godfrey's button at some time or other. Smith was hit harder than he ever was or ever will be in his life when Montgomery connected with the wallop that sent him down and out.

George was knocking them over right and left. He put two of them away in one week—Fred Fulton in four rounds and "Battling" Owens in three.

The Fulton that Godfrey fought was not the "Falling Freddie" who staged the Culver City fiasco. It was the old-time Fulton, who fought for every inch and went down and out only because he was up against a man who could put a champion down and out.

Godfrey is one of the biggest drawing cards in the city and against the Montgomery that fans now know, a huge house is looked for.

Matchmaker Joe Levy has completed his card for Jack Root's first 1926 show.

Terry McHugh and Rufe Canlon box the semi-wind-up of six rounds. They are featherweights.

The rest of the card:

Sailor Liston vs. Billy Lane, 135 pounds, six rounds.

Ewell Paul vs. Curley Hendricks, 145 pounds, four rounds.

Henry Gonzales vs. Bobby Herman, four rounds, catchweights.

IN LOCAL DEBUT TONIGHT

John Pesek, called the Nebraska Tiger, makes his bow to Southern California mat fans at the Olympic Auditorium in the main event of Lou Daro's grappling show.

PESEK MEETS SIGMOND

Uncrowned King of Wrestlers Takes on German Star in Big Card at Olympic Auditorium

The uncrowned champion of the mat universe, Mr. John Pesek, will make his Los Angeles debut this evening when he appears in the main event of Lou Daro's high-powered show at the Olympic Auditorium. Mr. Pesek is called the uncrowned king of the grapplers because those who are more or less officially recognized as champions do not have the desire to enter into the same ring with him. This includes Joseph Stecher, the Omaha octopus, and Ed (Strangler) Lewis, between whom much dispute has arisen as to which man actually is champion of the bone-crushing union.

Joe Sigmond

Mr. Pesek has a reputation for toughness that is unequaled and that takes in the realm of cafeteria steaks, alley fighters and other things of more or less repute as to hardness and ability to absorb punishment. He has been 'rassling for a long time and in that period has lost only two bouts. He was thrown once when he got all tangled up in a burst of enthusiasm and tossed himself with a vicious toehold, realizing what he had done too late to save the fall from being charged against him.

Mr. Joe Sigmond, styled the greatest of all living German grapplers, will be Mr. Pesek's partner in crime tonight. In as much as it will also be Mr. Sigmond's local debut, we, of the press, have no way of knowing just what to expect. From the remarks which the German giant has dropped here and there, it would seem that all will not be Roses of Picardy when Mr. Sigmond is called upon to swap holds with his rival. Joseph has visions of a title for himself some day and doesn't intend to let any uncrowned king interrupt his progress to the throne. In as much as Joseph sports a thirty-pound weight advantage on John, it is easy to believe that the uncrowned ruler of the mat universe will have considerable to worry about.

The two behemoths are slated to tear at one another for some two hours, the chap who gets two falls first earning the right to head Mr. Daro's next show at the Olympic. The betting favors Mr. Pesek and there seems to be no reason to doubt the betters—this time.

As if the main brawl were not enough, Mr. Daro has scheduled no less than three other bouts to while away the evening. When it comes to being generous Mr. Daro is nothing else but. His semi-wind-up features George Kotsonaros vs. Dick Daviscourt. Both have been seen here before, but neither lately. George has a large and vociferous following, while Dick is not without his supporters. George wrestles much like Jim Londos, and if he is half as effective as the slippery Greek he'll annoy Dick not a little. However, it looks like Daviscourt to win.

Setuzo Ota, who is as hard to down as his name is to pronounce, holds the spotlight against Roy Anderson in the third bout. This will be a jui-jitsu affair, with two ten-minute rounds scheduled. Setuzo will be outweighed more than David was when he met Goliath, but is doped to win even as the sling-shot expert of old did.

No "rassin" card is complete without a Hoosian on the bill and Mr. Daro will introduce Martin Zikovitch in the opening bout. Zikovitch has the decidedly precarious task of locking horns with a certain Mr. Siki, a dusy grappler of no relation to the Battling Siki, who was so unceremoniously bumped off by some of New York's undesirable citizenry not so long ago.

The show starts at 8.30 and with so many new faces on the card and the presence of Mr. Pesek, the uncrowned champion, Mr. Daro ought to play to one of those big houses which have been the joy of his heart lately.

VET TO BE ENTRANT IN LONG GRIND

Fred Hille, 51-Year-Old Athlete, in Cross-Country Event

Fred Hillie, 51-year-old veteran distance runner, has entered the six-mile cross-city race to be held on the 23rd inst., from Pershing Square to City Terrace. This was announced yesterday by Laurence Block of the A.A.U. cross-country committee.

Hille, who will represent the South Los Angeles Athletic Club, hopes to prove that it is not necessary to be young to make a good showing in distance running. Stenroos, the Finn, proved that in winning the Olympic Marathon of 1924, and Hille hopes to add emphasis to the fact.

Hille will not enter the cross-country race to be held this Saturday in Griffith Park under the auspices of the Breakfast Club, nor will be compete in the A.A.U. championships at Occidental College a week later. He feels that he has just about one good race in him and hopes to make it one to be remembered by track fans hereabouts.

Another South Los Angeles Athletic Club man who will compete is Alfred Liggins. J. M Padilla, who was born in Guatemala, Central America, has entered as a Knight of Columbus. Another late entry is Donono Hall of Long Beach, who will run in all three races. Howard Carey has entered from Santa Monica. Other entries are Art Forward of the L.A.A.C.; William Carpenter, Cecil Glenn Calvert and Philip Ashland.

Entries for the Breakfast Club race close Wednesday. High school and college runners returning to school today after their holiday vacation, will forward the entries immediately.

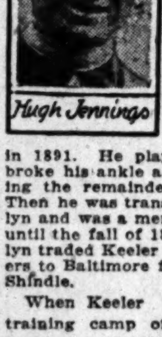
ROUNDING THIRD by Hugh A. Jennings

THE ABUSIVE MR. BRODIE

CHAPTER XXXVII.

Willie Keeler, better known as "Wee Willie" because of his size, started his baseball career as a left-handed third baseman on a semiprofessional team in Montclair, N. J. From there he went to Binghamton, N. Y., and it was while a member of the Binghamton club that he attracted the attention of the New York Giants. They signed him and he joined them in 1891. He played one month, broke his ankle and did little during the remainder of the season. Then he was transferred to Brooklyn and was a member of the team until the fall of 1893, when Brooklyn traded Keeler and Dan Brouthers to Baltimore for Treadway and Shindle.



Hugh Jennings

When Keeler arrived in the training camp of the Orioles in the spring of 1894 (we were training at New Orleans that spring,) Ned Hanlon did not know exactly what to do with him. Hanlon was never enthusiastic over left-handed third basemen and he had McGraw for third base, so Keeler did not fit in at that position from any angle as far as Hanlon was concerned. One evening soon after Keeler's arrival, Hanlon took him aside and said, "I'm going to make an outfielder out of you. Right field is the spot for you. Start there tomorrow." Keeler was not enthusiastic about it, but when a manager tells you to play a certain position there is nothing to do but play it.

The next morning when practice started, Keeler went to right field. Walter Brodie was in center and Joe Kelley in left. Hanlon, sitting on the bench, was watching Keeler closely to see how he would go after fly balls. Hanlon didn't find out, at least not then. Keeler never started after a fly ball. Brodie was catching everything hit into center as well as everything intended for Keeler and instead of going after the ball, Keeler kept stepping away from it and edging toward the foul line. After about ten minutes of this performance, Keeler came in, walked to the bench, threw away his glove and sat down.

"What's the matter?" asked Hanlon.

"I'm not going to play the outfield," answered Keeler.

"Why not? What's the matter with the outfield?"

"Oh, the outfield's all right, but it's that guy Brodie out there. He's got it in for me."

"What's Brodie got it in for you for?"

"I don't know, but he keeps on yelling, 'I'll get YOU, you dirty dog! I'll get YOU, you dirty dog!'"

Everybody that heard Keeler roared with laughter, for Brodie, in fielding practice, had a habit of yelling "I'll get you, you dirty dog," every time a ball was hit in his direction, or anywhere near it. He intended the remark for the ball and no human being or animal, for that matter. This was all explained to Keeler and he and Brodie became close friends.

Keeler fell into the Baltimore style of play and adapted himself to it, becoming an important cog in the Orioles' machinery.

I have said in a previous chapter that Keeler was the most scientific batsman of all time. He was the best hit-and-run man that ever lived and a remarkable bunter. Keeler was a chop hitter and rarely ever drove the ball a long way. He made 200 or more hits in each of eight seasons of his career and only Cobb has equaled or bettered this record. He went through several consecutive seasons without striking out, and he struck out fewer times than any player in history. This was due to the manner in which he offered at the ball, his peculiar chop stroke making him a hard man to strike out. It is the swinger that furnishes pitchers with strike-out records. He was a fast outfielder and covered a great deal of ground. He was also exceptionally fast in going from the plate to first. While faster than McGraw, he was never so good at running bases. Few ball players have been as popular as Keeler.

Brodie, who played alongside of Keeler, had personality. Although he was not so good a fielder as Jimmy McAleer or Bill Lange or Tris Speaker, because he lacked their speed, I doubt if there ever lived a man who played batsmen as accurately as Brodie. The man had an uncanny ability of guessing where the batter would hit.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

SOME time ago we formed the idea that the success or failure of invading football teams in Southern California was in no small degree dependent upon the mental attitude of the coach. And every time another team rolls in, that idea becomes more and more convincing to us. Alabama had the idea that this climate was just about as good as any to play in and as a result went through a gruelling struggle at top speed. Washington had listened to Baggy Bagshaw's wails about the weather for so long that they believed it. Unless we're much mistaken the weather affected Washington mentally a lot more than it did physically. The team gave no signs of physical distress, due to the heat and all the injuries and weakness they displayed to our notion resulted from being knocked on their ear with great ferocity and regularity by the fierce blocking boys from Alabama.

Johnny Mack Brown caught our eye more for his work as safety man than anything else although he made sensational runs from scrimmage and caught two of the goshdarnedest forward passes we ever laid eyes on. His handling of punts surpassed anything we've ever seen anywhere; he made a great tackle of George Wilson when that young man seemed to be headed for a touchdown. He knocked down numerous passes and on one occasion when a Huskie punt was rolling for the Alabama line and he wanted it to roll across, he protected the ball from a charging Washington lineman by knocking the young man on his ear. The two Washington passes completed for touchdowns could not properly be charged up to him for at those times Alabama was playing a box defense and he was not playing safety.

We might have known that it would be Puss Halbriter who would rush to the front and arrange for the appearance of Red Grange in Los Angeles. Puss has a habit of doing that little thing. We can recollect back a few years, when it looked as though the sport fans in Southern California wanted to see wrestling and nobody could be found who would stage the grapplers in their noble efforts. So who should rush in but Puss, and he grabbed off the old Shrine Auditorium and put on some wonderful bouts, featuring Stecher, Ad Santel, Romonoff and all of the good ones of those days. Puss never made any money to speak of from the grappling game, but he had an idea that the public wanted to see it and he had a lot of fun putting it on, and he certainly did handle it in genuine style. In fact, he handled it so well that nobody since has been able to make a go of it until Lou Dado showed up, and, with the aid of the Olympic Auditorium, managed to make a success of it.

Yes, and we can remember back of that to one of the very first holiday football games, back about 1911. The Pacific fleet had a team that was popularly supposed to be a bear, and Puss organized an all-star team from the local colleges to play them. The all-southern team won by an overwhelming score before the biggest crowd that ever saw a game at old Bovard Field. We can remember on that team Courtney Overin, a demon tackle at Whittier and Pomona, who now coaches at Venice, Tow Wright, Turk Hunter and one or two others from U.S.C., and Sid Foster, now Manual Arts coach, and Duffy Seay from Occidental. Seay and yours truly played quarterback; Foster and Wright, halves, and Hunter, fullback. Sorenson, former L. A. High coach, and Jack D'Aule and Al Waddell were the coaches, as we remember them.

• • •

In any event, the Grange affair ought to be a great big success if Halbriter handles it. Puss is a successful business man and has staged enough sporting events to know how to do it with a good deal more than average success. He has it all doped out that Los Angeles wants to see Red Grange, and he proposes that we shall do so. Halbriter received his confirmation from Bro. C. C. Pyle by wire yesterday morning, and is now proceeding with the arrangements. He says he will gather the best football team that can be organized without cutting into the amateur ranks, and he ought to be able to pick a good one.

HOLLYWOOD, AUTOISTS MEET

Rival Sextets Close First Half of Hockey Season Tonight; Each Team Has One Victory

Another ice hockey classic is promised at the Palais de Glace tonight when the Auto Club of Southern California and the Hollywood Athletic Club sextets battle to win the odd game on the series for the first half of the season.

Each team has now won one game and the two games have been ranked as the most sensational of the season, with a thrill a second. Moreover, added interest is attached to the game tonight, as the Auto Club and Hollywood are generally picked as the teams which will fight it out for the Southern California championship.

Tom Murray's Motorists are given the edge tonight because of the fact that Hollywood will be playing without its chief luminary and manager, Lloyd Cook, whose injured knee, sustained in Hollywood's last game, is still causing him trouble and he may not return to the line-up for another week.

However, Cook has called on his reserves to meet the emergency and with a revised line-up thinks the Foothill sextet can defeat the Auto Club despite his absence. Jack Wilson will be in Lloyd's place at left defense, while Hammy Baker will take Wilson's post at right wing.

The Auto Club is in excellent shape for the contest and is as determined as Hollywood to take the odd game. It is an interesting fact that the Motorists have not turned in a solitary poorly played contest this season and the team's combination play is now at its peak, which, with Tommy Murray doing his wizard stuff at the goal, means that the league leaders will have their most formidable line-up on the ice.

The identity of the fourth club in the league to succeed the Club Casa del Mar, which recently surrendered its franchise, will not be decided until tomorrow night. At a special meeting of the executive committee held yesterday, applications from two organizations were received and taken under advisement, with the final decision to be made at another meeting Tuesday.

LOCAL SOCCER TEAM IN WIN

the half ended with Los Angeles leading.

Much of the Los Angeles success up to this period had been due to the excellent work of the half line composed of Alen, Copeland and Slawson. This trio broke up incipient raids and also tok care of the needs of their own forwards by a nice distribution of the ball.

In the second period Los Angeles had the advantage of the wind, and signalized resumption of play with a concerted rush on Bigarani. Shots of varying variety were peppered on him, but he withstood the attack. Once or twice the upright saved him and also the overanxiety of the forwards, who would aviate the ball over the bar. Twice the ball was in the net, but the goals were disallowed for offside.

Los Angeles continued to dominate the play, and every time that the visitors got away the ball would be recovered and promptly returned to enemy territory. When the period was two-thirds spent, San Francisco was penalized, and Slawson took the kick, but as stated, Bigarani saved.

The second goal of the match was scored a few minutes later when Pearson sent home an oblique shot which the goalie simply could not have saved. This counter put the game on ice for the locals, but there was no let-up in the play, and the exchanges were as fast as ever with San Francisco putting forth strenuous efforts to solve the home defense and get within shooting distance of Southern. The game ended, however, with no further scoring.

GLENDORA NINE IN VICTORY OVER ARCADIA

Taking the opening game of the Orange Belt world series, Harry Nelson's Glendora ball team won yesterday from Arcadia the opening of their three-game series. Score, 8 to 1. Bonnelly, pitching the entire route for Glendora, held the Arcadians down until the first of the eighth, their only scoring inning. Hanson started in the box for Arcadia, but was pulled in the early part of the third when Glendora piled up four runs.

RICKARD PLANS MITT TOURNE

New Lightweight Tourn for Gotham Fans

To Stage Affair in Madis Square Garden

Ace Hudkins to be Invit to Take Part

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Tex Rickard today offered a diamond-studded belt to the winner of a lightweight boxing tournament to be conducted at Madison Square Garden. Jess McMahon, the Garden matchmaker, announced that ten leading lightweights of the world would participate, providing the consent of the New York State Athletic Commission is obtained. The matter will be placed before that body Tuesday.

TEX RICKARD

Among those mentioned as entrants are the present champion, Rocky Kansas of Buffalo; Sid Terris of New York; Sammy Mandell of Rock Island, Ill.; Solly Seeman of New York; Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo, Phil McGraw of Detroit, Ace Hudkins of the Pacific Coast, Stanislaus Loyaza of Chile, Luis Vincenteni of Chile and Lucien Vinez of France.

Goodrich captured the tournament conducted by the New York commission last year, thereby gaining recognition as successor to the retired Benny Leonard. Kansas took the crown from him in a bout at Buffalo several weeks ago.

McMahon said that Kansas may enter the tournament, otherwise he will meet the winner in a title bout in the summer. Boxing observers believe that Kansas will remain out as the only prize for him in such a contest would be the belt, and he would risk his title several times.

Mandell, Seaman and Loyaza also participated in the New York commission's tournament.

VENICE HIGH ELEVEN GETS GOLD FOOTBALLS

With a large attendance of students and adults on hand, the Venice High School football team and training corps were honored at a party in the school gymnasium Friday evening. The evening's festivities were climaxed with the awarding of eighteen gold footballs to players and three others to Coach Edward Vandervoort, Trainer Bob Hunt and Athletic Manager Phillip Donovan.

Besides the football presentations, there were short talks, feasting and dancing. The Venetians won the Bay League football title and reached the semifinal round of the Southern California championship.

JAPS BEAT EAGLES

By scoring three runs in the eighth inning the Jap Y.M.A. managed to nose out the Eagle Rock team by one run. The game was close from start to finish and Eagle Rock was leading until the eighth when the Jap team poked in three runs. Score:

Grizzly Hoopsters Clash With Stanford Basketball Quintet at Palo Alto Tonight

BRANCH GIVEN EDGE ON CARDS

Caddy Works is Expected to Outsmart Northerners

Teamwork Features Playing of Local Aggregation

Loss of Ernie Nevers Helps Palo Alto Cage Team

Coach Caddy Works's Grizzly basketball team faces the Stanford five tonight at Palo Alto in one of the big games of the year for the local squad. Rated as one of the best quintets in Southern California, the Grizzlies are expected to give the Cards a battle royal.

CADDY WORKS.

Fans who have watched the Grizzlies in their games to date figure the Branch to have an equal chance of bringing back a victory. Works is rated as a brainy coach, and to all probability has worked out a special attack for the Cards. Against the Oregon Aggies, who were Northern Conference champions last year, the Grizzlies used an entirely new defense which defeated the Beavers.

Although the loss of Ernie Nevers, who single-handed defeated the Grizzlies last year, was supposed to have weakened the Cards, reports from the north state otherwise. Since Nevers left it is said the Cards have worked more upon team play and less upon individual work, which has greatly strengthened the team.

In the Grizzlies Stanford will meet a squad that has developed team play to a fine point. Before leaving Works announced his probable starting line-up as Horace Bresee and Jimmy Armstrong, guards; Jack Ketchum and Bill Goertz, forwards, and Al Prigge, center. Of that squad, four of the players were on last year's team. Ketchum is the only newcomer. Pete Fruhling, Frank [illegible] and "Tubby" Williams accompanied the team.

The Grizzlies will return here immediately after the game to practice for the opening game of the Southern California Conference season against Redlands on Satur-

DR. BROWNELL VICTOR IN DEL MONTE GOLF TOURNEY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DEL MONTE, Jan. 3.—Dr. H. L. Brownell, Monterey, today won the annual New Year's golf tournament, defeating W. Ede, Jr., 5 and 4 in the semifinals this morning and winning handily from J. W. McDonald of San Francisco, 1 up, in the afternoon.

In the second flight, Jack Nounnan, of the University of California, defeated Fred Deiger, of San Francisco, 6 and 5.

Merritt Olds, San Francisco, won the third flight, defeating Dr. H. Bruhns, San Francisco, 4 and 3, in the finals.

BILL MEHLHORN WINS TOURNEY

Linares, who used to caddy at the Virginia club, learned his golf under the watchful eye of many of the same friends who folowed him around yesterday.

DINES ALONE

While the same Mehlhorn, Mac Smith, Bobby Cruickshank, Mel Smith and other stars were mingling with an applauding crowd in the club dining-room—Dick Linares, the real hero of the first thirty-six holes, was alone in the club house, away from more than 2000 fans—all anxious to wish him luck—to congratulate him for the pace he was setting.

Fair galleries left with many of the players who finished well up in the money, but the crowd, hundreds of them, gathered around the first tee with Linares, escorted by a Long Beach police officer, [illegible] from the rear of the club.

A beautiful par 4 on the difficult first hole, and the crowd breathed easier; Dick was still on the championship game that was [illegible] up the Virginia course. A [illegible] on the second, one over par, and the crowd again worried. Dick didn't know that Mehlhorn, who started with a 5, picked up a birdie 3 to cut down one stroke on the second hole.

MEHLHORN CROWDING

Mehlhorn, with a growing gallery in his wake, dropped a par 3 on the third, thirty minutes before Linares duplicated the feat. Linares, playing in the face of a strong wind from the southwest, [illegible] beautiful par 4 on the 349-yard fourth. Linare's drive caught a trap to the right of the fairway, the wind carried his out to [illegible] on the left of the green—and while the home-town boy [illegible] to get his bearings—he [illegible] one shot in the trap—was [illegible] and down for a 6—and Mehlhorn had picked up two more [illegible].

Playing up to the 410-yard Canyon fifth—Mehlhorn's machine-like precision again carried him on in two—and another par 4 cut two more strokes when Linares—after a good drive—hooked into another sand trap—missed still another stroke—overran the cup and missed a 5, taking 6.

Mehlhorn, still one stroke over, dropped four pars on the next [illegible] and was 34 at the turn. Linares started the gamest struggle of his career and also parred the next four holes, but was 39 at the turn.

MAC SMITH THREATENING

In the meantime, Macdonald Smith—internationally famous stylist from New York, out in 34 also, collected five of his nine [illegible] that resulted from a 75, in the morning and Harry Cooper—one of the flashiest stars from the [illegible]-swept State of Texas, with [illegible], had pulled up abreast of [illegible], while Joe Kirkwood, Frank Walsh—and others, were [illegible] in—and threatening on every [illegible].

The golf angel that guides the destinies of many favorite [illegible] warned Linares and the Long Beach contestant settled [illegible] the final nine holes that [illegible] carry him home in front. [illegible] same golf angel that [illegible] Linares—applauded Mehlhorn, the flying Dutchman who won a lot of golfing [illegible] for the exclusive Westmoreland Club in Chicago, [illegible] under the fickle smile of the mythical dame—after a par 3 on the tenth—another par — a 4 this time, on the eleventh—and then the California sun that changed "Wild Bill" to "Smiling Williams," blinked, when the Chicago ace dropped a beautiful putt for a birdie 4 on the 456-yard twelfth hole.

TITLE DRIVE STOPPED

Linares—golfing for the glory of his home town—and for a legion of friends—was even pars through the next seven holes—when the little imp—that strives to ruin the golfing reputations of Fortune's favorites—jumped right up and screamed—for after Mehlhorn had slipped one over par, with a 5 on the seventeenth—and Linares was on the green in two—the Long Beach boy collapsed — and the finish robbed of the dramatic flush of well-played shots — was pitiful.

None in the large gallery knew of Mehlhorn's five on the next to the last hole—but all—including Linares, knew that Mehlhorn's birdie on the twelfth had placed him on even terms—and that a succession of beautiful pars had kept him even.

When a sure four would have meant a stroke—Linares—trying a birdie that would have meant two strokes—played his approach putt too firmly and the ball—after striking the back of the cup, left him with a twelve-foot putt—that ringed the cup—and the two leaders were still even.

FINAL STAND

Linares knew when he stepped on the eighteenth tee that he needed a par 5 on the most difficult hole in the layout—to tie for first place. His drive hooked less than 200 yards down the fairway leaving him an open shot that required the directing skill of the hand that drove through to a course record with his 68 in the morning.

While the largest gallery in the history of the Virginia Club swamped the eighteenth fairway as many more ringed the home green—and Linares lost first place when his topped wood rolled out of bounds.

The penalty stroke cracked even figures, and Dick laid his approach putt dead after an iron that might have changed the complexion of his score, earlier in the game, and was down in 6, for a 78 and 216, second place.

MAC SMITH THIRD

MacDonald Smith, winner of the metropolitan and western open events last year, shooting for high up money, slipped one over on ten, but picked up birdies on eleven and twelve to get home in 70 for 215 and third money. Mac, after a 72 Saturday, collected enough trouble to require 75 strokes in his morning round yesterday, and toured the course in one under for his 70 in the afternoon.

COOPER WAVERS

The golfing dash that carried Cooper up even with Linares, and in the front of the fast field, failed after a par 3 on the tenth and the story of the six on eleven, and again on thirteen, is but the repetition of the many, many scores that were ruined just before tourney winners were announced.

Al Espinosa of Chicago, former San Francisco ace, played wonderfully consistent golf, and had several opportunities to cut strokes from his final 18-hole medal of 74 that would have changed the money winners. Mel Smith of Portland, Or., another boy with a host of local friends, after a 75 in the morning, went out when the breeze that swept the course before lunch had freshened to a typical California gale, and Mel, too, was home in 73.

Al Watrous, the good-looking boy from furniture land, had a wonderful opportunity to lead the fast field home. Al fought tough breaks all morning—and was home in 75. After lunch the Grand Rapids star—golfing like the prehistorical "house afire," lost two strokes when judges decided his long second shot to the fourteenth was out of bounds by one inch.

Johnnie Golden—who still gets his mail in the land of the mosquitoes, New Jersey—while he golfs in California sunshine, threw a scare into the leaders when after two rounds of 72 and 74—and a flying start over the last leg of his journey, wavered just enough to get home in 75, to tie with Frank Mich of Sacramento with 221.

WALSH UNFORTUNATE

Of all the bad breaks—the ones that clustered up Frank Walsh's last nine—were the most important. The big curly-haired boy from Appleton, Wis., after two 73s, left for his final eighteen in wonderful style. Trouble broke and it was through the medium of some remarkable recovery shots alone that he was able to get home in 79—out of the money, but several notches higher in local tee and greens estimation.

Hutt Martin of Parkridge, with 222 was the first of the local professional contingent to finish. Chick Fraser, popular Midwick mentor, was 225, while Wee Willie Hunter of Brentwood, former British amateur title-holder, and one of the best match and medal players in the West, still suffering from a lacerated hand, was forced to take 228, to tie with Lewis Scott, Hillcrest; Tom Stevens, California and Vic Owen, San Pedro, who finished one stroke over Jack Tarrant of El Caballero.

BLACK TRAILS

John Black, Scots veteran from Kansas, who caused a golfing panic among the big guns in the United States open at Skokie (Chicago) several years ago, finished well up, as did Joe Kirkwood, Australian trick shot wizard, who attempted to play through the fifty-four-hole grind too soon after undergoing a surgical operation for tonsils, just before Christmas.

The tournament at Long Beach yesterday, was one of the best that has ever been held in any part of the country. Scoring was remarkably good and Virginia club members—and others who witnessed the play, are indebted to the progressive spirit of Otis Hoyt, former club president, who sponsored the event. The club officials co-operated in wonderful style and the lunch served visiting players during the tournament would have been a credit to any organization.

Confusion and congestion—two of the worst factors in sporting events—were missing throughout the play. The score-board pencil never wavered in the hands of Frank Orchard, local Spalding official. A. H. Painter, tourney starter de luxe, functioned at top speed every day. Jack Malley, president of the Southern California Professional Golfers' Association, and others, too numerous to even mention, worked hard for the complete success of the enjoyable event.

FINE SCORING

Scoring at Virginia yesterday was fine. The samey field, under more favorable conditions, will battle through the $10,000 open classic, starting Friday. The scramble for place during the first thirty-six holes will develop into golfing battles that will write much in the rapidly-growing volume of California golf history. While more than 2000 fans crowded the Virginia course yesterday, more than 10,000 may be expected to witness the greatest golfing carnival that has ever been held in the West.

Complete scores by rounds of all contestants who qualified for the event Saturday, are as follows:

Long-Distance Swimmers Show Wares in Meet

When the evening of Friday, the 15th inst., arrives, the bay district long-distance swimming club, that organization of natators which thinks that a mile swim is only child's play, will be fully prepared for its first winter indoor exhibition in the Venice Plunge.

On that night Mrs. Anna E. Van Skike, coach, will guide her club members through a program of exhibitional numbers, one of which will be an illustration of how to stroke for one mile, breathe, conserve energy, and other requirements for paddling that distance.

In order to make a big night of the occasion, stars of the Venice Plunge Swimming Association will also exhibit their tank speed. Coach Elmer Orr will specialize with junior entries in the comprehensive aquatic program.

VENICE BALL STARS BOLSTER CUB SQUAD

Additional strength has come to the ranks of the Tri-City Cubs, a semipro nine organized among players of Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica, with the signing of a new battery comprised of Ralph Gorman and Baptiste Garacochea. Both served two years with the Venice High School nine.

Gorman was regarded as one of the best catchers produced by the Gondolier institution, while Garacochea, with his fiery tresses, was a speed merchant while dealing from the mound. Both men are expected to prove of considerable service to the Cubs.

PASADENA FORFEITS

The Pasadena Council of the Knights of Columbus forfeited its ball game to the Henry T. Gage Council yesterday by failing to show up for the game at Tournament Park.

TO PLAY SOUTHERNERS

University of Indiana nine visits the South next spring playing Oglethorpe April 1 and 2; Tennessee, April 3, and Vanderbilt, April 5, 6 and 7.

"TIGERS" PRACTICE TODAY

Nichols Calls for Daily Workouts Until Grange Game; Six More Stars Sign Up

Final arrangements for the Red Grange game were completed yesterday morning at a get together meeting of the players and coaches of the Los Angeles Tigers held in the offices of P. H. "Puss" Halbriter, manager of the Los Angeles team. Some twenty-six athletes, who aspire to stop the famous Red Phantom, were on hand and approved head coach Sid Nichols's training program, which calls for practice every afternoon for the next two weeks.

Six new players have signed up to play against Grange, making a squad of twenty-four. Hoge Workman, Redlands coach and all-American quarterback at Ohio State, "Bo" McConnell, all-American guard of Georgia Tech in 1924, Clarence Ebers, Occidental; Budy Vigar, Santa Clara; Stephen Lane, Cornell, and Bob McEwan, Georgetown end. Halbriter promises some surprises within the next twenty-four hours. Several stars of nation-wide fame are wavering, but are expected to sign up within the next day or two.

SID NICHOLS

From all indications the game is apt to develop into an Illinois feud. Sid Nichols hails from Illinois and in his statements has stressed the point that it wouldn't do for his team to be defeated by his old playmates.

"We are just as good a bunch as Red Grange and his team," declared the Oxy mentor in his talk yesterday morning. "I am out to put this game over and defeat Grange. If we practice and get into condition we can do it. Most of the Bear team outside of Grange and Britton have been playing together for the last six years and they have some football team. We have got to stop Grange if we want to uphold the honor of western sports."

If the contest lacks the color of a college game, the teams are at least trying to make up for that deficiency in the selection of uniforms. The "Tigers" will be attired in gold and blue uniforms. Blue jerseys with gold numbers and black headguards. Red Grange and troupe will wear an outfit with orange predominating. Orange helmets, socks and jerseys will complete the Bears' attire.

PLAN INTERSECTIONAL GAMES

The professional football league managers at their meeting in Chicago in January may form eastern and western divisions with a championship play-off concluding the season's activities.

"ATHLETICS FOR ALL" SLOGAN FOR U.S. WAR DEPARTMENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A slogan "athletics for all" to govern army sports, coupled with a hard and fast rule for strict adherence to amateurism in military games and bouts has been laid down in a general order by the War Department.

Professional events at army posts are to be permitted only when "clearly advertised and announced as professional," and local laws governing boxing or Sunday baseball are to be complied with strictly by post commanders.

Army participation through individuals or team entries in events arranged by civilian officials is to be favored, the order directs, and stress is to be laid on interunit competitive games annually wherever practicable.

WHITE KINGS, WIN

The White King nine whitewashed the Philadelphia Royal Giants yesterday afternoon, winning by an 8-to-3 score. The White King team took an early lead driving in four runs in the fourth inning and were never headed thereafter. Score:

LOCAL LAUGHS

Each week The Times produces a film entitled "Local Laughs," consisting of the fifteen best jokes submitted by local people. Weekly prizes are paid of $5, $3, $2, and twelve of $1 each. A list of theaters showing the film, together with rules for submitting jokes, are given daily in a coupon in The Times. Prize-winning jokes, and names and addresses of winners, appear only on the screen. Jokes receiving honorable mention will be given a place of honor on The Times comic page each week-day, and each of these contributors will receive a souvenir of acknowledgement.

ABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

NDON, Jan 3.—The matri- ial intentions of Edward, ce of Wales, which for the t decade have allured or ex- ed all, though they disappoint- some of the subjects of his her, King George, are declared persons close to the court to centered on his cousin, the known Swedish Princess niece of the King of Swe- She is one of the few of royal blood eligible gion to become the consort England's heir to the throne. The source of this information to take the edge off re- general denials that there is possible heart affair between the of Wales and Princess and that she contemplates early visit to England. The is known and loved by British reigning family and it is again asserted that she will pay an official visit to London next spring. This will really allow an opportunity for her kinfolk to know her better, and may bring a royal announcement that His Royal Highness has at last found a Princess of Wales-to-be.

England, and in fact, the entire world, will be agog if the Princess, who is 20 years of age, wins this enviable position in which most of the maidens of royal blood and countless others have been placed in fancy by a nation increasingly anxious to find a mate for its popular, if elusive Prince.

When he became heir to the throne, Britons began leisurely to look for a bride for him, and at one time or another all the Princesses of Europe—the German and Austrian prominently in the days before the war—were mentioned. With the democratizing effect of the marriage of the Duke of York and Princess Mary with commoners, the names of many daughters of the peerage have been coupled with his. Girls of North and South America were also picked by marriage prophets, and rumore, fired by a thankful nation to its wartime Premier, suggested Lloyd George's daughter.

The Prince of Wales is now 31 years of age. Not for hundreds of years has the heir to the British throne reached this age without a wife, and if this condition has not bothered him, as his intimates declare to be the case, it has worked just the other way with the British people. Most of the British girls, believed at some time to be on the verge of marriage with the Prince, found mates elsewhere. This, with the collapse of hopeful enthusiasm which surrounded the visits of Princesses of Spain, Belgium, Italy and Rumania to England, made many people believe the story that the Prince has declared he will never marry.

PRINCE MEETS ASTRID

It is authoritatively learned that the Prince of Wales several years ago informed his family that he does not wish to marry until he has completed tours over the empire, and that he will not take a bride unless he loves her. It is known that Queen Mary is anxious to see her children happily married and that it was her desire for this happiness that brought royal consent to the marriages of Princess Mary and the Duke of York outside of reigning families, and it is suggested that the Prince of Wales, who has often met Princess Astrid, has more than a cousinly feeling for the pretty Swedish girl.

Princess Astrid comes often to England and long ago won a place in the affections of the late Dowager Queen Alexandra. Her domestic talents have made a kindly impression on the King and Queen, so much so that she is a special favorite at Buckingham Palace. The last visit of Astrid to London before the death of Queen Alexandra coincided with the return of the Prince of Wales from South America and the Princess and her sister visited the Palace as well as Princess Mary's London house. There both the Prince of Wales and Prince Henry met her.

TIES OF NATIONS CONSIDERED

In the terms of that diplomacy in which royal marriages are recorded, the friendship of nations by the marriage of the Prince of Wales and Princess Astrid would be important, for in the last war there was a strong German influence in the court of Sweden, possibly heightened by the fact that the Queen was German by birth. There are already ties of marriage between England and Sweden, as the Swedish Crown Princess is King George's cousin, Lady Louise Mountbatten.

Even in great London the gossips have no difficulty in keeping tab on those interesting them. Thus it has been said in almost the same breath that Astrid is intended for the Prince of Wales and Prince Henry, just as it was rumored that Elizabeth Bowers Lyon was marrying both Wales and the Duke of York. It is, however, verified by friends of Prince Henry that he is not in the running and that his interest tends toward the noble family of the Duke of Buccleugh.

There may be disappointment in some hearts if the Prince of Wales marries other than an English girl, but the precedent of the beloved Alexandra, who came also from Scandinavia, will make certain a welcome by the English nation of this girl, whose life and education has been a model sort.

MATRIMONY AS A FINE ART

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, Jan. 3.—Matrimony is the most difficult of all sciences and the finest of all arts, in the opinion of Celestine Fabietti, for twenty-three years custodian of the antechamber of the marriage clerk of Rome City Hall. Men, asserts Fabietti, are much more afraid of marriage than women. Sometimes, he says, it has taken all of his great tact and skillful diplomacy to prevent reluctant benedicts from bolting before their turn came to face the marriage clerk. "To know how to be a husband or a wife is a profession in itself," he says. "The best way to read a person's character is to listen to him pronounce the fatal 'yes'," he declares.

RUMANIA MUST NAME REGENTS

National Assembly Convened to Choose Trio

Queen Mother Held Barred by Constitution

Heir Apparent's Age Makes Long Tenure Likely

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BUCHAREST, Jan. 3.—The fact that the new Rumanian heir-apparent, Prince Michael, is still a child, and more delicate than most children, has brought to the fore the question of the appointment of a regency. To ratify Crown Prince Carol's renunciation of the succession rights and approve a regency, the National Assembly has been convened for tomorrow, but there is no indication as to who will comprise the regency, which, according to the Rumanian constitution, must consist of three males.

It is suggested that the constitution be revised to admit Queen Marie as one of the regents, and it is generally expected that Monsignor Miron Cristea, as head of the orthodox church, will be a second member, while the name of Premier Bratiano is suggested as the third.

Both the crown and the government seem particularly anxious to reassure the country that Prince Carol's abdication does not indicate a dynastic or political conflict. What is worrying the country is the urgent manner in which the King pleaded for the Crown Council to accept Carol's renunciation.

ABDICATION FORCED, VIENNA RUMORS SAY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Jan. 3.—The Vienna correspondent of the Westminster Gazette learns that the military leaders in Bucharest have been planning a coup d'etat to overthrow the Bratiano ministry and establish a military dictatorship, retaining Ferdinand as King of Rumania.

The correspondent says that connection of this scheme with Crown Prince Carol's renunciation is obscure, but that it is hinted that the plot and Carol's action are cause and effect, for it is known that Carol's renunciation was forced upon him.

GOSSIP LINKS CAROL WITH JEWISH BEAUTY

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ROME, Jan. 3.—All Rome is buzzing with conversation about Prince Carol of Rumania, who has just renounced his right to succession to the throne of his country, and his amorous adventures. Dispatches from Milan to the Tribuna tonight nipped gossip that the Prince had returned to his morganatic wife, Zizi Lambrino, and indicate that the latest object of his affections is a beautiful Jewess.

According to the Tribuna, Prince Carol's name is being freely connected with that of Magda Lupescu. Magda is a slender, beautiful blond who speaks perfect French and who carries herself like a Parisienne. Both arrived in Milan on the same day, both took apartments in the Hotel de Laville on the same day and they have been seen in each other's company on several occasions. And when Magda steps forth, few eyes fall on the Prince.

Magda, it is said, is the daughter of a Jewish merchant of Jassy and the divorced wife of Capt. Lupescu of the Rumanian army. Other reports associate Carol with a beautiful Italian society woman.

BULL FIGHT IN FLORIDA CAUSES ROW

Governor Threatens to Remove Sheriff Because of Failure to Stop Combat

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) Jan. 3.—Gov. Martin today, when informed that the scheduled bull fights had been conducted at Tampa yesterday after he had issued orders against it, said:

"Monday at 11 a.m., at the State Capitol in Tallahassee I shall take steps to obtain a Sheriff for Hillsborough who will uphold the laws of the State of Florida."

In a telegram to Sheriff L. M. Heirs, the Governor said:

"You were advised to uphold the dignity, honor and the laws of Florida and put a stop to a contemplated bull fight, scheduled to take place in Tampa. I am advised that this you failed to do. Monday at 11 a.m. at the State Capitol at Tallahassee, I shall take steps to obtain a Sheriff for Hillsborough county that will uphold the laws of the State of Florida.

"If you desire to be heard before this is done, I will listen."

"They may have hissed me in Spanish, when the Sheriff read my instructions to him to uphold the law and maintain the peace and dignity of this State," the executive said. "I'll speak in English in Tallahassee Monday morning."

Representatives Visit Men Too Busy to Come into Town

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RISING SUN (Ind.) Jan. 3.—When the farmers of Southeastern Indiana find themselves unable to keep bankers' hours, the Rising Sun State Bank takes its facilities to the farmers. Representatives of the institution cover the surrounding territory in automobiles, accepting bank deposits, transacting small loans and cashing checks. The bank representatives also receive deposits from cream stations along the way and sell fire and tornado insurance as a sideline.

Bureau Briefs

PUBLISHED BY THE BUREAU of POWER and LIGHT — LOS ANGELES

Electricity Expensive In Other Large Cities

As an instance of low rates offered to consumers of Bureau power, the following is a comparison of rates in force in Middle West and Eastern cities. These figures are based on prevailing rates applicable to a plant with a capacity of 500 horsepower, operating continuously for 24 hours a day.

The costs are higher by the following percentages:

Boston	72%	New York	36%
Cincinnatti	62%	Chicago	42%
Detroit	60%	St. Louis	24%

GREAT INCREASE IN CITY'S CONSUMPTION of ELECTRICITY

In 1916, before the Bureau entered the field, the total use of electricity in the entire City of Los Angeles was 145,546,956 kilowatt hours. Today, due to advantageous Bureau rates, Los Angeles citizens use four times the amount of electricity as they did in 1916 although the population only doubled.

Hollywood in 1917, when the Bureau entered the field, had a substation capacity of only 2000 horsepower. Today one apartment house in Hollywood, when completed, will have a load of 4740 horsepower. The Bureau will supply the current.

San Pedro and Wilmington, comprising the Harbor District, in 1917 had a capacity of 1650 horsepower. Today the oil industry alone has 11,335 horsepower, or 9 times as much as the entire district had 8 years ago. The fish canning industry at the Harbor uses 1627 horse-power, which is nearly as much as the entire capacity of the Harbor District in 1917.

FOUNDING A METROPOLITAN CITY

Power Bureau's Low Rates for Stimulation of Growth and Prosperity

WHEN the City, by charter, in 1913, created the Department of Water & Power, Los Angeles was afforded, for the first time, every essential factor vital to a well-rounded out metropolitan city. Previous to that time, climate, living conditions and transportation were already available. The completion of the acqueduct for a water supply and as a power resource gave Los Angeles the two lacking resources with which to complete the full cycle necessary for our economic advancement.

With pioneer vision Los Angeles' citizens established the Bureau of Power and Light. From the beginning of this enterprise, true to the people's dominant policy, the Power Bureau has been utilizing the resources of the city in electric power for the purpose of building up the material wealth, prosperity and happiness of Los Angeles by contributing to the industrial, commercial, household and general economic wealth of the city. This policy presumes that all citizens of Los Angeles share, and share alike, in the benefits. It is natural then that low rates to consumers should be the first step of progress.

Every act on the part of the Bureau ties-in with this policy of giving reliable service at lowest rates, consistent with sound financial management. Every new power house built, every service extension and improvement is designed with an end toward accomplishing the purpose of low rates and reliable power. At all times, vision is dominant—looking to the future—keeping pace with Los Angeles' growth and development, always having the interest of the taxpayer foremost.

Today the Bureau is giving the lowest rates of any competitive city in the United States. Power is reliable. The original policy which accomplished this is more outstanding now than ever and will continue to be so.

McCLINTOCK WILL FIGHT SET TODAY

W. D. Shepherd, Acquitted of Murdering Ward, Will Face Boy's Relatives

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—William Darling Shepherd, recently tried and acquitted on the charge of murdering Billy McClintock, his youthful ward, will begin tomorrow his fight to get possession of the McClintock $1,000,000 estate. The case had been set for a hearing, beginning a week ago, but a press of urgent court business caused it to be postponed.

Shepherd, since his acquittal, has been living quietly in the McClintock mansion, coming to the city occasionally to consult his attorneys, but keeping out of the limelight. Arraigned against him in the fight for the estate are the cousins of Billy McClintock, the blood heirs, and Miss Isabell Pope, Billy's fiancee, who has cast her lot with the relatives.

Under the will left by the youth, which Shepherd admits drawing himself, all the estate, with the exception of $8000 annually, is left to Shepherd.

WRECK CREW RESCUES FIRE TRUCK FROM PIT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WELLINGTON (Mass.) Jan. 3. A wrecking crew and equipment volunteered by General Manager Dana of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, fighting a stiff wind and a temperature of 20 above zero, raised Engine 4 of the Medford Fire Department from the water-filled clay pit, into which it plunged Christmas evening. The truck being submerged made the work of attaching cables difficult. One 200-foot cable broke in the process and delayed operations. When the engine was hauled up the steep embankment and onto the sidewalk it was found that the wheels had been snapped off. Five members of the crew had narrow escapes from serious injury when the truck plunged into the pit.

Throat Sore? Rub on MUSTEROLE

Don't neglect that sore throat. It may lead to serious consequences. Draw out the congestion—break up the cold—with Musterole.

Just take a little Musterole on your finger tips and rub it in. It penetrates with a gentle tingle and goes right through to the seat of trouble. It draws out inflammation, away goes the sore throat.

Use clean white Musterole instead of the old-fashioned mustard plaster with its burn and blister. Musterole does what the mustard plaster did without the messiness and discomfort.

It is unusually fine in bringing relief from colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia and influenza), bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains and frosted feet.

Thousands keep Musterole always handy to provide against emergency.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

DILLON PLANS GERMAN DEAL

Wall-Street Wizard in Steel Merger

Young Financier Has Had Brilliant Career

Outbids Money Giants in Huge Transactions

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—An important merger of German steel companies is the latest undertaking of Clarence J. Dillon, Wall street's young financier, who recently took over the refinancing of the National Cash Register Company. Formal announcement of the linking together of the German steel organizations is expected soon.

Purchase of the National Cash Registe Company and the distribution of its securities to the public within a year after he had electrified the financial world by outbidding J. P. Morgan & Co. in a bitter struggle for the Dodge Brothers' Automobile Company, has earned for Dillon at 43 years of age, the soubriquet of the "Wizard of Wall street."

His firm, Dillon, Read & Co., within the decade he has been connected with it, has risen from an obscure position in the banking world to one of the most powerful financial institutions in Wall street, ranked by many as second to the powerful house of Morgan. Within the last ten years the firm has sold billions of new securities to the public, offerings of the last year reaching nearly $600,000,000, or about 10 per cent of all issues, other than real estate loans, sold in New York.

DRIVES HUGE DEALS

It has become a tradition in Wall street that Dillon, Read & Co., always has something big "in the works." With the National Cash Register deal still unfinished, Mr. Dillon is now quietly working on the merger of German steel companies and is also laying plans for the development of a powerful banking group to rival that organized by J. P. Morgan & Co. to assist it in the sale and distribution of its new offerings. Whether this will take the form of a bank merger or merely an underwriting group is not known, although Dillon, Read & Co. already are represented on the directorate of the Central Union Trust Company and the National Park Bank.

The outstanding accomplishment of Mr. Dillon's career was the purchase for $146,000,000 cash of Dodge Brothers in April of last year. This deal, which involved the issuance and sale of $160,000,000 of securities to the public, astounded Wall street. Many conservative bankers shok their heads and privately expressed the belief that Mr. Dillon and his associates had bid too high. Some professional traders sold the stock short, figuring the Dodge valuation of the properties too high, but were forced to buy back the stock at higher prices.

OUTBID ROTHSCHILD

In the railroad, industrial and public utility field, Mr. Dillon and his associates have financed corporations in the last year for more than $100,000,000, while in the foreign field the firm's activities have extended over many parts of the world. In 1921 Mr. Dillon marketed a $50,000,000 loan for Brazil, taking the business away from the great English firm of Rothschild. In 1923 he sold $40,000,000 of stock of the American and Foreign Power Company, organized as a holding company for foreign and domestic public utilities. In 1924, in the midst of agitation over the Japanese immigration, he sold $15,000,000 in bonds of the Great Consolidated Electric Power Company, while his firm was one of the first to extend credits to German industrials following the adoption of the Dawes Plan. Mr. Dillon also has acted as American banker for Holland and Poland and has sold a French government railroad loan in this country.

NOT TRUE TO TYPE

Mr. Dillon does not in the last resemble the corpulent, heavy-jowled, domineering individual of the type selected by playwrights and cartoonists as the Wall-street baron. He is tall, dark, rather indolent appearing, with heavy lids that at times almost cover his eyes. His long, slender hands seem to bear witness to the three years he spent in the study of art abroad after he was graduated from Harvard in 1905.

Few men in Wall street command greater respect and loyalty from their associates than Mr. Dillon.

A native of San Antonio, Tex., Mr. Dillon, after leaving Harvard, devoted himself for some time to art in Europe. Through a classmate he was induced to enter the Chicago house of William A. Read & Co. His rise was rapid and two years found him in New York and a member of the firm. He married Miss Anne Douglass of Milwaukee, and they have two children, Clarence Douglass, 15 years of age, and Dorothy Anne, 12.

Husband After Suggestion From Judge Provides Own Feast

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) Jan. 3.—Antonio Bocon and his wife, to whom Judge Long of the Probate Court offered a fine dinner if they would make up their differences, are reconciled. But they declined the judge's dinner with thanks, because Antonio decided that it was up to him to provide a reunion feast for his wife and six children and show his good will.

The judge expressed pleasure at the man's decision holding that the spirit he displayed promised much for future peace in the family.

TWO ARMY MEN LOST IN MEXICO

Brooks Field Airplanes Go in Search of Officers Missing Since Thursday

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Jan. 3.—Two of four American officers who went into Mexico last week on a hunting trip have been lost since Thursday, presumably between Nuevo Laredo and Rodriguez, State of Nuevo Leon.

Two airplanes were sent from Brooks Field, Army Air Training School, near here, today to join in the search, which has been carried on by horsemen since Thursday.

The missing men are Lieut. C. S. Thorpe of Brooks Field and Lieut. Marion T. Pharr, Fourth Field Artillery, Fort McIntosh, near Laredo.

Although leaving camp at the same time, they took different routes in starting out on the hunt, it being agreed between them to meet at a designated place and return to camp at noon. After waiting their return and instituting a search by cowboys, the other two men, Fred Hamilton and D. P. Buckland, Twelfth Cavalry, lieutenants from Fort Ringold, returned to Laredo yesterday with news of the officers' plight.

Two civilian planes from Laredo searched the territory yesterday and today without success.

The hunting camp was near Rodriguez, some sixty miles southwest of Laredo, and the two men are believed to be without food in a wild mountainous region. The weather has been very bad.

ENGLISH PLAN HONOR TO AMERICAN STORY

MEMORIAL TO "LITTLE WOMEN" TO TAKE FORM OF BED IN HOSPITAL

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Two generations of girls—English as well as American—have loved "Little Women," Louisa M. Alcott's famous book, and have laughed over the experiences of Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy.

Here in England it is proposed to erect a memorial to them and their creator, a "Little Women" bed in the Washington ward of the Royal Free Hospital, Gray's Inn Road. Each bed will be dedicated to a famous American.

The connection of the ward with the United States began during the war. Now poor English mothers and babies enjoy its comfort.

HAND-KISSING AND HAT-TIPPING RULED OUT IN COMMUNIST STATE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, Jan. 3.—Madame Lenin would be offended if a male "comrade" offered her a seat in a train, opened a door for her, or stepped aside to give her precedence.

Hand-kissing and hat-tipping have been relegated to the past in Communist Russia for hygienic reasons and men and women are on a par. There is no sex in Communism.

But, strangely enough, men still continue to kiss each other. The old method of salutation among men relatives and intimate men friends is so strong that government regulations have not wiped it out. Hand-shaking is also under government ban.

ESPEE TRESTLE FIRE CHARGED TO HOBOES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

STOCKTON, Jan. 3.—Fire on the double-track trestle of the Southern Pacific at Need, four miles east of Galt, discovered this afternoon by a passing motorist on the Galt-Sacramento highway, destroyed the westbound track of the trestle. Special fire equipment sent by the railroad and the Galt fire department were unable to save the trestle. A Portland-bound train was delayed three hours by the fire, being rerouted over the Western Pacific trestle. The fire was believed to have been started by tramps.

RAIDED ELKS' CLUBS MAY LOSE CHARTERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DALLAS (Tex.) Jan. 2.—Judge Atwell of Dallas, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks' order, today sent telegrams to St. Louis and Plattsburg, N. Y., seeking information regarding searches dry agents made in the B.P.O.E. clubs of those two cities on New Year's Eve. He indicated that his investigation will determine whether the charters of the clubs shall be revoked.

GRANGE FIGHTS RAIL-RATE RISE

National Body Cites Gain in Past Year

Commerce Commission to Hear Case Today

Recent Prosperity Held Offset to Loss

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 3.—Opposition to pending application of western railroads for increased freight rates will be carried forward by the National Grange at Interstate Commerce Commission hearings here tomorrow.

Eugene A. Eckert, chairman of the organization's executive committee, tonight made public a statement prepared for consideration at the hearing, contending that, since the grange filed its first statement opposing the application last May, "the general prosperity of the railroads and of most industries other than agriculture" has increased, "while the condition of agriculture has not improved and in many lines, and localities, has declined."

Not only the western roads' application but the investigation of the general rate structure undertaken at the behest of Congress to determine whether agriculture rates might not be brought down, will be considered at the commission's hearing tomorrow and both were touched upon in Eckert's statement, which was described as a supplementary brief.

REPORT PROSPERITY

"With specific reference to the application of the western roads for increase in rates," he said, "we submit:

"That there is great diversity shown by the evidence which has been submitted as to the relative prosperity of the various western roads, so that it is manifestly unjust for the roads as a group to ask for any blanket or horizontal increase.

"That the improvement, which is noted in general business conditions irrespective of agriculture, already has placed most of these roads upon safe net operating revenue basis and will undoubtedly demonstrate that present rates were adequate.

"That the same conclusion which was set forth in our original statement of May 14, namely, that the entire rate structure should be reformed so that the unjust proportion of the cost of transportation now borne by agriculture should be reduced and equitably prorated among all users of transportation, applies with special force to the western roads . . .

"In our original brief it was shown that on May 1, 1925, the index of the purchasing power of the agriculture dollar was but 91 and for farm products other than corn or cotton, which were high priced, due to a short crop in 1924, the index was only 87.

"This figure has gone back farther since May, so that today it is about 85.

FARM PRICES DROP

"Agriculture made a 6 per cent contribution of its total gross annual income in 1923 to pay the cost of transportation, while all manufactured products paid but 2 per cent for this service, a clear evidence of inequity in the freight rate structure. Later figures than 1923 are not available.

"With the declining value of agricultural products for 1925, the percentage cost of their transportation has increased, while with the large increase in the value of manufactures, the percentage cost of their transportation has still further declined . . .

"The American Railway Association, in a public statement on December 20, last, estimates the Class 1 railroads of the United States earned $1,125,000,000 for the year 1925, or 4.8 per cent on their property, compared with $987,000,000 for 1924, or 4.3 per cent on their property. It is self-evident that this is a rate of return at least twice as great as the net return in agriculture for the year 1925."

STILLMAN MAY AVOID SUIT FIGHT

Banker's Answer to Wife's Divorce Action Not Yet Filed in Court

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—It is now being predicted that James A. Stillman, banker, will not contest the divorce suit brought by his wife, Mrs. Ann Urquhart Stillman. He has not yet filed his answer in the court at White Plains, and may permit her to win a decree by default.

In this connection, another rumore is to the effect that Mr. Stillman has offered his wife a lump settlement instead of alimony. He has been paying her temporary alimony of about $90,000 a year. He is said to have offered to give her bonds and securities worth between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 in lieu of alimony.

Isaac N. Mills, counsel for Mrs. Stillman, announced today that he has given Mr. Stillman a further and final extension of time to file his reply to March 1.

Mr. Mills said that if the suit results in no contest he will simply submit the certified copy of the old Stillman divorce record, without offering any additional testimony.

Mr. Mills will leave Tuesday night on a hunting and fishing trip in Florida and as he said he does not expect to return before March 1, it is generally believed Mrs. Stillman will win her divorce suit by default.

BISHOP URGES SUNDAY PLAY

Manning in Cathedral Sermon Outlines Principles of Faith for Guidance of Youth

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Bishop William T. Manning preached today at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine at a special service for pupils of the private schools in and near New York and for young people, generally, arranged under the auspices of the Parents' League. He urged a large measure of freedom in recreations on the Sabbath, declared there was no conflict between religion and science for the true Christian and emphasized as his first thought that the Christian faith should bring joy and happiness to the lives of its followers.

Bishop Manning crystallized in three terse sentences the thoughts he said we wished the young people would carry away with them.

First, religion brings happiness and gladness;

Second, religion is a true source of inspiration and guidance;

Third, it brings faith in Christ which nothing can shake.

"One of the most striking things about the New Testament," Bishop Manning said in his sermon, "is that note of joy which rings with every page of it. It was this which amazed the world and gave such power to the gospel message. Sunday ought to be the happiest day in the week for our boys and girls.

"I think there ought to be great freedom in recreation on Sunday, but children should attend church services, which should be beautiful and inspiring but not too long, especially the sermons."

People, the bishop continued, should not be led estray by foolish novels and magazine articles but should permit their religion to guide them.

"Don't ever let anyone tell you that a man who accepts the teachings and truths of science cannot accept the creed f the Christian church. The greatest scientific mind of modern times, Lord Kelvin, was a full Christian believer and Charles Darwin's greatest pupil and follower. George John Romanes, also possessing a keen scientific mind after years of conscientious thought on the question, declared definitely that the Christian faith is not unreasonable and returned to his place as a communicant of the church. ber that the Christian transcend our reason, God's revelation of himself but it does not contradict son. Remember that our Christians is not in ments of doctrine, but in person, Jesus Christ Himself is an infinitely greater

LUMBER SUPPLY ON WEST COAST

Nation Timber-Hungry Despite Large Production

One-fourth of Output from Washington and Oregon

Shortage Would Mean Higher Rents, Unemployment

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The United States is lumber hungry. No matter if the annual production is measured in billions of feet, it always finds a waiting need. When the average citizen goes to build himself a home, the chances are ninety-six out of 100 that he will use wood if he lives in the country and fifty-nine to ninety-seven out of a 100 if he lives in town or city. The average frame house requires 20,833 feet of lumber and there are 400,000 houses built every year: even if other material is used for walls, about three-fifths as much lumber is used in a six-room house as would be used in frame construction.

Universal demand has made the lumber industry one of the gigantic businesses of the United States. In early days when first-growth forests were within reach of every city, local sawmills and mule transportation sufficed to supply the needs of the people, but the prodigious growth which increased the population by leaps and bounds required that the lumber industry keep pace with the nation, just as other industries had to expand, in order that the large quantities needed could be made available from the remote forests.

OFFICIAL STATISTICS

Latest official figures from the Bureau of the Census show that production in 1924 reached the astonishing total of 35,930,986,000 board feet, the standard unit of measurement being a board one-foot square and one inch thick. It is still more interesting to note that twenty-six States and the District of Columbia used more wood than they produced and that only twenty-two States had enough timber to supply their own needs and leave a surplus for export. More than one-fourth of the entire output, 28 per cent to be exact, came from two States—Washington and Oregon.

This growing dependence of the rest of the country on the Pacific-Northwest for one of the necessities of modern life has caused one of the great industrial migrations of history. The lumber industry some generations ago centered in the Eastern States; as their timber supply was used up, the industry shifted to the Great Lakes and into the famous yellow-pine belt of the South which furnished the lumber for the great national expansion of the last quarter century.

Now that the yellow pine stand is approaching comparative exhaustion, the center of lumber production is shifting to the Pacific-Northwest, where the greatest forests in the world are waiting to supply the country's expanding needs.

Over a trillion feet of lumber is the estimate of the timber resources of the five Pacific-Northwest States. This is one-half of all the standing timber in the entire country and shows why building experts point to these States as America's future dependence for lumber and why cutting in these States must be trebled in the next few years so that expansion throughout the nation may not be checked. It will be recognized that without the lumber of the Northwest, there would be another housing shortage, higher rents, unemployment, and restriction of business in every State.

WASHINGTON LEADS

Washington's lumber production in 1924, according to official government figures, was the greatest of any State, more than 6,000,000,000 feet, and Oregon's output was second with 3,500,000,000 feet. Most of this was the famous Douglas fir, the "big tree" of the Pacific-Northwest, growing six feet and more in diameter and 200 feet high of which these two States have a belt 350 miles long and 100 miles wide. Idaho produced 1,017,960,000 feet of lumber and has a reserve of the largest western white pine forest in the world. Montana turned out nearly half that amount, chiefly larch timbers for heavy construction, and Wyoming's smaller output consisted mainly of lodgepole pine crossties for railroads, one use of wood for which no substitute has ever been discovered. Spruce in all these States goes to make paper.

Rum Smuggler Plys Under Dry Director's Nose

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ABOARD UNITED STATES COAST GUARD CUTTER MODOC (Miami, Fla.) Jan. 3.—While Prohibition Director Andrews was ashore here last night discussing means of defeating the operations of rum smugglers, a fight was engaged in when a rum speed boat, with cases piled high, darted past the Modoc to escape among the schooners anchored near by.

The crew of the Modoc used rifles and a six-pounder was brought into play, the fire forced an overthrow of several cases, but the attack was abandoned because of possible destruction of near-by craft.

Later Director Andrews boarded the Modoc and learned the details.

NEW ORDINANCE TO SPEED STREET WORK

Requiring all street-excavation work to be pushed "diligently," the City Council has adopted an ordinance designed to speed up this work, most of which is handled by the public-utilities companies. By the terms of the ordinance, supervision of this work is placed directly in the hands of the Board of Public Works, which shall inspect each of these street-opening jobs and when necessary shall order the companies to work twenty-four hours a day until the excavations are filled or the underground conduit work completed, so that the flow of traffic will be hampered for a minimum length of time.

WEDDINGS MADE REAL INDUSTRY

Marriage Easy at Indiana Gretna Green

Proximity to Chicago Aids Business

Increasing Growth Noted for Cupid's Trade

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CROWN POINT (Ind.) Jan. 3.—The marriage industry of this nationally renowned Mecca of quick and easy weddings is experiencing a gradually increasing growth. Chief of the Hoosier Gretna Green is Justice of the Peace H. H. Kemp, an affable, smiling, rather short, heavy-set first assistant to Dan Cupid.

His office is just across the street from the county building. It is one flight up, and signs direct the way to the marriage parlors. There is more than one, for sometimes business presses and one couple waits while Judge Kemp performs the finishing touches of the ceremony immediately in hand. He has been in office as a magistrate for eleven or twelve years and says he has performed 30,000 marriages during that time. This year alone has witnessed him officiating at 4000.

IN CHICAGO

In the county building at Chicago, persons may be divorced on one floor, rush down to another, obtain licenses to take new mates and be legally attached inside thirty minutes. It requires daylight hours for that, however, since the judges, clerks and bailiffs adhere rather strictly to the usual hours of a business day.

In Crown Point, where performing ceremonies has been adapted to mass production, it is different. The necessary officials here can be persuaded to open shop at almost any hour. Hard roads run directly here from Chicago, and if two are in a hurry, even the taxicab fare is inside an ordinary week's pay.

When the Illinois divorce law was amended a year ago to permit renewed marriages of divorced persons without waiting a year, it was thought that perhaps Crown Point would lose some of its fame. However, it has not.

Wisconsin, with its law requiring a five-day wait after obtaining a license and presentation by the man of a certificate showing he has passed a physical examination by a reputable physician, is just a step farther away than Chicago, and many couples from the Badger State cement their love ties in Crown Point.

The new Michigan law requires a five-day wait between the application for a marriage license and issuance of it. Crown Point is much nearer and a gradually increasing number of automobiles with Michigan tags has been noted here.

RING BOXES

The city is the seat of Lake county, just far enough away from adjoining States to make the motor ride a matrimonial diversion. Justice Kemp is efficient; his marriage parlors are neat and tidy. He approximates his number of weddings and points to the chief decorations of his office—baskets and boxes. The baskets are the usual wire waste paper boxes which are items of usual equipment; their contents are the boxes. Thousands of them, representing nearly every State in the union. They are small and white plush lined, and once held wedding rings.

Were Justice Kemp to trace the record of these rings to the volumes which show the contracting parties, the names of celebrities in many parts of the world would be disclosed.

Two fellow-justices as assistants usually take care of criminal and civil cases. But when Justice Kemp is not available for the joining of hands, these men officiate. The number of marriages they have performed, added to the record of their chief, swells the proportions of the Crown Point market.

CIVIL SERVICE BODY'S TASK FOUND ENORMOUS

COMMISSION NOW EMPLOYER OF TOTAL OF 564,718 PERSONS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The law establishing the United States Civil Service Commission was enacted January 16, 1883, a bulletin issued by the commission and entitled "Some Civil Service Facts" sets forth.

In 1883, approximately 120,000 persons were employed in the executive civil service of the United States. The number of such employees on June 30, 1925, was 564,718. The greatest number employed at one time was 917,760, on November 11, 1918, the date of the armistice.

In 1883, 13,924 positions were classified under the civil service law, and, therefore, subject to competitive examination. The number of such positions on June 30, 1925, was approximately 445,000. In the forty-three years of its life, the commission has given competitive examinations to 4,929,440 applicants, 1,467,157 of whom have been appointed.

The commission is represented in approximately 4000 cities and villages of the United States by local boards of examiners having a total membership of more than 10,000. Local board members are attached to other branches of the service and give a part of their time to the work of the Civil Service Commission, for which they receive no additional compensation.

The commission gives examinations for more than 1000 different kinds of occupations, ranging from ordinary unskilled laborers to the highest grades of technical, scientific, and administrative positions.

Theodore Roosevelt was a member of the Civil Service Commission from May 13, 1889, to May 5, 1895.

FIFTIETH BIRTHDAY OF GERMAN REICHSBANK

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—The Reichsbank yesterday celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its establishment. Dr. Hjamir Schacht, the president, speaking to an audience of directors, representatives of the Federal Cabinet and of business and industrial concerns, and representatives of the bank's employees announced that a special welfare fund of 1,000,000 marks would be created in recognition of loyalty of its employees during the recent difficult years.

2 PANTS SUITS
$34
---REPRESENTING "MADE-TO-MEASURE" VALUES THAT NEVER HAVE BEEN EQUALED!

—An offering of "SUPER-VALUES," in Fine Tailored Suits, that warrants every man's Attention

The announcement of John Wright's decision to give these great "SUPER VALUES" in Two-Pants Suits at $34 created a sensation among men who were accustomed to paying from $60 to $70 for single pants suits that were not one whit better in QUALITY OF MATERIAL, FIT OR WORKMANSHIP.

Not only this, but the giving of these "SUPER VALUES" brought an avalanche of trade to the John Wright institution that broke beyond measure, any records for SALES in any tailoring establishment in the history of the tailoring business of Los Angeles.

The purchase of 690 bolts of high-grade, dyed in the wool, all wool fabrics, one of the biggest single purchases ever made by any tailoring establishment, made this offer possible.

In making these Two-Pants Suits for $34, every former effort to give GREATER TAILORING VALUES has been outstripped.

Men who KNOW good tailoring when they see it and recognize FINE WOOLENS when they see them, are buying these "SUPER VALUES" by two's and three's, and the judgment of these men and John Wright's IRON-CLAD GUARANTEE OF SATISFACTION is sufficient to warrant your attention.

My Greatest Offer Makes Tailoring History

This is my greatest VALUE GIVING OFFER.

At all times I have made it a point to put into my Two-Pants Suits, tailored to your individual measurements, a quality of material and workmanship that would make your satisfaction a CERTAINTY.

In these new "SUPER VALUES," made possible through the fortunate purchase of a large stock of High Grade Woolens at a decided price reduction, I am giving what I consider values without a peer.

On the stock alone, I could have made a handsome profit, but the publicity advantages that were offered by making these fine materials up into the finest Two-Pants Suit ever sold for $34, were too good to pass up.

Men of Los Angeles who have ordered their suits made from these new SUPER VALUE WOOLENS are talking about them to their friends.

You, too, can be fitted perfectly in a Two-Pants Suit, made up from a selection of one of these fine patterns, and you'll get tailoring satisfaction ranking well with suits costing you from $60 to $70, for the slight sum of $34. Other great values at slightly higher prices.

UR SURRENDERS ANCIENT RELICS

Objects Nearly 50,000 Years Old Recovered in Ruins

Man's Earliest History May be Divulged in Diggings

Rare Sculptures Unearthed by Joint Expedition

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—Objects nearly 50,000 years old have been unearthed by the joint expedition of the University of Pennsylvania Museum and the British Museum to Mesopotamia, encouraging the archaeologists in the hope that future excavations will bring forth material for a complete history of man's first settlement in the Euphrates Valley.

A report from C. Leonard Wooley, field director of the joint expedition, made public tonight by Dr. G. B. Gordon, director of the university museum, said the first month's work of the digging season at Ur had been unusually rich in important discoveries and "has taken us straight back to the earliest times."

GREAT WALL UNEARTHED

The expedition is working in the "Sacred Area" on a site believed to be that of the Palace of "Dungi, King of Ur in 2250 B.C., and which had been partly excavated in 1854. Numerous graves, dating to a period between 1900 and 1700 B.C., were unearthed and the great wall of Nebuchadnezzar was found well preserved.

In one of the tattered remnants of the mud brick wall were found boxes of burnt brick, each containing a stone tablet inscribed with the name of Dungi and the dedication of the building and a copper statuette of the King represented as carrying on his head a basket of mortar for the laying of the first brick.

KING'S STATUE FOUND

"Another object rarer than the copper figures," Mr. Wooley's report said, "turned up in the loose rubble filling between the walls. It was a broken diorite statue of the King with a long inscription on his back, a small statute and headless, but the first of this kind yet known; and, better still, the head of a statue of a goddess—probably Nin-Gal, the moon god's wife—dating from the same period, the third dynasty of Ur. This small head, carved in white marble, shows Sumerian art in a more attractive guise than does any other object known to me. The modeling of the features is soft and life-like and an extraordinary expression of vitality is given the eyes, which are inlaid with shell and lapis lazuli. The hair, originally painted black, is very elaborately rendered. It is a real masterpiece of ancient sculpture.

DRY AGENTS PICKED UP AT SEA

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Two American prohibition agents have been landed at Gibraltar from the steamer Newby Hall, according to the correspondent of the Sunday Express, who says that the pair—Charles Smith and Frank Mitchell—were picked up at sea December 20, 300 miles off the American coast. The men said they left Boston on December 8 in a motor boat to carry on prohibition work along the coast, and that their engine broke down, forcing them to drift for twelve days in a stormy sea.

AID AT BARN THEATER

All H. G. Wells Family Except Novelist Join Project

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

DUNMOW (Eng.) Jan. 3.—All the H. G. Wells family except the novelist himself, are actively participating in the productions which are being given this season at the Barn Theater in Little Easton, which is near the Wells's home.

The Countess of Warick has lent the barn which has been converted into an Elizabethan Theater and is an enthusiastic supporter of the movement. Mrs. H. G. Wells, and her sons, Frank and George, are the moving spirits in the productions. They design scenes, paint scenery and assist in the plays, which have ranged all the way from Shakespeare to Stanley Houghton.

A private company has bought the telephone system of Trieste and will install modern equipment.

Panama Canal's December Tolls Almost Record

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BALBOA (Canal Zone) Jan. 3. The Panama Canal collected a total of $21,380,759 in tolls from 4774 commercial vessels during the calendar year of 1925, according to official statistics compiled today. It is estimated that the cargo tonnage for the year was approximately 24,000,000 tons.

Four hundred and sixty-two commercial ships passed through the Canal in December, paying total tolls of $2,111,896, the highest in any month since January, 1924. Only on five occasions since the opening of the waterway have the tolls exceeded $2,000,000 for a single month, and, therefore the last month was one of the best in history.

The record month for traffic was in December, 1923, when the tolls amounted to $2,335,729, and 506 commercial ships passed through. Commercial ships passing through in 1924 numbered 4893 and the tolls amounted to $22,809,416 with a total cargo tonnage of 25,892,134.

WORKER ROASTED ALIVE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Jan. 9.—While loading hot coals from a bin into an elevator shaft in the Swansea electricity station, J. Russell, a workman, was sucked through an automatic door and projected down the shaft with a load of red hot coal. He was literally roasted alive.

CONFESSES PART IN MATE'S DEATH

Mrs. Eliza Nusbaum

NEW MOTIVE FOR MURDER OF NUSBAUM

Ex-Convict Sweetheart of Widow Says Robbery Was Purpose in Death Plot

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Robbery developed today as the motive for the murder of Albert Nusbaum, 65 years of age, wealthy contractor.

It came in a new statement by John Walton Winn, ex-convict and sweetheart of Grandmother Eliza Nusbaum, 59, who has confessed that she directed the assassination of her husband in pursuance of an affair with Winn.

Earlier in the day Winn had confessed orally and then repudiated his statements when asked to sign a written copy of them. Hours later he broke into tears.

"I was a party to a plot to rob Nusbaum," he cried. "I didn't have anything to do with the murder."

The breakdown came in the South Chicago station, under questioning of Lieut. Charles Aznoe.

Winn also said that he is frequently violent when drunk and might have committed the murder while in a stupor, as he was drunk in the home of Mrs. Delilah Martin when the slaying occurred.

Winn had been named by Edwin Goff, who admitted participating in the killing, as the man who had wielded the ax.

The ex-convict had repudiated a terse confession made to Capt. Collins early in the day. When he expressed a wish to make his first confession, "for love of Mother Nusbaum," he was given a pencil and paper and started to write of his love for her. When police started to question him about the actual crime he threw up the pencil and said:

"Oh, I guess I won't confess. I was drunk. I remember nothing that went on and I'll give the same story on the gallows."

GUNMAN'S LAST WISH FULFILLED

Supposed ex-Policeman of Los Angeles Shot in Bay City After Wild Riot

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—"I hope somebody kills me. Goodby, 1925."

After writing this on the last page of a diary New Year's Eve, a giant of a man who later identified himself as Ralph Jones, 38 years of age, ran amuck with a pistol at Third and Brannan streets, firing on pedestrians and then on a riot squad of police summoned to the scene by terrified citizens.

Policeman Curtin of the southern station exchanged several shots with the man, wounding him twice.

This morning, in the police ward of San Francisco Hospital, the New Year's wish of Ralph Jones was fulfilled. He died from one of the bullet wounds he had received.

Although he declined to tell anything about himself save that he was a native of Colorado, but had been a resident of Los Angeles for many years, the local police are of the opinion that he was a former Los Angeles policeman.

The pistol with which he ran amuck was a regulation police pistol, and he had in his possession also a pair of regulation handcuffs and a police whistle. His physical appearance also appeared to bear out the theory and inquiries are being made by the Coroner's office to the Los Angeles police department.

Despite his wild shooting rampage that ended in his fatal encounter with Policeman Curtin, the man was declared to have been wholly rational in his speech with attending surgeons and nurses at San Francisco Hospital.

HUSBAND KEPT PISTOL TO SHOOT MOSQUITOES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Jan. 9.—He kept a revolver in the house to chase mosquitoes, Simon Robeleski of 551 Maine street, this city, told the police when they went to his house on complaint of a neighbor who said Robeleski was beating his wife. The officers found the gun and a box of cartridges on the bureau and questioned him as to why he kept them in the house. They confiscated the weapon and settled the marital difficulties by suggesting that Mrs. Robeleski tell her story to the District Court the following morning.

MEXICANS PLAN SANITARY DRIVE

Department of Health to Act Against Chinese

Too Much Leniency Charged on Part of Inspectors

Fear Expressed That Race May Be Undermined

BY JACK STARR-HUNT

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 3.—The Mexican government Department of Health is in possession of figures, it is announced here, which show the great need of greater vigilance on Asiatic immigration coming into the county and a general sanitation campaign among the large Chinese colonies along the West Coast. It is stated that in many cases, Asiatics who have been unable to meet the requirements necessary to immigrate into foreign countries have found a leniency on the part of Mexican inspectors, the result of which is now undermining the country's rising generation to such an extent that the Health Department now fully realizes the seriousness of the situation and adequate protective measures will be observed in the future.

Doctors stationed at frontier cities and more especially at Pacific Coast ports have furnished the sanitary section of the government here with information in their periodical reports showing that children born of Mexican-Chinese parentage are in most cases, if not unsound in mind, generally weaklings and are rapidly eating into the noteworthy stalwart physical condition of Mexican West Coast natives. Federal sanitary officers have now realized the importance of the question and a program is to be studied out and then enforced, leading to elimination of the harm that at present is being done. Steps have already been taking calling upon immigration authorities to exercise a closer viligance over Asiatic immigrants, especially Chinese.

Another means of fighting the spread of this sort of yellow peril is contained in laws and regulations to be enacted which will prohibit a judge from marrying a Chinese-Mexican couple unless both are able to furnish a medical certificate as to their proper state of health. The question is recognized as one which requires considerable study and which must gradually be enforced. However, it is now believed by officials of the Health Department that the problem has been tackled in its infancy and in time to prevent its spread.

FIDDLER CHAMP CHALLENGED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NASHVILLE, Jan. 3.—"Uncle Jimmy" Thompson of Martha, Tenn., acclaimed old-time fiddler champion in a contest in Dallas, Tex., against eighty-six others, has accepted a challenge by Mellie Dunham, Maine fiddler, who entertained Henry Ford recently. Dunham wired Saturday night challenging "Uncle Jimmy" to defend his title and the Tennessee fiddler tonight sent his acceptance of the challenge, suggesting that the contest be broadcast by station WSM of Nashville, and that the radio audience be allowed to decide the winner.

FIND NEW SKELETON OF "CANAL BUILDERS"

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHOENIX, Jan. 3.—The skeleton of a second man believed to have been a member of the race of "canal builders" which inhabited Arizona 2000 years ago, was unearthed here today by excavators working under the direction of the American Museum of National History. The excavating work is being carried on at the ancient pueblo of La Cuidad on the outskirts of this city.

ON KIDNAPING CHARGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 3.—Florentine Galino, 21 years of age, of Bakersfield and a 14-year-old girl were arrested here last night and are being held for Bakersfield authorities. According to City Marshall J. A. Porter, who made the arrest at a house where the two were said to have been living Galindo is wanted in Bakersfield on a charge of kidnaping. Galindo is being held in the County Jail at Santa Ana, the girl was taken to the Orange County Juvenile Home.

CHARGES TO BE SIFTED

Federal Land Bank Directors to Thresh Out Assertions

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—Directors of the Federal Land Bank at Berkeley will meet tomorrow for a final "show down" on charges made yesterday by George H. Sawyer, Stanislaus county farmer-director, that W. D. Ellis, president, refused to make public to the directors all records of the institution.

Ellis in a reply to Sawyer's charges today reiterated his categorical denial issued yesterday and asserted that Sawyer's complaint started when he was refused a salaried position in the bank.

A. M. Morton, secretary of the bank, said the situation was a "personal one" between Ellis and Sawyer, and would undoubtedly be cleared up at tomorrow's board meeting.

LUXURIES BLAMED FOR PREVALENCE OF COLDS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 3. — The luxuries of modern living with which civilized man has surrounded himself are in large part to blame for the sickness known as the "common cold," which causes more illness annually than any other malady, Dr. Isaac A. Abt, said tonight in a report of his investigation of colds made for the Gorgas Memorial Institute. Vaccines for the treatment of colds were termed "of very doubtful value to say the least" and "not based on accurate scientific knowledge."

GREAT CHURCH MADE BASILICA

Minneapolis Pro-Cathedral Honored by Pope

Beautiful Marble Edifice Cost Million

Large Sum Being Spent on Interior Decorations

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 3.—The Pro-Cathedral of St. Mary, raised by Pope Pius XI to the dignity of the Basilica of St. Mary—the first church in the United States to be so honored—occupies a commanding position on a slight eminence right on the edge of the downtown district of Minneapolis. It is a beautiful million-dollar structure of marble that can be seen for miles.

This edifice was built eleven years ago and dedicated by the late Archbishop John Ireland who made it a pro-cathedral, the cathedral of his archepiscopate being in his home city of St. Paul. Because of the beauty of the building and importance of the parish the Pope raised it from the classification of a pro-cathedral to that of basilica. The sum of $50,000 is being expended in additional interior decorations.

Rev. James Reardon who has been in charge at St. Mary's for several years, automatically becomes the pastor of America's first basilica.

"A basilica," Father Reardon states, "is, as the name indicates, a kingly, imposing, beautiful church, built along the lines of the structures erected in the Roman Forum in the second century before Christ to beautify it and to be used for public gatherings and for the administration of justice. In early Christian times many of them were transformed into houses of worship. Basilicas are of two classes, major and minor. The distinction has reference to dignity rather than to size. To the major basilicas belong the four patriarchal churches of Rome; St. Peter's, St. John Lateran, St. Mary Major and St. Paul Outside the Walls. They are the churches that pilgrims visit during the jubilee year to gain indulgences. Each one has a 'holy door' which is solemnly opened at the beginning and closed at the end of the jubilee year."

All other basilicas are minor, according to Father Reardon. In addition to those in Europe and other continents there are four in Canada, namely the Cathedrals of Quebec, Montreal and Ottawa and the Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre," but no others in the North American continent, save the one newly designated in Minneapolis.

Army Surgeons Make Study of Aviators' Ills

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The amount of ills to which the flesh is heir is not going to be increased correspondingly by man's adventures into the air realm if army flight surgeons can help it.

A summary of recent experimental investigations by the Air Service special school for doctors discloses the intense study that is being made of the physical effects of such things as high altitude, cold, motor exhaust gases and the like upon army flying personnel.

And it additionally shows that the flight doctors of the school put in nearly 300 hours of high flying in the last calendar year to carry out their researches, much of it above the 15,000-foot level.

Some phases of the study of the effects of low oxygen on men doing physical work had to do with the efficiency of airmen who are called upon to undergo work strains at high altitudes.

HUNTERS SAVE DEER CAUGHT IN ICE JAM

THROW LASSO OVER ANTLERS AND BRING PRIZE TO SHORE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KEZAR FALLS (Me.) Jan. 3.—A deer caught in an ice jam, after being driven into the Ossipee River by dogs, owes its life to three of the town's most expert deer hunters and the lassoing ability of one of them.

Clyde Pendexter, Lawson Bradeen and Clayton Mason saw the deer struggling hopelessly in the water. Borrowing a lantern, a coil of rope and an ax from the nearest farm they started to the rescue. Failing to cut a channel through the thick ice so that the animal could swim ashore, they cut a tree so that it fell into the water.

Bradeen climbed out on the trunk of the tree and whirled the noose rope into the air. The noose settled over the antlers of the deer and frightened it so that it yanked Bradeen into the water. His two companions helped him to the shore, and then all three tugged at the rope until they had extricated the deer.

MUSIC DECLARED TO ENHANCE LIFE

PROFESSOR SAYS IT REDUCES FATIGUE AND MONOTONY IN INDUSTRIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

IOWA CITY (Iowa) Jan. 3.—"It will never be possible to compute the debt industry owes to music," says Prof. Jacob Kwalwasser of the University of Iowa school of music.

"Hearing of music brings about changes in the rate of breathing, in the flow of blood, and in the chemical content of the brain," the musical professor points out. "A man lives more when he lives to music. It has been shown that music is of great value in reducing monotony and fatigue in industry.

"The United States spends more each year for music and musical instruments than is represented by the value of its annual corn crop, but the amount is well spent," Prof. Kwalwasser declares.

OLD ROSECRANS WELLS REVIVED

Several Recompleted With Good Success

Most Remarkable Renewal Marland No. 1

Flows 550 Barrels After Second Start

Operators in the northwest and southeast districts of the Rosecrans field are having considerable success in renewing production by redrilling and deepening the old wells which have been producing for six months or a year. Several of these wells have been brought back on production recently with greatly improved output.

The most remarkable of these renewals was the Marland No. 1 which E. J. Miley brought in the second time at about 4500 barrels a day, several weeks ago, and which is still doing about 550 barrels a day. This is the most successful recompletion of the field. In the northwest section several operators have made considerable improvement.

George F. Getty's Athens No. 7, which went off production several weeks ago at about 4950 feet, is back on the production list with a daily output of 225 barrels net oil. It was deepened to 5350 feet. In addition to the oil it is making some mud and water. As a result of its success with this well the Getty company is deepening its Athens No. 4 from the shallow zone at 4450 feet.

Paul Getty, who has had considerable success in the Athens district has recompleted a good producer in his No. 3 well, which was deepened from 4980 feet to 5100 feet, where it came in at the rate of 450 barrels per day, 35 degrees gravity oil.

Down in the Maxwell sand area the Barnsdall Oil Company had some success with its Rosecrans No. 7, which decreased to about fifteen barrels per day about two months ago. At that time the No. 7 was down 4525 feet, and by drilling only forty feet deeper Barnsdall brought it back with an output of about seventy-five barrels per day.

MEXICO OIL ADDS THREE NEW WELLS

Daily Production from Trio in Tampico Field 20,000 Barrels

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TAMPICO (Mex.) Jan. 3.—The past week was a good one for the Mexican Petroleum Company, three producing wells having been added to its list, with potential daily production of approximately 20,000 barrels.

The largest is a 15,000-barrel well in the Chijol sector of the Panuco field. The other two are in the original Ebano location, where Doheny first found oil in Mexico. One came in for 2500 barrels at 1611 feet and the other is good for 1950 barrels at the still shallower depth of 1608 feet. Sand in the 15,000-barrel well was struck at 1627 feet. All the wells are expected to be long-lived.

The Transcontinental brought in a 3000-barrel well in Cacalilao and the International a 500-barrel producer in the same field. Marland completed a 2000-barrel well in Limon, a huge hacienda, owned exclusively by that company. An uncompleted well in the same hacienda is flowing 1700 barrels daily by heads. It is believed that deeper drilling will make it a bigger producer.

The only other completion of the week was a 2700-barrel well brought in for the Vera Cruz Mexican Oil Company, an organization of local business men.

Persians Turn to American Product That Sells Higher

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TEHERAN (Persia) Jan. 3.—A great demand for American cottonseed has been created in Persia. The American Financial Mission and the soviet cotton trust have introduced it here and received favorable results. The prices realized on the Russian and Bombay markets being 20 per cent more than from the short staple Persian stuff, the Ministry of Commerce has put a notice in all the papers highly recommending cultivators to take American seed, which is best suited to Persian soil.

Twenty-five Persian youths have gone to America to work in automobile factories, which is considered necessary owing to the daily arrival of a large number of machines. The automobile is now a familiar feature on all the trade routes, supplanting the quadruped transfer service.

OIL SHOWINGS FOUND

Sand Reported at 2865 Feet in Copening Well at Bowie

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Jan. 3.—News has been received from Bowie that an oil sand has been found at 2865 feet in the Copening well. At the Willcox well the slush is reported to be full of oil, and this is being dipped out and used.

The Bowie well is to be continued down several hundred feet in the expectation of finding a gusher, drilling now being in hard limestone.

The Willcox well is down about 1500 feet in hard red sandstone that has carried traces of oil for 250 feet.

OIL MEN PLAN FOR PARLEY

Extensive Program of Entertainment Being Drawn for National Gathering Opening the 19th Inst.

Local leaders in the California oil industry are making extensive preparations for the entertainment of delegates and visitors in attendance at the sixth annual convention of the American Petroleum Institute, which will be held at the Biltmore Hotel, the 19th to 21st inst., inclusive.

From the California membership of the institute and the Chamber of Mines and Oil there has been chosen an executive committee to be in charge of all arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors. Chairman of this committee is Paul N. Boggs, assistant general manager of the Union Oil Company. Other members of the committee are Clarence M. Fuller of the Richfield Oil Company, Lionel Barneson of the General Petroleum Corporation, W. W. Copp of the Marland Oil Company, W. R. Guiberson of the Guiberson Corporation, L. J. King of the Associated Oil Company, A. B. Macbeth of the Southern California Gas Company, W. C. McDuffie of the Shell Company, E. J. Miley of the Miley Oil Company, F. C. Van Deinse of the Ventura Refining Company, and Phillip Patchin of the Standard Oil Company.

MANY EXPECTED

It is expected that between 1000 and 1200 persons will be in attendance at the convention, and oil men in this city are planning to see that everybody has a pleasant and profitable time. The meeting will start off with a reception for the delegates and their wives and families, at the Biltmore, in the evening of the 18th inst.

The next three days will be devoted strictly to convention business. There will be committee and directors' meetings during the forenoons, with general programs during the afternoons and evenings. Many important discussions of the oil business in general will be heard. One of the big features of the convention will be a series of papers discussing the standardization of oil industry equipment, as it is being carried on by the American Petroleum Institute.

BANQUET SET

The annual banquet will take place at the Biltmore, Thursday evening, the 21st inst. The following day will be devoted to entertainment. All who are interested in seeing the greatest oil producing area in the world will be taken, during the afternoon, for a tour of the Los Angeles basin fields. Those who prefer golf will be invited to participate in a golf tournament which will be held at one of the country club courses adjacent to Los Angeles.

The tour of oil fields will start at Inglewood and make stops at Athens-on-the-Hill, Dominguez, Torrance, Watson Junction, Signal Hill, Santa Fe Springs, Murphy-Coyote, Whittier and Montebello. The visitors will be given an opportunity to look over Watson Junction, one of the world's greatest refinery districts, where more than 100,000,000 barrels of petroleum are in storage. The gigantic refineries of the Pan American Petroleum Company, Union Oil Company, and Shell Company of California are located at or near Watson Junction.

GOLF TO LURE

Considerable local interest is developing in the golf tournament. Lionel Barneson of the General Petroleum Corporation is making elaborate plans for this feature, and is being ably assisted by A. S. Guiberson, well known to the petroleum industry throughout the country. The evening of the last day the annual banquet will be held at the Biltmore. Members of the banquet committee are planning to make this an event which will long be remembered by the visitors. W. R. Guiberson, chairman of the institute reception committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Mines and Oil, is preparing several extraordinary features. Addresses will be delivered by retiring president Edgar A. Pew and the president-elect, but an effort will be made to have a minimum of oratory and a maximum of entertainment.

STAG AFFAIR

The banquet is to be a stag affair, and details concerning it are being carefully guarded. The banquet will be given an early-days' Spanish setting, even to the decorations, and the committee has arranged to have a galaxy of beautiful singing and dancing girls, garbed in genuine Spanish costumes, to frolic through the aisles, while the banquet is in progress, singing and dancing the songs of Mexico and old Spain. The finishing touch, for the banquet program, will be put on, it is expected, by the male chorus of forty voices from the "Student Prince," a musical comedy now running at the Biltmore Theater.

While the annual banquet is in progress the women at the convention, with their escorts, will be entertained at a big theater party at which they will witness a performance of the "Student Prince."

The committee on reception and entertainment is planning to have beautiful bouquets of flowers placed in the rooms of all delegates and guests at the Biltmore, Ambassador and Alexandria hotels, which have been designated as convention headquarters, and in any other hotel rooms where delegates and their guests may be stopping. Favors will be in the form of small crates of California's famous Sunkist oranges. These will be given to all visitors, as souvenirs of the occasion.

A general information bureau is to be maintained in the lounging room of the Biltmore, which is just off the main lobby.

COMMITTEE AIDES

Five working committees have been created to assist the executive committee in its convention arrangements. They are as follows:

Ladies' entertainment and reception: Chairman Ward B. Blodgett, A. S. Guiberson, Joseph Jensen, J. E. Elliott, Walter P. Monroe and M. W. Wickersham.

Reception and dance: Chairman Harry Maxwell, Allen Morphy, Martin Van Couvering, Arthur Wickersham, Ward Blodgett, J. E. Elliott, C. R. McCollom, W. S. Clute, Jack Sickler and Wendell M. Smith.

Work Started on St. Elmo Gold by New Operators

The Nevada Rand Gold Corporation of Tonopah, Nev., which recently acquired the St. Elmo gold mine in Randsburg district, has already begun systematic work in extensive exploration and development of this old-time wealth producer, according to word brought here by the management.

The mine is now fully equipped for deep sinking and underground operations, and it is stated that the main working shaft, and laterals on the different levels, have been cleaned out to the 250-foot level. This accomplished, the mine is now being surveyed in order to furnish the necessary data, and a working map, for the comprehensive planning of a campaign to intensive development.

This work, in all probability, will embody the exploration of the two principal veins of the group in whose workings, according to advices from the mine, a fair tonnage of commercial ore is in sight, besides which there is an additional tonnage on the mine dumps ready for milling, which will be soon arranged for at a near-by reduction plant, which will also handle the new ore the management expects will be uncovered as development work progresses.

OIL SHOWING GOOD

Ridge Company's Drilling Near McKittrick Encourages

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

McKITTRICK, Jan. 3.—C. C. Aultman, Los Angeles, manager of the Ridge Oil Company, drilling on Section 13, 30-21, an edge location north of McKittrick, reports good showings and that the well is nearly completed. Being just west of production, additional acreage will be proved if this is a producer.

The Lacy-Esper operation east of the Belridge field, on Section 18, 29-22, is reported to be in oil sand at just below 2100 feet and looking good. This location is north of the two wells drilling by the Standard on the Weston land and in territory generally considered too far out in the valley.

REDRILL AT COALINGA

Monrovia Man Buys Acreage From Cates Oil Company

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

COALINGA, Jan. 3.—The C. B. Cates Oil Company is redrilling its Strong No. 3 on Section 14, 20-14, in the Coalinga field. R. H. Sayers of Monrovia has just purchased the Cates eighty acres, with six producing wells, for $25,000, with Tom Olmstead, widely known in the valley fields, as superintendent; also taking an interest. The old wells will be repaired and the property generally improved, including the drilling of some new wells.

The Mercantile Crude Oil Company is drilling a new well on Section 6, 20-15, in the shallow sand part of the field.

LOCAL CAPITAL BUSY IN NEVADA

Many Angelenos Interested in Mining Industry

Properties Include Some of Best in State

Operations Being Extended to Newer Fields

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RENO (Nev.) Jan. 3.—The close of 1925 brought forcibly to the attention of Nevada mining men the predominant position occupied in the State by Los Angeles interests.

Capitalists from the metropolis of the West are in control of most of the leading properties at Pioche, Gilbert, Jarbidge, Manhattan, Royston and numerous properties in the vicinity of Las Vegas and Goodsprings, and are becoming interested in Austin, Chalk Mountain, Quartz Mountain, Goldbug and other new districts in the northern districts.

Most of the great nonmetallic deposits of Southern Nevada are now held by Los Angeles financiers, with their sphere of influence extending over Mono, Inyo and other California counties, across the Nevada line.

The new mill of the United Eastern Company has been completed at Jarbidge and will soon go into action. This company, formerly operating the United Eastern mine at Oatman, Ariz., owns the Bluster, Success, Pick and Shovel, and other properties adjoining the noted Elkora mine at Jarbidge, and has developed an extensive tonnage of profitable gold ore. Recent developments in virgin ground have proved so encouraging that the management is considering addition of units to the mill in the near future.

As a result of activities of the Comstock Merger Mines Company an English corporation, Virginia City, the oldest and greatest of Nevada's mining camps, is again leading the State in volume of production. Comstock Merger is milling approximately 45,000 tons of silver-gold ore monthly, and recovering about $180,000. It has displaced the Tonopah Extension, California Rand and Nipissing properties as the foremost silver producer of the world, with the outlook favorable for a long era of prosperity.

THE FARMERS & MERCHANTS NATIONAL BANK OF LOS ANGELES, Trustee.

Exempt from the California Personal Property Tax

The following information is summarized from the accompanying letter from the President of the Company:

BUSINESS: The Company, incorporated under the laws of California in 1922, will own and operate three modern ice manufacturing and storage plants located at Guadalupe, in the Santa Maria Valley; at Santa Barbara, and at Atascadero, San Luis Obispo County, supplying ice to these districts wholesale and retail, to the Southern Pacific Company for icing passenger trains and to the Pacific Fruit Express for icing its refrigerator cars.

PROPERTIES: The plants of the Company are practically new, having been constructed in 1922, with additional enlargements and improvements during 1923 and 1924, and now have an ice manufacturing capacity of 89,425 tons annually and storage capacity of 5000 tons. In addition the Company owns a 16½ acre industrial tract and 240 acres of very fertile agricultural land at Guadalupe.

SECURITY: These bonds in the opinion of counsel will constitute a First Closed Mortgage on all properties of the Company, including land, buildings and equipment now owned, or hereafter to be acquired. The Santa Barbara plant in connection with its contract with the Pacific Fruit Express Company is situated on land leased from the Southern Pacific Company. The authorized issue of bonds is $500,000.00, of which $400,000.00 are now being offered for the purpose of acquiring new properties, for the retirement of existing obligations and for working capital, this amount representing less than a 50% loan on the appraised values of the physical properties. The remaining $100,000 of Treasury Bonds can only be sold under very rigid restrictions provided in the indenture.

EARNINGS: For the past three years net earnings before Federal Taxes and depreciation are as follows: 1923—$30,921.18; 1924—$57,513.00; 1925—$83,652.43 (11 months).

These earnings are not taking into consideration revenue from the new property to be acquired, nor do they take into consideration additional revenue that will be derived from the expenditure of the proceeds of this bond issue other than for the acquisition of new properties. The Company officials estimate the net revenue before depreciation and taxes for the year 1926 to be in excess of $175,000.00.

SINKING FUND: The trust indenture provides for quarterly annual payments into a sinking fund commencing January 1, 1927, which will operate to retire the issue as a whole by maturity.

MANAGEMENT: The management of the Company is in the hands of Messrs. L. H. Phillips and Paul Dalsell, who own the majority of the company's outstanding capital stock. Both men are experienced ice engineers and excellent business men. Mr. Phillips, President of the company, during the years 1917-18-19 was the advisory engineer on refrigeration for the United States Army and in charge of the refrigeration division of the Construction Division which had charge of all refrigeration in this country and France during the war. He now holds a capacity of Major in the National Reserve as Advisory and Consulting Engineer on refrigeration for the government. Previous to his entering government service he was Assistant General Manager and Chief Engineer of the Arctic Ice Machine Company, having given up his position as Assistant Advisory Engineer of Swift & Company to take this position.

LEGALITY: Legalities incident to the issuance and sale of these bonds have been under supervision of Lawrence L. Larrabee, Esq., Los Angeles, for the Company and Messrs. Gibson, Dunn and Crutcher, Los Angeles, for ourselves and the bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us subject to their approval and payment and approval of the California Corporation Commissioner.

The accounts of the Company have been audited by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Company, Los Angeles, and appraisals of the plants and equipment were made for us by Messrs. Smith, Emery Company, and the Pacific States Appraisal Company, both of Los Angeles.

Price 100 and interest, to yield 7%.

Late Reports From California's Great Petroleum Pools

LONG BEACH HAS RICH OIL INCOME

ear's 'Revenue Estimated at $1,000,000

yalties Collected to June Total $4,202,187

ty Acquired Land Before Signal Hill Strike

At the close of the fiscal year, June 30, the city of Long Beach will have taken in $4,202,187 in oil royalties from its lands on Signal Hill, according to estimates made by erry Carpenter, City Accountant of Long Beach.

He estimates that the city's oil royalties for the fiscal year will amount to fully $1,000,000. Previous to the current year the city had collected $3,202,187 from its oil.

It is not improbable, petroleum engineers say, that Long Beach will ultimately collect from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 in oil royalties and will own an immense acreage which, in the meantime, is growing more valuable each year.

HAS 188 ACRES LEASED

Long Beach city owns and has leased out to oil companies at this time 188 acres of land on Signal Hill. The defined producing area of the field is said to embrace about 1100 acres so it appears that the municipality owns approximately one-sixth of the field.

The Jergins Trust is developing 140 acres of the city's land, and turning over to the city 40 per cent of all oil production. The Ramsey interests are developing thirty- acres on the same basis.

Long Beach acquired this oil land in 1911 when, as a municipality, it voted bonds with which to buy up several water companies and establish a municipal water system. After buying these systems the city went out in search of locations suitable for water-storage reservoirs. It seemed wise to put these on the heights, to obtain greater pressure, so the city obtained several large tracts on Signal Hill, which was then chiefly a maze of Japanese vegetable gardens.

ANTEDATES DISCOVERY

At that time there was no thought of oil on Signal Hill. The city went ahead with plans for its reservoirs. Oil was discovered there in 1921. The discovery well was directly across the street from two acres owned by the city. Singularly, according to reports, oil development has not seriously handicapped the city in carrying out its plans for water reservoirs. Its water supply has not been interfered with in any way by the extensive oil development that has taken place on the hill.

West Coast Oil Consolidation Now in Effect

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Announcement was made today that the merger of the Pacific Oil Company and the Standard Oil Company of California is now effective. Details of the merger have not been entirely completed, although the terms are known in a general way and the merged company will become the largest engaged in the oil industry in the West.

The following statement was made today:

"Supplementing his previous statement of December 24, 1925, Henry W. De Forest, chairman of the board of the Pacific Oil Company, announces that agreement has been completed in detail covering the consolidation of the Pacific Oil Company and the Standard Oil Company of California under the plan heretofore announced. The necessary steps under the law will require sixty days or more. The effective date will be January 1, 1926, the two companies operating their business pending actual consolidation."

Oil Shows at Test Drilling for City Gas

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PASO ROBLES, Jan. 3.—The Portland Petroleum Corporation has a rig installed and will start drilling at once on the Sacramento ranch of H. J. Whitley of Paso Robles, the location being on Section 31, 27-15, near Shandon, on the highway from the San Joaquin Valley to the coast.

Mr. Whitley, confirming the report of drilling on his land, states that the test well drilling on the Exline ranch near here recently reported oil showings. This test was undertaken primarily to discover gas and develop a supply for Paso Robles, citizens of the town having contributed to the enterprise.

It is reported that the Shell Company has geologists working in Cholame Valley, near the foothills, but the records show no evidence of any leases having been taken by the company direct.

FURNITURE SHOW TO OPEN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—The annual winter furniture show opens tomorrow at the American Furniture Mart, where the latest creations of America's furniture craftsmen will be exhibited to the 10,000 retailers who are expected to attend from every State in the union and many foreign countries.

Central-Copper Starts on New Power Project

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WILLCOX (Ariz.) Jan. 3.—The Central Copper Company has started excavation for its new power plant on the Mascot townsite and is building a railroad spur to the power plant and mill sites. Tests of the ore have been started in a small mill on the ground, to work out a process of concentration.

About 200 men have been employed, mainly on development, and fifty lately were added. Official statement has been made that the stock may be listed in 1926 on the New York market. Heretofore it has been a closed concern, with all stock pooled as sold.

The company is notable for its immense cash reserve, now stated at about $3,000,000, with gross live assets of $4,818,326. During the past year a donation of $1,000,000 in notes, with interest coupons, was made by the holder, President T. N. McCauley.

Origin of Bridal Veil

The wedding or bridal veil is the relic of an ancient superstition. It was first worn in ancient times to conceal and protect the bride from evil spirits which it was thought might do her harm. The bridal veil was in common use among the Greeks and Romans.—[Pathfinder.

SHUT-OFF IS BELIEVED TO BE SUCCESS

Great Basin Company is Hopeful of Completing Taylor-Fuller Well

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HOLBROOK (Ariz.) Jan. 3.—Officials of the Great Basin Oil Company express the belief that the Taylor-Fuller well has no water in it below 4400 feet. The water shut-off is considered good, less than two barrels of water an hour now coming in. This comes to the surface at a temperature of 85 deg. and carries much gas. Suggestions to shoot the well at one of the oil sands have been rejected and the drill is being pushed below the depth of 4500 feet.

In the Adamana well, where work has been held up by a lodged bulldog spear and a buckled casing, the obstructions have been blown aside by explosives and the cement plug has been drilled through and the original bore reentered. The bottom of the hole is said to be in oil sand. Residue from the sludge burns freely.

The well has been given new equipment and skilled California drillers have been added to the force. Following a recent gas explosion, electric operating machinery was ordered. J. C. Wilson has been elected president of the company, succeeding A. M. McDuffee, deceased.

PRODUCTION RESUMED

Oil Merger Results in Renewed Activity at Lost Hills

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LOST HILLS, Jan. 3.—The day before the merger of the Standard Oil Company and the Pacific Oil Company was announced the Associated Oil Company issued an order closing its Lost Hills station and transferring the superintendent, clerk and gauger. The order was rescinded after the merger.

After having been shut in three years, Lost Hills leases of the Standard Oil Company and the General Petroleum Corporation, producing light oil, have been put back on production.

ADVANCE OPENS RICH ORE BODY

Reported as Richest Gold Strike in State

Entire Width of New Ledge of Paying Values

Salmon River Mine Is Owned by Local Group

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDDING, Jan. 3.—Development of the ore body recently opened in the Advance mine of the Victory Mines Company in the Salmon River field is reported to be exposing some of the richest gold ore ever opened in California.

The property is controlled by John Nefroney and Los Angeles associates, and is equipped with an electric power plant, mill, excellent mine machinery and a commodious camp. Reports received from the mine are to the effect that the new ledge has been developed for several hundred feet and shows five to ten feet of shipping ore the full width of the ore body.

Reports are current here that a sensational gold discovery has been made on the surface of a new property about twenty-five miles from the old placer town of Happy Camp. The ledge is said to show a profusion of free gold, is several feet wide, and occurs between schist and limestone. While accurate information is withheld by the owners, a rush to the scene has begun and numerous claims have been located.

Leasers on the dumps of the Bully Hill mine of the California Zinc Company are recovering copper by pumping water on the material and precipitating the resultant solutions on scrap tin in a series of troughs. The contrivance is said to be effecting a close copper extraction at low expense. One-third of the recovered metal is paid to the company as royalty.

The company is treating a heavy tonnage of zinc-copper ore from the Afterthought and Bully Hill mines at its Winthrop roaster and concentrator and shipping zinc oxides to Belgium and Baltimore.

Preliminary work has started on the property of the Sequoia Gold Mines Company at Grass Valley, and sinking of the proposed 1000-foot triple-compartment shaft will start as soon as the rainy season ends. The property adjoins the Empire, North Star, Idaho-Maryland and other noted producers, and is controlled by Cooley Butler and Los Angeles associates.

OIL THREATENS KING COAL

Oil soon will replace coal as fuel, it is predicted in a report just made public by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The report comes from a committee headed by O. P. Hood, chief mechanical engineer of the United States Bureau of Mines, who says that the increased cost of anthracite had driven consumers to use either bituminous coal or oil, with a growing preference for oil. With the report is a supplement by Dr. W. R. Eckart of Stanford University, who asserts that sufficient oil is in sight to supply this country indefinitely.

EXTRACTING OIL FROM COAL

It is said that experiments are under way to extract oil from coal.

"To escape dust, dirt, ash-handling coal-shoveling and other disagreeable tasks attendant upon the use of coal, the American householder is showing a disposition to pay the higher price involved in the use of oil as fuel," says Mr. Hood. "It is not because of the high price of anthracite alone, for many oil burners are going into homes in bituminous coal districts."

Mr. Hood in his report describes a process by which oil is extracted from coal, as follows:

"By subjecting powdered coal held in oil to high temperature with agitation in an atmosphere of hydrogen 10 to 45 per cent of the coal will become soluble. After the removal of the carrying oil there remains a pitch of asphalt-like product possibly capable of further hydrogenation. It is reported that the German government is aiding in the installation of a plant to treat 200,000 tons of coal a year."

CAN INCREASE SUPPLY

In opposing the theory that the country's oil supply is in danger of exhauston Dr. Eckart said that there are recoverable by present methods of pumping 5,300,000,000 barrels of crude oil, after which there will still remain 26,000,000,000 barrels which can be recovered by improved process. He added:

"Improved methods of deep drilling below the present oil sands are expected to disclose many deposits not hitherto available and which will be equivalent to the discovery of new fields. The major oil reserves of the United States lie in some 1,100,000,000 acres of lands which have not been fully explored but in which geology indicates oil is possible."

Main Shaft of Verde Central to Sink Deeper

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

JEROME (Ariz.) Jan. 3.—Statement is made that Verde Central soon will start deepening its main shaft to 1700 feet, from that level to run a half-mile drift eastward to the Verde Apex property, with expectation that this work will require about a year. Remarkably rich ore in large quantity has been struck in upraises from the 1450-foot level.

United Verde extension has had a monthly smelter production at Clemenceau running from 3,200,000 to 3,600,000 pounds of copper.

It is asserted that the Green Monster Copper Mining Company may reorganize following lack of success to secure return from a silver mine near Superior. The annual meeting of stockholders has been adjourned till January 16. Green Monster holds an immense area on the hillsides southeast of Jerome, with inclusion of about seventy-five claims. A few years ago it was an active speculative stock, getting as high as $4 on the market, rising from 20 cents. Its development mainly is shallow, though several outcroppings of attractive sort are visible.

Silver Property of Hassayampa to Install Mill

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Jan. 3.—The Hassayampa Placer Gold Mining Company, which is to develop ground in the channel of the Hassayampa River, northwest of Phoenix, also has a silver mine, the Independence, thirteen miles east of Wickenburg, for which it has ordered a fifty-ton mill. Near Wickenburg, also is the property of the Mardis Mining Company, on which a seventy-ton Herman ball mill is to be erected, the work directed by T. B. Fisher.

Silver-lead and carbonates are being shipped to the International smelter at Salt Lake from the Golden Eagle section of the famous old Harqua Hala property, south of Salome. Marvin Jones is superintendent. John Jones is shipping from the same section, to the Selby smelter, ore running 25 per cent lead, twenty ounces silver and $10 gold.

MAN'S FIRST FOOD

Before the time of man, the date palm flourished on earth, and its fruits was the first food of man. Many references in early Arabian and Christian records speak of the date palm as "the tree of life."

Over 80 per cent of all dates are grown in Mesopotamia.

The United States department of agriculture has been experimenting with dates, but it is evident a new species must be developed before dates can be produced abundantly in this country.

Date trees begin to bear at the age of six or eight years. Trees twenty years old will bear from 100 to 200 pounds. Only the female tree bears fruit and it is necessary to fertilize the blossoms with the pollen of the male tree.

In 1924 there were 63,606,863 pounds of dates imported to the United States on which a duty of $2,735,042 was paid.

An Arab eats six pounds of dates a day. The import figures for the United States show that only about six ounces of dates per person are consumed annually in the United States.—[Progressive Grocer.

DISINTERESTED

A man, holding in his hand an open survey map and a builder's circular, left a suburban train at the station. As he reached the street he accosted a truckman, who was unloading milk cans. "Can you tell me, my man," he said, "how far the Sunnyside bungalows are from here?"

"About an hour's walk down that path," replied the man, pointing with his hand.

"That's strange," remarked the traveler, "the circular says they're only two minutes' walk."

"Well, mister," answered the truckman, "you can believe me or believe that circular—only I ain't trying to sell them bungalows."—[Exchange.

EAGLE BIRD PRODUCTION GETS GOING

Nevada Mine Owned by Local Group Starts to Turn Out Bullion

The Eagle Bird Mining Company of Los Angeles, with holdings near Nevada City, is now on a regular bullion-producing basis after many months devoted to development and exploratory work.

Unwatering of the mine to the 800-foot level was accomplished a few weeks ago, where a twenty-foot shoot of ore was found to exist, carrying values of about $10 a ton in free-milling gold. This ore is easily handled, and it is claimed it can be mined and milled at a cost of about $5 a ton.

On the 700-foot level there is a good showing of ore of about the same gold content, although the vein is not as large, being from four feet to seven feet in width, as disclosed by drifts running both ways from the shaft.

Since fully unwatering the mine the ten-stamp mill has been placed in regular commission, with one shift employed at the present time, but it is expected the plant will be running at full capacity shortly, handling about forty tons of ore daily. A close extraction of values is reported, and the initial clean-up will probably be made on the 15th inst.

The company is working about forty men and is paying special attention to blocking out of ore reserves ahead of extraction and milling. This work is under the direction of Manager N. S. Berray.

Last-Minute News From Petroleum Fields and Marts of Trade

NEW PRODUCER EXTENDS FIELD

Levers-Carper Well Flows 200 Barrels Daily

Completion Near Artesia is Best in New Area

Danciger Oil Also Finishes Bookman Project

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ARTESIA (N. M.) Jan. 3.—Flowing 200 barrels in twenty-four hours the Levers-Carper No. 1 well in Section 3, 18-28 is one of the best completions in the north extension of the local field. Although the hole was shot between 2327 and [illegible] feet, the oil is coming from only twenty feet of sand, which appears more gritty than any other found in the field. This completion has extended the proven area a half-mile to the east.

The Danciger Oil and Refining Company has a good completion in its No. 1 on the Bookman lease in Section 4, 18-28. It is good for 200 barrels flush production, this coming from between 2340 and 2410 feet. After running wild for three hours, the Frontier Petroleum Company's No. 5 on the McQuigg Brothers lease, Section 4, 18-28, was turned into the tanks, making 175 barrels in six hours.

After putting the Toomey-Allen No. 6 on the pump for a three-day test which netted 250 barrels, tubing was pulled and drilling resumed, it being the intention to go down to 3000 feet.

To the west of this producer the No. 6 of the Twin Lakes Oil Company is drilling at 2645 feet, and is swabbing fifty barrels of oil a day. The Ohio sand is expected to be picked up in this hole at about 2900 feet.

After being abandoned for five months, the No. 1 test of Shaw & [illegible] on Section 20, 18-28, will be deepened to 3000 feet. A slight showing of oil caused the owners to shoot the hole from 2010 to 2163 feet, but this failed to give commercial production. The well is located close to the center of the field and its deepening will be watched with interest.

Flynn, Welch & Yates have announced that they will drill a deep well on one of their most productive leases. This will probably be on Section 23, 18-28, south of the [illegible] Oil Company's holdings and east of the Snowden-McSweeney lease.

TO PROTECT WATER SUPPLY

Report Property Owners Agreed Upon Drain to Carry Oil Field Slops into Sump Hole Near Ocean

Reports from Ventura yesterday were to the effect that owners of property along Ventura avenue, extending from the Ventura-avenue oil field to the city, have agreed upon a plan to grat to oil companies operating in that field a right-of-way for a twelve-inch tile drain which is to be used to pick up salt water in the field and carry it to a sump hole adjacent to the ocean.

For some time it has been feared that salty water, pumped from wells drilling or on production in the Ventura field would filter down into the earth and eventually find its way into the Ventura River, from which the city of Ventura obtains its domestic water supply. In order to remove all possibility of the city water supply becoming contaminated by water or oil seepages from the field the oil companies have arranged to drain the muddy sump holes of the field into the new drain which is to be constructed at once, and in that way carry all such water into a big sump, at a point far below the place where the city picks up its water supply from the stream.

The Bolsa Chica Oil Company, which is drilling its first well on the farthest north lease in the oil field, is reported to have picked up, at about 2100 feet, the shallow sand from which ten or fifteen wells in the Ventura-avenue field have been producing for about fifteen years. This well is on the Hartman property. It is expected, from the present outlook, that the well will be able to locate the deeper sand which has lately proved to be so productive.

The Associated Oil Company has the prospect of at least two new completions within the next thirty days. These are the Lloyd No. 21, now drilling in the oil sand, and reported to have excellent showings; and the Lloyd No. 101, farthest east of all Associated wells. It is said to have gone through several oil sands and to be running in the eleven-inch pipe, preliminary to cementing off.

The Milham Exploration Company, working far to the east of the Associated lease, has spudded in its No. 1 well on the Sexton property.

The Associated Oil Company is laying a combination eight-inch and six-inch pipe line from its storage tanks in the field to a point near its Lloyd No. 101, evidently in preparation for gusher production when the latter is completed, which will probably be within the next month.

LOCAL OIL YEAR REVIEWED

Daily Production 15,000 Barrels Greater Than at Start of 1925, Not to Mention Shut-in California finished the year 1925 with an actual crude oil production 15,000 barrels per day greater than the daily output at the beginning of the year, to say nothing of between 35,000 and 50,000 barrels a day of shut-in production. The average daily production for the week ending Saturday the 2nd inst., was 627,500 barrels, against an output of 612,000 barrels for the week ending January 3, 1925.

Practically all of this increased output is due to the development of the Ventura field, and the Inglewood field, which was discovered, developed and settled to steady production in less than a year. At present Inglewood, which reached a peak of about 118,000 barrels, is producing 63,000 barrels a day, practically all of which is divided between the Standard Oil Company, Petroleum Securities Company and the Associated and Pacific Oil companies.

The Signal Hill field, which led the fields of the State a year ago, is still leading by a comfortable margin, its present output being approximately 111,000 barrels a day, against a total output of 96,000 barrels in the Midway and Sunset fields, its nearest rivals. Signal Hill has shown a steady increase of output for several months because of the opening of the northwest extension, which is now the most active drilling area in the State.

VENTURA TREBLED

Another district which has added greatly to the interest of the oil industry during the last year is the Ventura-avenue field at Ventura, where production has been more than trebled by the development of a deep zone.

Comparatively few new wells have been finished at Ventura because of the division of the present producing district among three leading operators, but of the new wells every one has been in the gusher class, ranging in initial output from 2500 barrels to 5000 barrels.

With the exception of the Inglewood, Signal Hill and Ventura-avenue fields, California producing districts changed but little in development or output during 1925. There were flurries of activity in various districts because of promising developments in individual projects, but in almost every instance the spurts subsided within a few weeks or months and made little difference in production figures.

STANDARD LEADS

The Standard Oil Company added more to its production than any other operator in the State, because of its good fortune in getting the lion's share of the Inglewood field.

According to official figures, the Standard during 1925 completed 167 new wells, getting a total initial output of 74,795 barrels per day. This figure represents flush production, and does not deal with the settled output obtained by the Standard in its new completions for the year.

Its greatest success was attained in the Inglewood field, where it completed sixty-two wells with an initial output of 60,683 barrels, which has since settled to about 28,500 barrels per day.

Because of its large holdings in the Rosecrans field, where it is the principal operator, the Union Oil Company ran the Standard a close second in number of completions, and new production.

According to official figures, the Union finished and placed on production during 1925 forty-five wells, with an aggregate output of about 45,000 barrels a day initial production. This figure includes the Union's operations in Colorado, where three wells were finished with a combined output of 2000 barrels. Practically half of these wells were completed in the Rosecrans field, where twenty wells were finished with a flush production of 27,000 barrels of the highest gravity oil in the State.

SMALLER COMPANIES

While the large companies were making these records, the smaller companies were correspondingly active, their combined production added much to the total output in the State.

The Marine Corporation probably was the outstanding organization among the smaller operators, its production at the end of the year totalling 8800 barrels, of which about 2600 barrels was new production, brought in during the year.

Marine completed ten wells, all in the Rosecrans field, during 1925, with an initial daily output of 5000 barrels. The company is getting about 6700 barrels a day from its Signal Hill wells, 2000 barrels from Rosecrans and 100 barrels from Torrance.

Probably the outstanding mechanical achievement of the year was the drilling and completion of the deepest well in the world by E. J. Miley in the Athens area at Rosecrans.

Miley's Athens No. 6 was drilled to 7600 feet, and it holds practically all the world records for drilling. It is the deepest hole in the world, the deepest producing well in the world, has the deepest known oil sand in the world, landed the longest string of casing in the world and made the deepest successful water shut-off in the world.

Abandonment of Smelter Seen as Profitable Step

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GLOBE (Ariz.) Jan. 3.—Old Dominion appears to have gained in net income since abandoning smelting operations, shipping ore, as well as concentrates to the International Smelter at Miami. The cost per pound of copper for the year has been estimated at 12.25 cents, compared with 12.45 last year, giving earnings of about 34 cents a share, net. The year's copper production will approximate 26,000,000 pounds. Development is well advanced, with large ore reserves.

Arizona Commercial is expected to have a 1925 product somewhat less than 9,000,000 pounds of copper, with profit of about $2 a share for the year. The Copper Hill shaft, 2200 feet deep, is to have stations cut on the lower levels, preparatory to cross-cutting to the main vein.

Inspiration has given the Union Iron Works of Los Angeles a contract for 400 tons of structural steel, to be used in its new leaching plant.

MINE CHANGES MADE

Calumet and Arizona Announces Shift of Managers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BISBEE (Ariz.) Jan. 3.—Calumet and Arizona changes have been announced for the first of the year by General Manager Harry A. Clark. R. H. Dickson, who has been manager of the Eighty-five mine in Southwestern New Mexico, will take charge of the Verde Central at Jerome, A. J. Balmforth is to be superintendent of the Eighty-five and H. M. Lavendar is to be chief engineer of the company.

The Eighty-five mine produced about 100,000 tons of silicious ore in 1925, shipped to the C. & A. smelter at Douglas. Most of this ore has come from below the 1060 level.

RISKS OF A BATTLEFIELD

Who drinks bootleg liquor makes a tryst with death. In 1921, according to Dist.-Atty. Buckner, 25 per cent of the contraband whisky seized by the government was genuine. The percentage of genuine whisky has dwindled until in this present year only 2 per cent of the seized whisky is the genuine product. Most of the rest is made from denatured alcohol, a violent poison. This is usually redistilled in the effort to separate the alcohol from the poison, but only partial success is gained. A jump in the deaths from alcoholic poisoning is the result. The fall in the percentage of genuine whisky reflects the gradual success of the government's embargo. "Rum row," as Mr. Buckner points out, is no longer a line of ships waiting off shore for rum-running customers. It is the lofts of New York where bootleg poison is distilled. The bootlegger's customer takes the risks of the battlefield.—[Lincoln Journal.

HARD TO PLEASE

The rather ferocious-looking husband who had taken his wife to the seaside scowled at an amateur photographer and rumbled in a threatening bass voice:

"What d'ye mean, photographin' my wife? I saw ye when ye done it."

The man replied gently:

"You're mistaken, really! I wouldn't think of doing such a thing."

"Ye wouldn't, eh?" said the husband, still savagely. "And why not? She's the handsomest woman on the beach."—[Exchange.

MEXICO TO COMMENCE OIL STUDY

Valley Near Capital of Republic Believed to be Potential Field

BY JACK STARR-HUNT

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 3.—Recent indications that oil in commercial quantities exists in the subsoil of the Valley of Mexico has influenced the government to such an extent that a serious study of the possibilities there will be undertaken by geologists appointed for that purpose by the Ministry of Industry, Commerce and Labor.

It is pointed out in official circles that the value of discovering oil in commercial qualities near the city is fully realized and that now that initial steps have been taken, it is the government's intention to carry out a thorough exploration plan throughout the valley and the central plateau of the country.

Fifty years ago oil seepages were discovered near Guadalupe, but a lack of initiative and capital prevented thorough inquiry into their source and extent. Three weeks ago when workmen were digging a well, and water was struck, oil rushed to the surface, gushing up fifty feet high. It flowed for some time.

Samples of water examined in government laboratories showed that on its surface, there was a thin film of oil. An analysis of the oil showed it to be of high grade quality and it is on the strength of this discovery that the Ministry bases its present plans to make a detailed study of oil possibilities in the Valley of Mexico.

Well Prepared for Drilling-Out on Arroyo Seco

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KING CITY, Jan. 3.—The Harriman Jones Oil Company, working eight miles west of Greenfield and twenty miles northwest of King City, on Arroyo Seco, has completed a long sidetracking job, has set and cemented four and one-half-inch casing at about 4000 feet and expects to drill out the cement in a day or two.

If the water is shut off the sand will be drilled into and the well completed. This well pumped about ninety barrels of 29.7 gravity oil in four days early in October and the Long Beach owners feel certain they have a commercial producer.

Derrick for the No. 2, half a mile east of the No. 1, is up, and a rotary drilling outfit has been ordered. The No. 1 was drilled to 4000 feet with cable tools.

Just west of San Lucas, eight miles south of King City, the Pyramid Oil Company is drilling at 2000 feet, with gas and oil showing, but mechanical troubles cause slow progress. The test was started for a 1500-foot hole.

FINE GOLD VEINS HIT ON MARGARITO CLAIMS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AJO (Ariz.) Jan. 3.—On the Margarito claims, seventy-five miles south of the international line, S. J. Kalil of Ajo reports the development of two fine gold veins, one of them sampling about $20 a ton across a three-foot face, while still richer ore has been found in another narrower vein. The owner is planning establishment of a small stamp mill.

KATHERINE OPERATING NEW MILL

Plant at Kingman Said to be Handling Nearly 200 Tons Daily

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Jan. 3.—The second unit of the Katherine Gold Company's mill has been put in operation, and the plant now is handling about 200 tons of ore a day.

The Katherine Extension Mining Company has been given authority to sell 300,000 shares of stock at 6 cents.

Two carloads of concentrates from the new Golconda mill have been shipped to the smelter. Separation is by means of oil flotation and experiments are progressing with a view to better division of the lead and zinc. The concentrates run very high in zinc. Better exclusion of the iron sulphurets is aimed at by R. C. Jacobson, engineer in charge.

The Fountain Head mine at Stockton Hill, operated by the Premier Mines Company, is shipping twenty-five tons of ore a day to the smelter. Haulage to the railroad at Kingman is made by truck. The ore carries gold, silver, lead and zinc. Heavy shipments, through the Kingman sampler, are being made by the mines at Chloride, one day last week being exceptional through the shipment of five carloads. From the Hillside district, the Copper King Mining Company is shipping ore that runs 47 per cent zinc.

Thirty miles west of Chloride, Kean St. Charles, pioneer newspaper man and legislator, is developing the Golden Door mine and has opened up several leads of free milling gold ore.

News of the Oil Wells and Their Products; What Basin Fields Are Doin

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analyses will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Somewhat Scoriaceous

NEEDLES, Dec. 18.—Question: I am sending you herewith sample of what appears to be mineral or metal-bearing rock of some kind, from Central Michigan. Will you please inform me what it contains, and if it is of any commercial value and oblige. M.

Answer: The sample carries hematite, limonite, silica, aluminum silicate, and it reacts slightly for aluminum oxide (Bauxite.)

Free Gold Absent

NEEDLES, Dec. 18.—Q.: Will you please classify the samples I am sending you under separate cover? I know that The Times makes no fire assays, but will you please state if you consider it worth while to have similar samples assayed for silver? Thanking you in advance for this favor. All samples from the same location. X.

A.: The two criss-cross crystallized specimens are lime carbonate containing iron carbonate (siderite,) and a low percentage of brown zinc ore. Two other specimens are probably tetrahedrite (Fahlerz,) and not the valuable "gray copper ore" variety of the mining boys in the hills; zinc present; lead and antimony values low. The other two specimens contain streaks of azurite (one of the copper carbonates) and azurite often returns silver values by fire assay. Zinc found and it might be well to have the last described four sample varieties of ore submitted to assayers.

Chiefly Magnetite

COALINGA, Dec. 19.—Q.: I have been making inquiries regarding the various elements that make up the sample of black sand inclosed, but no one in this locality can say why it weighs so heavily or anything about its parts. A friend of mine mentioned The Times and I am asking you to favor me with the information sought. The sand may be valuable, or again, it may be just sand. If you give us any information it will be greatly appreciated. P.

A.: The sample is not sand (quartz.) It is chiefly magnetic iron, mixed with a little flake ilmenite and other (blackish) titaniferous iron. Quartz traces, with traces of garnet, chromite, specular iron, and, platinum not present. Were it not for the titaniferous iron in the "sand" similar iron ore would be of commercial value. The magnetite present is the cause of the comparatively heavy weight of the sample.

Traces of Bauxite

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 19.—Q. Will you please test the sample I am sending you, under separate cover for Bauxite or any other clays it contains. It comes from Meagher county, Montana. M.

A.: It is not Bentonite (medicinal clay;) it falls to pieces in water and is a doubtful filtering material. Aluminum silicate is present, mixed with a little lime carbonate and more or less tufa.

Free Gold Absent

WENDEN (Ariz.) Dec. 19.—Q.: I am sending you samples of silica from the "Billie Joe" claims located four miles from this town. They are from a large deposit just located. Please state, whether or not you find any values in the specimens, and note the pink colors. I have horned like samples and can not tell if gold, silver, or lead is in them. All from the same ledge. H.

A.: The spotted rocks carry hematite, more or less zinc, iron and aluminum silicates, and no native platinum. The stain on the quartzitic dolomite is of hematite and pink calcite. Zinc traces found.

Five Samples

PANUCO (Sin. Mex.) Dec. 30.—Q.: This is my second lot of specimens from "Mina La Protecora." In what form does the gold occur in sample No. 10? X.

A.: Sample No. 6 is zinc silicate; lead present. (There is no No. 7.) No. 8 carries more or less silver mulm; zinc-lead present. No. 9 zinc-lead ore. In No. 10 the gold occurs with auriferous pyrite; tellurium absent. No. 13 specimen is zinc-lead ore; arsenic present. No sample tested for assay-silver.

It would appear that the mine from which the specimens were taken is chiefly a lead-zinc proposition carrying more or less low-grad tetrahedrite. Silver is undoubtedly present, and in this age of high prices the zinc-lead present should pay to mine; to say nothing of the gold and silver values.

One Sample

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Q.: Please assay for silver, and oblige. C. W. B.

A.: There is no silver of mineralogy in the specimen. For other silver values kindly consult assayers.

Zinc Traces

NORCO, Dec. 21.—Q.: I am sending you a sample (small vial of liquid) for analysis. It is a mixture given to young chicks. Want to know what it contains? F. H.

A.: The sample contains alcohol, water, and gives a reaction for zinc. Further on similar samples have quantitative analysis made.

Iron Ore

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Q.: In a card-board match box I am today sending you sample of iron ore from San Bernardino county. Is it hematite? Is there anything of value in same? I took sample from depth of about one foot. Your information will be greatly appreciated. L.

A.: The sample is a mixture of hematite and magnetic iron ore coated with lime carbonate, and there is no native gold in the specimen.

Base-Metal Ores

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Q.: For gold, silver, and platinum. These are concentrates, method of treatment, whether base or comparatively free for treatment or reduction. Full analysis. W. T. R.

A.: Magnetite present with mica and sulphides. There is no native platinum in the specimen. A massive sample of the rock containing the sulphides should have been forwarded instead of concentrates. Method of treatment problematical.

Clay Mixture

MARICOPA, Dec. 23.—Q.: I am sending to you today a sample of clay marked "from A. J. L. Maricopa." Would you kindly inform me if there is any iron or aluminum in the clay as it is rather heavy, and I would like to known what makes the weight. L.

A.: The sample is a mixture; there is more or less dolomite present, with impure hydrous aluminum silicate and magnesium silicate, Quartz, and iron found.

Silicates

BURBANK, Dec. 24.—Q.: Please classify the sample inclosed and oblige. J. H.

A.: It is a mixture of massive garnet with crystals of almandine (iron alumina garnet) of no gem value. Traces of quartz and of microscopical pyrite present. Free gold absent.

Three Samples

LONG BEACH, Dec. 24.—Q.: I forward The Times a package of ore for classification. I am a reader of your paper and hope to see the report on the specimens published in the mineral column. W.

A.: The sample is a nodular, altered slaty shale No. 2 is vesicular, and silicious rock resembling a pink pumice. No. 3 is of two samples; one on the order of the pink sample, and the other of blackish, impure oxides of iron and manganese. The pulp from the black mineral of No. 3, mixed with the fines of No. 2 gives a slight reaction for cobalt. All of the specimens represent doubtful commercial values.

OIL ENRICHES UNIVERSITY

Texas Institution Accumulates Royalties at Rate of $280,000 Each Month

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Jan. 3.—Oil—great quantities of it—is greasing the wheels of higher education in Texas. The University of Texas is rapidly becoming a plutocrat among institutions of higher learning, due to the enormous revenue which it is receiving from oil production upon lands which it owns. It is in a fair way to be made the wealthiest university or college in the world. Already a $10,000,000 building program for the institution is being planned as a result of the vast fortune which is coming in.

The oil royalty fund now amounts to approximately $2,000,000 and is accumulating at the rate of about $280,000 a month, with prospects that it may keep up this pace for the next ten to twenty years from the pool now being exploited. Besides this source of revenue from one block of its total of 2,080,000 acres of land, the University of Texas has visions of untold millions of dollars of wealth from vast potash beds, sulphur and agricultural products of the feudal domain it possesses. Test wells have proved the existence of potash over a wide area and large outcroppings of almost pure sulphur also are found in several localities, it is stated.

STRANGE CIRCUMSTANCES

It was by a strange chain of circumstances that oil was discovered upon this land. The University of Texas had little knowledge of the material wealth of its vast landed area. Dr. J. A. Udden, director of the bureau of economic geology of the university, had made, several years ago, a geological survey of the land which is now embraced in the Big Lake oil field. His report on this subject was sandwiched in with other information of the activities of the bureau and when printed copies of the bulletin were distributed, few persons perhaps read what he had to say about the structure upon the university lands. No effort was made to bring the matter to public attention. It was left to Haymon Krupp of El Paso to come across the reference in this bulletin of the geology of the block of 194,000 acres of land owned by the university, in Reagan county. Krupp leased a large tract from the university at the legal price of 10 cents per acre and one-eighth royalty. He shipped a drilling outfit to an isolated railroad station in the heart of the block of land he had leased. It was loaded upon a truck to be hauled about fifteen miles to where a test well was to be drilled. The truck with its heavy load had gone but a few hundred yards from the railroad station when it broke down. It was 100 miles to the nearest point where repairs could be made.

"We'll put down the well on this spot," Krupp said, disgusted with the happening that had prevented him from drilling a test well at the point originally designated.

The well was drilled on the spot where the truck broke down and was a good producer. Had the test been made as originally planned, it would have been a dry hole, as was afterward proved.

Chance seems to have played an important part in the matter of providing an endowment for the university. As far back as 1839 the Constitution of the Texas Republic set aside fifty leagues, equivalent to about 200,000 acres, as an endowment for an institution of higher learning that might be established some time in the future. This was situated in what is now a part of the black land belt of the State. At that time the market value of this land amounted to practically nothing, but thirty years later all of it was sold for a total of $600,000 and the proceeds invested in 3 to 5 per cent bonds.

In 1858 the Legislature passed an act donating every tenth section of the public lands of the State to the University as an endowment. Even this donation was not at the time regarded as displaying a spirit of any unusual generosity toward the future university for the reason that the public lands were still considered to be of little value.

That the public officials of these days deserved little if any credit for whatever has come and may come to the university from land endowments is further evidenced by the fact that when the value of the public lands began to show an increase, the act which had given that institution every tenth section of 640 acres was repealed, and in 1876 an outright donation of 1,000,000 acres, instead of the tenth section gift, was made under provision of the Constitution of the State. A legislative act of 1883 gave the university an additional 1,080,000 acres.

FOUNDED IN 1883

During all these years that the several schemes for a land endowment were in effect the university was not in existence. It was not until 1883 that the long-deferred vision of an institution of higher learning for the youths of Texas was made a reality. Even when the Legislature set aside 2,080,000 acres of land as an endowment for the University of Texas, it is now regarded as unlikely that there was much thought that this gift of the natural domain would ever bring any great amount of revenue to the institution. But for a legal obstacle the very land upon which the oil field in Reagan county is now situated would have been rejected by the State Land Commissioner, acting for the university authorities, because of the fact that it was considered too worthless to even justify the cost of surveying.

ANOTHER STORY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

An interesting Lincoln story which is found probably only in the magazine of the Kit-Kat Club, concerns also a noted Ohio man, says J. H. Calbraith in the Columbus Dispatch. Eight or ten years ago Prof. O. C. Hooper, while collecting matter to be used in a sketch of Thomas D. Jones, the sculptor, secured the story from Paul Jones, formerly of the Columbus bar, who is a nephew of the sculptor.

Late in the year 1860, when Lincoln, then the President-elect, was waiting inauguration at his home in Springfield, Ill., the sculptor went to that city to secure sittings for a bust of Mr. Lincoln. Apparently these were given in Mr. Lincoln's law office.

One day Mr. Lincoln came a little late to his office, with his arms full of mail which he had himself secured at the postoffice, and among the other pieces was a package about the size of a cigar box. Mr. Lincoln placed it on a table and prepared to open it. The sculptor, more cautious, suggested that it might contain an infernal machine and advised Mr. Lincoln to be careful.

Acting upon this advice, Lincoln placed the box in a far corner of the room and removed the cover with the aid of a long pole. As the lid came off, out rolled a whistle which had been neatly made from a pig's tail. Both men had a good laugh over the ridiculous denouement and then realized that the sender meant to convey the idea that since a President had been made of a pig's tail and, in fact, demonstrated the truth by procuring such a whistle.

Mr. Lincoln's boys were in the office at the time and, while the President-elect and the sculptor were laughing over the situation, the boys were testing the whistle and proving that it worked perfectly. It was Mr. Jones who executed the bust of Lincoln that stands in the corridor of the State Capitol, opposite the main entrance to the Senate.

THE POOR CONSUMER

J. Leedom Martin, the New York statistician, was talking about the high price of coal.

"Capital and labor between them," he said, "are certainly making the consumer pay. Their hoggishness is worse than little Willie's.

"'Where's Willie?' said his ma on Christmas morning.

"'I'm ashamed to tell you, ma'am,' said the cook.

"'Where is he? I insist on knowing.'

"'Well, ma'am,' said the cook, 'would you believe it? He's locked himself up in the pantry where we put the mince pies, and he says he's going to eat and eat and eat till he's too sick to be whipped.'"—[Exchange.

Danger in Being Fat

"A lean dog for a race" is an old proverb, and a lean person for longevity is a corollary that life-insurance companies are more and more impressing on the public. At a national convention of life insurance men held recently in Chicago, the president, Albert M. Johnson, said that fat is killing off Americans so rapidly that special education is needed. He considers it more dangerous to be fat than to travel on a railway, an ocean liner or an airplane. What temerity it is, then, for a fat man to travel at all!—[Youth's Companion.

BANK'S GAIN SET AT $16,779,569

New York First National Has Record Year

Figures Include Security Branch Earnings

Organized in 1863 With $200,000 Capital

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—For the first time in the memory of Wall street detailed figures have become available to the public showing the tremendous earning power of the First National Bank of which George F. Baker, dean of American bankers, is chairman. For the year 1925 net earnings of the bank and its subsidiary, the First Security Company, aggregated $16,779,569, an increase of $715,166 over the earnings for 1924. Total resources of the bank have grown to virtually $500,000,000.

Figures regarding the earnings of the bank have been available only from Mr. Baker, and he has seldom spoken for publication. Under date of December 31, however, Mr. Baker sent a letter to the stockholders telling them of the developments of the last year and also detailing the condition of the First Security Company, which handles the large security and investment business of the bank. Mr. Baker's letter follows:

"To the stockholders, now some 1400, the directors feel it is quite proper to make a fuller report than heretofore.

"We have had another prosperous and satisfactory year. The net earnings of the bank were $12,242,119 and of the Security Company $4,537,450, a total of $16,779,569, as compared with $16,064,403 last year.

"At the June meeting the quarterly dividend was increased to 25 per cent, placing it on a 100 per cent basis. It is of interest that its organization in 1863 with $200,000 capital, the present dividend brings a total distribution by the bank to $105,810,000 and by the First Security Company since 1908, to $33,700,000, a combined total of $139,510,000. There also has been accumulated a surplus and undivided profits account of $89,816,956."

Resources of the bank are listed at $499,570,744 as of December 31. An idea of its growth may be had from the fact that at the last call of the Controller of the Currency on September 28, 1925, the bank's resources were reported at $424,672,626, and that at the call of April 6, last, resources totaled $378,348,652, and the surplus and undivided profits on the April date were reported at $68,000,000.

The First National is the first national institution paying 100 per cent a year in dividends on its stock.

The stock of the bank is closely held by Mr. Baker and his associates, although it is traded in on the unlisted securities' market. The stock is currently quoted at $2950 bid, $2990 asked per share.

MILLIONS OF GIRLS WORK

Eight million American women and girls are said to be earning their own living. One-fifth of the wage-earners of the United States are women. Of these eight are aeronautics, twenty-seven inventors, forty-one technical engineers, 137 architects and two forest rangers. However, Miss Marian McClench, president of Michigan's Federation of Business and Professional Women, offers this day of hope: "Although more women are going into business or professions, marriage each year thins the ranks and provides opening for newcomers. Thousands of girls leave their work to marry, but the man who marries doesn't give up his job, he redoubles his efforts to hold it." He has to.—[Capper's Weekly.

IT OUGHT TO BE

The late Thomas F. Manville, the asbestos king, believed that young men, whether rich or poor, ought to work.

"It's a queer thing," he once said at a dinner in New York, "but hard, unpleasant work makes a man strong and clean, while delicious idling turns him into a sot or rake or worse.

"A boy moaned the morning after Christmas:

"'I can't understand why good things like mince pie and plum pudding make you sick, while nasty things like castor oil and rhubarb pills make you well. Confound it! It ought to be the other way about!'"—[Exchange.

Attorney Plans Appeal of Death Sentence Pronounced on Client

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Jan. 3.—Announcement of a statement by Si Sowash, under sentence of death, which exonerates Owen Baker and Charles Morris of participation in the murder of Capt. W. J. Gillis, has been made by R. C. Lowe, K. C., counsel for Baker.

The statement is reported to blame Paul Strompkins and another man who appeared as a witness at the trial. Appeal against the sentence of death passed on Morris is pending, and Mr. Lowe stated he intended to carry a further appeal on behalf of Baker to the British Privy Council in London, if that body will consent to hear the case.

The statement was made by Sowash in the death cells at Oakalla, where the three condemned men have been confined awaiting execution. The appeal of Baker and Sowash has been refused by the Supreme Court of Canada.

MARKETS IN COTTON TO REOPEN

Idle Both in New York and New Orleans for Days; Fairly Active Last Week

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The cotton markets here and in New Orleans remained closed today. Most of the business transacted Thursday at both points was of an evening-up character among speculative holders, with some further covering of shorts slightly predominating. Both markets will reopen as usual tomorrow.

The market here was fairly active at times the last week with its well liquidated position and oversold appearance the outstanding features. Prices made a maximum rise of 12 points on January contracts, about 90 on march, 75 on May and 70 to 60 on later months, mainly from covering of shorts on a moderate amount of new trade and speculative buying with a fairly good rally at Liverpool and New Orleans.

January contracts sold as high as 20.20 cents Wednesday; March, 19.94 cents; May, 19.44 cents; July, 19.05 cents, and October of the next crop, 18.45 cents. Closing prices Thursday for the end of the calendar year were January, 19.96 cents; March, 19.77 cents; May, 19.27 cents; July, 18.86 cents, and October, 18.22 cents. These prices compared with 24 1-4 to 25 cents at the close of December, 1924, and 34 to 34 3-4 cents at the end of December, 1923, with current prices about the lowest for the last four years.

Middling cotton here closed the year at 20 1-2 cents, against 24 7-8 cents at the end of December, 1924. Closing prices on the southern spot markets were Galveston and Housten, 20 1-8; New Orleans, 19 7-8; Savannah, and Little Rock, 19 1-4 cents; Dallas and Forth Worth, 19 cents, and Montgomery, 18 7-8 cents.

The contention is made these prices are under the average cost of production on the last season's crop in view of the continued higher costs in the picking and ginning of the crop with prewar labor and also the higher cost of fertilizers, foodstuffs and everything else this year than before the war, figuring into the cost of producing cotton, the season's bumper crop or more than 15,600,000 bales without linters, being second to the previous record crop of more than 16,000,000 bales without linters, produced in 1914 it has brought about the current low price.

The crop is now all picked and about 95 per cent ginned, with about 12,250,000 bales brought into sight and world's spinners' takings thus far approximately 7,900,000 bales. Exports for December totaled 1,062,000 bales making the total export movement from August 1 to date 4,586,000 bales, against 4,505,000 in the same time last year.

A Texas Girl Finds Gold

Miss Alma Currie, high school girl, discovered gold under her own doorstep near Teague, Tex. The gold was in the shape of coins and totaled $37,000 in value. The farm on which the treasure was discovered was occupied a few years ago by a man supposed to have operated a gambling and drinking resort. When Texas Rangers went into the country where the farm is located the gambler and his followers fled, leaving their belongings behind. The man was reported to have been killed in Oklahoma a short time afterward, the secret of the hidden gold dying with him.—[Indianapolis News.

Ten-Year 6% Sinking Fund Gold Debentures

Due January 1, 1936

Price 98 and Interest, yielding over 6.25%

Dated January 2, 1926. Interest will accrue from January 1, 1926 and thereafter will be payable semi-annually July 1 and January 1 at the office of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., in Chicago, or at the office of Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co., in New York, without deduction for the Federal Income Taxes now or hereafter deductible at the source not in excess of 2%. Debentures in coupon form will be in interchangeable denominations of $1,000, $500, and $100, registerable as to principal only. Redeemable in whole or in part at any time on thirty days' published notice at the price of 105 and accrued interest, up to and including December 31, 1926, and thereafter at the call price diminished by one-half of 1% from the first day of January each succeeding year.

These Debentures will carry warrants entitling the holders thereof to purchase Preferred stock of the Company (exempt from personal property taxes when held by residents of Illinois) entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of $7 per share per annum on or before January 1, 1931 in the ratio of one (1) share for each $100 principal amount of Debentures at $100 per share and accrued dividends in cash and / or Debentures at their principal amount and accrued interest.

For detailed information regarding these Debentures, attention is directed to a letter of Mr. Walter A. Strong, President, from which the following is summarized.

Business: The first issue of The Chicago Daily News was published on December 23, 1875. The founders were Victor F. Lawson and Melville E. Stone, the former soon succeeding as sole owner. During the fifty years of its history, the paper has never had an unprofitable year. Successful from the start, it has built up a circulation which averages over 400,000 copies sold per day. For the past twenty-five years, The Chicago Daily News has always carried a greater total volume of advertising than any other daily newspaper in Chicago. In 1925 the advertising volume has increased by approximately 900,000 lines which constituted a high record for the paper.

Security: The Debentures will be the direct obligation of The Chicago Daily News, Inc., an Illinois corporation which will acquire The Chicago Daily News, now owned by the estate of the late Victor F. Lawson, and will acquire all the property of The Chicago Daily News Company, except certain real estate and investments, which have been separated from the newspaper property and retained by the Lawson Estate. Cash to the extent of $6,000,000 or more will be invested in securities junior to the $8,000,000 principal amount of these Debentures. The Company's balance sheet, as of September 30th, 1925, adjusted to give effect to the present financing and transactions in connection therewith, shows total assets, after deducting all liabilities except these Debentures, of $18,000,001.80. Net Current Assets are given as $2,485,047.42.

Sinking Fund: The Company will deposit with Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co., Sinking Fund Agents, $250,000 on December 31, 1926 and December 31, 1927, and annually thereafter a minimum amount of $250,000 payable semi-annually on June 30th and December 31st and in addition annually beginning March 31, 1929, an amount equal to 25% of net earnings, as defined in the Trust Agreement, for the previous year. The amounts so deposited will be used solely for retirement of the Debentures either by purchase at not exceeding the prevailing call price or, if not so obtainable, the balance will be used for the redemption by lot of the Debentures at the then prevailing call price.

Earnings: Net profits after depreciation but before Federal Taxes, from property to be acquired, have averaged annually for the four years and nine months ended September 30, 1925, $1,497,625.08. The maximum annual interest requirement on these Debentures will be $480,000.

Management: The new ownership will preserve the traditions and ideals of The Chicago Daily News. Mr. Walter A. Strong will be Publisher and President and the largest individual holder of Preferred and Common stock. He will hold absolute stock control of the Company. He has been with The Chicago Daily News for twenty years and for the past four years, as Business Manager. Mr. Charles H. Dennis, who will be the Editor, became a member of the Editorial Staff in 1883 and has been managing editor since 1912. Mr. Hopewell L. Rogers, who will be Vice-President and Treasurer, has been with The Chicago Daily News 27 years. In all other important respects the management of the paper remains unchanged.

MEN IGNORE BRIGHT COLORS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The men of both Paris and London tailoring firms to deck out the male sartorically in the gay colors and ruffles of the middle ages has fallen flat. The tailors find that of today are satisfied with their attire and refuse to bow before a new color scheme. The period of mourning when Lord Nelson died first toned down men's dress which previously had been gorgeous, even outshining milady's sparkling gowns.

INDIAN MURDER INQUIRY TODAY

Federal Grand Jury to Act in Score of Deaths

Subpoenas Called for 140 to Appear in Guthrie

Family With $2,000,000 Osage Rights Victims

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 3.—Opening of a Federal grand jury at Guthrie tomorrow was a topic of discussion tonight throughout Oklahoma. The deliberations of the jury are expected to tear the veil of mystery from nearly a score of murders that terrorized the Osage Nation of Indians in Northern Oklahoma four years ago.

Although Federal and State officials have maintained silence, it became known yesterday that 140 subpoenas for residents of the Osage country and several Kansas towns have been served recently by United States Deputy Marshals and operatives of the Department of Justice.

The family of Anna Brown, which was almost annihilated by a series of murders, had Osage Indian rights estimated at $2,000,000.

The murders or mysterious deaths that had the appearance of being a result of a conspiracy occurred in the Osage country within a few months in 1921. Some of the persons whose deaths were seemingly connected with the case were:

Anna Brown, wealthy Osage woman, shot to death; Ace Kirby, white man, shot; Henry Roan, Anna Brown's cousin, shot; Charles Whitehorn, kinsman of Anna Brown, shot; George Bigheart, son of the last Osage hereditary chief, died in Oklahoma City Hospital of a brief mysterious illness; W. W. Vaughan, Bigheart's attorney, found dead on railroad right of way near Pershing, after conferring with Bigheart in Oklahoma City; W. E. Smith, white man, killed in explosion that destroyed his home in Fairfax; Mrs. W. E. Smith, sister of Anna Brown, killed in explosion; William Stepson, associate of Henry Roan, died presumably of alcoholic poisoning; Joe "Annie" Sanford, died after brief and puzzling illness; Anna Sanders, servant girl, killed in explosion; Lizzie Queque, mother of Anna Brown, and Mrs. Smith, died after mysterious illness.

The deaths of five other Indians of prominence also were believed by officials to have been connected with the case.

CLEARS UP TALE OF TRAINED FISH

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

AGANA (Guam) Jan. 3.—Students of Chamorro life in the Marianas Islands who have long been puzzled by legendary allusions of the South Seas people to "trained fish" and "stone bait" have been given an explanation of these terms by H. G. Hornbostel, representative of the Bishop Museum of Honolulu.

Present-day inhabitants of the Marianas Islands are as unfamiliar with the training of fish or the use of stones in catching them as are fishermen elsewhere who seine streams or seine the waters of the seven seas. But the ancient practices substantiated until now only by legends and by oddly rounded stones excavated from graves in the old burying grounds of Guam and other islands have been authenticated by Mr. Hornbostel. Furthermore, he has found an island where the natives get their fish supply in this very way.

It is the Island of Rota, which produces so little copra that ships have only rarely visited it, and which, under Japanese mandate, Mr. Hornbostel learned at first hand of this ancient art. On Rota, prehistoric native customs have persisted long after they vanished from other lands of the South Seas.

In relating his story of the investigation which he conducted and some of the fishing stones obtained by him, Mr. Hornbostel described their use as follows:

"The bait is a smoothly formed sphere of stone about five inches in diameter. It is suspended by tough cords of cocoanut fiber with the flat surface of the sphere uppermost. To this is attached a hollow cone of cocoanut shell, its edges gummed fast to the stone. There is a small opening in the top at the apex of the cone. Into this hole the native fisherman squirts from his mouth a pulp of cocoanut meat which he has chewed fine. Then the bait is ready for use.

"During the months of June and July the natives dangle the stones from their canoes, keeping them close to the bottom at a depth of about fifty feet. By jiggling the stones up and down they spread the cocoanut pulp through the water. A fish called "Achuman," the Chamorro word "achu" means stone, is particularly fond of cocoanut.

"After two months of regular feeding they are trained to follow the stones daily. Then during August and September the stones are brought nearer and nearer the surface of the water, until the fisherman with a hand net can scoop in his unsuspecting victims, and the trained fish become food."

A KINGDOM FOR A HORSE

O horse, you are a wondrous thing; no horn to honk, no bells to ring, no license buying every year, with plates to screw on front and rear. No spark to miss, no gears to strip, you start right off, no clutch to slip; no gas bill climbing every day to steal the joy of life away; your inner works work O.K., and, thank the Lord, they stay that way. Your spark plugs never miss and fuss, your motor never makes us cuss. Your frame is good for many a mile, your body never changes style. Your wants are few and easily met—you've something on the auto yet.—[Exchange.

Remoteness

"Radio is a wonderful means of communication."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "but I don't find it entirely satisfactory. There's no way of checking up on the laughter and applause to make sure you are not accidentally getting in touch with a large and influential audience."—[Washington Star.

LATE FRUIT TO GET GOOD PRICE

Last of Tulare Valencias Still On Trees

Rancher Sees Fall of Boom in Florida

Porterville Chamber Plans Election

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 3.—Porterville's 1925 navel orange crop is now almost harvested, with only a few outlying districts still picking fruit as it ripens from the trees. Groves in the foothills where frost danger is negligible often pick superior tree-ripened fruit, even as late as February, securing fancy prices.

Practically all of the eighteen houses in the district at the peak of the season ran overtime getting out the pack. Just now only four are operating. Some shipments will still be made from the Southland, Magnolia, Porterville, Citrus and Tule River houses. Only a short pause is observed between the end of the navel season and opening of the Valencias. Returns received this year for navels in Tulare county broke records of several seasons, all other conditions also combining to make this the best season in a decade.

The next thirty days will spell the turning point for the Valencias. If they can be brought through without frost damage, apparently they, too, will strike a favorable market and every indication points to an excellent crop.

ELECT DIRECTORS

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 3.—Twenty-two names have been placed on the roster for directors of the Porterville Chamber of Commerce the coming year. Ballots will be cast by mail prior to the annual meeting on January 25, next. Names may also be written in. Of those selected by the nominating committee as prospective directors, three are already members of the board.

Those nominated to serve are: Elwood McCourt, incumbent; Jay C. Doyle, incumbent; W. S. Shippey, incumbent; Allen Bullard, Frank Daybell, R. A. Hubler, Ervin Gibson, E. S. Lawson, William McAuliff, George Murphy, C. O. Premo, W. S. Welch, George Widmen, Jr.; J. E. Willis, B. M. Anderson, Alex Sartou, Frank O. Sheldon, Galen Nofsinger, Albert Margo, Arthur Steinberg, Clem C. Howell, R. B. Donahue.

ATTEND GOLF TOURNEY

VISALIA, Jan. 3.—Carl Lingren, professional at the Visalia Golf Club, and his brother, Bill Lingren, plan participating in the Los Angeles Country Club open professional golf tournament the 7th to 9th inst., according to announcement.

The southern tournament, open to all professional golfers, is the second largest tournament arranged throughout the country this year. Purses aggregating $10,000 have been offered for the winners in the various events.

REPORTS TO COURT

VISALIA, Jan. 3.—The Tulare county probation officer will report to Juvenile Judge J. A. Allen Monday morning concerning the case of Mrs. Irene Joseph, or Irene Mayo, who was arrested last fall in Evanston, Ind., by Sheriff R. L. Hill of Tulare county, with Jack League on several counts. League a few days since pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an automobile without the owner's consent and was sentenced to San Quentin. Charges of highway robbery and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, to which he pleaded not guilty, were dismissed on motion of the District Attorney following his plea of guilty to one charge.

Mrs. Joseph, or Mayo, petitioned the court to transfer her case to the Juvenile Court in view of the claim that she is but 19 years of age. Their arrest followed a spectacular chase across the country by Sheriff Hill, following the hold-up of a filling station in Tulare last September.

ASKS TRUCK FRANCHISE

EXETER, Jan. 3.—Ward E. Weekly has applied to the Railroad Commission for a certificate to operate an auto truck service for transportation of all commodities, furniture and explosives excepted, between points within a radius of thirty miles from the intersection of Pine and E streets in the city of Exeter, Tulare county, and points in the San Joaquin Valley as far north as Fresno and as far south as Bakersfield.

FAVORS CALIFORNIA

TERRA BELLA, Jan. 3.—Terra Bella district is ideal for growing deciduous fruits, as has been demonstrated during the last two years, in the opinion of W. O. Lewis, Los Angeles capitalist, who accompanied by his son, was a recent visitor here, inspecting his planted property and getting familiar with local conditions.

Lewis predicts that if two wet years in succession were experienced here land would sell for as high as $300 per acre. He declares that the reaction from the highly inflated Florida boom is now being felt in Los Angeles, stating: "A man can pay his way from the East and stay three months in Los Angeles for the price of a month's residence in Miami. Bungalows which rent for $450 per month in Miami can be duplicated in the south for $75 and California has an all-year climate, while Florida has only three months of good weather."

Lewis has sixty acres in fruit trees here which are in charge of E. A. Reeves.

WORDS YOU DON'T KNOW

A wobbly, as every man, woman and child west of Chicago knows, is a member of the great order of Industrial Workers of the World. The East knows him only as I.W.W. He has developed, within his group, a peculiar argot, and it is little known outside the ranks.

A cook, no matter who or where, is a boiler or a sizzler. A plate of hash is a load of culls. Hot-cakes are flats. Highball-camps are those where work is speeded up by a superintendent or foremen or by straw-bosses. A logging superintendent is the bull of the woods. A foreman is the push. The straw-boss, or foreman of a small crew, is known as a king snipe when he has charge of a track-laying gang. Steel gang laborers are gandy dancers. All wage earners are slaves. Horses are hay-burners. Teamsters are hair-pounders.—[Stewart H. Holbrow in American Mercury.

DEATH CLEW TO HESTER ENIGMA

Kentuckian Broke Jail and Disappeared

Murder Charge Followed Quarrel With Friend

Indiana Farmer Reveals Facts Ere He Dies

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GLASGOW (Ky.) Jan. 3.—"What became of Joe Hester?" a question first asked here fifty-eight years ago, has been answered, it is believed, through the death of a man who lived on a farm in Indiana for nearly half a century.

On August 26, 1867, Joseph Hester and Isham Petty, another youth, according to the story as recalled here, became involved in a quarrel north of town. Petty's death followed, and his body now lies in an unmarked grave in the Higgins burying-ground here.

Hester was placed in jail, the old story goes, but after a time made his escape, went north and there joined the Regular Army. He served several years and made a creditable showing. He is said to have enlisted under the name of George Hester. After a few years he married.

Joe Hester, at the time Petty met death, was returning home from Glasgow, where he had obtained a license to marry Miss Kate Keaton, a neighborhood beauty. It was said that Hester never again saw his sweetheart, and from that day on "Joseph Hester" was lost to the world.

The reconstruction period was under way and search for Hester was not pushed as it might have been, and it was believed he had joined the Army. The case was forgotten as the years went by.

The narrative as it reached here says that one Madison Thompson, a farmer in Indiana, told his wife as death neared about incidents of long ago in Kentucky.

With the death of Thompson his pension ceased. Complaint was made and a pension examiner started on the long trail that led through the years in an attempt to straighten the tangle and bring relief to his widow. The investigation led to Glasgow, original home of the man known as Hester. The indictment of Joseph Hester growing out of Petty's death was located. It was signed by J. W. Scrivener, grand jury foreman, and the names of Joseph and J. W. Puckett, Thomas Davis and John Davis appear as witnesses. The papers in the case were signed by W. L. Porter, Circuit Court Clerk.

The documents had been executed by A. P. Childress as Sheriff, and N. R. Smith, Deputy. J. H. C. Sandidge was Commonwealth's Attorney, and examining trial was before Thomas Dodd, Police Chief of Glasgow. Elizabeth Lovell and Eliza Drew were summoned as witnesses for Hester, as were also Parks Forrester, Thomas Davis, Bob Freeman, J. Walton, Doubleday Walton and Mat Forester. But Hester never came to trial because of his flight from jail and successful hiding of his identity.

Thomas Church of this city is probably the only person living who remembers the incidents connected with the tragedy and Hester's subsequent escape from jail. Church was an intimate of Hester and Petty alike and lived in the neighborhood of the tragedy.

Not for Consumption

An art dealer had a chance to place a few dining-room pieces. So he asked an impecunious artist to paint him a still life of a salad in oil. The artist, being unusually hard up at the time, wanted to know if the dealer would furnish the salad. The dealer said he would.

"And the oils?"

"Yes, but no vinegar. I want you to paint this salad. I don't want you to eat it."—[Art Record.

Traders Expect May Wheat to Reach $2 Mark

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—A large professional market is on in wheat and corn. A majority of the large traders are operating on the bull side, but take profits on sharp advances, and price fluctuations are wide and are expected to continue as long as present trading conditions exist. This is the way leading operators size up the situation.

The new year opens with an impression among grain traders throughout the agricultural regions that values are to remain high for a considerable period. It will be no surprise to see wheat reach the $2 limit for May delivery in Chicago inside of thirty days, should recent speculative operations continue, but there will be many breaks, followed by quick bulges. A market that can advance 25 cents in two weeks, as has been the case during the last part of December, is regarded by trade leaders as possessing great possibilities and uncertainties.

December wheat advanced from 1.65 to 1.86½ and May from 1.60¼ to 1.85½ in two weeks, with a reaction of 6¼@7½c on the most active trading futures, with net gains of ⅝c on December, a loss of ⅜c on May and of 1⅝c on July, as compared with the previous week. At the finish on Thursday, the closing trading day of last week, the new December sold at 1.86½@1.84¼ in different parts of the pit, while May was 1.78 and July 1.52¼@1.52⅜.

The wheat situation the world over is more interesting than a year ago, with a close adjustment of supplies to requirements; with the United States on a domestic basis, and Canada having more wheat to export than any other surplus-producing country.

Political conditions are favorable to holders. The Coolidge administration is to start a series of conferences to discuss the disposition of the exportable surplus of corn products commencing the 12th inst. Speculators anticipate that with the government more active in farm legislation than at any previous time, it is not wise to expect lower prices, and the effect is bullish.

The open speculative interest January 1 last year was more than 170,000,000 bushels in Chicago's futures, and December 1, 1925, was in excess of 113,000,000 bushels. The difference in the two periods is that wheat speculators have practically made up for the less in outside trade.

Sentiment in corn has changed more in favor of the maintenance of prices on a higher level, due to activities on the part of agricultural interests and politicians and to a belief on the part of a number of large speculators that for the time being, at least, corn prices should move up. There has been a falling off in receipts in the country, but the advance in prices has induced selling by interior interests, and sales to arrive last week were upward of 750,000 to 1,000,000 bushels.

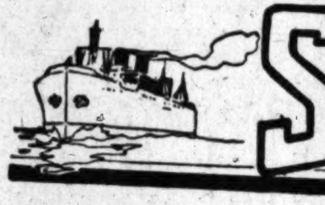
A reduction in the big short interests assisted in advancing prices 3⅝c for May in two weeks, and the close last week was with May ⅝c and July 1⅛c higher, while December, which went out around 6½c under the May, after being 8⅝c discount earlier in the week, gained 1⅝c over the previous week's closing.

December corn closed Thursday at 79⅝@80c, May 86⅝@86¾c and July 88c.

Although the crop of oats in certain States was 51,000,000 bushels less than in 1924, there are ample supplies. Consumption on the farms is heavy, but the cash trade has no particular snap, yet there appears enough buying at times by speculators to believe that oats is too low as compared with other grains. The close last week was ¼@⅜c lower, with December leading, the finish on Thursday being 41¼c on December, 45⅝c on May and 46c on July.

Rye traders are following the wheat market, buying when the latter is strong and advancing, and selling when it turns weak. December went out at 1.08, a loss of 5c for the week, and May, after reaching 1.17⅞ at the extreme, finished at 1.11, a loss of 4⅛c, with July at 1.08⅛, or 3⅜c under the previous week.

A more active demand for meats, especially for lightweight hams and bacon, cleaned up the surplus offerings of the packers and a moderate advance in prices was made. The buying was a surprise to the trade, as usually at this season it is light. This improved demand, coupled with higher prices for corn, brought in more speculative buying of provision futures, and closing trades were well toward the best of the week, with bellies 92½c and shorts ribs 80@87½c higher than a week ago, and May lard up 25c, while December closed weak, with a loss of 5c.



SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

OIL SHIPMENTS TO BEGIN TODAY

Ten Tankers Carrying Out Million Barrels

Experts Believe Movement Opens Record Year

Two of Standard's Largest Craft Load Tomorrow

One million barrels of California petroleum will be loaded out of Los Angeles Harbor today and tomorrow by ten tank steamers, among them being several of the largest oil carriers under the American flag. The influx of tankers marks the beginning of a petroleum movement which Coast oil men say will give the Pacific Coast its greatest export year in the history of the industry.

The Standard Oil Company will have two of its largest carriers loading simultaneously tomorrow for New York at the local terminal. The Fred W. Weller will take out 127,000 barrels and the James McGee 121,000 barrels. Today the British tanker Mine Brea, of the Standard Oil's Imperial Oil fleet, will load out 52,000 barrels of fuel oil for Ioco, B. C.

TANKERS DUE TODAY

Among the tankers due today are the H. C. Folger, Atlantic Refining Company, 85,000 barrels of gasoline for Philadelphia; British tanker San Gaspar, Eagle Oil Company, 110,000 barrels of fuel oil for Buenos Aires; Agwistone, Tidewater Petroleum Company, 110,000 barrels of fuel oil for New York; Union Oil tanker La Purisima, 60,000 barrels of fuel oil for northern ports, and the Mina Brea for British Columbia.

Others due tomorrow include the Levant Arrow, Standard Transportation Company, 80,000 barrels of fuel oil for Shanghai; Derbyline, Texas Company, 85,000 barrels of crude petroleum for New York; K. R. Kingsbury, Standard Oil Company, 76,000 barrels of fuel oil for Richmond.

VESSEL TO HAVE TRY-OUT

Announcement was made that the General Petroleum Corporation's newest tanker, Lio, recently converted to a motorship at the Potrero plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, will have her trial trip today on San Francisco Bay before entering service out of Los Angeles Harbor.

The Lio is now equipped with the largest and most powerful Diesel engines installed in a cargo carrier. The engines were constructed by the San Francisco plants of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation at a cost of more than $1,000,000.

SQUARE RIGGER ENTERS LUMBER TRADE

Entrance of the steel full-rigged ship Monongahela into the lumber trade to Florida was announced yesterday by the Charles Nelson Company, her owners. The Monongahela, first square-rigger to enter service in two years on the coast, is en route to the Columbia River in tow of the Nelson steamer Port Angeles, where both vessels will load lumber cargoes for Florida.

The Monongahela will be towed around by the Port Angeles, which will put into this port en route to pick up the huge suction dredge Upson, being sent to Florida for dredging operations of the United Dredging Company. It was also learned that the suction dredge Charles W. Windham, now active in the Long Beach area, will also be towed to Florida for development work. The Port Angeles will load several thousand tons of pontoons and other dredging equipment when she calls to take the Upson in tow.

The Manchuria, 27,000-ton flagship of the Panama-Pacific Line, arrived yesterday from the north and at noon today will go out with 450 passengers and 7000 tons of California products for New York. Yesterday afternoon the Japanese liner Siberia Maru of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha fleet departed for Hongkong with similar heavy lists.

Three passenger liners are due at daylight today from the south—the Panama Mail liner Venezuela, from New York and Central American ports; the Mexican steamer Chiapas, of the Mexican States Fleet, both from West Coast ports.

Sale of the schooner Maud, Capt. Roald Amundsen's polar exploration ship, to the Arctic Traders of Seattle, for $30,000 was announced yesterday at the Puget Sound port. The Maud was libeled and sold by the United States Marshal for debts incurred by Capt. Amundson while preparing for his first polar flight.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—With the sailing of the steamer Arizona from here tomorrow for European ports all members of the French line will resume calls at Central American ports on the outward voyage, Erik Krag, manager of the French line, announced today.

Tourist travel to the Hawaiian Islands during the months of January, February and March will be exceptionally heavy. W. H. Sellander, passenger traffic manager of the Matson Navigation Company, said today that commencing with the sailing of the liner Maui from San Francisco Wednesday, accommodations for every member of the Matson passenger fleet departing from this port have been reserved well on into the month of March.

For the first time in many months not a single trans-Pacific liner is scheduled to arrive at this port for the next week or more, aside from the Japanese steamer Bokuyo Maru, which is putting into this port Tuesday to finish loading for South America.

Bearing a large list of winter tourists from eastern States, the Panama mail liner Venezuela is expected to arrive here Wednesday morning from New York via Havana and Los Angeles.

PORTLAND, Jan. 3.—The steamer Hamlin F. McCormick, which arrived yesterday from San Francisco, discharged at the McCormick terminal and tomorrow will start loading lumber.

The tanker Richmond, arriving yesterday from Los Angeles discharged fuel oil today. The tanker Kewanee arrived today from the south with liquid fuel.

Having finished working lumber at Vancouver, Wash., the steamer Mystic of the United American Lines moved today to Columbia City to continue loading. She will be destined for Baltimore and New York.

The steamer Sydney M. Hauptman, which was here last month to discharge East Coast cargo and proceeded to Puget Sound to finish unloading and go on drydock, will return here Tuesday. The vessel is to take aboard about 3,500,000 feet of lumber for New York delivery.

To undergo dry-docking in preparation for a voyage to Shanghai with a lumber cargo, the six-masted schooner Oregon Pine was moved yesterday to the St. Johns plant of the Port of Portland.

SEATTLE, Jan. 3.—Mediterranean ports are demanding lumber and canned salmon in quantities extensive enough to indicate the continuance of the new service of the Navigazione Libera Triestina, it was predicted today by R. K. Brown, Jr., manager here for the General Steamship Corporation.

Brown also said that early bookings indicate traffic with the west coast of South America and to New Zealand and Australia will develop into a banner year.

The Harrison Direct Line steamship Benefactor shifted here today from Tacoma and is expected tomorrow to commence loading canned goods and general cargo for United Kingdom ports. The vessel already loaded a large shipment of flour at British Columbia ports last week.

The Blue Star steamship Roman Star is expected to complete loading 9000 boxes of Washington apples tomorrow and shift to the Columbia River to take on a similar quantity of Oregon apples.

TACOMA, Jan. 3.—The Norwegian steamer Dagfred arrived late this afternoon to load lumber for Australia.

The Comliebank returned this afternoon from other Sound ports to load additional lumber for Kobe.

The Amur arrived at the smelter this morning with British Columbia ore. The Daylestown brought California ore and the Alaska arrived last evening with Alaska ore.

The Orcus arrived this morning to load flour, grain and lumber for Valparaiso.

"Wires From Home" Play Big Part in Congressional Actions

When I was elected to Congress from the Ninth District of my State, I labored under an altogether erroneous notion of what constitutes representative government.

I supposed that the people of my district, not having the time or the special knowledge to deal directly with the specific questions that might arise during the session of the national Legislature, had asked me to do some political thinking for them.

Having the opportunity of listening to the debates and consulting with my colleagues, I could make decisions in regard to matters of which my constituents were ignorant.

I now see that this was a great mistake. The alarming increase of literacy, cheap postage and the radio have undermined the old foundations of representative government.

My constituents know more about what is going on in Washington than I do and they lose no time in telling me so. While I am acting as chore boy, they are making up my mind for me. They tell me how to vote on a bill which I have not had time to consider.

I have no longer leisure to read my letters. I weigh them. You would not believe how many pounds of peremptory advice I receive every day.

As for telegrams, they are as the sands of the seashore, and they have a curious way of confirming one another. Hundreds of my constituents will rush simultaneously to the offices of the telegraph company and express themselves vehemently in exactly the same language.

They do not argue—they decide. The only liberty I have is the liberty of anticipating what they are going to tell me to think. If this keeps on, the government at Washington will be a government by telepathy.

I am not complaining. It is a glorious thought that public opinion can express itself spontaneously on every new question with such terseness and timeliness. But is it public opinion?

Who are the promoters who are putting it on the market? There must still be a good many people who have not acquired the habit of telegraphing their Congressmen.

Perhaps some of them rather admire a Congressman who has opinions of his own. Perhaps they would prefer to have him now and then make a mistake of his own rather than make all of theirs.—[A Congressman in Atlantic Monthly.

PEACH TREES FROM CHINA

Peach trees fifty feet high have been found wild in China. Buds of these for propagation have just been received by the horticultural division of the New Jersey experiment station.

In 1922, a plant explorer in China reported that he had discovered at Puerfu a peach tree fifty feet in height, growing wild in the mountains at an altitude of 5500 feet; also another tree with fruit of a different character growing to a height of about forty to fifty feet.

The peach is an exceedingly fast-growing tree, and if these immigrants grow as large in America as they do in China, they may be more adapted to the forestry industry than to peach growing.—[New Jersey Agriculture.

RUNNING THINGS

"I have to laugh when I hear Peck saying he runs things—at his house."

"Sure, he runs things — the furnace and the water for his bath."—[Boston Transcript.

And Don't Wait Too Long

The men who succeed go after things that fail to come to them.—[Boston Transcript.

GOOPS!

A Daily Lesson in Manners for Children

FIBS.

I know of course you're not a liar,
But I would tactfully inquire
If you believe it wrong to tell
Those little Fibs you know so well?
For fibs are only baby lies,
And Goops who tell them, all despise.

A LESSON

Will Hays, the movie mogul, said in New York the other day:

"The English and French and Germans want to take our film supremacy away from us, but they haven't even learned yet that a film can't succeed without a happy ending, so I don't think we're in any danger.

"These foreigners ought to take a lesson from the young couple at the performance of 'Hamlet.' At the end of the performance the girl said:

"'Wasn't it silly of that Shakespeare fellow to drown Ophelia and kill Hamlet off? Why, he ought to have married them, the chump.'

"'Well, I ain't no high-brow critic,' the young man agreed, 'but that's how I'd a fixed it up.'"—[Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

Por el Profesor R. Guerrero

DEL DEPARTAMENTO ESPANOL DE "THE TIMES"

Número 394

En el tercer párrafo de la Plática 392 dice "se sueño" por "es sueño", y en el último ejemplo del primer párrafo de la Plática 393 dice "¡La opinión publicaó"; en vez de "¡La opinión pública!"

Del uso interrogativo de "cuando", dice el señor Cuervo, nace el emplearse repetido como distributivo, con el valor de "unas veces . . . otras veces". En esta aplicación conserva el acento ortográfico: "Así como los sucesores desde rey sucedían en el reino, así también sucedían en la guerra contra los Moros, ganándoles cuándo una ciudad, cuándo otra, cuándo un reino, cuándo otro" (Valdés, "Diál."); "Muchas veces veníamos a contender reciamente, cuándo sobre unas cosas, cuándo sobre otras" (Id., "Ib."); "Peleaban con los españoles que les salían al encuentro, cuándo próspera, cuándo adversamente" (Mariana, "Hist. Esp.", 1, 12); "Conforme a los negocios y ocurrencias, cuándo seguía la virtud, cuándo lo malo" (Id., "Ib.", 11, 10); "Se apoderaban de castillos, pueblos y ciudades, cuándo por fuerza, cuándo por rendirse de su voluntad" (Id., "Ib.", 13, 1); "Hobo en diversas partes muchos encuentros; cuándo los unos vencían, cuándo los otros" (Id., "Ib.", 14, 2); "Más la esperanza que el dolor alivia—En uno y otro extremo disfrazada,—Tuvo la vida en su poder guardada,—Cuándo con fuerzas, cuándo flaca y tibia" (Cervantes, "Galatea", 5); "Tuvo luego guerra con los príncipes comarcanos, cuándo con unos, cuándo con otros" (Moncada, "Exped.", 70); "Cuándo de aqueste, y cuándo de aquel canto—Mostraba el buen Valdivia esfuerzo y arte,—Haciendo por la espada todo cuanto—Pudiera hacer el poderoso Marte" (Ercilla, "Araucana", 3).

Empléase "cuándo" junto con otras voces distributivas: "El día que nacen del vientre de su madre, luégo en pos de ellos sale la muerte en busca de su vida; y aquí toma, y allí toma, cuándo sanos, cuándo enfermos, ora cayendo, ora levantando; jamás los deja una hora hasta encerrarlos en la sepultura" (Guevara, Capm. "Teatro", 2, 114); "Con gran presteza animaba unos, socorría a otros, cuándo con amenazas, cuándo con ruegos" (Moncada, "Exped.", 36); "Siempre en el año le da en veces al pie de una carga de trigo; por las pascuas su carne, y cuándo el par de sus bodigos, las calzas viejas que deja" ("Lazar.", 7).

Al uso interrogativo se allega también el indefinido. Este no existe en castellano sino en la locución "De cuando en cuando", que equivale a "de tiempo en tiempo", "algunas veces". Aquí no tiene ya cabida el acento ortográfico: "Y piensan que con parir un hijo de cuando en cuando y con arrojarle luego lejos de sí en brazos de un ama, son cabales y perfectas mujeres" (León, "Perf. cas., Introd.", 3, 419); "De cuando en cuando sacaban la cabeza por el escotillón de la cámara de popa, por ver en qué paraba aquella grande herrería que sonaba" (Cerv., "Nov., 2); "Bien es verdad que de cuando en cuando le da alguna música, que ella jamás escucha" (Id., "Nov.", 8); "De cuando en cuando empinaba la bota con tanto gusto, que le pudiera envidiar el más regalado bodegonero de Málaga" (Id., "Quij.", 1, 8); "Mis amores y los suyos han sido siempre platónicos, sin extenderse a más que a un honesto mirar, y aun esto tan de cuando en cuando, que osaré jurar con verdad, que en doce años . . . no la he visto cuatro veces" (Id., "Ib.", 1, 25); "De cuando en cuando rebuznaba un jumento, gruñían puercos, mayaban gatos" (Id., "Ib.", 2, 9); "Volvía Sancho la cabeza de cuando en cuando a mirar a su asno" (Id., "Ib.", 2, 44).

Siguen los ejemplos del uso de "De cuando en cuando": "Con una octava o soneto—Que con picaresco estilo—Suele hacer de cuando en cuando,—Trae a mil hombres perdidos" (Tirso, "El condenado por desconfiado", 1, 7); "El remedio suele ser venir de cuando en cuando a las cortes, porque ninguna carta o memorial persuade tanto como la presencia" (Saavedra, "Emp.", 23); "Deteníanse de cuando en cuando, como recelosos de acercarse" (Solís, "Conq. de Méj.", 2, 20); "Salían de cuando en cuando mezcladas con el humo algunas llamaradas o globes de fuego" (Id. "Ib.", 3, 4); "Salían de cuando en cuando algunos capitanes a pedir batalla singular con el más valiente de los españoles" (Id., "Ib.", 5, 24).

Popularmente se corrompe esta locución diciendo "De en cuando en cuando", y entre el vulgo, "En cuando en cuando": "El hombre, si no es que el nombre—Pueda a respeto obligar,—De en cuando en cuando ha de dar—Algunas señales de hombre" (Lope, "Mirad a quién alabáis", 2, 6); "Una vieja estaba al sol;—Y mirando un almanaque,—En cuando en cuando decía:—Ya va la luna menguante" ("Copla popular" en F. Caball., "Las ánimas", "Obr.", 1, 494).

Hoy se dice también "De vez en cuando": "Por extenderse (la Torre) demasiado en ciertas descripciones, llega también a cansar de vez en cuando" (Gil y Zárate, "Resumen histórico", p. 56).

"Cuando quiera"—en lo antiguo "cuando quier"—es un compuesto a la manera de "dondequiera", "cualquiera", "quienquiera"; por lo que debería escribirse en una sola palabra. Significa "en cualquier tiempo": "Eso no es cosa que pueda hacerse dondequiera y cuando quiera". A semejanza de "cualquiera", no se convierte en relativo sino acompañándose de "que"; así, para traducir el "quandocumque" latino, hay que decir "cuando quiera que". Usase unas veces con indicativo: "Cristo nace en nosotros, cuando quiera que nuestra alma . . . se convierte con fe, con amor, con dolor, a la misericordia de Dios" (León, "Nomb.", 3, "Hijo", 3, 317). Otras se usa con subjuntivo: "Y ello a la verdad es ansí, por doquiera y cuando quiera y en cualquiera que se considere la vida" (León, "Expos. de Job", 7, 1, 20). Alguna vez se halla en sentido condicional: "En este medio tiempo era lícito hacer alguna cosa de la ley, cuando quier que fuese útil para los fieles" (Sig., "Vida de S. Jer.", 5, 11). También se usa en sentido adversativo, según la Academia, que advertía en las ediciones anteriores del Diccionario que en lugar de "cuando", tomado en este sentido, se dice "cuando quiera que".

Para terminar con "cuando", juzgo de utilidad recordar los usos de esa voz cuando se combina con "cada", y a tal efecto, sigo poniendo a contribución la monumental obra del señor Cuervo. "Cada cuando" tiene el valor de "siempre que", "luego que", y se ha usado con algunas variaciones: "Cada cuando que" (raro): "No es otra cosa hacer testamento, sino una protestación de justicia, con que el hombre se apareja de dar a cada uno lo suyo, cada cuando que el tiempo determinado por Dios fuere cumplido" (Venegas, "Agonía", 2, 10).

"Cada y cuando que" es más frecuente: "Dice que cada y cuando que la señora Cornelia parezca, la recibirá como a su verdadera esposa" (Cerv., "Nov.", 10); "Dorotea consoló a Sancho Panza diciéndole que cada y cuando que pareciese haber sido verdad que su amo hubiese descabezado al gigante, le prometía, en viéndose pacífica en su reino, darle el mejor condado que en él hubiese" (Id., "Quij.", 1, 35); "Yo me acuerdo cuando muchacho que rebuznaba cada y cuando que se me antojaba, sin que nadie me fuese a la mano" (Id., "Ib.", 2, 27).

En la Plática siguiente ilustremos con ejemplos adicionales el uso de "cada cuando", y daremos fin al estudio del adverbio que nos ha venido ocupando.

CITY DOCKS HANDLE INCREASED TONNAGE

BROUGHER WILL GO TO OAKLAND

Pastor of Temple Baptist Church Resigns

Answers Call Extended by Northern Church

Speaking Tour Plans Not Affected by Move

Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, sixteen years pastor of Temple Baptist Church, presented his resignation at the service of the church yesterday morning, and will terminate his pastoral relation here April 30. He will go to the First Baptist Church of Oakland which extended a call to him a few days ago.

Dr. Brougher gave as the chief reason for leaving Los Angeles the necessity of being relieved from the excessive strain, which is inevitable in connection with the leadership of a church of 3500 members, maintaining a downtown preaching center and directing the multitudinous activities of a metropolitan congregation. He stated that within a few weeks seven of his intimate friends in the ministry who had broken down from overwork had brought home forcibly to him the necessity for caution lest he should suffer a like fate.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Brougher

The Oakland church, with a membership of 1300 and an auditorium holding 1600, presents an attractive opportunity for an influential ministry without the continued and excessive strain which he now bears as pastor of Temple Church, he said.

WILL GO ON TOUR

Dr. Brougher's plans for the next three months were made some weeks ago, and will not be affected by this new development. He plans to leave Los Angeles Friday to resume his campaign for the northern Baptist convention, and will complete a speaking tour in thirty-four States before his return home April 13 for his farewell with the Temple Church. In view of advice given him by physicians and the necessity for relief from his present responsibilities, it is unlikely that he will be induced to reconsider his decision. His letter of acceptance was read at the Oakland church at the same hour in which he presented his resignation to Temple Church.

Dr. Brougher has two sons in the ministry, both in the East, and two daughters, both married, and living in Los Angeles, Mrs. Walter Saint and Mrs. Norman Buist. Mrs. Brougher will remain here until Dr. Brougher completes his campaign in April.

His resignation, as read yesterday, is as follows:

"To the officers and members of Temple Church:

"Dear friends: I have given sixteen of the best years of my life to the ministry of Temple Baptist Church. Six years ago I was unanimously requested by you to decline two very important calls and remain as pastor for at least five years longer or until the church was assured a permanent future home. At the present time, as is known to you, the church, through a governing board, is assured a permanent home in this auditorium. At least 80 per cent of the

TO THE CHILDREN

As a fitting climax to its effort to add to the Christmas joys of the children of the Southland by bringing here all the way from Alaska a real team of real reindeer, The Times wishes today to announce the outright gift of these famous animals to the boys and girls of Southern California.

There are no strings on this holiday gift and with it go the very best wishes of The Times to the hundreds of thousands of children for whom the reindeer's visit has made gladder and more real the precious and wonderful spirit of Christmas. The Times and everyone connected with it have found a very real joy in the pleasure which the reindeer have given to these boys and girls. So far as may be, The Times wishes to make that pleasure permanent, so it is giving the deer to the little folks to be their own.

So that the reindeer will be well taken care of and at the same time be where the children can easily visit them, The Times has arranged with the Board of Supervisors to provide quarters for them in the splendid new Los Angeles County Park in the hills northeast of the city. There the county has more than 5000 acres of nearly virgin forest, easily accessible from the city and yet wild enough to make it an ideal home for forage animals. It has an elevation of more than 5000 feet and lots of snow and ice, which reindeer love, in the winter time. It never gets hot at all. A map and description showing how to get to this park will be published in the automobile section of next Sunday's Times.

There, under the great pine trees, Prancer and Dancer and Dunder and Blitzen and Dasher and Vixen will graze and play in ease and comfort for the rest of their natural lives. Except that, of course, they will probably want to be hitched up at Christmas time and draw a sleigh around to repay the visits which their owners, the children, will make to them in their new home in the great park.

The Times is frank to confess now that, when it originally planned to bring a team of reindeer from Alaska to make a merry Christmas for Los Angeles children, it had no conception of the tremendous popularity which these antlered strangers would enjoy. The first appearance of the team on the downtown streets of Los Angeles brought out a crowd conservatively estimated at 75,000—most of them children. For the three weeks during which the reindeer appeared daily in various Southern California localities with Santa Claus and the Eskimos their progress was a continuous triumphal procession through solidly packed lanes of happy children. In scores of places the reindeer brought out larger crowds than had any previous event of any kind.

Veteran circus men who have spent their lives scouring the globe for rare animals to attract and entertain visitors to their tented zoos watched with utter amazement the crowds that turned out to see The Times reindeer.

For, to the professional showman, reindeer have little value as a public attraction. No circus ever has any. Few zoos have ever had even one. They are not regarded as great rarities. Hence the astonishment of these professional "animal men" at the reception given the deer here. They could not account for it.

The Times can account for it. In the estimate of The Times, this was about the biggest and most convincing testimonial ever given to the power of sentiment as a factor in our daily lives. It was the visualization as a living reality of a Christmas legend dear to every human heart. For the first time, in this country at least, it literally made Santa Claus come true.

Sentiment rules the world. Beside it other motives and emotions count little as inspirations for human conduct. Next to self-preservation itself, it is the most powerful force that shapes the destinies of humankind. Sentiment has directed the paths of peoples from the dawn of history. It has throned and unthroned kings, made and destroyed nations and empires. It is all-pervading, all-controlling.

And the sentiment that lies in the minds and hearts of little children is the most powerful of all. To them is given the vision of things as they ought to be, of romance unspoiled of purity undefiled. The world of the child is a world unmarred by crass and sordid materialism. It is the sort of world we would all like to live in if we could. And because of that, we guard and cherish the illusions of childhood as long as we can. We protect their faith in the beautiful old nursery legends to the limit of our ability and we welcome anything that even momentarily halts the idol-breaking of a workaday world to support that effort.

From the outset, The Times has sedulously guarded the reindeer undertaking from the smallest taint of commercialism. It has sought nothing for itself out of it save the pleasure of giving pleasure to the children. And for the monetary outlay which the effort has involved The Times feels that that pleasure has been much more than repaid.

BUILDING RECORD FORECAST

City Construction During Present Year Estimated by Municipal Art Commission at $15,000,000

A public building program of $15,000,000, which will break all local records, is in prospect for 1926, it was learned yesterday from the Municipal Art Commission. The commission must approve all designs for public structures, by the provisions of the new charter, before construction is permitted. Miss Elizabeth Black, general manager of the commission, made the announcement, and included the $5,000,000 City Hall in the list. The plans for this structure are expected to be ready for the commission's judgment in March.

Bridges:

Various additional bridges are to be considered during this year, totaling an estimated valuation of nearly $2,500,000. Some of these are: First-street viaduct, $500,000; Glendale-Hyperion viaduct, $900,000; Riverside-Dayton bridge, $275,000; Fletcher Drive bridge, $250,000; Fourth and Lorena-street bridge, $200,000, and North Spring-street viaduct, $200,000.

Branch Public Libraries:

It is estimated that branch public libraries with an estimated cost of $300,000 will be considered. Among these are: Allessandro district, Eighteenth and Arlington, Wilmington branch, new Robert Louis Stevenson branch, new Wilshire branch, new Van Nuys branch, new Malabar branch and new Dayton branch.

Police Substations:

Among these is a police substation and Receiving Hospital for Georgia street, estimated to cost $230,000, and various other police substations estimated at $400,000 will probably be submitted.

Power Department Buildings:

Plans involving an outlay of approximately $580,000 are expected to be submitted. Among these are: An addition to Garvanza sub-station $50,000; changes and addition to Fourth street sub-station $50,000; new Boylston street sub-station, $120,000; new Irolo street substation, $100,000; new Eagle Rock sub-station, $25,000; new Sawtelle warehouse, $10,000; ad-

WATER PURITY RECORD HIGH

In answer to inquiries from eastern cities as to the purity of the Los Angeles municipal water supply, Chief Engineer Mulholland of the Bureau of Waterworks and Supply and builder of the Aqueduct has issued a statement showing the unsurpassed record of the city's water being free from disease-carrying bacteria and the constant efforts that are made to keep the city water pure. Chief Engineer Mulholland's statement follows:

"Los Angeles has enjoyed a uniformly pure water supply and one free from all forms of contamination since the days of the pueblo village down to the present time.

"One of the most convincing proofs of the accuracy of this statement is the fact that not a single case of water-borne typhoid has ever been found in Los Angeles. This is a record of which few American cities can boast.

"The Los Angeles water supply comes from two sources—the original Los Angeles River and from the Owens River and its tributary streams, the waters of which are brought to Los Angeles 250 miles by the municipally owned and operated Aqueduct.

"All water of the Los Angeles River source passes first through a natural filtration gallery under the river bed and there this water is completely filtered.

"The water from the Owens River comes from the melting snows of the Sierra Nevada mountains where little or no animal life is to contaminate the water.

"The water department, however, keeps a close watch of its water supply. Analyses constantly are being made throughout the system, including daily tests at the thirty reservoirs in which the water is stored. Also at each point where water enters our distributing system there are taps at which water samples are constantly being taken. All of these water samples are analyzed at our own municipal bureau laboratory under the supervision of an expert bacteriologist.

"Last week's analyses showed, as usual, the water at all points from which it was taken to be entirely free from disease-carrying bacteria.

"Every precaution is taken to protect the water supply from contamination. At numerous points throughout the distributing system there are purification stations where the water is being constantly analyzed, and should there be even any signs of possible contamination of water, the water at this point can be purified at once by chlorination and other accepted and approved methods before it reaches the consumers."

CORONER CALLS SCORE IN CRASH

Inquest Conducted Today in Pasadena Tragedy

Contractor Who Built Fateful Stand to Testify

City Officials Continue Effort to Fix Blame

With a score of witnesses scheduled to testify, an inquest over the bodies of those killed in the collapse of a street stand at Pasadena New Year's Day will be conducted at 9 a.m. today at the undertaking parlors of Reynolds & Eberle, Pasadena.

Coroner Nance yesterday declared that he would issue subpoenas for fifteen witnesses. Several more are expected to testify voluntarily.

Paul F. Mahoney, the contractor, who constructed the stand, has promised to be present at the inquest, Coroner Nance said. Representatives of the grand jury and the District Attorney's office also will be present.

TWO INQUESTS

Whether the Coroner's jury will be presented with enough evidence to directly fix the blame, those conducting investigations of the accident would not indicate last night. They intimated, however, that all of the facts would be laid before the jurors.

While the inquest was officially listed as over the body of Mrs. Bessie S. Barish of 524 North Berendo street, Los Angeles, it was stated at the Coroner's office yesterday that the one inquest will be made to serve for all of those killed in the tragedy.

In the case of Mrs. Caroline Sherman, 386 Carroll Park, Long Beach, who died from the shock of witnessing the falling of the stand, it was stated that a separate inquest will be conducted, as her death was not due directly to the accident.

While arrangements for the inquest were being made, investigations begun by various agencies, including Coroner Nance, the Pasadena city authorities, the District Attorney and the grand jury were continued yesterday. The principal efforts apparently were being made to locate witnesses and others whose testimony will be of value.

EXPECTS TO TESTIFY

Among the important witnesses expected to appear at the inquest are Pasadena Police Sergeant Roy Worrell, who reported that he had personally investigated the grand stand several days before the Tournament of Roses and declared it unsafe at that time; M. L. Hutchinson, building inspector of Monrovia, who is making an investigation of the causes of the accident for Coroner Nance; Chief of Police Kelley and city authorities of Pasadena, including A. C. Shaver, head of the building department, and a deputy that supposedly passed on the fitness of the grand stand's construction.

At the Pasadena hospitals last night it was reported that three or four more of the most seriously injured may yet die. Among those are two women, Mrs. Catherine Dobson of 523 North Berendo street, Los Angeles, and Mrs. E. C. Beckwith, 550 North Molino avenue, Pasadena.

Despite the findings of the Coroner's jury today, it is understood that the grand jury investigation will continue unabated. The grand jury reconvenes tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the new Hall of Justice, and it is expected at that time that the body as a whole will consider the results of both their own investigation and facts to be supplied them by the District Attorney's office.

RESCUERS THANKED

Gratitude to the hundreds of individuals whose unselfish service and cool-headed help made possible the remarkably speedy rescue work which was effected after the street stand collapsed was expressed by Chief of Police Kelley on behalf of the Pasadena force.

"If it had not been for the splendid co-operation rendered the police department by the public, the situation could not have been cleared up for many hours," he declared. "The conduct of our people on the entire line of parade was perfect, and if it had not been for this catastrophe, it would have been the most successful tournament we have ever held."

One of the most lasting impressions left in Pasadena after New Year's Day is the appreciation of the amazingly efficient aid rendered to the injured following the street stand collapse by the police officers of Pasadena and Los Angeles, the Pasadena fire department, hospitals and other agencies and hundreds of individual spectators.

The presence of mind of a dozen men in the high street stand across the street from the one that went down undoubtedly saved the lives of many. This stand had been characterized as unsafe by Detective Sergeant Beal in a report to Chief Kelley, and when the Mahoney stand fell, the crowd in the one across the street started to stampede it. A dozen men jumped to their feet and begged the spectators to remain seated. After a moment of hesitation, they heeded the pleas, and then after a few minutes began to file out slowly and cautiously.

TRIO BRAVE SEAS IN SMALL BOAT

Novelist, Daughter and Photographer Sail for New York

The Catboat Iris and Her Crew

W. Fred Kohler, the skipper; Miss Virginia Kohler, his daughter, and James Wallace.

THREE stout-hearted adventurers sailed from Los Angeles Harbor yesterday on what has all the earmarks of a foolhardy enterprise—bound for New York in a forty-four-year-old, twenty-six-foot catboat. They are W. Fred Kohler, novelist, his 20-year-old daughter, Virginia, and John Wallace, a photographer.

Their craft, the Iris, looked like nothing more than an overgrown butter-bean as she skated through the battle fleet yesterday morning before the freshening westerly. Her deck was only sixteen inches above her water line and astern the swells licked over her broad transom. Her single sail, a tiny gas engine and an eight-foot skiff are all that stand between the nervy trio aboard and disaster, but they do not lack confidence over the 5000 miles ahead of them.

Mr. Kohler started going to sea twenty-eight years ago, when he ran away from home to ship on a German bark and for the next twenty years he gathered experience on square-riggers around the world. He was mate of the famous American ship, Tillie E. Starbuck when she was driven on the rocks of Staten Land, off Cape Horn, and

FIRE HITS TOPANGA RESORT

Ten Beach Cottages and Bath-house Destroyed; Units from Three Towns Combat Blaze

A bath-house and ten beach cottages went up in flames and smoke at Topanga Beach yesterday, the fire threatening a long string of closely built but flimsy structures that line the water front between the Coast Highway and the ocean at the mouth of Topanga Canyon. No lives were lost, but four families were evicted from their homes by the fire and lost most of their belongings.

The fire started from an undiscovered cause in an unoccupied cottage belonging to D. B. Stewart and spread in both directions. On one side it involved a cottage owned by a Mr. Patelane, the bath-house, belonging to A. T. Stewart and a dancing pavilion next the bath-house. The pavilion was damaged but not destroyed. On the other side it took in turn cottages owned by Dr. Shauff, a Los Angeles dentist, Ivan Parker, Claud Parker, George Saunders, Ross Ewile, J. C. Casey, Mr. Hawks and Mr. Snodgrass.

The Snodgrass cottage was torn down by firemen after sparks had set it afire, and this action stayed

SLIGHT RAIN REPORTED IN SOUTHLAND

Showers Fall in Many Surrounding Localities; Los Angeles Forecast Fair

Rain fell in a number of places in Southern California yesterday.

The United States Weather Bureau's forecast last night for Los Angeles today was "Fair, with moderate temperature."

Showers occurred at Escondido intermittently during the day, yielding .31 of an inch. The seasoning's total is 7.7 inches; last year to corresponding date, 5.57 inches.

San Bernardino received a shower about 11 a. m. that yielded .04 of an inch of water. The afternoon was cloudy but clear skies prevailed last night. The season's rainfall there now is 4.85

NET SET FOR DOG POISONER

Two Canines Valued at $7500 Fall Victims to Arsenic Saturated Meat

A thorough police investigation into an epidemic of dog poisonings in the southwest part of the city was launched by Wilshire detectives when the toll of the mysterious dog poisoner yesterday was brought to eight within the past five weeks.

The latest victims were two German police dogs belonging to Tom O'Brien, film actor, of 2548 South Marvin avenue. He valued his dogs at $7500, he told the police. According to his report to Captain of Police Toomey, six other dogs in the same neighborhood have died from poisoning within the past five weeks, most of them being police dogs.

Alma Von Fredericksruke

THIRD DOG SAVED

A third dog in the same neighborhood was saved yesterday by the quick action of Dr. E. L. Gelwick, a veterinary surgeon, of 5715 West Adams street. This dog belonged to John Payne, 5603 Carlin street, whose home is only two blocks distant from O'Brien's.

O'Brien has engaged private detectives from the Nick Harris agency to assist the police in tracking down the dog poisoner.

Dr. Gelwick believes O'Brien's police dogs died from arsenic poisoning. The contents of the stomach of one of the dogs is to be sent to the city chemist for analysis. The dogs were given chopped round steak which was

DEPOT HEARING TOMORROW

Railroad Commission Will Reopen Session to Hear Complaints in Union Station Fight

Sitting here en banc, members of the State Railroad Commission tomorrow will reopen a public hearing on their previous order to the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Union Pacific railroads to construct a union terminal at the Plaza.

The commission is acting upon the finding of the Interstate Commerce Commission that public convenience and necessity require the erection of a union station in the Plaza area and apportionment of cost.

CONSIDER COMPLAINTS

Tomorrow the commission will be concerned largely with the complaints of the Municipal League and Central Development Association against the railroads. These complaints were the subject of a recent previous hearing of which tomorrow's session will be a continuance. For the first time the commissioners will consider tomorrow the complaint of W. H. Daum, who proposes that the terminal shall be constructed between Seventh and Ninth streets and Boyle avenue and the Los Angeles River.

The two civic organizations and the city, which will be represented by City Attorney Stephens, favor the Plaza site as the proper location.

All of the complaints declare that the union terminal is necessary to eliminate grade crossings and resulting accidents, to eliminate the difficulties of intercommunication between railroads, to break down the barriers of tracks now separating Hollenbeck Heights and East Los Angeles from the remainder of the city and to serve the best public convenience not only of Los Angeles but near-by cities.

The complaints also specifically request in connection with an order for the union terminal an order reclaiming Alameda and Alhambra avenues, a reorganization of trackage that would handle all lines over one unit instead of the three now running north and south and the location of the terminal in a place as accessible as possible to the main lines and interurban electric lines.

REVAMP OLD PLAN

The three steam lines and the Pacific Electric recently announced a counter-proposition, which was in effect a revival of the discarded Titcomb plan for elevated railways. The proposal was to keep the stations where they are, make some changes, including the erection of a new Santa Fe depot, and eliminate grade crossings by putting the tracks on stilts.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

MY MAIL is always filled with anxious inquiries—mostly from college girls—as to whether a newspaper career is good.

So I'll answer them all at once.

A GOOD CAREER

If I were to live my life over again, I think I would be a newspaper man again.

On the whole it is as satisfactory as any profession. There isn't any money in it and never can be. But there are other sources of satisfaction.

BEHIND THE SCENES

For one thing, you are always behind the scenes.

You always have the sense of sitting at a great pipe organ and pulling the stops that play the tune to which the world dances.

It is the opposite of fiction writing. In fiction, you take the materials and draw the picture on the clean canvas. In newspaper writing, the fun is to sit and wonder what is going to bob up next out of the rat hole.

There is no profession in the world in which there is so much dramatic suspense.

COMES FAST

The charm lies in the swiftness.

When I was a young reporter I got a great kick out of being sent to interview some one who had no enthusiasm for being interviewed.

I would see a strange woman coming into the room where I sat; and I would have to decide between the time she entered the door until she sat down whether she would fall most easily for candor, for gay indifference; for a direct and business-like approach, whether she wanted to be gabbled and gossiped to; or cross-examined like a witness.

One thing I learned was never to be too eager when interviewing women.

THE TEDIOUS SIDE

News reporting is the most fun.

Editing is all worry and no entertainment. It is like setting the props for the actors.

In fact, all the grand jobs you read about are rather tedious.

IN WASHINGTON

On two occasions I have been a Washington correspondent. Both times I was almost bored to death—listening to the long-winded wheezes from the stuffed shirts. It was all gabble and talk and conjecture.

IN WAR TIME

War corresponding sounds great but I didn't find it so.

You spend all your time and nerve force begging to be allowed to go to the front. At last they take you to some place on the battle line, where there is guaranteed to be nothing doing. And then, if you find anything, the censors will not let you send it.

PRIZE FIGHTS

The most entertainment I have ever had anywhere in my life has been as a prize-fight reporter.

A big fight is the most thrilling event to which it is possible to be a witness. I have been so excited at fights that I couldn't stand up; my legs trembled so they wouldn't support me.

ACTORS AND SUCH

Anyhow, I like fighters. Of all people with whom I have ever dealt, they are the most grateful and appreciative, and the least selfish.

The least grateful and most selfish are actors; then baseball players.

You could spend your life making them famous; then misspell their names and they would kill you on sight.

ACTING!

The only place I know in this world where people are really genuine is in a fight ring. Everywhere else in the world they are "acting."

Even when you see a sailor or a cowboy on the street, they always impress you with the fact that they are trying to act like story-book sailors and cowboys.

THE LID OFF

Another satisfaction about the newspaper business is that your work shows instant results. You slam it out on a typewriter; two hours afterward you read it on paper.

It is a job where life comes hot and strong — with the lid torn off.

SHRINE EDIFICE OPENING IS SET

New $2,500,000 Auditorium Dedication Announced

Occasion to be Gala Event of Midwinter Season

Ball and Stage Program to Feature Introduction

Featured by a ball in the pavilion and a premiere performance in the auditorium, Los Angeles' new $2,500,000 Shrine Auditorium on West Jefferson street, just west of Figueroa street, will be introduced to the public on the evening of the 23rd inst., according to announcement yesterday by Dave F. Smith, Chief Rabban of Al Malaikah Temple and general chairman in charge of the dedicatory program.

Present arrangements call for a dedication that will be one of the gala events of the midwinter season, and chairmen of the various subcommittees in charge were announced as follows: Show, Le Roy M. Edwards, Shrine director, assisted by Roy H. McCray, auditorium manager; grand ball, Sim W. Crabill; finance, Robert A. Heffner; reception, William P. Jeffries; public officials, Kenneth H. Gillette, and public relations, Russell N. Lockwood.

According to tentative plans, Mr. Smith said the buildings would be open for inspection about 7 p.m., on the 23rd inst., and that the premiere performance would be staged in the auditorium about 8 p.m. The grand ball in the pavilion is to start at 10 p.m., thus giving visitors an opportunity to witness each phase of the dedication.

A full city block is occupied by the Shrine Auditorium and pavilion. The auditorium proper has a seating capacity of 6442 persons, and the stage, said to be four times larger than any other in Los Angeles, covers 13,800 square feet of floor space. The pavilion, which measures 150x250 feet, has 36,000 square feet on the main floor, giving ample room for 5200 persons to dine at one time. The mezzanine floor of the pavilion has 25,000 square feet of space and the basement 40,000 square feet, according to the builders.

OFFICERS SEEK DOG POISONER

suspended on thread from the top of a six-foot fence at the rear of O'Brien's home, according to police. Particles of thread were found in the dog's stomach.

The dog belonging to Payne showed symptoms of arsenic poisoning, Dr. Gelwick said.

Detectives assigned to investigate by Captain of Detectives Kallmeyer of the Wilshire Division yesterday began a check of the drug stores and meat markets in the neighborhood in an effort to establish the identity of the person or persons responsible for the poisoning of the dogs. Footprints found by O'Brien near his fence and at the spot where he found some thread may aid in bringing about an arrest, the police said.

One of O'Brien's dogs was Alma Von Fredericksruhe, which had captured prizes both here and in New York, and which he prized highly. The other was a puppy, Arno Von Fredericksruhe, also of champion stock. Alma died in his master's arms. The puppy took refuge in the garage, where he died a short time later.

APPROPRIATE

Capt. E. G. Fairholme, secretary of the British Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, recently went to Spain to form a Spanish branch of the organization. At Barcelona, after obtaining the support of the local people and establishing a council, he called together the officials of the new organization and inquired the best way to raise funds for its maintenance. He was surprised when their unanimous answer came, "A bull fight, of course."—[Exchange.

WOMAN KILLED IN TRAFFIC

Matron, Run Down at Street Crossing, Dies in Ambulance on Way to Hospital

One woman was killed and a boy injured, perhaps fatally, in traffic accidents yesterday. The dead woman is Mrs. Eline Ferchand, 64 years of age, of 6429 South Hoover street.

According to the accident report turned in at detective headquarters, Mrs. Berchand was crossing Hoover street at the intersection of Slauson avenue when struck by an automobile driven by Alfred C. Alves of 122 Mayflower avenue, Bell. Alves was not held.

Mrs. Ferchand was rushed to the Receiving Hospital, but was dead upon arrival, police surgeons reported.

Dale Thomas, 8, of 232 Galena street, suffered shock and internal injuries when struck by a machine, driven by Joaquin King, 1241 West Seventh street, at the intersection of Sixth and Burlington streets.

The youth's condition is serious, according to Police Surgeon Samaniego. The driver of the car was not held.

inches, which is .04 more than last year to corresponding date.

Six inches of snow in the mountains back of San Bernardino was reported last night by Arrowhead Lodge.

Redlands got .06 of an inch from showers between 8 and 10 a. m., making the season's total 5.84 inches, about an inch more than last year to date.

Riverside and Santa Ana reported cloudy in the afternoon but clear skies last night.

One little shower that hardly wet the street pavements fell in El Centro in the afternoon. A little more rain was reported at Heber, a few miles south of El Centro and at Calexico. Heavier showers were said to have fallen in the desert toward Seely.

San Diego received a bare trace of rain in the afternoon but more fell in the outskirts, such as Lemon Grove, and rain was reported at Ramona, La Mesa, Alpine, Bostonia and in the back country. Clouds last night gave some promise of more rain there.

WAR MOTHERS MEET FRIDAY

The first regular meeting of the recently organized War Mothers' Kensington will be conducted Friday at 10 a.m., at the home of the president, Mrs. Lillian Bateman of 5022 South Denker avenue, she announced yesterday. The sewing club was organized by Mrs. Ida Baker, president of the local chapter of the American War Mothers. The meeting was called to begin preparations for an eastern bazaar.

wrecked twenty years ago and later sailed on such famous windbags as the W. H. Macy and James Tufts. He has written fifteen published novels and his latest, "The Successors," will be completed en route to New York.

The Iris, which is the only true catboat on the Pacific Coast, is likewise probably the most famous craft of her tribe ever built. She was constructed at Buzzard's Bay, Massachusetts, back in 1881 by Thomas Hanley and earned a great name for herself in Atlantic-coast races. In 1907, when she was already an old boat, the Iris, then owned by Commodore Clinton H. Crane of the New York Yacht Club, participated in thirty-one races, fourteen of which she won. She cruised up and down the Atlantic coast for many years and was brought to California three years ago.

The old catboat, with her single mast stepped only a few inches abaft her stem, is twenty-six feet long, with a beam of twelve feet and loaded has a draft of three feet with a minimum freeboard of only sixteen inches. She has an outboard, "barn door" rudder and a very wide transom stern, on which have been attached a pair of davits from which hang a tiny skiff—the crew's lifeboat. In her palmy days the Iris hoisted more than 1100 feet of sail but on this cruise her mainsail will measure but 800 feet.

Mr. Kohler expects to reach the Panama Canal by March 1, stopping at Mexican and Central American west coast ports en route and following the coast line to escape the seasonal gales now due in the South Pacific. The Iris is equipped with a United States navy radio receiving set and with it her skipper expects nightly to receive the time signal and weather report from KHJ.

From Panama the Iris will push northward along the east coast of Central America to the Yucatan Peninsula when she will head across the Caribbean Sea to Havana and thence up to Florida.

CITY BUILDING TO SET RECORD

dition to San Pedro sub-station $25,000; new Glassell Park sub-station, $100,000; and Manchester switching station, $100,000.

New City Hall:

It is expected that plans for this building will be submitted in the near future. The estimated cost is $5,000,000.

Ornamental Street Lighting Standards:

It is estimated that approximately $6,000,000 in street lighting standards will be approved this year.

Park Buildings:

Various park buildings with an estimated valuation of $45,250 are proposed. Among these are: New nursery for Griffith Park, $15,000; clubhouse, Exposition Park, $8500; new bandstand, etc., Hollenbeck Park, $5250; and Conservatory changes, etc., Lincoln Park, $6500.

Playground Buildings:

Some of the structures proposed are: Bath-house and swimming pool, Griffith Park Playground, $75,000; bath-house and swimming pool, Twenty-second street and Central avenue, $25,000; and Pecan-street field house, $5000.

The foregoing plans represent a total estimate of more than $15,000,000. This estimate covers the building construction only.

MAINE MAN HONORED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ORONO (Me.) Jan. 3.—Charles H. Merchant, professor of agriculture here at the college of agriculture, has been appointed chairman of the committee on city markets, in the National Association of Marketing Officials. This is a position formerly held by J. E. Boyle, professor of agricultural economics at Cornell University. Prof. Merchant has served on the committee for three years. As chairman of the city markets committee Mr. Merchant will have charge of gathering the information on city markets throughout the country.

the further progress of the flames, saving a score or more of similar structures.

A report to the Sheriff's office, as the beach is located in the county, brought county fire-fighting units from Belvedere Gardens and from Sawtelle, and the city departments at Santa Monica and Sawtelle also sent firemen. Because of lack of water the firemen found axes and pinchbars their best fire-fighting weapons.

The cottages of Ivan Parker, George Saunders, Ross Eville and Snodgrass were the ones occupied, and their residents swarmed out into the chilly air—it was shortly after 2 a.m. when the fire was discovered—very scantily clad.

The Topanga Beach property has been a subject of controversy between Archie Cooper, owner of Cooper's ranch, and a trust company which sold Cooper his ranch, both claiming the right to collect land rents from the cottage owners.

stock is owned by the Governing Board, and there are pledges in force sufficient to purchase the remaining stock when it is available. I have therefore fulfilled my part in the agreement made six years ago.

"About one year ago I was warned by my physicians that I had to give more consideration to my health and not plan my work on such a strenuous basis. Recently I have again been warned by two medical specialists that I must unload some of my present burdens for the sake of my future usefulness. During my recent tour in the East I met seven intimate friends in the ministry who had been doing a great work for God but who broke down from overwork; and these friends have urgently advised me to heed the admonition of my physicians and relinquish some of my heavy burdens.

OFFER OPPORTUNE

"Just at this time I have been presented with an unusual opportunity for the continuance of an active ministry under less exacting conditions than I now face. It would seem that the First Baptist Church of Oakland has been led of the Lord to offer me a hearty and unanimous call to become their pastor. This church is one of the most important on the Pacific Coast, with an adequate building seating 1600, and a membership of 1300. The constant strain involved in holding a great Sunday night audience as here, will be largely removed. A staff of assistants sufficient to care for the work is assured; and if I am to change my location at all, the First Baptist Church of Oakland presents the most satisfactory condition involved in any field offered me in several years past.

"Recently I have declined offers of calls to two important eastern churches whose problems were no less exacting than those of Temple Church. Moreover, Mrs. Brougher and I have spent thirty years of our lives on the Pacific Coast and do not feel that we could endure the strenuous climate of the East. We belong to the West and in a special way to California. Mrs. Brougher and I both were converted and baptized in Oakland. We both received our entire education, grammar and college, there. We shall be continuing our ministry among old friends as well as making new ones.

"Temple Church, with its future secure, its finances in good condition, its departments well organized, and its leadership unsurpassed by any church in America, is in the very best possible condition to undergo a change of pastors. I believe that after sixteen years, there would be a real gain for the church from a new man with a new voice and new methods.

"I therefore present my resignation to take effect April 30, 1926, the time fixed in conference with officers and other leaders of the church. I will ask the church to take action upon this resignation next Wednesday night. I love you all and I expect to love you all while on earth. I am glad that I shall still be near enough to see you from time to time.

[Signed]

"J. WHITCOMB BROUGHER."

FOUR END LIVES BY OWN HANDS

District Hit by Epidemic of Fatalities

Strangulation, Hanging and Gas Means Used

Another Found Dead With Murder Suspected

There were three suicides yesterday in Los Angeles and one in Long Beach, while a fourth death, in the foothills above Pasadena, was listed as probably suicide though some circumstances indicated it might have been murder. All the dead were men. Self-garroting, gas and hanging were the methods employed in the local cases; the Long Beach and Pasadena men died from gunshot wounds.

Laurence S. Luck, about 25 years of age, of 1825 East Florence avenue, was found dead in a garage at 330 East Ninth street, a rope twisted about his neck. An odor indicated he might have taken poison. Luck, according to Deputy Sheriffs Powell and Roman, apparently was despondent because of separation from his wife, who lives at 4057 South Main street and who left him two months ago. She told the officers Luck came to see her seeking reconciliation ecember 27 and she refused to make up

GOOD-BY NOTE

"Good-by, you'll find my body in the garage," were his parting words, according to the version of her story given by the officers. Mrs. Luck said he had made such threats before and she did not think him serious. Neighbors found his body in the garage. It was sent to the undertaking rooms of Lynch and DuB[illegible].

Emil Anderson, 50 years of age, a cook, ended his life in a rooming house at 907 South Maple avenue, by inhaling illuminating gas fumes, Detective Lieutenant Craig of the police homicide squad reported.

Discovery of the body was made by the proprietor of the rooming-house early yesterday, who was led to the room by patrons of the place who detected gas fumes. Police said Anderson was regularly employed as a cook in Ventura and that he had an uncle and aunt living in Long Beach. The body was removed to the Washington Undertaking Parlors.

The body of John Lourett, 66, 4258 Van Buren Place, was found hanging from the rafters of the garage by the dead man's son, Elmer, yesterday morning. Police investigated the case but were unable to come to any conclusion as to why Lourett chose to take his own life. The Meade Undertaking Company took charge of the body.

Deputy sheriffs will go to a deserted canyon near Mt. Lowe today to recover the body of a young man, the victim of a gunshot wound in the head, which was discovered by three Polytechnic High School boys and reported to the Sheriff's office yesterday.

The body was found lying upon its back in a shallow grave, a bullet hole through the temple and a .45-caliber Colt's pistol on the chest, the trigger gripped by the fingers of the right hand. No effort was made to secure the body last night, as the spot was reported as being inaccessible by night and reached with difficulty in daytime.

The description of the body was that of a young man, 18 to 20 years of age, with brown hair, wearing brown trousers, black silk socks with a small white stripe, and a white shirt with a small red stripe, open at the throat. There were no shoes, hat or coat. The fact that the shoes were missing led officers to believe that the death might not be due to suicide, as appearance indicated. The body apparently had been there for two months, the boys stated.

The report was made by Albert Bertes of 352½ North Dillon street, Perry Booth, 1515 South Crenshaw Boulevard, and Jess Wilder, 1526 South Van Ness avenue. They are members of the Western Rangers and were upon a hike when they came upon the grewsome find. They will lead deputies from Capt. Bright's homicide squad today to the point where they located the body.

KILLS SELF WHEN GIRD HE LOVES WEDS ANOTHER

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 3.—The discovery that the girl he loved had married another led Seloner O. Boe, 28 years of age, of 1610 West State street, to take his life today. Saturday night, when he heard the news of Miss Marion Scharf's wedding, then forty-eight hours old, to Thomas H. Harris, he slugged her father, W. C. Scharf, and slapped her sister, Miss Margery Scharf.

When told of his suicide, Mrs. Harris swooned. Recovering, she told detectives she met Boe at a dance three months ago and he had annoyed her with his attentions ever since, though she had given him no encouragement. She had been engaged to Harris for a year, she said.

Boe left a note, dated Saturday evening and addressed to Mrs. Harris by her maiden name, saying he must know her answer because he loved her. It carried a postscript, dated today, which informed her he had learned it was too late and he hoped she would forgive him. He shot himself through the heart sometime in the afternoon, during the absence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Boe. They found his body on their return.

Police learned he called at the Scharf home, 1022 Salt Lake street, presumably to deliver the note, and made several efforts to see the object of his affection. Ordered away at last by her father and sister, he struck both, knocking out two of the father's teeth. Besides his parents, Boe leaves a brother, City Fireman Arnold Boe.

Not Profitable

National Commander Drain said in an Omaha interview during the American Legion's convention:

"The affairs of our war veterans are being splendidly administered now. In the past there were few men—a very few men, thank goodness—who handled the veterans' funds in a way that—well, in a way that reminds me of the collection story.

" 'Three of our church collectors,' said a deacon, 'had to resign because they were caught helping themselves out of the collection plate; so then we got a new collector, a one-armed chap, but he quit us, too, last week—said he couldn't make it pay.' "—[Exchange.

COST OF RULING CITY INCREASES

Expenses This Year to Total Twenty Millions

Budget More Than Doubled in Five Years

Police Department Alone Gets $766,181 Additional

The constantly increasing expense of the city government to meet the needs of growing Los Angeles was strikingly shown in the annual report of Controller Myers which has just been completed and will be printed and issued to the public within the next ten days. The expense of the city government will this year be $20,000,000, as compared with $[illegible] last year and only $[illegible] in 1921.

The Controller's report answers for the public the question of what becomes of the taxes paid in and the bond issues voted, and shows that from these funds there was provided money for this year's municipal pay roll of $16,000,000, and also that the property of the city government was increased $[illegible] during the fiscal year ending June 30, last. This includes police and fire stations, additions to the water, power and harbor department facilities, steam rollers and similar equipment for the engineering department. The total value of the city's property of all kinds on July 1, last, was $[illegible] as compared with $[illegible] worth of property only fourteen years ago.

During the fiscal year which closed June 30, the Controller's books showed that the city government transacted business amounting to $155,831,000 as compared with $103,021,000 during the preceding year.

The constantly increasing expense of rendering governmental service to the growing Los Angeles was shown in the report by the fact that the police department, which required during the 1924-1925 fiscal year a total of $[illegible], will this fiscal year receive $5,307,181; the fire department, which last year received $[illegible], will this year receive $[illegible]; the engineering department which last year received $[illegible] will this year receive $[illegible], due to the immense public improvement program which has been under way in Los Angeles for the past few years and promises this year to again show a tremendous increase.

Taxes to meet the city's additional requirements continue to increase in amount, though the actual tax rate is lower, due to the increased property valuation. The report shows that while the assessed property valuation was last year $1,374,750,565, this year it is $1,467,282,935.

REUNION OF COUPLE MAY STOP TRIAL

Attorneys for Woman Accused of Throwing Acid Seek Reconciliation

If the efforts of attorneys for Mrs. Auleen Hartz are successful, a reconciliation may take the place of her trial on charges of throwing acid at her husband, Elmer Hartz. That was revealed by negotiations pending Mrs Hartz's arraignment before Judge Keetch today.

Mrs. Hartz, arrested after a cup of acid was hurled in her husband's face, is said to have confessed throwing the acid because her husband had left her and would not return. Her husband testified against her at the preliminary hearing and told of several requests for a reconciliation and of her final attempt to induce him to return to her.

If a reconciliation takes place between husband and wife it will mean that the case must be dismissed for the State cannot force Hartz to testify against his wife. The acid throwing happened outside the bank where Hartz worked on November 30.

NEWSBOYS SHOW APPRECIATION

Fire Chief's Wife Made Gift of Shawl

Mrs. Scott, Willie Mitnick and Chief Scott

A CHINESE shawl, purchased with the penny offerings of the newsboys of Los Angeles, is now the proud possession of Mrs. Ralph Scott, wife of the Los Angeles fire chief.

Because of the activity of the chief and his aides at the recent newsboys' Christmas dinner, given by Fred H. Solomon, and because of the fact that the fire department has accepted a trust fund to sponsor the annual event perpetually, the newsies decided to honor the chief by making his wife a handsome present.

Little Willie Mitnick, president of the Newsboys' Club, made the official presentation in the offices of Chief Scott. Mrs. Scott graciously received the present, with tears in her eyes, at the thought of so many little hearts having beaten with gratitude.

HARDER TO FACE TRIAL JURY TODAY

Resumption of Testimony in Murder Case Scheduled After Long Interruption

The trial of Leland Harder, continued from the time the jury was selected before Judge Keetch several weeks ago, will be resumed today for the taking of testimony. Harder is charged with murder in the shooting of J. W. Suther after forcing an admission from Mrs. Harder that she had been intimate with Suther.

The trial was begun several weeks ago but when the jury was completed it was found that several of the State's witnesses were ill and could not appear. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello, prosecuting the case, asked for a continuance and Atty. H. C. Huntington made no objection.

Testimony of witnesses to the shooting, which took place in front of Suther's home, will be the first given today in court. The defense may then attempt to plead the unwritten law in extenuation. It is understood that Mrs. Harder has admitted her willingness to testify.

RECOMMENDS STORM DRAIN

City Engineer Shaw has recommended to the City Council that the city appropriate $3400 toward the construction of a storm drain in East Ninth street from Rio Vista street to the Los Angeles River to dispose of the storm waters which now flow down Ninth street since the improvement of Boyle avenue and the lowered grade of Ninth street east of the new viaduct.

Help That Aching Back!

It May Be a Warning of Weakened Kidneys!

LIFE is dreary when one suffers constant backache, feels lame and stiff, always tired and listless. Often this is due to inactive kidneys, and can be remedied by restoring normal activity. If your kidneys are sluggish, try Doan's Pills. Doan's are recommended the world over. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Los Angeles Proof:

Mrs. L. De Anda, 2828 Darwin Ave., says: "My back was lame and weak and I could hardly get up or down. Sharp pains settled over my kidneys. I felt tired and languid and dizzy spells got to be a common occurrence. My kidneys didn't act right either, so I got Doan's Pills at the Owl Drug Co. They gave me a permanent cure."

Stage Venus to Give Lecture on Aids to Health

Olive Ann Alcorn, exponent of "beauty sculpture" and known as one of the most perfectly formed girls in America, will describe short cuts to health and beauty in a special free matinee for women only at the Hillstreet Theater Wednesday at 11 o'clock. She will explain how girls and women who work may, by a few minutes' simple breathing and other exercises, put color of the permanent variety in their cheeks and added health in their bodies.

Miss Alcorn declares that her system is not physical culture, nor is its purpose muscle building. It is intended for both men and women who have neither the time nor endurance for the more strenuous physical culture exercise generally prescribed.

"It isn't strenuous," she said yesterday, "yet it should be practiced faithfully before one indulges in strenuous exercise and strenuous games."

The matinee will last about forty-five minutes.

Hospital to Aid Drug and Liquor Addicts Forming

With the intention of acquiring a hospital for the treatment of narcotic and alcohol addicts, the Coast Institute for the Treatment of Addiction to Habit-Forming Poisons, has filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State. A nonprofit-sharing organization is said to be planned.

Addicts without means are to be given free treatment, and graduate physicians and nurses are to be trained in modern methods of curing liquor and drug habits.

The following are named as incorporators: Dr. Aaron J. Rosanoff, psychiatrist, Charles W. Fricke, chief trial deputy of the District Attorney's office; George W. Babcock, general manager of the Community Chest; Dr. Herman E. Schorr, narcotic specialist; Henry Cohen, attorney, and Dr. William J. Poll, a physician.

Dr. Schorr is to be medical director of the proposed sanatorium.

Loss Sharpens Bank Cashier's Memory Power

Recognized by E. P. Hewitt, manager of the United States National Bank branch office at Avenue 26 and Pasadena avenue, as the man who last November passed a bad check on the bank, John Sloan, 19 years of age, was placed under arrest after he had fled from the bank and was caught after a block's chase by Officer Rouson.

When arrested Sloan is asserted to have had a check for $74 in his possession. Police believe the check is signed with a fictitious name.

The youth was booked on a charge of suspicion of forgery.

COMMITTEE TO TAKE CARE OF FOREIGNERS

William C. Prout of Boston, ex-president of the A.A.U., will head a committee of the amateur organization to look after the welfare of foreign performers during their visit to this country. For one thing, the man who is to be hanged next week doesn't have to worry much over what Congreses will do.

ON THE LINKS

They say that golf balls are to cost a dime more than last year. This adds another hazard to the course of contentment. Another bug in the honey.

HUNTING AT HOME

No need of envying those wealthy sportsmen who can go to Africa to hunt big game. Right in the heart of all big cities many are busy keeping the wolf from the door.

PERCENTAGE COLUMN

The bock-beer season is reported as already on in Berlin. The beer is mentioned as being all prewar stuff carrying 16 per cent of alcohol. Some of the members of the American army of occupation are ready to go right back now.

SEVENTY MILES A DAY

Thirty years ago a Washington man promised himself that on each birthday he would walk as many miles as he had years to his credit. Now that he is 71 years of age he has to get up early to do his stunt. He rather hopes that he will not live to be as old as Methuselah.

NOT TO BE OBEYED

An Englishwoman advertises in a daily paper her repudiation of the promise to love, honor and obey her husband. She intimates that at the time it was made she was in a fog. The husband turns out not to be worth honoring and she positively refuses to obey him. This seems a very easy way to serve notice of the changed relations upon the neighborhood.

PERILS OF HUSBANDRY

An Indiana judge declined to interfere in the case of a wife who horsewhipped her husband for going with another woman. This may make it hard on wandering males. If the wife may slug the husband without any protection of the court it may call for action on the part of the League of Nations. How about the self-determination of small peoples?

A NEW YARN

This is not a new kind of sailor's tale, but a new fabric having all the shimmery coloration of silk and the soft, warm feel of lamb's wool. It is made from the waste products of the artificial silk industry, principally wood pulp. The process is being promoted by the United States Department of Agriculture. If the sheep should go on a strike there seems to be no reason now why we should not go wool-gathering in the woods.

SAWDUST AS FEED

Cattle eat the tender tops of young trees, as every farmer knows, particularly lazy farmers who have turned cows into young orchards to mow the grass. Since cattle eat wood, why should they not be trained to eat sawdust? That is a question a young genius in the United States Forest Products Laboratory has been asking himself. He has finally found a way to treat the sawdust so as to make it yield as many cow calories as oats, but he has not yet learned how to make the cows eat it. The cereal manufacturers could probably give him a few pointers.

SEEKING THE TRUTH

The editor of Science Service insists also that there is no conflict between science and religion. They have a common cause against a common fault. They must cope with the rusty armor of mass psychology. Both seek the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. But it is noted all through history that new ideas and the truth often must make their way into the common mind in disguise. The truth must turn burglar to gain admission to some hearts and minds. There is a vast prejudice to overcome and religion and science may confidently join hands to spread the gospel of right.

MONEY LOST

Last year American investors placed nearly $1,000,000,000 in worthless securities. In other words, they virtually threw their money away. All this in spite of the laws in many States to prohibit irresponsible companies from selling stock. The head of the Investment Bankers' Association says that millions of Americans are afflicted with economic illiteracy. They read and write nicely, but when it comes to finance they are dumb. They are apt to fall for the first proposition put up to them. If a man has the sniffles he may run to a doctor, but, on the other hand, he may toss $1000 into a rat-hole without ever consulting a financial expert. It is at least a good idea to mention your proposed investments to your banker. If he knows them to be bad he can sound a warning, even if you do not care to have him in your counsel. As a general proposition it is not good finance to place all the eggs in one basket.

A BOLSHEVIK CONFESSION

Modern historians refuse to give credence to the legend of the atrocities of Emperor Nero, holding that they are contrary to the nature either of humans or beasts, and are probably fictions. But what answer will they make to the semi-official report of the murder of former Czar Nicholas, his wife, their five children and four attendants at Ekaterinburg on the night of July 16 "on official orders from Moscow?"

The details were published on Dec. 28 by the Leningrad Krasny Gazette, a soviet publication whose articles must receive the approval of the Bolshevist censor before they can appear. Full details are given, including the names of the soviet officials who carried out the written instructions received from the Supreme Council of the soviets and countersigned by Lenin.

For two years after the murders had been committed both Lenin and Trotzky denied that the life of the Czar and the Czarina had been taken. The soviet commissioners sought for five years to conceal the facts from the Russian peasants, fearing an outburst of righteous indignation that might take the form of a revolt and accomplish the downfall of the soviets. But the result of this policy was that the peasants continued to believe that the members of the royal family were still alive, and, preferring conditions under the Czar to those from which they are now suffering, movements have been recently started in different parts of Russia having for their purpose a royal restoration.

So the soviet leaders concluded to permit the publication in Russia of the horrible details of a crime that for atrocity is without parallel. Its ferocity cannot be adequately characterized, for the words of all modern languages were coined before humanity anywhere had reached the depths of depravity attained by Lenin, Trotzky and their bloody confederates.

Monarchs have been dethroned before, and at times assassinated without the formality of a legal trial. They have been imprisoned, have been tortured. But these acts have generally occurred in a time of supreme passion. Dictators of antiquity killed adversaries who had fought against them in the open field and had caused the death of hundreds or thousands of their followers. But the Czar had never led an army against the Bolsheviks. They had not fought against him. They received him and his family as prisoners from the Kerensky regime. He had never violated a single decree of the soviets.

And what had those five children, not one of whom had reached maturity, done? What had those four attendants assigned to the royal family by the soviets themselves done? Their innocence was the only crime. They had done nothing for which they could be legally condemned; but to Lenin and Trotzky they appeared dangerous to their personal ambitions. They feared the blood of the Romanoffs. Their cowardice was more debasing than that of the coyote and the jackal. Their names will live in history as awful examples of human depravity centuries after Bolshevism is overthrown and remains only as a dreadful memory.

For six years Bolshevist propagandists have asserted that the Czar and his family were destroyed by ignorant fanatics, that Lenin and Trotzky did not connive in their murder, but were trying to save them. But now the revolting truth has been told. The murder of the whole royal family, without any form of trial, was decided on in the secret council of the soviets. Commissioner Wykoff, now Soviet Ambassador to Warsaw, superintended the pretended "execution." His justification is that he was a member of the soviet government and that it was his duty to follow official orders from the soviet council.

Not only did these orders direct the killing, they directed him to destroy the bodies and all evidences of what had taken place. The "execution" must be kept secret. The report must be spread that the royal family had been moved to another part of Russia.

And this is Bolshevism! This is the dictatorship of the proletariat! There is no record that Nero, Caligula or any barbarian chief or potentate ever pursued his political enemies with such heartless malignancy. Lenin, Trotzky and their confederates were the very antithesis of patriots. They have never given evidence of a single patriotic impulse. They were criminal conspirators. No black-hand vendetta was ever so ruthless.

When the Roman senators stabbed Caesar they appeared in the open, on the steps of the Capitol; and their vengeance did not extend to the members of his family. The rabble of Paris in the bloodiest days of the French Revolution was not so wholly without conscience and without heart. For one must remember that Lenin and Trotzky deliberated for months over these murders, that they worked out in cold blood all the particulars, including the disposal of the bodies, in order to avoid detection.

The actions of these arch-conspirators were those of child-abductors who murder the innocent victim to cover traces of their crime. The soviet commissioners were great only in cowardice. They feared not the written law, for they themselves were the law in Russia; but they feared the moral law, the unwritten code of all peoples. Such grovelling cowardice awakes a loathing stronger than contempt, a feeling of revulsion deeper than disgust. The only thinkable parallel is that of Herod ordering the slaying of all the children of tender age in the Province of Judea.

Can anyone honestly imagine that men possessed of such base, criminal instincts, such moral idiots, could found a government based on justice and conducive to human weal and human happiness? Little wonder that they have denied the existence of a living God. Little wonder that they proclaim their unbelief in a future life. Little wonder that they describe the practice of public morals as a public farce, and dub honor "a bourgeois prejudice."

The details of the murder of the Russian royal family prove clearly that Lenin and Trotzky were simply men with instincts lower than those of the brute; that they were successful criminals. Nicholas was no longer Czar; he was a husband and father, just a human being, like hundreds of millions of others. His children had never committed a crime against the state or against society. They were innocent victims of still more bloody conspirators than those who murdered the two princes centuries ago in the Tower of London.

Yet there are those who would make of Lenin a saint, a great spiritual leader; who would hold that clear water could flow from so polluted a source. But their numbers are constantly less; and will continue to decrease as the horrible details of Bolshevist atrocities become more generally known.

In Russia in 1918 the leaders of the soviets wrote the most villainous page in either ancient or modern history.

THE PURE RACE LEGEND

Less than fifty years ago the English-speaking peoples were fond of calling themselves Anglo-Saxons. Today the term rarely is used. It has been going out of fashion from decade to decade. Politicians here and overseas no longer brag about the Anglo-Saxon nations and the Anglo-Saxon civilization. The Britisher of Dickens's time was taught to believe that everything essentially strong in the national character of England came from the Anglo-Saxon blood in the people of that country. It also was esteemed by our anthropologists to be the source of the stalwart quality of American manhood. But now even the professorial mind rejects the theory of the superiority of this once highly esteemed racial element. The Anglo-Saxon is losing caste.

Of course, the loss is purely academic. The great Anglo-Saxon cult was built up by professorial theorizing and now it is being torn down by the hands that created it. Purity of race, whether it be that of the Anglo-Saxon, the Roman or the Slav, does not make for national superiority. If it did America, the melting pot of nations, would not be the amazingly strong and valiant nation it is today. In attacking what he called "the formidable doctrine of race" Emerson said, "Though we flatter the self-love of men and nations by the legend of pure races, all our experience is of the gradation and resolution of races. Navigation, as effecting a world-wide mixture, is the most potent advancer of nations."

Nor is race purity essentially productive of race morality. The Egyptians of Bible times were of a pure strain, yet they were notoriously immoral, as also were the pure-blooded Assyrians. The historic Anglo-Saxon cannot boast of his freedom from cruelty or other vicious traits. Saxon pirates roved, ravished and plundered without restraint for centuries, and the Angles were not above unwarranted conquest and massacre.

Coming down to modern times the chief factors of the greatest war in all history was waged between different factors of the Teutonic group from which sprung the Anglo-Saxons. That war did more than anything else to make the term "Anglo-Saxon" go out of fashion. "Whatever life remained in the old faith of the supremacy of Saxon and Teuton," says a writer in the London Telegraph, "was killed by the war." And he might have added that whatever credit is due for the termination of that war should go to a nation that does not in this day boast of its Anglo-Saxonism, but whose blood is a mixture of that of many races.

The question may well be asked, why should any country plume itself upon its racial purity? Biological evolution sets at naught the boast of pure descent. The lowest animal organizations are crude and simple, the highest are the most complex. The composite character of the American of today has been his greatest source of strength. Everything American is a fusion of distant and, in many cases, antagonistic elements. This has kept us out of the groove of dead conservatism, has given us ideas and ideals that have led the world and subdued its unholy strife.

COAST AIRPLANE MAIL

Direct airplane mail service between Los Angeles and northern coast cities is now assured. This is something for which our enterprising merchants and others who appreciate quick dispatch of postal communications will be truly grateful. The bid of Vern C. Gorst of North Bend, Or., for carrying the mails for 75 per cent of the postage has been accepted by the government. A contract will be signed within a month and service is to be commenced as soon as possible. An air transport corporation is being organized by Mr. Gorst in San Francisco and is expected to be in shape to enter the postal field in April. Los Angeles is assured that it will not be long after the beginning of this service before the still more important one which shall connect us by air route with Chicago and New York will be in operation.

When one reflects that less than three-quarters of a century ago it took three months for a letter to get from Los Angeles to New York and that soon only two days will be required a feeeling of awe for the power of science is awakened in the human mind.

For years before the railroad came the carrying of a letter from Los Angeles to Seattle required over a week. Rail transportation cut this time down to less than two and one-half days, but the airplane will lop off over a day of this and will take the letter to the Puget Sound city in less than twenty-seven hours. And if, as hoped by the new air transport corporation, thirty-seven hours can be cut off the railroad time to Seattle a letter will go through in about twenty-four hours.

The bulk of the new Pacific Coast air mail will be carried between Los Angeles and San Francisco and the service will establish new and closer relations between the two cities—a matter which in itself is of a felicitous nature, for few things could be of more importance to either city than the knitting of new bonds of any kind. Postage for this part of the route will be 10 cents an ounce or fraction thereof, which is reasonable, considering the cost of airplane operation.

The carriers are to have ten planes and are permitted to transport passengers, express and freight in addition to mails. When the service has been so established as to insure prompt deliveries we may expect to see regular passenger flights between this city, San Francisco and other northern places. This is something to look forward to with pleasant anticipation, though it is to be hoped that the passenger service will be more satisfactory than it is in some parts of Europe, where it is complained of as inefficient, dilatory and dangerous.

SMOKE OF BRYN MAWR

"The action of the Bryn Mawr authorities in lifting the ban against the cigarette does not seem to have changed custom elsewhere," says the Literary Digest, and then continues:

"In the Middle West, we are told, smoking by college girls 'simply isn't being done.' In the West it is said to be more or less frowned on and is not a particular problem, while in the South cigarette-smoking by girl students is reported to be generally taboo and prohibitions by rule unnecessary."

The femininity of the effete East smoke. If the woman and weed had come together in the greater freedom of the vast open spaces of the West it would have been accepted without much comment. But to have the lid lifted in Bryn Mawr, right under the shadow of Longfellow, Emerson and Wendell Phillips!

Woman purloined the pants of man and he accepted the indignity and divided skirts as a means of being detected and differentiated from his sister. But now having appropriated his bobbed head and his smoke, what has he left?

In the interests of honesty is the reason assigned for raising the ban. This is the bootleg argument, for it is in the interests of honesty some would have the Volstead Act modified. So, even though their dainty breaths have all the eloquence of unembalmed cabbage, do not compel them to smoke out back of the barn.

Also the smokeless majority hesitated to dictate to the minority, even though it does bring reproach on the whole institution. This was done in the interests of democracy. Letting the minority rule is a new order in democracy.

But the wide-eyed, wholesome, athletic, western girls are not smoking. They will save the day again. Evidently the West has something besides climate.

CLEVERNESS

BY THE SUBURBANITE

I admire intelligence a lot, but I've about decided it's a great curse to be merely clever.

I know a fellow who is so clever that ever since he was a child he has been able to get away with anything short of murder. And maybe he could with that, since it seems one of the easiest things to get away with.

The result is a habit which is worse than lots of habits they form leagues to oppose and make unlawful. He's got in the habit of shirking here, dodging there, being tricky yonder and counting on his cleverness to pull him through.

I know another chap who always was slow. He never could think of a ready alibi when he was a youngster and got into the rare habit of telling the simple, unpalliated truth.

He never could shift the blame for failure, pass the buck, run a bluff or do any of those overadmired stunts, so he got in the habit of being careful, conscientious and thorough.

The result is that the dull boy has grown up to be about the only man I know who is thorough.

He has risen to astonishing success, for the simple reason that the lack of thoroughness is the curse of America. We have millions of superficially brilliant fellows, skin-deep wonders in all walks of life; millions of slap-dash clever workmen, too eager to get ahead to take time to do anything with absolute thoroughness; too intolerant of tedious details to make every detail perfect; millions who might achieve something of great and enduring worth if they could only spare the time. But they are just "getting by."

I sincerely hope that none of my children will ever show surprising precocity and that if they do no idiotic relatives or friends will fill them with sickening vainglory by making much of it.

A little learning is a dangerous thing, but not half so dangerous as a little cleverness.

MEWINGS OF THE CAT

A train bound for Chicago turned over. The results for the passengers may have been less serious than would have been the case if the trip had been completed as per schedule.

Dogs' confidence in human beings is sublime. The creatures will ride on the runningboard of an automobile with a lady driving.

A pessimist is a fellow who finds his nearest approach to joy in the idea that the world is going to the devil.

Five men held up a bank in a Chicago suburb and escaped. At $2500 apiece. Somebody missed $12,500 by killing the quintet.

Some men are like June bugs, in that they buzz around a good deal without doing any harm.

It may be said for a man that he isn't apt to talk about his affinity as much as the neighbors do.

The road that is not straight and narrow has no markers to point toward a destination, but there are plenty of people of whom you may inquire the way.

An ad says: If she is musical, give her "Patuffa." But wouldn't chloroform be less painful?

The one-pair girls who have to wash 'em just before they go to bed and let 'em dry overnight are gonna have to get home from work early on Christmas Eve if they are to get their silk stockings ready to hang up for Santa Claus to fill.

Their scanty attire may not keep the flappers warm, but it sure does make the reformers and uplifters hot.—[Arkansaw Thomas Cat.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH
ACCORDING TO RAST

BY JAMES M. WARNACK

Walling his eyes in apparent surprise and shaking his provingly as he watched Josh gulp down his last bite of reach for the water bucket, Rastus turned to his companion
"How ol' is you, Josh?"

"Sixty-two, come nex' Winsday," replied Josh, anticipating ular noon-time lecture.

"An' you is already beginnin' to git pale under de gills when you ort to be in de prime of manhood, wid a reg'lar schoolgirl complection!" exploded Rastus. "Yo' hair is gittin' gray an' yo' han's trimmily when you ort to exemplify de vigorosity of youth-hood. Whut you needs is a good dose of fizzical culchah."

"Jes' how does folks take dat?" inquired Josh, with the humbleness of one who has sinned unwittingly, but who is willing to make amends.

"Well, dere's mo' to it dan I kin splain in a half-hour, but I might give you a few hints, an' den if you wants to study it seehiously you can do so at yo' leeshure," replied Rastus. "It include so many things dat a man reely got to spen' about half his life at it befo' he kin obtain gen-you-wine health—'stead of wastin' his time diggin' ditches fo' water mains, like you does. A man ort to begin when he is young an' practice ever'thing he reads in de fizzical culchah books. De fust ree-quisit is to git up early in de mornin', go to de winda an' take a deep bref of de fresh ozone. At de same time, yo' min' mus' be in harmony wid all de cosmic elements an' you should say to yo'self 'I is healthy, strong an' prosperous.' Dat's whut dey call 'demonstratin' supply.' If you does dat often enough you is certain to git lots o' money an' have good health to enjoy it wid.

"After you has done de aforesaid you is supposed to go out in de garden er on de roof of yo' house an' take lots of exercises, swingin' yo' hands back an' fo'th, 'spandin' yo' chest, puttin' yo' laigs ovah yo' haid an' doin' a lot of othah things which I ain't got time to menshing. Follerin' dat, you take a dip in ice water an' rubs off wid a rough towel till de 'lectric sparks fly from yo' body. Den you goes in an' eats a light breakfus'—say a han'full of co'n flakes er parched wheat. Don't drink no water ner coffee wid de meal, howevah, 'cause dat interfere wid de gastrick juice in de kidney.

"When you has ate yo' breakfus' you sits down about an hour an' reads books on fizzical culchah," continued Rastus. "Den you takes a stroll in de country an' picks wil' flowers while you meditates on de mysteries of profound astonishment, all de time repeatin' to yo'self 'Whut a wonderful bein' I is! Whut a wonderful worl' dis is to live in!' When you begins to feel languid you goes home to lunch, which consistez of a baked apple er a fried banana. Be keerful not to eat no lee-goominous food fo' lunch as it's ve'y dangerous—ve'y dangerous. Lee-goominous substance is de cause of mo' epizootics dan anything else on de national menu.

"In de afternoon you goes to de gymnassium an' puts yo'self in de han's of de boxin', wrasslin' an' swimmin' teachers an' l'arns how to defen' yo'self if you ever gits into a fracas or to save yo'self from drownin' if de boat you may be on ever sinks. In de evenin' you has supper at a veterinarian caffy an' you don't eat nothin' 'cept spinack, raw turnips an' othah similah fruits whut contain de iron ore necessary fo' de upkeep of de gland system.

"De main thing, howevah, in dis fizzical culchah business is not to drink no tea ner coffee, an' very little water—an' none at tall 'cept two hours after meals—an' den very sparingly," continued Rastus. "Also, beware of proteens. De proteen is a germ whut hides in po'k an' beans, beef stoo, chicking pie an' othah such ingredients. Dese germs won't attack a man if he is well an' vig'rous, but let a man be a little on de down-grade an' dey will eat him up, body an' soul. Too much proteen is de primary cause of de crime wave, accordin' to de best authorities of de sigh-copathic institutions. De proteen is de wurstest enemy of de hooming race, unless it's de vite-a-mine, but dere ain't no danger from de latter unless you eats a can of spoiled mushrooms."

"When do a fizzical culchah man do his work?" asked Josh.

"Well, as a rule, he don't have time to do much work," replied Rastus. "As a rule, he is eithah bo'n rich or goes to school in his youthhood an' l'arns how to sell oil or sub-divisions. A man kin to fizzical culchah in a sort of hap-hazzard, way an' prob'ly git some good out of it, even if he is a workin' man, but I don't know as I advises you to take it up, Josh. You is mos' too ol' an', as I done tol' you, it's a life-time job."

A NEW LEAP

BY A. M. ROW

All that we have thus far been is imperishably graven in the Book of Life. . . . Turning over a new leaf is no light matter. . . . Some of the pages may be unsullied by regrets or hasty deeds. . . . None may be without spot or blemish. . . . On some are recorded incidents that we fain would forget. . . . Deep, slumbering impressions hold us to the pillory of our faults. . . . The divine spark cannot be quenched. . . . Write carefully the first line on the white page. . . . Studiously avoid all blots—nothing can be erased from the inner consciousness. . . . There must be something worthy of emulation if the result is to be comforting. . . . Guards must be erected against intemperate words and actions, mistakes and habits. . . . Sorrows may come to mar the page. . . . Divine light will make us submissive to every woe. Be temperate in all things. Be grateful to your maker. Be thoughtful of others. . . . Happiness awaits you.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Jessup Marshall of Pasadena and Los Angeles have arrived in Paris for an extended stay and are stopping at the Hotel de France et Choiseul. Mr. Marshall, well-known capitalist and principal owner of perhaps the largest cattle ranch in the United States—the Palomas—comprising 2,000,000 acres, is a former railroad president and one of the pioneers in the discovery of oil in Texas. On giving up his railroad interests, he sold out his oil properties and moved to California. He now devotes his rancho in New Mexico to the breeding of Hereford cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall and their young grandson, Edwin Jessup Marshall, Jr., passed the Christmas holidays in St. Moritz, Switzerland, and Mr. Marshall is planning to return home this month, while Mrs. Marshall will remain for the winter in Egypt, with Mrs. Evelyn Murrell and Mrs. Richard Honey, who have their children in school in England. Mr. Marshall will return to Europe in the spring and plans to take a lodge in Scotland for the hunting season.

Mrs. Alexander Pantages of Vermont avenue has arrived at the Hotel Plaza-Athens in Paris, crossing over from London after a delightful sojourn there.

Scores of Californians have arrived in Cairo, Egypt, during the last fortnight and the season there is now well under way. Visitors at the Continental-Savoy Hotel include Mr. and Mrs. William M. Weller, Miss Ellen Mead, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Williams, Miss Susie Williams and Mr. and Mrs. George O. Noble of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jackson of San Diego, and Miss E. D. Mitchell of Santa Barbara, who are registered with the Cairo branch of the American Express Company for tours and mail.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henley have arrived in Paris and are guests indefinitely at the Hotel Regina, while Armand S. Pitzer and August Fitzer of Hollywood, who recently arrived in the French capital, are stopping at Hotel Continental. Walter A. Schmidt has arrived in Paris from Frieburg, Austria, and is staying at the Hotel Chatham.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Martin of Pasadena were among those entertained at a recent gala event held at the Savoy Hotel in Florence, Italy. Other Angelenos who have been enjoying a sojourn there are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson.

Miss Mabel Seeley, Mrs. Roy D. Bayly and Miss Nancy Belle Bayly, who left last autumn for an extended trip abroad, are enjoying the holidays in the wonderful Swiss mountains, where the winter sports around St. Moritz are enjoyed by the elite of the world at this time of year.

They have been sojourning in London and Paris and are planning a visit to the French and Italian Riviera before returning home in a few months.

Miss Gretchen Tremaine of Ardmore Court Apartments, who, with friends from the north, has been sojourning in Paris, is planning to tour through Italy, Switzerland and France. A delightful motor trip through Egypt and the Holy Land will also be taken before she returns home.

Mrs. Mary Maude Earle of Pasadena, who has been touring Southern Italy, recently arrived in Rome from Naples and is passing some time at the Hotel de Russie, while Mrs. Charles M. Nelson and Mrs. G. H. Knight of Santa Barbara have arrived in Hyeres, on the French Riviera, for the winter season and are staying at the Golf Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. G. Wernish have been enjoying themselves at the Hotel Plaza in Rome, following a tour of Southern Italy, while Mr. and Mrs. William N. Mumper, who have been visiting on the French Riviera, are guests at the Hotel Beau Rivage in Nice. Other Angelenos visiting in Nice include Mr. and Mrs. Waldon J. Raphael, who are stopping at the Midland Hotel.

Mrs. Lowery and Miss Margaret Howard Lowery, Mrs. Bertha Clark and sons and Miss Esther Erickson of Pasadena are among the Southern Californians who recently arrived at the Alexandria Grand Hotel in Lausanne, Switzerland, while Miss B. L. Waters of Hollywood has returned to Paris from China and India and is staying at the Hotel des Etats-Unis.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. O'Brien were recent visitors to the French capital, stopping at the Hotel Continental, and Mrs. Margaret R. Wood is a guest of the Hotel Negresco in Nice for the moment. The Misses Mathilda and Ludmilla Ibs of Pasadena are stopping at the Bristol in Vienna.

Edmund Peter Hallahan of Monrovia, who is traveling with Miss Hallahan through Continental Europe, has taken an apartment in Florence for the winter, and Mrs. Drusilla R. Young, also of Monrovia, has an apartment there.

Mrs. George A. Ralphs of Hollywood and Los Angeles, who has been making an extended tour abroad, has been taking the Nile trip for three weeks, and thoroughly enjoyed Egypt, visiting all the tombs, temples and mosques of interest and many places in the mountains and desert, having, by the way, to have mounted police protection from roving bands of Arab robbers on some of her excursions. Stopping for two weeks at Shepherd's Hotel in Cairo and a week at the grand old Mena House near the Pyramids and Sphinx, overlooking the desert, she also stopped for four days at the Winter Palace in Luxor. From Cairo she planned a trip to Jerusalem and then on to India, where she arrived in Calcutta December 30, and will remain there for six weeks.

Wedding Announced

Formal announcement is made by Mrs. Alonzo Beecher Cass of 1601 Fair Oaks avenue, South Pasadena of the marriage of her daughter, Miss Emily, to Ralph Sanson, the ceremony taking place Thursday, December 31.

Visiting Here

Among the charming visitors in Southern California these holidays is Mrs. Walter H. Seavey of Boston and Hamilton, Mass., who with Mr. Seavey came out to pass the Yuletide with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Griffith (Eleanor Seavey) at their home, 409 South Grand avenue, South Pasadena. Mr. Seavey after a two weeks' sojourn, has left for his eastern home, but Mrs. Seavey will remain for a longer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Griffith, parents of Richard M. Griffith, have returned to their home in Orchard avenue, after a seven months' trip abroad, arriving home just before Christmas. They visited all the principal points of interest on the continent and were for several weeks in Naples, then on to Florence and Rome before going up to Paris, whence they sailed for home in November.

New Year's Eve Party

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Montgomery Knox were hosts at the Edgewater Beach Club Thursday evening, their guests including Dr. and Mrs. Irving R. Bancroft, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Culver, Judge and Mrs. Benjamin F. Bledsoe, Mr. and Mrs. James Taber Fitzgerald, Gen. and Mrs. Robert Wankowski, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Stern and Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Marsh.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Remember This

A mixture of salt and vinegar will remove tea stains from china cups.

The correct gas flame is a clear blue without any wasteful yellow tinge.

Lemon juice and water make a splendid mouth wash and breath sweetener.

Time will be saved by the housewife who has a schedule for her work, even if she does not always follow it to the letter.

Never rub the cake of soap directly on flannels. Wash them in a suds of pure soap flakes and rinse in clear luke-warm water.

All Alike

The wise bride will make her curtains alike all over her apartment or small house. Then when she moves into larger quarters the curtains can be changed around without having "odd" curtains on hand. Besides, a small home will look much more attractive if curtained the same throughout.

A Little Precaution

When the washing is finished, unscrew the wringer to take the weight off the rollers and put two small pieces of wood between them to allow the air to pass through. This will add wonderfully to the life of the wringing machine.

CHEF WYMAN'S Suggestions For TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast

Eggs Scrambled With Minced Ham
Toast Marmalade
Milk Coffee

Luncheon

Head Cheese
Potato and Celery Root Salad
Fruit Cup
Milk Tea

Dinner

Braised Short Ribs of Beef
Browned Carrots
Mashed Potatoes
Salade Norge
Orange Cup Custard
Sponge Drops
Milk Coffee

POTATO-CELERY SALAD

Peel and slice two knobs of celery root or celeriac into thin slices and cover with boiling salted water for two minutes; drain and chill on the ice. Peel and and slice three medium-sized cold, boiled potatoes and mix them with the cold celery root. Mix with French dressing, mound on lettuce-covered plates and garnish with finely chopped parsley and strips of red and green peppers.

FRUIT CUP

Mix equal parts of peeled and diced orange, peeled and diced apple, peeled and diced pineapple, and seedless raisins with maraschino syrup and set in the ice to become thoroughly chilled. Half-fill cold-stemmed glasses with the mixture, fill glasses with vanilla ice cream and pour over all marshmallow sauce. Decorate with halves of maraschino cherries.

BRAISED SHORT RIBS

Have the butcher cut three pounds of short ribs of beef in three-inch pieces; season them with salt and pepper and place in a Dutch oven with two onions cut in quarters, three scraped carrots and three tablespoonfuls of butter; stir and cook until a nice brown; add to the pot two cupfuls of tomatoes, a kitchen bouquet, two tablespoonfuls of browned flour, the strained juice of one orange and three cupfuls of beef stock. Bring to a boil and place in the oven until the meat is tender. Remove the meat to a hot platter and strain the gravy over it.

SALADE NORGE

Peel and cut in fine slices one cucumber and place in a cold bowl; add one head of the white celery cut in thin slices and one cupful of broken walnut meats; just before serving mix with garlic-flavored cream mayonnaise and serve on cold lettuce-covered plates. Decorate with ripe olives.

ORANGE CUP CUSTARD

Place the strained juice of six oranges in a saucepan, add half a cupful of sugar and one tablespoonful of lemon juice; bring to a boil, skim and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Remove from the fire and cool. Dissolve one level tablespoonful of cornstarch in two cupfuls of milk, mix with the well-beaten yolks of five eggs and stir into the orange syrup. Place in a double boiler and stir over the fire until thick, do not boil; strain into custard cups and set in the ice box to harden. Before serving sprinkle the tops with grated chocolate.

SPONGE DROPS

Beat the yolks of three eggs until thick and gradually beat into them half a cupful of sugar and beat five minutes. Add a pinch of salt to the whites of three eggs and beat until stiff and dry. Add one teaspoonful of grated lemon rind to the yolks and fold into this, alternately, half a cupful of three-times sifted flour and the egg whites. Drop the mixture in even quantities from the tip of a tablespoon on an ungreased baking tin; sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake about eight minutes in a cool oven. When removed from the pan spread with a stiff, tart jelly and put together in pairs.

Learned the Lesson

The visitor held out her arms to the small son of the house. "Don't you want to kiss me, Tommy?"

"No, I don't," said Tommy, stepping back.

"Why, don't you like me, dear?"

"No, I don't."

"Why not?"

"Because you're ugly—that's why not."

"Tommy!" interrupted the boy's mother. "Aren't you ashamed?"

"Well," said Tommy, "I got punished for not tellin' the truth yesterday, and I'm not going to run any risks today."—[Stillson Zenith.

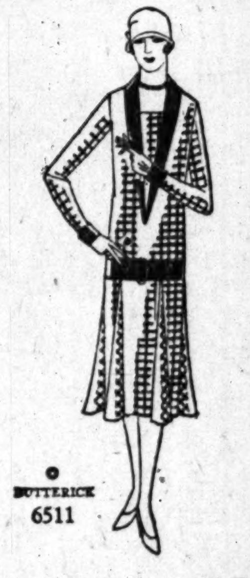
FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon



Beige and brown colored twills laid off in checks and trimmed with brown kid skin appeared in a smart frock worn recently at the French races.

THE Parisienne, especially if she is a mannequin paid to do so, is willing to suffer to be chic and will lay aside her coat on a Winter day to show the frock underneath. A tailored dress of the trotteur type sent out to the races recently by a noted French dressmaker was inset with godets that rippled freely at the hem. The collar, cuff and belt were of brown kid skin and the dress of checked twills. Made of the two sides of crêpe satin, with short sleeves and without the belt, the frock changes character and is suitable for bridge or tea.

Perilous Ride

Just as a freight train struck his automobile at Wahpeton, N. D., Rudolph Stovier swerved sharply ahead of the engine and with the rear of his car resting on the pilot steered down the track for half a mile before the train stopped. Two passengers in the rear seat were painfully hurt when the rear of the car was caved in by the impact, but Stovner and another in the front seat escaped injury.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

WE'RE GOING TO REDUCE!

REDUCING LESSON NO. 1

There's one little resolution those of us who are overweight always make on the New Year, and that is that we are going to reduce.

Now, why do we want to reduce? There are two classes of us: First, those of us who are ill and have a sneaking idea that more than two-thirds of our troubles are caused by our excess weight, and the unbalanced diet that has brought the excess weight upon us; and, second, those of us who are healthy as horses—oh, well, except for the shortness of breath, inability to walk any distance or to take any exercises, and occasional funny feelings around the heart—but who hate the sight of ourselves; we can't get anything to fit us ready made except umbrellas; and we know we look like walking advertisements of a Dutch delicatessen store, and that we add no beauty to the landscape.

Of course, we realize we are thoroughly disliked when we bulk over our allotted spaces on to our neighbors in the theaters, street cars, churches, etc., and we dislike being disliked—oh, terribly. And then, through the public health education that is fairly well disseminated now, we know that we may be headed for many serious disorders which may snuff out our sweet lives before we have had our share of this world's fun.

We know, for instance, that the authorities on diabetes state that 75 per cent of the diabetics are overweight before coming down with the disease. We know that hardening of the arteries with its attendant high blood pressure and possible apoplexy is caused in many cases by overeating, which also results in overweight. We know that certain forms of heart disease, kidney disease, liver disease, many intestinal, nerve and glandular troubles are also caused by overeating which also result in overweight.

I'm going to help you carry out your New Year's resolution to reduce, for I know as a public health educator that I can do more in the prevention of disease and in the promotion of health by teaching how to reduce excess weight and how to maintain normal weight, than I can by other means. So I am starting another reducing campaign, as I do at the beginning of each year. We have many new readers who need this instruction, and among the old-timers there are more than a few backsliders. These are the ones I want to reach. The alumni who have stayed reduced can stand on the sidelines and cheer us on. They will be interested, I know, for once having belonged to the F.F.F. (Friendly Fat Fraternity,) one never loses interest in the great game.

Now, because I know your will power is weak, I will give you something that will strengthen it. I want you to sign the following pledge and pin it on your dresser, where you will be confronted by it all week long. It will help you.

THE F.F.F. PLEDGE

Whereas, I am overweight and I realize that by reducing I can prove my health, efficiency happiness, and

Whereas, I am one of the of a great public, and the impr ment of the health of its means the improvement of

Whereas, I realize my public health,

Therefore, I join Dr. P
Watch-Your-Weight-Class, and promise I shall follow her di tions in so far as is within my my part. I shall neither che

ING TO REDUCE!

realize that by reducing I can improve my health, efficiency and happiness, and

Whereas, I am one of the units of a great public, and the improvement of the health of its units means the improvement of the health of this great public, and

Whereas, I realize my responsibility in the improvement of the public health,

Therefore, I join Dr. Peters's Watch-Your-Weight-Class, and I promise I shall follow her directions in so far as is within my power. I shall play the game and do my part. I shall neither cheat nor squeal. I promise.

Tomorrow: Normal Weight and Cause of Overweight.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you write me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

ALASKANS TO TEACH GREENLAND ESKIMOS

Alaskan Eskimos will be employed by the Danish government to instruct natives of Greenland in the care of reindeer. That government is making an effort to establish the reindeer industry in Greenland, evidently prompted by the remarkable success of the herds in Alaska since their introduction in 1891 by the Interior Department, Bureau of Education. The application for permission to employ Alaskan natives was made through the Danish Consulate in Seattle. Consent was willingly granted by the United States Commissioner of Education, who directs the government's educational and welfare work for the Alaskan natives. Arrangements as to salary, subsistence, transportation and other details are being worked out. Contracts will cover a period of four years, and will provide for return to Alaska at the expiration of that time.

Not a Chance

He was a little old wizened-up sport, but though his money made him persona grata with the fair chorus girl.

"I wish I could have known you in my salad days," he said to her.

"It would have been no use," she told him. "I never cared for shrimp salad."—[Boston Transcript.

The unfinished papers of France's great scientist, Gabriel C. Flammarion, are now being edited by his wife, who was her husband's secretary.

GEORGIAN HELD HERE ASKS WRIT

Wealthy Atlanta Citizen Declares Arrest Illegal; Seeks Habeas Corpus

Insisting that the holding of Dr. Jay S. Liebman, wealthy Atlanta (Ga.) resident, is illegal, attorneys today are prepared to fight the arrest, made here recently by deputy sheriffs on a telegraphic warrant from the southern city.

According to the telegrams, Dr. Liebman is accused of forging the name of his wife, from whom he now is separated, to three checks totaling $1475. The forgery is said to have occurred several years ago.

Attorneys will set forth today when they appear to press a habeas corpus writ before Judge Hahn, that the money was drawn from a joint account and that there was no offense committed justifying Dr. Liebman's arrest here.

University to Offer Classes for Reporters

The reporter of the future is to launch forth upon his newspaper career with some degree of elementary training, according to plans for new courses just announced from the extension division of the University of California. Classes in news and news writing and in editorial writing will be given during the midwinter term just starting. Lyman Bryson, formerly on the staff of the Omaha Bee, Detroit News and Detroit Free Press, of the publicity staff or the American Red Cross and for two years in charge of the publications of the International Red Cross, will conduct the classes. Mr. Bryson was formerly instructor in the department of journalism, University of Michigan.

This course begins the 12th inst. and meets from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 614, Hillstreet Building. Instruction in editorial writing will point out the most effective ways of discussing current events and conditions. This course begins the 11th inst., the class meeting from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 614, Hillstreet Biulding.

Registration is taken at 815 South Hill street.

Former Officer Being Sought in Woman Shooting

Detective Lieutenants Lind and Sperry of the University police yesterday continued their search for a former deputy sheriff wanted for questioning in connection with the mysterious shooting of Mrs. Nellie Houlters, 48 years of age, 138 West Thirtieth street.

Mrs. Houlters was shot in the left leg late Saturday as she walked into the street to board a street car at Thirty-third and Main streets. She was removed to her home after being treated at the Receiving Hospital.

According to the police, a man was found near Mrs. Houlters when a police ambulance arrived on the scene to remove her to the hospital. This man represented himself as a deputy sheriff and flashed a badge. He admitted shooting the woman, police say, but claimed he was firing at a bootlegger suspect who escaped. The name of this man is known to the police and the officers expect to locate him today.

Mrs. Houlters is not in danger.

Golf Scheduled as Advertising Club's Subject

The program at tomorrow's luncheon at the Biltmore of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles will be devoted to golf, and is intended to demonstrate the breadth of the force called advertising, for it will bring before the club the leading golfers of America, who have focused the eyes of sport lovers throughout the land upon Los Angeles.

The advertising value of the big golf tournament will be presented to the club by "Ed" Tufts. Mr. Tufts has been president of the Southern California Golf Association "ever since walking sticks became educated to be golf clubs in Southern California," according to the Advertising Club announcement. He is chairman of the organization composed of prominent amateurs, professionals and Junior Chamber of Commerce officials who have charge of all the details of the tournament.

Trial Witness for Obenchain Case Married

Paul Peter Roman, a witness in the trials of Madalynn Obenchain, was married Saturday to Miss Irene Goldwater, a British subject, who lives with her mother at 1010 Douglas street.

The couple met on a Los Angeles street car some months ago, the chance acquaintance culminating in the marriage, it is said.

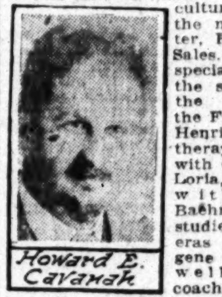
Roman was an important witness in the trial of Madalynn Obenchain, jointly accused with Arthur C. Burch of the murder of J. Belton Kennedy. Letters written by Mrs. Obenchain to Roman were read into the record.

CO-OPERATES WITH STATE

The city of Los Angeles will co-operate with the State Highway Commission in reducing the Chalk Hill grade on Ventura Boulevard, the Board of Public Works has announced. To make possible the completion of the State engineering work, the city is planning to expend $10,500 in securing land for the right of way for the new road.

Music Recital Will be Given at Central 'Y'

A combined musical recital of the voice, violin and piano departments of the new school of music of the Central Y.M.C.A., 715 South Hope street, to be given on the 8th inst., open to the public, has been announced by J. Gustav White, director of education. The recital will mark the first public appearance under the auspices of the "Y" of Howard E. Cavanah, tenor soloist, dean of the new school; Adolph Bock, violinist, and Wesley Kuhnle, concert pianist.



Howard E. Cavanah

Mr. Cavanah was trained at Cornell University and in Paris, where he and Mrs. Cavanah studied voice culture under the noted master, Regina de Sales. Later he specialized in the singing of the diction of the French with Henri du Martheray, Italian with Gaetano di Loria, German with Afred Baehrens. He studied the operas with Eugene Praid, the well-known coach of Delmas, Clement, Beyle and other artists.

Mr. Bock was graduated from Colorado College and Northwestern and Columbia universities and is a composer of note, having recently released six songs that have been well received, according to critics.

Mr. Kuhnle, concert pianist, studied under the eminent Polish artist, Zielinski. He has appeared under the auspices of numerous civic and other local bodies.

BIGAMY SHACKLES SLIPPING

Death and Annulment May Free Accused Husband of Wives and Open Cell Roor

From being held as "the man with too many wives" Frederick Brigham, now in the County Jail on bigamy charges, may soon find himself free, free from iron bars and iron chains and also free from the less material but still binding chains of matrimony with which he so well supplied himself.

Brigham, with three wives, now finds himself freed of the first by death, freed of the second because it was illegal and non-existent, and freed of the third through a suit for annulment.

He may also be freed of these other legal chains through the offices of his attorneys, Cantillon and Hamilton, who expect to show Judge Keetch today that Brigham did not actually commit the charge on which he is held.

Brigham is charged with bigamy in marrying and maintaining households here for two women. According to documents in the hands of the attorneys, the first one of these two marriages was illegal and not binding and therefore cannot be used as evidence against the man. And it was illegal, they say, because Brigham already was married when he went through that ceremony and though he might be prosecuted on those grounds its jurisdiction would not lie in this county.

The Mrs. Brighams, in chronological order, were Carrie Allsop, whom he married in Chicago in 1919; Mrs. Ruby Brigham whom he married in Eureka in 1920 and Mrs. Marie Cook Brigham whom he married in Marysville in 1923.

Carrie Allsop died in Chicago in 1922. So although he committed bigamy when he married Ruby the death automatically put an end to this charge.

Now the third marriage, that was legal, is the matter of discussion before Judge Gates who has been asked by Mrs. Marie Cook Brigham to annul it on the grounds of fraud.

Brigham is to appear before Judge Keetch today and Attorney Cantillon expects to have the documents at hand to present to the court in support of a request for a dismissal.

ASKS DIVORCE FROM ATHEISTIC HUSBAND

Thomas M. Kellett declared he did not believe in a Supreme Being, according to the divorce complaint filed by his wife, Marion C. Kellett, who asserted that this caused her extreme mental anguish. Kellett, she said, added to her mental discomfort by boasting that she would never get any of his money, despite his expressed belief that she married him only for that purpose. He is worth $75,000, she said, and in support of her account of her own experience with Kellett, related that he had forced a former wife to convey all her rights to h's sister.

AGITATOR TO NAME MAYOR

Walking Delegate Controls at Santa Barbara

New Council to Organize Today

Condition Result of Recent Political Split

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 3.—Jay Smedley, walking delegate for the Santa Barbara Building Trades' Council and union-labor leader, tomorrow will name the Mayor for Santa Barbara city.

This is no idle jest. Smedley was elected to the City Council on December 1. The first meeting will be held tomorrow. Dr. W. J. Mellinger is favored by the present Mayor, C. M. Andera, for the place. Andera will give up the office of Mayor and serve his two remaining years as a Councilman. Mellinger is an incumbent.

The new Councilmen, H. L. Sweeney, a plumbing contractor, and H. A. Adrian, chautauqua lecturer, favor Adrian for Mayor. Smedley has not stated his choice. Sweeney and Adrian were elected on a platform of opposition to everything the old Council has done and received many labor votes. On the other hand the unions have been in favor of a municipal breakwater and both Sweeney and Adrian have come out against the breakwater to the extent of announcing their refusal to attend a meeting with Maj. Max Fleischman, donor of $200,000 toward the project, tomorrow noon just prior to the Council meeting.

Adrian is reported as having told friends that if he is not elected Mayor, recall petitions will be circulated for the other members of the Council. But Smedley holds the balance of power and what he will do is known only to himself.

HUGE BOND ISSUE

Voters of Sanitary District to Decide Big Question

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ARCADIA, Jan. 3.—A $4,440,000 bond issue to include District 7 in the Metropolitan outfall sewer project will be put up to the voters of the district on Tuesday, the 26th inst., it was decided here last night by the District Board of Directors, in special session to hear any protest from taxpayers.

No protests were voiced before the board, but several questions were answered by County Sanitation Engineer A. K. Warren and Hugh Gordon, attorney for the sanitation department.

Two points that Mr. Warren particularly stressed were that the district votes as a whole and, even if the voters of one city vote against the bonds, he said, they will still be included in the district, provided the bonds are carried by the total vote in the district.

He estimated that initial cost to the taxpayer would be 28 cents upon each $100 of assessed valuation, or approximately $8 on a $2500 home, decreasing from year to year as the bonds are retired.

District 7 comprises seventeen cities and various unincorporated areas, east of Pasadena to Glendora and Covina.

TO USE CHURCH FOR HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Jan. 3.—Steps were being taken today in the Simi Valley for the arrangement of a temporary high school in the Simi Community Church following the burning of the Simi Valley Union High School building early yesterday morning. The $85,000 school building was damaged to the extent of about $60,000.

The entire interior of the structure was gutted. The fire started on the stage of the auditorium and spread rapidly. Fire fighters were useless as there was no fire-fighting apparatus or water supply available. The cause of the blaze is not known.

SPEND FORTUNE FOR WELLS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Jan. 3.—The increased utilization of subsurface water in irrigation in Kings county is indicated by the fact that in the Corcoran section alone, within the past twelve months, between sixty-five and seventy new wells have been developed, both deep and shallow, at an approximate cost of $250,000. In addition, approximately forty miles of concrete pipe line has been laid at a cost of $150,000, this expenditure of $400,000 insures the steady productivity of highly fertile lands in alfalfa, grain and cotton in the Corcoran district.

DRY SQUAD BUSY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 3.—The trail of the local dry squad led last night to the home of George Gohl, 41 years of age, of 34 North Second street. Lieutenant Detectives Boone and Vigneau and Officers Lutz and Scobee say they found Gohl carrying a gallon bottle of wine out of his house. They placed him under arrest on a charge of illegal possession and his bail was set at $2000.

The prisoner asserted that the wine did not belong to him and that he was only doing an errand for a friend. Gohl is the owner of a taxi stand here.

IS NEW TRUSTEE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CLAREMONT, Jan. 3.—John Treanor of Los Angeles, president of the Riverside Portland Cement Company, member of the California Club and trustee of the Good Samaritan Hospital at Los Angeles, has been appointed a trustee of Pomona College. He will fill the place left vacant by the resignation due to advancing years of Stephen H. Herrick of Riverside. Mr. Herrick had been a constant adviser and friend of the college since 1903.

EVERYBODY SEEMS TO AGREE

The One Man Opposed to a New Water System for Laguna Beach Has Changed His Mind on Eve of $600,000 Bond Election

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 3. — A unanimous vote in favor of the issuance of $600,000 in bonds with which to provide Laguna Beach with an entire new water system is the hope of civic boosters of the art colony. The election is to be held Tuesday. According to members of the water board the lone man who has been opposed to the bond issue, has decided to cast his vote for the expenditure. Unless there are some opponents who are hiding their arguments, the votes will all be "ayes" it was said.

The proposal to be voted upon includes the purchase of water-bearing land on which to drill wells, the drilling of the wells, the installation of necessary pumps, the acquisition of water-storage sites, the construction of water-storage reservoirs, and the purchase of all equipment necessary to deliver the water to the residents of the town.

Valley Walnut Growers Obtain Final Payment

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, Jan. 3. — The 154 walnut growers in San Fernando Valley have received final checks in payment for the twenty-six carload crop that was marketed this season through the association warehouse here.

Final statement of Auditor Frank J. Cornwell shows that the crop of 373 tons brought the growers a total of $168,477 as against a total of only a little more than $100,000 last year. Reports show the yield to have been heavier, the quality of the nuts better and the acreage as having been increased.

It is reported that while subdividers are breaking up many of the older orchards of the fine soft-shell varieties, the new groves that have been planted are more than taking the places of the old groves that have been partly destroyed. The present increase in acreage is expected to gradually continue, as this season only about 300 acres of the 5000 acres of new plantings came into bearing.

Most of the new groves are in the west end of the valley, in the Owensmouth and Chatsworth sections.

PROPOSE ANNEXATION TO THRIVING CITY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH GATE, Jan. 3. — With the coming of the new year, South Gate will probably soon have another annexation election, a petition having been presented before the City Trustees signed by seventy-five voters residing in Magnolia Park, asking that the Trustees call a special election for the voters of that territory to decide the annexation question. In addition to the three tracts, composing Magnolia Park, proper, the unrecorded Barlow subdivision of forty-seven acres between Magnolia Park and Home Gardens, and 100 acres of industrial property immediately west of the present boundary of this city are included in the proposed annexation. Thus its west boundary runs southward along the east side of Alameda Boulevard from the junction of the main line of the Southern Pacific with its Santa Ana branch to Tweedy Boulevard. Along either side of Long Beach Boulevard the annexation stretches almost to Lynwood. The petition has been turned over to City Clerk Griley for checking of signatures.

BAKERSFIELD GROWS

Births Outnumber Deaths Two to One

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 1.—Twice as many new lives were brought into Bakersfield in 1925 as were taken out by death, according to City Clerk Vance Van Riper, who announces that since the 1st inst. 728 trips were made to this city by the stork. Deaths numbered 412 during the year, he says.

The extremely low rate of mortality has been felt, not only in Bakersfield, but throughout Kern county generally, and only 146 deaths outside Bakersfield's city limits were reported last year.

RESEDA CHAMBER CALLS ELECTION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

RESEDA, Jan. 3.—Lee W. Miller, president of the Reseda Chamber of Commerce, has issued a call for the election of officers and directors for the new year to take place the 12th inst. Signal work of the chamber within the last year was the assistance given to Los Angeles engineers in the drainage of the lower valley levels for storm protection. The chamber also backed up much of the great amount of paving that has been done in the Reseda district within the last twelve months.

BUILD NEW TRAIL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 3.—Work on the new forest trail from the headwaters of the Santa Ynez River to the headwaters of the Sespe will start tomorrow, according to Assistant Forest Supervisor Frank A. Robinson.

The new trail will be ten miles in length and will open up a new section of Ventura county which has been entered by only a few men.

Forest men also say the trail will enable cattle men to get into the country for the purpose of investigating herds of cattle which have roamed this country for years.

Several attempts have been made to capture the animals but without success, as they are too wild to approach.

ELECT VESTRYMEN

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Jan. 3.—The St. Clement's Episcopal Church has elected the new vestry for the present year, the members being Frank Matthews, warden; William H. Boss, treasurer; Howard Seybold secretary, and O. B. Mathews, G. E. Tweedt, M. A. Patterson, Elliott H. Gray, Erward Simpson, Matthew Coutz, C. F. Smith and Rev. Harry Gray, rector of the church.

UNIONS WOULD BAR OUTSIDE WORKERS

PLAN SCHEME TO TIGHTEN LABOR MARKET IN SAN DIEGO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 3.—Organized labor bodies of San Diego are sponsoring a plan to prohibit the employment of outside labor on public contracts, according to published reports of the business sessions of the Federated Trades Council. This body purposes to accomplish its desire by means of a charter amendment, according to a communication to be filed with the City Council at a later date.

Whether the plan is feasible, is to be determined by Shelley J. Higgins, City Attorney, who will consider the measure's legality. Before submitting any kind of action to vote of the people, Higgins said his office undoubtedly would be asked for an opinion and that while he had not gone into the matter thoroughly, he had some doubts that it could be legally done.

The proposed action of the Federated Trades Council for a charter amendment would require either submission to a vote by the people through the City Council, or an initiative petition.

Officers Arrest Chinese and Negro at Santa Barbara

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 3.—Three sales of opium and yen shee reported to have been witnessed by Federal narcotic officers brought about the arrest late last night of O. B. Bagley, 26 years of age, negro, of Los Angeles, and Ah Sam, of East Canon Perdido street, for violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act, according to police records.

Federal Agents Edmonds and DeSpain, accompanied by Lieut. George Sloan and Patrolman Allen Hauan visited a condemned building on East Canon Perdido street off Estado shortly before midnight last night and after securing sufficient evidence, placed Bagley and Ah Sam under arrest. Sales of narcotics are reported to have been made by the negro and one by the Chinese.

The men were taken to Los Angeles this morning by Agents Edmonds and De Spain.

COTTON INDUSTRY BOOMS AT CORCORAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CORCORAN, Jan. 3.—Increased acreage of cotton expanding from 300 acres in 1923 to 13,750 acres in 1925 in the contributing area, has been one of the chief factors in one of the most prosperous years ever experienced in Corcoran, Kings county.

Local facilities for handling the crop and by-products include four gins and two cottonseed oil mills, approximately 100,000 gallons of crude cottonseed oil are being shipped from Corcoran each week and large quantities of cottonseed cake and cottonseed meal in demand as dairy and stock feed. To December 31 there had been 11,017 bales of cotton ginned at Corcoran, this season.

NEWHALL'S EARLIEST RESIDENT INTERRED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, Jan. 3.—Funeral services were conducted yesterday from Nobel's undertaking parlors for Judge J. F. Powell, the first resident of Newhall and for thirty years justice of the peace of Soledad township. Judge Powell was a Civil War veteran. He came to Newhall when the town was first laid out and lived there until his death. During the early days of the judge here there were many Indians in this section, over whom he had much influence. The funeral was in charge of San Fernando Masons, with interment in Grand View Cemetery, Burbank.

OWENSMOUTH GIRL GETS JOB IN FILMS

HUNTINGTON PARK, Jan. 3.—Announcement has reached this city of the marriage of two newspaper people, Miss Thelma Bernard of Huntington Park, and Mr. Ross Miller, managing editor of the Californian of Bakersfield. The marriage took place on Christmas Day. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will reside in Bakersfield.

SALLY SALLIES TO SANTA ANA

Dancer Entertains Business Men

Miss Sally Rand

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Jan. 3.—A record attendance is expected at the joint meeting of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce members and the members of the junior division, formerly the Junior Chamber of Commerce, tomorrow at St. Ann's Inn, at which time Sally Rand, popular motion-picture star, will appear in specialty dancing numbers, featuring the Charleston.

The meeting tonight is to be in the nature of a celebration of the merging of the two organizations into the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and will also serve as a welcome for George Raymer, newly elected secretary, formerly secretary of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Rand is a former member of the Ziegfeld Follies and for several years toured the Orpheum circuit. A number of other motion-picture actors will make the trip with her, according to Mason Yould, chairman of the entertainment committee. Shannon Day, one of the best-known featured players, may attend, Yould said.

A vaudeville circuit has promised to provide the best act on its current bill. The speech of the evening will be made by Lyman King, editor of Redlands Facts.

Five hundred persons are expected to attend the meeting, which is to be preceded by a dinner beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

JUICY FRUIT ON WAY TO MARKET

PLACENTIA ASSOCIATION FORWARDS FIFTEEN CARS OF RIPENED NAVELS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

FULLERTON, Jan. 3. — Navel orange shipments started last week at the packing house of the Placentia Orange Growers' Association and fifteen cars have been sent east, the manager, J. G. Prizer, announced today.

At the American Fruit Growers' plant, shipment will start between January 10 and 15. Between fifteen and twenty cars will be sent out, it is estimated. Other local houses have not yet announced the date on which they will open for navel shipments.

According to reports received by the Northern Orange County Citrus Exchange, shippers are inclined to hold back the movement of navels in anticipation of higher values later in the season, with the realization that the 1925-26 orange crop in Southern California will fall short of early estimates.

F.O.B. California quotations on fancy navels at present are on a basis of $3.25 to $3.75 per box, depending upon districts.

To date, 1436 cars of oranges have been shipped from Southern California during the 1925-26 season. Last year, at this date, only 1171 cars had been shipped.

ON SERIOUS CHARGE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 3.—Charged with an attempted attack upon an 18-year-old Los Angeles girl who was his companion on an automobile ride, Jesse Richey, 22 years of age, 1419 West Forty-seventh street, Los Angeles, is under arrest here and will be arraigned before Police Judge H. S. Farrell Monday.

Officers Eberting and Eckman arrested Richey last night in an isolated spot in the Emery Park district.

NECKTIE BASIS FOR ROMANCE

Valley Man Goes Back East to Get Factory Girl Who Hid Note in Shipment

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MISSION ACRES, Jan. 3. A 50-cent green and yellow necktie bought in Tom Sweet's store in Van Nuys may result in P. L. Pilcer paying a woman's expenses for upkeep and maintenance for the rest of his life. About six months ago Pilcer bought the tie. Folded up in it was a note from Oswego, N. Y., which read: "This factory shipment is going to California. I'm a girl of 20, sick and tired of the snow and ice. I crave the sunshine I want to get married. Mr. Man, please write me." A pretty name, that of the pretty girl who wrote it, was appended.

Pilcer replied as requested, and many subsequent letters with an exchange of photos have followed.

Yesterday Pilcer went to Los Angeles and bought a railroad ticket for Oswego. Before leaving here he stated he was "going East on business." Beyond this he made no further explanation to friends.

A part of his going-away attire was the green and yellow necktie.

SAN DIEGO JEWS DEDICATE TEMPLE

ALL DENOMINATIONS JOIN IN PROGRAM CELEBRATING EVENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 3.—A new development in the civic and community life of San Diego was marked this afternoon when the corner-stone of the partially completed Temple Beth Israel at Third and Laurel streets was laid with elaborate ceremonies.

The opening prayer at the dedication was offered by Rabbi Jacob K. Levin, pastor of Temple Beth Israel and the oration of the day was made by Rev. Frank Linder, pastor of the First Methodist Church. A music program was sung by the temple choir. Rabbi Edgar Magnin and Rabbi Maxwell Dubin, both of Los Angeles, also took part in the ceremonies. The new Temple Beth Israel and the Jewish community center, of which it is a part, is the result of forty years of growth, and the ornate structure, when completed, will represent an outlay of approximately $100,000. The corner-stone laying this afternoon was attended by persons of all religious denominations.

CANINE BURGLARS IN EXPENSIVE BANQUET

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 3.—Police today instituted a city-wide search for a gang of desperate marauders, canine species, that partook of a belated New Year's dinner early this morning, after breaking into the rabbit hutch owned by Otis G. Blair of 1000 North Hudson avenue, and devouring $200 worth of choice rabbit flesh.

Blair called the police department on the telephone this morning, describing the bloody deed and urging the officers to apprehend the evildoers.

TAKE NO CHANCES

LONG BEACH, Jan. 3. — Long Beach folk, like most humans, are fairly honest. But—

Police department automobiles, parked at the curb in front of the police station and directly under the eye of the desk sergeant, are being equipped with theft locks of the type that is attached to the front wheel.

"How come," amazed reporters asked Chief Yancy.

"You never can tell, these days. It pays to be careful," he explained.

WHO PAYS THE DIFFERENCE?

Imperial Valley Irrigation Directors Issue Budget for Coming Year, Showing Expenditures Greater Than Estimated Income

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

EL CENTRO, Jan. 3.—Cost of delivering water to Imperial Valley ranchers during 1926 will be $3,062,600, according to budget estimates made public in a bulletin issued by the Irrigation District directors today. Estimated revenues for the year will be $2,844,678.55, leaving a deficit of $217,921.45 for which no provision is made.

Distribution of expenses, as itemized in the budget is as follows: Board of directors, $76,000; general administration, $82,000; storage, $25,000; diversion, $238,300; water distribution, $1,237,350; river protection, $88,850; real estate, buildings and equipment, $120,100; bonded indebtedness, interest and retirement, $1,042,000; drainage and miscellaneous, $153,000.

In explanation of the 1926 plan of assessment, the bulletin states: "Each acre of land pays an assessment at the rate of $5 per $100 valuation. For this assessment it receives all the water needed without any additional cost, except a service charge of 25 cents per gate per day.

Revenues for the district for the coming year are estimated as follows: Tax assessments, $2,019,678.55; cash water sales in United States, $15,000; water sales to Mexico, $600,000; service charge collection, $110,000; tax redemptions, $100,000.

According to directors of the district, the present method of assessment was devised to force the increased cultivation of idle land. Under the plan adopted, every acre of land pays for water whether it is in cultivation or not. Ranchers are being urged to farm their full acreage both as a matter of economy and to further protect their water rights.

ALL TAKE GUESS AT ALHAMBRA'S GROWTH

ALL DISAGREE AS TO EXACT SIZE OF PROSPEROUS COMMUNITY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 3.—The Federal Bureau of Census recently estimated the present population of Alhambra as 11,404, basing the estimate upon the growth between 1910 and 1920. City officials and officers of public service corporations have a different story to tell as to the number of inhabitants here, their estimates ranging all the way from 24,500 to 29,000.

The most conservative of the local estimates is that of the Los Angeles Gas & Electric Corporation. Roy C. Gardner, local manager, says Alhambra's population is 24,500, and he backs up his contention with the records of gas meters in service at the present time.

The Chamber of Commerce is next in line with an estimate of 27,000, and the city water department claims 28,000 as the approximate figure. C. E. Jenkins, city building inspector who has been kept busy during the past year issuing permits for new dwellings, is confident that 29,000 persons now reside here.

Anyway, no one agrees with the Federal estimate.

Glendale Merchants to Present Modern Homes Week

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Jan. 3.—Plans for staging a modern homes week in Glendale, from the 4th inst. to the 12th inst., inclusive, are being worked out by the merchants of the city, and the co-operation of every store owner has been sought to make the display the greatest possible success. All the merchants have been asked to devote at least one of their show windows to a modern homes exhibit during the week, and the support of all the commercial bodies in the city will be asked by those who are standing sponsor for the project.

One of the features of the week's exhibit will be a reproduction of the prize-winning kitchen that was designed by some of the leading architects of the country for a recent competition. This will be produced by the merchants who handle kitchen equipment of all kinds pooling their materials, and a cooking school will be conducted in the model kitchen during the modern homes week.

The project has been indorsed by a special committee of the Glendale Merchants' Association, and the indorsement of other organizations will be sought.

MAY SOON BECOME CITY OF PLACENTIA

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

PLACENTIA, Jan. 3.—Immediate investigation of the possibility of incorporating Placentia will be carried on by a committee which A. S. Bradford, president of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce, has been asked to appoint, according to Thomas Pickerill, secretary of the chamber. The proposal to incorporate has been discussed at various times but no action has been taken.

Under the present law, ranch land cannot be incorporated without the permission of the owner. This limits territory in Placentia, which might be incorporated, to the subdivided area which shows an assessed valuation of $500,000.

PROWLERS AT WORK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 3.—Two houses were entered by burglars last night in the southern part of the city, it was reported to the police this morning.

The home of William Kunkel, 1832 South Marguerita avenue, was ransacked during the absence of the family and valuable clothing was taken. The other burglary was at the home of Frank Harvey, 1214 South Campbell avenue, where a box of miscellaneous articles of jewelry was stolen. In each case entrance was obtained by cutting a screen at a rear window.

Police Arrest Two Small Boys in Fruit Stand

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, Jan. 3.—An arrest made last night may aid Valley Division police in their efforts to curb the epidemic of boulevard fruit-stand burglaries with which they have been annoyed in recent weeks.

Officers Schwartz and Hefler of the Lankershim district received a tip that burglars were in the Turpin stand at 4541 Lankershim Boulevard. When they got to the place they heard a noise inside the stand and ordered the suspects to come out. They placed Thomas and Kenneth Dewar of 1541 Micheltorena street, Hollywood, under arrest. The boys, who are 12 and 13 years of age, respectively, later were sent to Juvenile Hall. The Turpin stand has been entered several times within the last two or three weeks. Many other fruit stands on this boulevard and on Ventura Boulevard have suffered petty burglary losses within the last month or two, the officers assert.

LAST DAY FOR BIDS ON PUBLIC BUILDING

PASADENA DIRECTORS TO OPEN OFFERS AT MEETING TUESDAY

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 3.—Tomorrow is the last day on which construction bids for Pasadena's new $1,000,000 City Hall will be received by the Board of City Directors. When the board meets Tuesday, bids will be opened, recorded and taken under advisement, according to present plans. Actual start of construction will start as soon as contracts are awarded, probably within the next two weeks.

The City Hall will be the most expensive and imposing structure of the three buildings which comprise the Civic Center plan, the largest building project ever undertaken by Pasadena. The site for the City Hall has already been cleared, in readiness for the initial ground-breaking.

Work on the new public library at Walnut street and Garfield avenue, the first unit of the Civic Center to be started, is now well advanced. Plans for the municipal auditorium, the third building of the plan, are still rather indefinite.

COL. ROGERS TO HAVE CHARGE OF HOSPITAL

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN FERNANDO, Jan. 3.—Col. J. C. Rogers, the commanding officer for the new Federal hospital that is rapidly nearing completion, is expected to be in San Fernando by the 10th or 15th inst. Announcement of the appointment of Col. Rogers has just been made. It is understood he will formally open the institution on April 1, in keeping with a schedule already arranged. This date, however, is tentative. If the hospital is ready by March 1, it is probable the formal opening will take place then.

"CLASSIFIED" SPARKLES

COMEDY OF THE BRIGHTEST IN CORINNE GRIFFITH FILM

By Edwin Schallert

Arrange your plans for the week so that you can be sure to see "Classified," the Corinne Griffith starring picture this week at Loew's State Theater. For to overlook this capital bit of entertainment, will be to neglect beginning the New Year (even though it is a few days old already) correctly, or at least with the proper amount of joyousness.

For "Classified" is the sort of bright, clever, sparkling and also smart comedy that everyone will want to see. Up to the date, and up to the minute—a flash and a flare of the present that leaves not only a sense of gayety, but a certain feeling of worthwhileness, too. And that, despite the fact that some of it is effervescent and quite unrestrainedly sophisticated.

In fact, if the average girl set out to accomplish what Babs Comet does in this picture, or at least, let things happen to her the way that Babs did, she would probably be in jail. But for purposes of laughter, unlimited, Babs may be duly exonerated of all her misdemeanors.

"Classified"—as you may possibly known, if you have read the Edna Ferber story—is the romance of the modern girl, who has her own way and leads her own life, and who—naturally incidentally, and all the rest of it—manages to remain absolutely untainted, unspoiled and true-blue through the experience.

That thesis, to be sure, has been made almost irritatingly familiar through the movies. It is, however, good for one round more, when it is so adroitly dispensed as in this particular instance of Miss Griffith's picture.

Much has been made of routine situations in that they are not taken seriously. The young working girl who rides downtown in a different motor each day to her job, and knows that the man is sure to get fresh at Forty-fifth street, and also that she is going to get mad and get off at Forty-second street, may not have a counterpart in real life, consistently, but the complications into which her overabundant daring get her are genuinely amusing. So, too, is the way that she is forced to walk one block, when she meets the young garage mechanic who is quite immune to her charms, and won't drive his machine out of his way to accommodate her.

Equally bright is that situation where she poses as a Fifth-avenue resident, so that the embarrassment of having a son of wealth pay her check in a cafe may not be too great. Her various attempts to get out of the mansion where he lands her without his seeing her, are more than merely laughable.

And then the family fireside with the radio, that never works, much to the exasperation of the Irish parent of Babs, as played by Charlie Murray. And Babs's climaxing experience of the ride home with the milkman, who asks "What's the matter with this road. You're the sixth (I think it was sixth) city girl that's asked me for a ride this week!"

The picture is packed with as varied an assortment of light incidents of this type as any that I have seen in ages, and every situation is embellished and brightened with knock-out subtitles. Few pictures, indeed, featuring a feminine star have ever been funnier.

Miss Griffith has found a new metier for herself in this sort of production. It is a great relief to see her in a portrayal that is alive and animated, rather than one that is stilted and languishing. She has an astonishing adaptability to a comedy interpretation of this sort, and also looks her loveliest.

It is easier to begin than to end the praise for the others, the cast is so exceedingly well chosen, and all play with such spirit. Jack Mulhall is the more or less heroic lead, but the charm of his portrayal is that he indulges in no heroics. Ward Crane is a polished near-villain, but no villain at that—excellent. Carroll Nye and Murray make a great combination with their radio comedy, and Nye wins laughs, too, in some of the scenes with Miss Griffith, while Edythe Chapman is just sufficiently sincere to keep up the appeal of mother interest. George Sidney and Bernard Randall are immense as Weinstein and Bernstein, the two importers of "exclusive French models." Jacqueline Wells is right in the picture as the younger sister.

"Classified" abounds in a cleverness that must be attributed in large part to the direction of Al Santell, who has been forging to the front very rapidly of late. June Mathis adapted the picture, while Ralph Spence is responsible for the titles.

With this as the headliner, and a Fanchon and Marco Idea, that stars a stout comedy entertainer who stops the show, the bill at the State this week deserves the very highest recommendations.

"SATAN IN SABLES" AT FORUM THEATER

A good villain may be gone to waste through Lowell Sherman's effort to portray a semiheroic role in "Satan in Sables," but at least there are some compensations, though none too many, in this production which is showing at the Forum Theater.

One of the principal highlights is the appearance of Pauline Garon as a little Parisian gamin who at the outset of the story, for all practical purposes, resembles our old friend Kiki. Miss Garon has the sympathetic character, and had more footage been allotted to her adventure, and less to Mr. Sherman, the picture might from a popular standpoint have been a better one. At that, though, it would be the pretty well-worn narrative of the somewhat forward young miss who eventually captures the fancy of the ennui-ed man of the world.

Sherman is a capital actor, but he has only a few scenes where he may fittingly disclose his talent. The role is pretty much a stand-around-and-wait one, except for the moment that he drives to an auto smash-up finish.

The plot doesn't stay in that straight and direct course, where most good plots should stay. Indeed, it rambles considerably, focusing for a time on the romance between the presumed hero and the gamin, and then again on the devotion that he has for his brother, who falls in love with one of his ex-sweethearts.

The general effect is artificial and lacking in real sympathy, and outside of the presence of Sherman and the outbursts of comedy due to Miss Garon's work might be termed somewhat deficient in interest. This fault would seem due chiefly to the casting—or rather miscasting—of Mr. Sherman. The picture is not without variety and attraction in its setting, costumes and other embellishments.

Miss Garon is unfortunately less effective in her acting in the romantic episodes than the more animated ones of the beginning. However, this picture seems to define anew the latent promise of her talent, which has not been so well manifested since she appeared in "Sonny" several years ago.

Gertrude Astor plays a heavy and conventional vamping role that is quite thankless in its opportunities, though she acts it acceptably. Johnnie Harron is the brother, and other principals are Francis J. MacDonald, Frances Raymond and Frank Butler. James Flood directed from the story by Bradley King.

An early contribution to laugh month, Walter Hiers in "Hot Doggie," enlivens the program very materially, for Hiers is a genial personality as always, and the gags and fun are built very satisfactorily to his requirements. The Ted Henkel orchestra is still a big hit.

SAINTED, BUT NOT SCARLET

BY HERBERT MOULTON

Another one of those wife-in-name-only dramas is in our midst.

It has one of those see-if-you-can-guess-what-I-mean titles.

It is mildly interesting, providing you like your diet regular and not too spicy.

"The Scarlet Saint," which opened Saturday at the Criterion, is more saintly than scarlet. Mary Astor is supposed to be the crimson angel, but she doesn't do anything which would bring a frown on the brow of even a Pennsylvania censor. It is really a man who plays the title role, although this won't be apparent unless you sit right through the last reel.

We thought the old plot of the cruel father forcing his beautiful daughter into marriage with the wealthy villain passed out about the same time that mustache cups did. But the movies, which are always doing the unexpected, have revived the idea.

All of the old familiar elements have been awakened from their well-earned lethargy; some of them, in fact, will doubtless prove novelties to the younger generation.

Credit must be given, however, for several fresh twists in the plot.

The villain is not killed off when the complications become too thick. He turns out to be a gentleman after all, although it wouldn't be fair to relate just how he manages to do it.

The setting of the picture is in New Orleans, which means that there are several scenes of the Mardi Gras and two horse races. The romantic interest is supplied by Miss Astor and Lloyd Hughes. The latter is duped by the villain, who is a suave, clever and rather handsome baron.

The baron has been affianced to the heroine since she was 16 years of age. When he comes to claim her as his bride he finds her in love with Hughes. Accordingly, he outwits Hughes just when an elopement is in sight and makes the girl marry him.

What is undoubtedly meant to be the "big" sequence in the picture comes when Hughes and the girl, now the baroness, run off on the wedding night. They go to a hotel, where they register as man and wife.

Several directorial "touches"—gestures of sophistication—mark this episode, but instead of making "touches" of them, the director has laid a heavy hand upon the whole works. The effect is ruinous.

It is sufficient to have the desk clerk smile knowingly as he observes the hero's hesitation when signing the hotel register, and to elevate his eyebrows when he notices the heroine's wedding ring. But it rubs it in too much to have the scrubwoman and the maid and the bellhop do the same thing.

Mary Astor's performance is a charming one, although she has been seen to far better advantage in the past. She is well cast for the part. The principal fault with her work lies in her being left up in the air in several scenes—a fault which is purely directorial.

I wish Lloyd Hughes would smile once in a while.

It is true that he doesn't have much of an excuse to be happy in "The Scarlet Saint," but even if he feigned a grin it would help matters enormously. As it is, he plays the "straight" heroic role—the clean-cut, stern and honest lad, who has a mentality none too dexterous.

Most human of all the character delineations is that of Frank Morgan, as the baron. Morgan is a particularly nasty villain until the latter portion of the picture—when some miraculous change takes place. His is the kind of villainy one enjoys.

Others appearing are Jed Prouty, Jack Raymond, George Neville, Frances Grant and J. W. Jenkins. Prouty overacts considerably in spots, while the others are adequate in their respective roles.

Minstrel King Tops New Bill at the Orpheum

Eddie Leonard, minstrel king, dean of blackface art in America, and now at the very zenith of his powers and popularity, will be the topliner for the new Orpheum bill opening this afternoon.

Leonard, who is also one of America's foremost song writers, brings a whole troupe with him on this tour, with John Russell as a feature, and presents his act in both white and blackface. He has a big budget of new songs in the act, including the one from which it takes its name—"Oh, Didn't It Rain?" Leonard appears in no other theater here, and this is his last engagement on this Coast.

Val and Ernie Stanton, those "English boys from America," are just back from showing London how it is done here and they bring a new routine of material under the title, "Keep It Under Your Hat."

Florrie LeVere, formerly of Holmes and LeVere, will offer her idea of "Celebrities," with Lou Handman at the piano. She will be found a really artistic delineator of unusual stage folk. Miss Grette Ardine will come in a delightful little dancing episode, "The French Model," using John Tyrrel and Dave Kaye in her act. Miss Ardine is one of the original Berlin Madcaps, and is a stepper of unusual worth and ability, as well as a beauty.

The Four Diamonds, in "a perfect setting" include Hughie, Phoebe, Thomas and Harold, and some good music is a certainty from them. John Sully and Muriel Thomas offer youth, beauty and folly as they step and sing. Keller Sisters and Lynch will employ a series of dances to amuse, and Cole and Snyder as "The Director" have a fertile field, the movies offering a big opportunity for this satire. Topics and news will be added to this well-rounded and wholly worth-while bill opening this week.

COMPLETES BARA FILM

Richard Wallace, megaphone wielder for Hal Roach, has just completed the direction of the first picture in which Theda Bara has appeared since her announced retirement from the screen. According to Wallace, the public will meet with an agreeable surprise when they see the former "vamp" on the screen in a comedy role, as her versatility was never more cleverly demonstrated, she having portrayed her assignment with adroit skill.

"GOLDEN STRAIN" ANOTHER WESTERN

Screen Version of Kyne Opus is Disappointing in Its Lack of Appeal

The screen version of Peter B. Kyne's successful novel, "The Thoroughbred," is just another Western.

Under the title of "The Golden Strain," the picture is showing at the Figueroa. It was directed by Victor Schertzinger from a scenario by Eve Unsell. Both have missed fire in aiming at another "epic" of the Southwest. They had an abundance of epic-making ingredients at their command, but did not recognize them, apparently.

The period is the early '80's. Most of the action of the piece takes place down at old Fort Huachuca in Arizona, the exact locale of the story. The cameraman did not fail in his shooting, however, for he gives us some gorgeous landscape panoramas of mountain, desert and sky.

And then there is the famous Tenth Cavalry—one sees them in the background of the action. The central character is a member of this fine old outfit but there is nothing done during the action to put over any of the traditions of this unit of the service whose history in itself would make an epic film.

Kenneth Harlan plays the central character, a second lieutenant, just out of West Point. Now anyone, who knows anything about the United States Military Academy, knows that when a young man graduates from there he is about 22 years of age. Harlan is not only miscast, but his delineation is also unconvincing. He seems to do just what the director tells him to do, mechanically. Even when the "golden strain" of courage is reborn in his consciousness, supposedly, Harlan makes no attempt to put over the transition reactions of the boy, who, coward at heart, had been sent to West Point because it was a tradition in his family that its men were soldiers.

There are a villain and a lot of subtitles referring to the Apache menace and something that must be guarded by the troops, and conferences between the villain and the Indians, but one never knows what it is all about for that thread in the continuity seems to get tangled up somewhere in the cactus-studded desert. There's a covered wagon sequence that has a surprise element. This is a high light of the piece which is otherwise hopelessly lacking in the finer, deft touches of light and shade that illuminate a cinema production and give it depth and character. The delicious human touches that make the whole world akin are not there and the comedy relief is negative.

Hobart Bosworth brings his shining talents to the delineation of the fiery old ex-Confederate officer, father of Harlan. He invests the part with many intimate details that portray the sterling character of the man.

Frank McGlynn appears in the role of Bosworth's foster son and gives a splendid performance in a more or less thankless role. Ann Pennington, who plays opposite him, is very cute, but much of her scintillating personality seems to be lost on the screen. When she masters the technique of make-up and tempo we may see the real Ann.

Madge Bellamy appears as Harlan's sweetheart and an unusual amount of footage is given them in close-ups. Others in the cast are Lawford Davidson, Frank Beal, Robert Frazer, Oscar Smith, Grace Morse, Larry Fisher, George Reed and Lola Mackay. In a cut-back Frankie Lee appears as a boy in the Harlan role and Guy Watson in the McGlynn role. Both children delineate their roles with charming artistry.

An interesting atmospheric prologue precedes the feature and Eddie Janis and his Figueroans entertain in their usual sprightly manner. The stage entertainment is well worth viewing.

NEW COAST-TO-COAST STAR

Janet Gaynor, the coast-to-coast star at 19. She acquired this title when she received a long-time contract from Fox Films. Miss Gaynor began her schooling on the Atlantic coast of Florida and finished it in San Francisco. She is now acting before the camera in "The Johnstown Flood," with George O'Brien and Florence Gilbert, under the direction of Irving Cummings.

FLASHES

"HANDS UP" FULL OF PEP, FUN AND SPICE

By Grace Kingsley

"Hands Up" is right! It must have been old Captain Kidd himself who inspired "Hands Up!"

MARIAN NIXON

Nothing is sacred to that gang of kidders. Everybody is kidded—statesmen, historians, critics, the public. Your dearest treasures of dreamy historic and social illusion are yanked right out of your hands by them. You laugh while you gasp. But if your back teeth aren't jarred loose by the jolt, you will thoroughly enjoy "Hands Up." It is on view at the Metropolitan. Raymond Griffith is the star and Clarence Badger directed.

The picture starts out quite seriously, with Abraham Lincoln—there, I told you need shock absorbers!—the central figure. But even the most squeamish can hardly object to the manner in which this episode is handled. At least I myself didn't, and of all my heroes, Lincoln is the dearest. Indeed I think that the great man himself might have smiled at this lively bunch of spontaneous fun. He is shown in all his fine, sweet, grave dignity, with the reverent George Billings in the role.

The story concerns two soldiers, a Northerner and a Southerner, who start West during the Civil War to bring back gold from a certain rich mine to aid the respective causes. Raymond Griffith is the Southern soldier; and it is the series of comic adventures he has en route and while at the mine that make up the fun.

All in evening regalia, even to top hat and opera cloak, Griffith makes the journey and has his adventures. The gags are all great. When he is to be executed as a spy, he gets the soldiers working at target practice on some plates, so they forget to kill him. His efforts to engage the attention of the two pretty sisters in the stage coach are very funny. And there is a charming romance about these scenes, too, as Griffith is an engaging person, and the two girls, played by the adorable Virginia Lee Corbin and the equally adorable Marion Nixon, are as sweet a pair of innocent vamps as ever fell in love with a good looking soldier. The scenes with the bee and the arrows are hilarious, and Griffith is very funny calmly looking around at the scenery as he is being carried away on the back of an Indian who has kidnaped him.

One gag that is a yell is that in which Griffith stops the Indians in their war dance to teach them the Charleston, and another is his strip game of dice with the Indian chief in war feathers.

Bright spontaneity marks the whole bunch of fun, and one feels sure that if you got to the bottom of the matter, you would find Ray Griffith pretty well responsible for the production. Especially as the same quality of daring, whimsical humor marks every picture in which he appears, no matter who directs or writes for him. He is a great new figure in comedy, with plenty of originality and dash as an actor.

The scene in which one girl saves the hero from hanging by declaring dramatically that he is her husband, only to be followed by the other sister also declaring he is her husband, is a scream. You wonder how on earth he is going to decide between them, when along comes Brigham Young, and in a daring bit at the end, you see the hero dashing off with both girls in a prairie schooner marked "To Salt Lake City."

Mack Swain, Montagu Love and the others of the cast all acquit themselves well.

Presentation features are delightful, including a colored male quartet singing old darky songs, and Herb Wiedoeft and his Cinderella Roof Orchestra.

Really, if you are out for a good time this week, you can hardly afford to miss the Metropolitan.

Robert Frazer Engaged

Robert Frazer has been cast for the leading male role in "Desert Gold," a Paramount production.

ROBERT FRAZER

Frazer recently completed work in Frank Lloyd's "The Splendid Road" in which he is co-featured with Anna Q. Nilsson.

Frazer will leave for Palm Springs early this week where exterior scenes will be filmed. Shirley Mason and Neil Hamilton have also been cast for featured roles in "Desert Gold."

The new picture will mark Frazer's third appearance under the Paramount banner. He previously played the leading roles opposite Pola Negri in two of her productions, "Men" and "The Charmer." It was Pola Negri, who proclaimed Frazer the screen's greatest lover.

"PARADE" CAST AT THEATER TONIGHT

Stars of a big motion-picture production, for the first time in the history of Southern California, tonight in Hollywood will operate the theater in which they are being featured on the screen.

Through final arrangements to be made today, the stars in "The Big Parade," King Vidor's epic drama of the World War for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, will serve the patrons of Grauman's Egyptian Theater in the capacities of theater attaches.

Acting as a ticket seller in the box office will be John Gilbert, who stars in "The Big Parade." At the entrance to the foyer tickets will be taken by King Vidor, who won fame as the director of the drama. Renee Adoree will distribute programs to the visitors in the foyer.

Patrons will be seated under the immediate supervision of Karl Dane and Tom O'Brien, acting as head ushers.

MANY TAKEN IN SERIES OF RAIDS

Gambling and Volstead Act Violations Charged

Vice Squads Make Haul in Weed-End Clean-up

Hundreds of Gallons of Liquor Seized

Officers Sheffield and Randolph of the vice squad arrested eleven asserted gamblers early yesterday morning at 923 East Twenty-ninth street.

Other units of the squad made several minor gambling raids, netting ten prisoners. They were booked at Central Police Station.

The liquor detail booked sixteen prisoners taken late Saturday night and early Sunday morning. They are being held for Wright Act possession.

Edward A. Case of 1606 Edgecliff Drive was arrested by Federal dry agents at his home for a violation of the Volstead Act.

SEVEN ARRESTED

Capt. Jim Bond, in charge of the morals squad of the Sheriff's office, made seven arrests at 1700 East Slauson avenue on gambling charges.

Nine arests on liquor charges were made over the week-end by the forces of George Contreras, chief enforcement officer of the District Attorney's office. Five of the arrests were made in the Lomita district.

These were, according to Conteras, M. B. Rowe and George J. Rowe, brothers, charged with selling liquor, 100 pints of whisky confiscated; J. H. McGoven and T. J. Newkirk, both on selling charges, and K. Oswa, Japanese, fifteen gallons of corn whisky, confiscated. Oswa, it was reported, said some of his friends required the liquor for medicinal purposes.

LIQUOR DESTROYED

Near Calabasas, Joe Torrentino was arrested charged with the sale of a gallon of wine, and officers reported they destroyed 200 gallons. Jim Warren was arrested near Bell charged with the sale of five gallons of wine, and five gallons of whisky were reported confiscated.

Charged with having five gallons of whisky in his car, Harry Longford was arrested near Downey. John Stringle was arrested near Whittier, charged with having 128 pints of whisky in his machine.

HIS MARTIAL YOUTH

The reported illness of the ex-Kaiser recalled to an editor's mind a story about the all highest war lord's youth.

"In his youth," said the editor, "when he first came to the throne, an astonomer showed him the moon through an enormous telescope one night.

"'What do you think of that. Your Majesty?' the astronomer asked.

"'Nothing,' said the Kaiser. 'Nothing whatever. What use is the moon to me?'

"Then, patting the huge telescope with his hand, he added:

"'Can't you make me a cannon out of this?'"—[Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

FAMOUS BANDMASTER HERE

John Philip Sousa Schedules Busy Week of Concerts; First Los Angeles Program for Children

Sousa, the March King, returns to Southern California this week for a series of concerts. Today he will be the guest of the city of San Bernardino, where at luncheon he is being entertained by the combined men's luncheon clubs, before his concerts this afternoon and evening. Tomorrow afternoon Pomona men's clubs are entertaining him at luncheon before the matinee performance. Tomorrow evening his organization plays in Pasadena.

Wednesday will be Hollywood day, with a motor ride in the forenoon, a visit to the convalescent soldiers at Sawtelle, a citizens' luncheon at the Hollywood Athletic Club, with matinee and evening performances at the Hollywood High School. The entire band is being entertained at dinner at the Athletic Club by a special committee.

Thursday at 11:30 a.m. he conducts a special rehearsal of the combined elementary school orchestras, numbering 240 children from 160 schools, at Philharmonic Auditorium. This rehearsal program has been prepared by Miss Jennie Jones, supervisor of orchestral music in the elementary schools, assisted by Misses Mary B. Ludlow, Alma L. Stickel, Lorna Reavis, Grace M. Dering and Marion W. Rice. At 3 p.m. the regular Sousa program starts, which will virtually be given to the children of the public schools, as 2000 of them will face the bandmaster. This concert, is, however, open to the public with reserved seats for everyone. Mrs. Susan Dorsey, superintendent of schools, is attending the rehearsal.

Thursday evening and Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings Mr. Sousa will give entirely different programs at the Philharmonic. Thursday he will be entertained at luncheon by the Masonic Club of Los Angeles, and Friday he will be guest of honor at the Rotary Club.

HIGH PRICES

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine was talking about high prices. "A rich farmer on his way to Florida for the winter," he said, "was attracted by the beauty of the pears in a fashionable New York fruit shop. He went in, chose two pears and said:

"'Wrap these up for me, young man. How much?'

"'Four dollars, sir,' said the salesman.

"The farmer gulped. Then he handed the salesman a $5 bill.

"'Keep the change, young man,' he said. 'I took a grape while you weren't looking.'" — [Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

May McAvoy on Her Way East to Appear in Film

Having just concluded her most successful year as a free lance, May McAvoy departed yesterday for New York to be starred with Ben Lyon in the stage play, "The Savage," which First National will film.

Miss McAvoy portrayed the starring feminine role of Esther in "Ben Hur," and she is expected to make several personal appearances in the East.

Representatives of foreign film producers are to greet her in New York. Recently the Cutts Film Company, Ltd., of England, submitted a contract, which she declined because of the difficulty of guarantees for an American release.

A Christmas Warning

Bishop Walter Taylor Sumner said in an address in New Orleans:

"Christmas is a happy time, but it would be happier still if everybody would remember a Christmas anecdote that I heard in my boyhood.

"'Darling,' a young wife said to her husband. 'I'll lunch downtown today. You see, I'm going to buy you a Christmas present.'

"Her husband squirmed a little in his chair.

"'Make it something inexpensive, won't you, sweetheart?' he said anxiously. 'I haven't paid for my birthday present yet.'"—[Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

NOTED MEN TO ADDRESS TRADE BODY

Business Outlook for 1926 to be Subjects Discussed at Commerical Board Meeting

Henry S. McKee, president of Barker Brothers; William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific; R. H. Ballard, vice-president and general manager of the Southern California Edison Company; Harry Chandler, Chester A. Brown, president of the Chamber of Mines and Oil, and Fred W. Beetson, West Coast secretary of the Motion-Picture Producers' Association, will be speakers, it is announced, at the eleventh annual meeting of the Commercial Board of Los Angeles, Thursday evening at the Chamber of Commerce Building.

The general subject will be "What Business May Expect in 1926," and each speaker has been assigned a particular section of the business field, said E. M. Boddy, managing director of the board, announcing the meeting.

"This represents the most important gathering in the history of the organization," said Mr. Boddy. "All the major industries that affect the prosperity of Southern California are at the crossroads. Transportation from a national point of view is undergoing great changes and so with all the other industries."

BANDITS TIE DRUG CLERK, TAKE CASH

Passersby Watch Hold-up and Phone Police, But Robbers Escape

While passersby stood peering through the doors, as absorbed in the thrilling spectacle as though it were a movie drama, two unmasked bandits late last evening held up and robbed J. Kalick, clerk of the Excel Drug Store, 3766 South Normandie avenue. More than $100 was taken from the cash register.

Not waiting for the bandits to finish their operations, the spectators ran to a near-by telephone and called University police.

In the meantime, the robbers, who were said to be heavily armed, had bound Kalick securely and carried him into the back room of the store. He was found there by Officers Magnuss and Adams.

Kalick said he supposed the men were customers, but when he went to wait on them they flourished revolvers and commanded him to hold up his hands. They took all the money in sight and, after tying him, fled.

MUSIC INNOVATION

Victrola Selections Provide Diversion to Postoffice Visitors

Bundle-laden shoppers, doing their Christmas mailing late, paused in their mad charge at the mailing line in the postoffice yesterday, to listen to the sweet strains of "Silent Night."

A victrola, lent by the J. W. Jenkins Son Music Company, stands in the lobby a short distance from the huge electrically lighted Christmas tree.

A watchful attendant changed the record, and the lilting strains of the "Hungarian Rhapsody" drew a small crowd of music lovers around the instrument.

"It's the chief's idea," said the attendant, referring to William E. Morton, postmaster. "It gives the people a little bit of the Christmas spirit. Many persons stop and tell us how much they appreciate the innovation."

At night the victrola plays for the 600 employees who are helping with the Christmas rush. In the late shift coffee and doughnuts are served to the men.—[Kansas City Times.

APPLE SAID TO BE A PREHISTORIC FOOD

The universal popularity of the apple, wherever it is available, is due to an instinctive recognition of its merits as a human foodstuff, Dr. J. H. Kellogg stated in a recent address. The apple was well known to the prehistoric peoples of Europe. Traces of it are found in the ancient lake dwellings of Switzerland. The earliest settlers of America found the Indians cutivating apple orchards. The apple, with other fruits and nuts, constituted the staples of the bill of fare of the primitive man.

The fact that consistent fruitarians, both adult and children, maintain a well-nourished condition on diets of fruits and nuts which are of moderate food value and low protein content, is strong evidence that the nutrients of fruits and nuts must be well digested and also efficiently utilized in metabolism. This is in harmony both with the belief that man is descended from ancestors whose chief food was fruit and nuts, and with the results of modern investigations of the chemical structure of the nut proteins.

Fruits and nuts are to be regarded as staple articles of food and by no means as simple relishes or accessories.

Everybody whose urine is too acid can eat apples with profit, which means, of course, that every meat eater, every one who drinks tea or coffee, every person who indulges freely in breakfast foods, should eat apples as an antidote for the acid foods which he eats.

The conventional combination of apple sauce with roast pork is another illustration of the wonderful instinctive guidance which we human beings may once have possessed to a much larger, extent than now, and which we see so well illustrated in lower animals.—[Fruit News.

PRIZE FLOATS ON DISPDAY

Two of the prize-winning floats in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses now are on exhibition in the court of Grauman's Egyptian Theater. They are the floral elephant of the city of Glendale and the float entered by the combined chapters of the Order of De Molay, a junior organization of the sons of members of the Masonic fraternity.

REALTY MAN OPENS FIGHT FOR LICENSE

Clifford F. Reid Refused Permit by Commissioner Will Take Case to Court

A determined court fight, revolving about the provisions of the California Real Estate Act, is expected to be commenced today when attorneys for Clifford F. Reid, head of a large real estate concern bearing his name, will go before the Superior Court and institute mandamus proceedings to force J. R. Gabbert, State Real Estate Commissioner, to issue the the commissioner and applied for for 1926.

The license of Reid was revoked last August 15 by Commissioner Gabbert. The Reid company appealed to the Superior Court, filed a bond and continued to operate, Mr. Gabbert stated yesterday. The case did not come to trial before the end of the year, and last Saturday, Mr. Reid appeared before the Commissioner and applied for a 1926 license for himself as well as for the 100 agents in his employ. After an examination the license was denied. Mr. Gabbert said he was then notified that mandamus proceedings would be brought in the Superior Court.

"If Mr. Reid is successful in his efforts it amounts practically to a nullification of the State law," said Mr. Gabbert. "The real estate department will go into court prepared for a bitter conflict. The Reid case is extremely important, as numerous other brokers, similarly situated, are watching the outcome."

Mr. Gabbert explained that if the brokers manage to operate in spite of commissioner's rulings, the restraint delegated by the State law is nullified.

Heart Disease Ends Life of Rail Employee

Stricken suddenly with an acute attack of heart disease, Edward W. Graham, 54 years of age, connected with the Union Pacific System for a quarter of a century, fell dead in his home, 111 South Hoover street, yesterday about 5 p.m. in his bedroom. He had been out driving with Mrs. Graham but on return home complained of feeling ill.

Mr. Graham was born in Natic, Mass. He lived in Los Angeles for fifteen years, during which time he was a traveling passenger agent. For ten years previously, he was a dining-car conductor on Union Pacific runs between here and Chicago and between San Francisco and Omaha.

The Grahams had no children. No relatives live here. The body was cared for by Emerson & White, Whittier, Charles Emerson being a particular friend of the family. Burial will take place here.

THE STATEGIST

"Col. William Mitchell turned his own court-martial into a court-martial of the Army and Navy, and that was a brilliant piece of strategy," said L. E. Burgess, the airplane designer, at a reception in Pittsburgh.

"Mitchell," he went on, "was as brilliant a strategist as Tom, the boarder.

"Tom and Sam, two brothers, boarded in Cinnaminson with a skinflint married couple, and every Sunday they had steak and potato pie for dinner.

"Well, the pie was made with all the steak on one side and all the potatoes on the other, and the married couple always sat on the steak side of the table, while Tom and Sam sat on the potato side, and so the result was that host and hostess got all the meat, and the boarders got nothing but potatoes.

"At last Tom said to Sam one Sunday morning:

"'Look here, Sam, no matter what I say to you at dinner today, don't take offense—promise me.'

"'All right; I promise, Tom.'

"Well, dinner time came; the pie, steaming hot, was set on the table as usual; the married couple took their places on the steak side, and the brothers dropped as usual into chairs opposite the potatoes.

"But then, just as the woman was about to thrust her carving knife into the crisp crust, Tom hit the table a blow with his fist and glared at his brother Sam and roared:

"'Look-a-here, Sam, if ever you dare to speak to me again in the insultin' way you did this mornin' when I was in the company of a young woman, I'll screw your neck round, by heck, the same as I'm screwin' round this here pie.'"

FILIPINO JUSTICE

George A. Fairchild, publisher of the Manila Times, said on his recent visit to New York:

"To court-martial a flying officer because he tries to improve the flying service of his country strikes me as a piece of Filipino justice.

"Here is an example of Filipino justice. A tourist woke up one night just in time to see a thief climbing out of the window with his clothes.

"'Stop, thief!' he yelled, and jumped through the window in pursuit. His pursuit was so fast and furious, by gum, that after 100 yards or so the thief dropped his booty. The tourist gathered it up and was hurrying back to his hotel with it when a Filipino policeman arrested him as a suspicious character.

"In the Police Court the tourist told his story angrily to the magistrate; then he said:

"'And now, I suppose, I can go.'

"'No,' said the magistrate, 'we'll have to hold you. Lock him up, officer.'

"'Hold me! For heaven's sake, why?'

"'Because,' said the magistrate, 'we don't know yet whether or not you've told us the truth. Yes, friend, we'll have to hold you till the thief identifies you as the man he robbed.'"

WASTED EFFORT

The Bureau of Education in the Interior Department estimated that the cost of irregular attendance in the schools of the United States last year was $250,000,000 in wasted time and effort. The survey showed an average actual attendance of 147.7 days. Half of the pupils attended school less than seven and one-half months; more than one-fourth considerably less than five months and more than one-eighth less than three months.—[Exchange.

Mr. Eastman Could Not Walk to Bathtub Withou ance, but COSO MINERAL MUD BATHS a VOLCANIC IRON WATER Restored Healt

After years of suffering with rheumatism, my condition became recently almost helpless. Through the advice of the manager of a large lumber company, I began the use of Coso Volcanic Iron Water and Volcanic Mineral Mud Baths. Drinking the water seemed to thoroughly arouse my liver and rapidly improved my digestion. When I first began taking the mud baths my wife had to assist me to the tub, as it was practically impossible for me to take the baths without assistance. After drinking the water only a few days and after two or three of these baths the inflammation was rapidly removed and my condition improved to such an extent that I could take the baths without help, and now after completing the course I am in better physical condition than in many years. I have perspired as I had never perspired in my life since pouring this volcanic mud into my bath water. My skin was dry and felt unnatural, but the clay seemed to open the old closed pores, arouse my circulation, and seemed to draw like a plaster. I actually feel today that Coso Water and Mineral mud baths have made me a new man, and life worth living. I have absolutely no interest in the Coso treatment, further than to assist my friends and anyone who may suffer from rheumatism or a similar ailment. Those interested may correspond with me or speak with me in person.

"Whash time we get spliced?"

"S-sh! Somebody might hear you." Elsie raised on tiptoe so her mouth was close to his ear. "I'll be outside Sullivan's at 2 o'clock. We'll get a license. Then Father Duffy'll marry us tomorrow night. Tomorrow night, Pete."

"You sure you got enough money, now? You ain't holdin' out on me? Dam it! If you're holdin' out on me!"

"Pete, I swear upon everything holy that I got $400 dollars. I been savin' up for ten years—I-I-I gotta hope chest too."

"Whash t'hell's that?"

"A boy filled with things I been makin' up ever since I was a kid. Towels and napkins. Classy little table covers with flowers embroidered on 'em. Kitchen aprons. Oh, Pete, don't laugh at me. I-I-I got—"

"N' chance laughin'! Funny as a crutch you are. Go on, Els, shoot!"

"I got baby things made up. Oh, God, Pete, don't you laugh at me!"

Minnie closed the door and hurried upstairs. She couldn't bear to hear any more of it. That night she lay awake for an hour trying to make up her mind whether or not to tell her mother what she had overheard. She went to sleep deciding that it would be rather interesting to see what came of the marriage, so she said nothing. And two days later it happened.

On the night of the dance, Minnie wore her white machine-embroidered dress, from which the yoke had been carefully cut, to reveal her smooth round shoulders and long, slender neck. She had bought new white slippers for the occasion, and white cotton lisle stockings. Her hair, elaborately dressed, rather startled Billy at first, though he agreed with Minnie that it did show off to advantage.

"Oh, Lord, Billy, what a time I had doin' it! An' ma's hands so shaky she wasn't a bit o' help!"

"I guess she ain't got over Pete's bein' married. I seen him on the street the other day and he don't seem to be any th' worse for wear. He stopped me and told me that Elsie was a dam fine girl and he was out lookin' for a job. He means to support her even if she did have a neat little roll laid away."

"He said that, did he?"—Minnie always clamped her teeth together when she talked about Pete—"The dirty loafer! A lot of jobs he'll get, and Elsie knows it, too. But she'd rather have a bum hangin' around her to support than be a decent, self-respectin' old maid."

"She loves him, Min," and Billy sighed so lugubriously that Minnie laughed outright. "When you're dead stuck on somebody else, you're just a mush pot. You ain't responsible. I can't make fun o' Elsie because I'm in th' same boat as her."

"Aw, go on, Billy, you're soft as butter!"

They were in the subway on their way to the Harlem dance hall.

"Jimmy says the decorations at th' ball will knock your eye out. An' they've gotta nigger band there, twelve pieces and seven drums. My feet are just achin' for a good dance, Billy, so you mustn't get sore if I step out a little bit tonight——"

"One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street!"

"Here we are! Come on, Billy! Don't sit there gapin' at th' signs! Pick up your feet! Can't you look where you're goin'?"

The Harlem Dance Hall on Second avenue loomed up before them, its huge doorways festooned in red and blue electric lights. The swinging doors, opening and closing, disgorged a confusion of sounds, a sudden burst of pounding, discordant music. Billy and Minnie rushed through them. There was an annoying pause while Billy struggled to find the tickets, then the doors closed in back of them and they were immersed in a swarming loud-voiced crowd that filled the entrance hall. What a glare of bright lights, and how hot and feverish the air seemed after the cool of night!

At every step Minnie's pulses quickened until her tension was almost painful. She saw many important-looking ushers wearing large red, white and blue badges. The people seemed to respect them, and make way for them. Think of it! Jimmy was an usher. She wondered what he would say when he saw her there.

The wail and the crash of the orchestra! The shuffle of hundreds of feet upon the floor! The hysteria of the voices beat upon Minnie's ears until her senses were deadened to everything but the impulse to spring into the heterogeneous mass and become a part of it.

"Billy, for th' love of Mike, hold me an' let's go into th' dance! I've never been so excited in my life. Feel as if I were just goin' to blow up!"

They whirled onto the floor and he swung her around and around in dizzying circles to the pulsing rhythm of a waltz.

The cymbals clashed, the drums beat a furious challenge. Encore. Then a shout and a scramble for the benches slapped up against the sides of the dance hall.

Four hours of this procedure passed before the real adventure of the evening came to Minnie Flynn. She was introduced to Al Kessler by Jimmy.

"Al," he whispered, "is a movie actor!"

"MOVIE ACTOR!"

The first step in a new life—this meeting with a stranger in a cheap dance hall. What will the future bring? The next installment of this most absorbing novel by the screen's foremost writer will appear in tomorrow's Times.

RICE SUCCESSFULLY RAISED IN ILLINOIS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LEWISTOWN (Ill.) Jan. 3.—Highly successful rice cultivation in the land of wheat and corn has been accomplished by Bert Edwards, who manages a farm near here. He has just harvested a crop on a 135-acre patch with the bumper yield of 65 bushels to the acre. This is the first time that rice has ever been grown commercially this far north, Lewistown being in the northern half of the State. Cultivation of rice as an experiment was started two years ago. The result has been so successful that it is planned to gradually extend rice growing until there are 1500 acres in cultivation.

PARK PRRFERENCE TOLD

The Board of Park Commissioners has suggested to the City Council that the new park to be established in the southwest part of the city be located on the south side of the street-car line right of way, between Mesa Drive and Inglewood Cemetery. The commission preferred this location to one which had been proposed at the northeast corner of Eighth avenue and Seventieth street.

Rural Carriers Will Scatter Grain to Birds

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Jan. 3.—The rural mail carrier, dispenser of joy and sorrow from his daily pack, has added Bob White and family to his list of patrons for the winter.

Through co-operation of the State game department and government postal officials, the rural carriers will be supplied with grain for Missouri's thousands of quail, to help the feathery residents through the bitter winter times. The food will be distributed in the rural districts as part of the daily routine.

Loss of life was heavy among the flocks last year when four weeks of heavy ice covered the berries and other foods consumed by the quail.

FUTURE WISELY HIDDEN FROM US, SAYS PASTOR

Dr. Martin Points Out How Life, Which Might be Wearisome, is Made Adventure

Declaring that the realization of the fact of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man makes every day the beginning of a glad new year, Dr. Willsie Martin, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Hollywood, in a sermon preached yesterday from The Times broadcasting station, told his audience that it is possible for every one, like Enoch, to walk hand in hand with God. Dr. Martin spoke in part as follows:

"Life is always a journey into a new country. Every morning we set out on a strange highway. We sometimes wish that we might see the end of the road from the beginning, but I am sure that such a wish is a foolish one. What one of us could bear the load of the entire road? How it would spoil all the sunlit way to know that [illegible] would be our portion! If we saw it all, there would be none of the thrill of the new and strange and unexpected, but, instead, life would be a common desert waste where every undulation we had seen from the start. There are no human shoulders strong enough to bear the strain of knowing all the future. I doubt if there be a heart brave enough to endure all that the future holds for it, if it were thrust on it all at once.

TREK INTO UNKNOWN

"When we come to a new year it is as if we had come across a [illegible] pass and found at our feet a land stretching far away, a [illegible]. Life is an adventure. It [illegible] into the unknown. We [illegible] explorers. What this new [illegible] which we have just entered will hold for us, none can [illegible]. The mist of the unforeseen obscures not only the road [illegible] to go, but it also shrouds [illegible] the high mountains [illegible] the deep canyons of 1926. [illegible] will find the road of the [illegible] to the rich diggings [illegible] Dorado. Some will walk this [illegible] road of pinching want. [illegible] it will be the sunlit way [illegible] romance, fortune, happiness will be its features. To another it will be a gray road of [illegible]; the cold winds of [illegible] and the fog of fear [illegible] grim attendants. Not one [illegible] knows what fortune awaits [illegible] the turn of the trail. We [illegible] predict today what pleasures we may wander through [illegible] we perceive the cruel canyons we may have to thread nor [illegible] treacherous streams that we [illegible].

"[illegible] because we cannot see what [illegible] may have in store for us, [illegible] not make the mistake of [illegible] that it will make no difference how we walk in this new [illegible]. The success or failure of the [illegible] not determined by the fortune or the health that may be [illegible]; it is settled by the spirit with which we meet each new circumstance of joy or loss. That which will make the year a triumph or a failure is our own attitude. One man will take all the blessings of wealth, abounding vitality, open doors of opportunity, the rich heritage of culture and make a tragic [illegible] of the year because of his selfishness, his sensuousness, his [illegible]. Another man, with [illegible] tools of opportunity, with [illegible] handicap of ill-health, staggering under the bludgeoning of misfortune, will make it a glorious [illegible] because of his courage, his [illegible] sense of honor, his unselfish [illegible]. The physical circumstances are only incidental, the [illegible] thing is the spirit. We may [illegible] know and we cannot control [illegible] outward conditions that will [illegible] us this year. But we decide and control the inner spirit, which, after all, is the deciding, [illegible] making factor.

"[illegible] it is up to us to settle how [illegible] walk in this new year. We [illegible] in chains if we want, [illegible] by the chariot of our base [illegible]. We can go as the cringing [illegible] of circumstance. We can [illegible] in our poverty of [illegible] and sympathy. We can [illegible] uncertainly, like blind men, [illegible] by our passions and our [illegible]. We can go like dumb cattle goaded by necessity. We can go like heroes unafraid. We can go like the wise men who [illegible] stars. We can go like [illegible] stuff for poesy's golden [illegible] in the highway's common [illegible]. We can go like saints [illegible] in the light and splendor [illegible] divine.

DECIDE OWN WAY

"We largely settle the sort of the [illegible] shall be for us by the companions we select to walk with us [illegible] that uncertain future.

"The wise man of the Hebrew [illegible] desiring the best things for [illegible], prayed that he 'might walk in the way of good men, and [illegible] the paths of the righteous.' He is wise today who seeks to [illegible] with him to profit withal the [illegible] of wise and good men, [illegible] that he can 'shun that which [illegible] and be able to cling to that which is good.' Through long and [illegible] experiences mankind has [illegible] some eternal truths, it [illegible] found some stars to be fixed [illegible] it has found some courses to [illegible] courses. He who is wise [illegible] avail himself of this fund of [illegible] to guide him in the [illegible] year.

"[illegible] one is going to make a success of the New Year's journey he [illegible] do well to avail himself of [illegible] inspiration of great and good [illegible] living and dead. He also [illegible] have the companionship of [illegible] and noble thoughts. But more important than all of these, one [illegible] seek the companionship of [illegible]. The great souls of history [illegible] those who have walked with [illegible]. Thus traveling, one is lifted [illegible] of littleness into greatness of [illegible] and purpose. Walking [illegible] God, one journeys in light and [illegible] in darkness, his path is the [illegible] of purity and not the way of [illegible] and the mire. When one [illegible] with God, every day becomes [illegible] beautiful new experience, full [illegible] wonder and charm and delight. [illegible] he 'walks in newness of [illegible].' When one walks with God [illegible] journey becomes a great adventure, the adventure of faith. It [illegible] an adventure in growth, [illegible] adventure in virtue, and adventure in nobleness and heroism. [illegible] divine companionship may [illegible]. We have only to reach [illegible] our hand to find Him by us. [illegible] have only to open our hearts [illegible] Him come into our lives [illegible] abiding presence. We have [illegible] desire to go with Him, to [illegible] that He goes with us. The promise is as true for 1926 as it was for the disciples of the first century, 'Remember, I am with you always.'"

HOLDS WOMEN MAY PRODUCE GOD-MEN

"The World's Need" is the theme of a lecture given from The Times broadcasting station last night by Jay Wellington, manager of the Mission Garden. Mr. Wellington spoke in part as follows:

"The human instrument has forgotten her supreme part in creation. Without divine thought the child is conceived, with simply human care and treatment the child is born. The moulding time is past, the form is made but the creation of thought-form, possible at the moment the child is conceived, has not been accomplished. The instrument has forgotten that she was destined to be the mother of the sons of God. Her vision has been simply a human vision. She has not opened her soul to that multitude of angels, constructive forces who were ready to plant in the mind of the unborn babe the understanding of the oneness of God and man. A spirtually-thoughtless mother produces a spiritually-thoughtless child—and spiritual thoughtlessness is the reason for the world's misery and crime. Where our thought is, there do we dwell. Truly, mind is the greatest thing in all creation, and the creation of that mind, through which the mother-mind and mother-heart of God can speak to the children of men, that is woman's great work, a work that can help or prevent the plan of the Creator. In divine thought every mother becomes a God-mother."

FUNDAMENTALS OF SCRIPTURE UPHELD

Dr. H. C. Culbertson, pastor of the Mesa Congregational Church, preached yesterday on "Is the Bible True?" He said in part:

"The chief difficulty in discussing this question is that the average congregation in our time does not know enough about the contents of the Bible to understand some of the issues involved. Many of our people are familiar with only a few isolated passages of Scripture and they read the rest, if they ever do at all, with their minds closed, as if repeating a magic charm in an unknown tongue. It is easy to see how beliefs in the miraculous correctness of sacred books originated. Among primitive peoples, certain formulas began to be relied upon as having magic efficacy, and the writings of great men began to have an extraordinary authority, just as we revere the words of Washington. Almost every religion has developed a group of writings regarded as being divinely dictated and binding. The writings of our Old Testament were gradually accumulated and set aside from among the masses of Hebrew writings; and, similarly, church councils selected the writings of our New Testament from among the great output of early Christian literature. If church councils were making such a selection entirely new today, undoubtedly they would leave out a good deal now included in our Bible, and they would perhaps include some books and passages not now included in the canon or sacred collection. The real 'Word of God' is just so much of this religious literature as is attested by the witness of the Holy Spirit of God in our hearts as being spiritual truth. We need a canon, an accepted group of writings such as the Bible, the choice of the most earnest and devout leaders of Christendom, to be a guide and norm for our worship and devotion. The authority of such a canon, however, should not be on the basis of its supposed magical correctness in historical and scientific teaching, for this is comparatively unimportant, but, using the profoundly wise and far-seeing words of the great founders of modern Protestantism, let us say that the supreme function of the Bible is to teach us what man is to believe concerning God, and what duty God requires of man.'"

PROPHESIES VICTORY FOR CHRISTIANITY

Dr. Bruce Brown, pastor of the South Park Christian Church, preached yesterday on "The Winners." He said in part:

"In this age two great outstanding forces are striving for mastery. On one hand we have ignorance and selfishness and on the other faith, hope and love. The pessimist considers the battle lost and is ready to lay down his arms. The man of faith, following the standard of the cross, believes it will not suffer ultimate defeat. The church is hindered today by a band of croakers who are forever wailing that the world is getting worse. A man is blind to the light of the rising sun who does not see that right and truth are destined to conquer the world. Away with the graveyard folk who are always seeking spooks. They are in religion like the cowards during the World War who were always telling us that Germany was going to win. Let it be known now that we are not in a losing battle and that justice and wisdom are to rule the world. Seven out of ten of the great evils that were in the world when Jesus lived have been dethroned and by His gospel the remaining three shall be beaten down. Just as there are a lot of people who ought to be ashamed to look at the flag who are forever saying, 'It can't be enforced,' so in religion there are the obstructors of progress who are forever moaning about the growing power of evil and the end of the age. They have been doing that for 1000 years while brave soldiers on the battle line have been driving the enemy back and carrying forward the cross. Marvelous progress, in spite of them, has been made and the next twenty centuries will see still greater victories. We are following a leader who has never lost a victory."

LIFE ROSIER TO POETICAL WAIF

Promise to Publish Verse Wins Where Offers of Riches Fail

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Numerous offers of a home, of pretty clothes, trips abroad and a college education, failed to change the wish of Lily Olson, 17-year-old Minneapolis girl, to die, but a promise to her by Miss tor of "Poetry" succeeded. Harriett Monroe, editor of "Poetry" succeeded.

Miss Monroe told her that three of her verses would appear in the February issue of her magazine.

"I'd like to live just long enough to see my name on my poems," Lily told doctors.

HEART OF DEVOTION CALLED RICH GIFT

Dr. Charles R. Hudson, pastor of the First Christian Church, preached yesterday on "Money and Grace." He said in part:

"The eighth and ninth chapters of Corinthians contain Paul's instruction on the subject of church finance. He nowhere speaks of money, but calls it a 'grace,' a 'service' or a manifestation of love. He lifts the whole subject out of the realm of the material into the spiritual. It was a God-given grace that was bestowed upon the churches of Macedonia. Because of this grace that was bestowed upon them there issued out of their poverty and their exuberant joy a rich stream of liberality. The reason for this is they first all gave themselves unto the Lord. He does not say how much they gave, but it was beyond their power and more than he could have expected under the circumstances. Munificence is not measured by the amount given, but by the heart and will of the giver."

RABBI EMPHASIZES VALUE OF HUMOR

The value of a sense of humor in dealing with the practical issues of life was stressed in a sermon preached last Friday by Rabbi Ernest Trattner at the Temple Emanu-El. Dr. Trattner said in part:

"One needs a sense of humor to relieve a tense and trying situation. In the darkest days of the Civil War Abraham Lincoln increased his supply of humorous anecdotes. The Bible contains an interesting episode in the troublesome career of King David. If you will turn to the twenty-first chaper of the first book of Samuel, you will read the story of a practical joke in which David completely outwitted Achish, the King of Gath. Commenting on this incident, Dr. Henry S. Coffin remarks: 'David conquered one Philistine with a sling, and another by a practical joke; and who will say that the second was not as divine a method as the first?' It was David's sense of humor that saved his life. He proved in actual experience what the Rabbis have long taught us: Humor is an effective weapon for disarming hostility."

FAMILY BONUSES

Custom Prevails in Government and Private Industries in France

A comparatively new system in modern industry, which is spreading rapidly in France, is the custom of family allowances or bonuses granted to employees by their employers.

It is based on the number of children each workman has and is intended to increase good will in work as well as to encourage larger families. Regard for the family as a unit is another motive. The system is now well established.

It began in a small way when some railroads and coal operators introduced bonuses for the dependents of their workers. The government during the war adopted it for all state employees. It was a feature of the wage awards of the conciliation committees.

Metal firms in Grenoble after the war formed a co-operative pool from which they drew on an agreed scale for their workers with families. Similar pools were started all over France; last June they numbered 176. They have formed a federation or "Central Committee on Family Allowances."

Three-quarters of all industrial workers in France are employed with a guaranty that their families will receive allowances. The system is general, not only in railroads and mines, but in factories and government service. It is spreading to commerce and agriculture.

Great sums are distributed every month in these bonuses, which vary according to the district or the trade. In Paris the allowance for six dependent children is 330 francs a month. At Marseilles it is about one-fifth higher, and at Grenoble only about one-half as much.

Where the cost of living is low the bonus may be only 2 per cent of the father's wages; in the north, where living is dear, it is 5 or 6 per cent. The Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railways pays 7½ per cent.

The system has been proved to be good business for employers, who regard it as increasing each man's output and making him more contented. It is purely voluntary except on government contracts, where the state requires the private contractor to belong to one of the pools or pay similar allowances to workmen who have families. The idea is not entirely new, but is nowhere carried out on such a scale as in France, where everybody is employed and there are no strikes.—[New York Sun.

They Meet at Last

But what dear old bluffers many men are!

For weeks they go about declaring that they don't believe in Christmas, and won't buy a thing for anybody.

But about the last day before Christmas they begin to mellow up, loosen up, and buy Christmas presents galore.

That's what we like about Christmas—it brings out the good qualities that every man has.

Christmas softens the hard heart.—[Atchison Globe.

NEGROES DEDICATE CHURCH

The new building of the Second Baptist Church, oldest negro church in Los Angeles, was dedicated yesterday on the fortieth anniversary of its founding. The new church is at Twenty-fourth street and Griffith avenue. With site and furnishings it cost $175,000, of which $142,000 has been raised.

The services started at 11 a.m. in charge of Dr. Thomas L. Griffith, pastor. At 2:30 p.m. Dr. W. D. Carter of Pasadena spoke and at the evening service Mayor Cryer, Supervisor Bean and President Bent of the Chamber of Commerce were speakers. There will be services at the church every evening this week, in charge of Willam R. Carter, superintendent of negro work for the Southern California Baptist convention.

The Second Baptist Church was founded in 1886 by Rev. S. C. Pierce, who was followed in the pastorate by Rev. Walter Anderson, Rev. J. L. McCoy, Rev. H. D. Prowd and Dr. Griffith. It has a membership exceeding 1000.

Its new building is of brick, in Italian design, and has an auditorium seating 2200, Sunday-school rooms for 1500 and a social hall for 1000.

FRANCE REAPS HUGE PROFIT FROM TOBACCO

STATE CONTROL IN POLAND AND IN DENMARK ALSO PROVIDES REVENUES

The tobacco industry in France, Poland and Denmark is a government monopoly, says the Department of Agriculture in discussing the tobacco monopolies of Europe.

In France the government alone has the right to manufacture and sell tobacco and its cultivation is closely regulated, the report continues. Every person who wishes to cultivate tobacco must receive a government permit. The government not only specifies the number of acres which a grower must cultivate, but also the number of plants an acre. The grower must agree to sow only seeds furnished by the monopoly, to devote the most careful attention to the cultivation of the area intrusted to him for that purpose and to deliver his entire crop to the monopoly at a fixed price, depending on the grade.

The French government realized a net profit of more than $74,600,000 from the operation of the monopoly during 1921, the latest year for which statistics are available. The production of tobacco in France during 1924 amounted to 63,859,000 pounds, which was supplemented by imports amounting to approximately 58,414,000 pounds.

The Polish State tobacco monopoly was established in 1924, the government buying up all of the seventeen private factories. At the end of 1924 its holdings represented a capital investment of $5,940,000. The net profit to the government during the first year of the monopoly was $25,817,000.

The tobacco industry in Denmark is a government monopoly, although producers and dealers have more freedom in the conduct of their business. The Danish government restricts its activities to the control of factories and to the imposition of tobacco taxes and the collection of revenues.

During 1924 approximately 1,159,200,000 cigarettes, or 843 per capita, were consumed in Denmark, one-tenth being of foreign origin. The internal revenue sales tax collected on foreign and domestic manufactured cigarettes during 1924 amounted to $1,384,000. The production of smoking tobacco in the government controlled factories amounted to 4,544,000 pounds, which was supplemented by 421,000 pounds imported from abroad. The consumption of smoking tobacco during 1924 amounted to about 1.5 pounds per capita, the total revenue tax collected on that product amounting to $392,000.—[Exchange.

DEVIL'S TOWER CLIMBED

One of the most interesting points adjacent to the Black Hills is the Devil's tower, a freak of nature located in Wyoming about thirty-five miles from Sundance and eighty-five miles from Deadwood. It rises from the plains in the distance, looking like a gigantic monument.

The summit of the Devil's Tower rises to a height of more than 1200 feet from the plain. It is three and a half miles around the base and the tower part itself shoots up a sheer 800 feet. The tower has been climbed but once, and that was about twenty years ago.

The man who made the ascent spent two months in constructing a ladder up the side before it reached the top. To prevent anyone else attempting to duplicate his feat the bottom part of the ladder has been torn away. The balance of the ladder still remains in plain sight on the side of the tower.—[Dakota Republican.

You Don't Have to Believe This

A minister in a certain town in Alabama took permanent leave of his congregation in the following manner:

"Brothers and sisters, I come to say good-by. I don't think God loves this church, because none of you ever die. I don't think you love each other, because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me, because you have not paid my salary. Your donations are moldy fruit and wormy apples, and 'by their fruits ye shall know them.'

"Brethren, I am going away to a better place. I have been called to be chaplain of a penitentiary. 'Where I go ye cannot come, but I go to prepare a place for you,' and may the Lord have mercy on your souls. Good-by."—[Failure Magazine.

SHE KNEW HER LESSON

Recently Thelma and Alberta, 8 and 5, respectively, were staying for the day with their Aunt Ruth while their mother was downtown doing some Christmas shopping. Both children are firm believers in the down-the-chimney variety of Santa Claus. Naturally, talk was of Christmas and Christmas only.

Presently Alberta asked: "Aunt Ruth, is there just one Santa Claus or a whole lot of Santas?"

Before Aunt Ruth had a chance to answer, Thelma, who already boasts of two years in school, asserted: "Of course, there are more than one Santa Claus; because if there were only one, he would be called 'Santa Clau.'"

What could auntie say? As it happened, her verification was not asked.—[Indianapolis News.

Horsemanship

Speaking of the Prince of Wales, we desire to say that falling off a horse when he shies and falling with a horse are two very different things. By saying so, we become the only writer in the public prints who knows that much. We know that any man who says he has never had a fall advertises himself as an inexperienced horseman. Therefore, in our wisdom, we do not berate the Prince as a bad rider for his latest somersault. We are convinced, however, that he is a bad horseman; for the art of horsemanship includes the knack of keeping your horse on his feet.—[New Yorker.

DISCOVERY OF A NEW BIBLE FRAGMENT

Prof. N. Beer, scientific attache of the Greek legation in Berlin, in the course of the examination of a private collection of manuscripts that was brought to Germany some years ago from the monastery of Mt. Sinai, has discovered a fragment of the famous "Codex Sinaiticus."

This codex is estimated by experts to be one of the oldest manuscript versions of Holy Scripture we possess, but is only known in a very incomplete form. According to tradition, it is one of fifty manuscript copies that Emperor Constantinus had made, being the copy he presented the Christians of Asia Minor.

The fragment now recovered in this unexpected fashion presents some exceedingly interesting points for comment. It is at present being examined carefully and translated by Prof. Beer and other authorities, and as soon as they have reported on it fully the results of the investigation will be published in a paleographical journal.—[Kansas City Star.

Two Creators of Lincoln Life Scenes Meet

The author of the famous stage play "Abraham Lincoln," and the director of the screen play of the same name, although a different play, met for the first time yesterday at the Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer studios, when John Drinkwater, playwright, and Phil Rosen, screen director, compared notes on their respective works.

Phil Rosen

"The film version was very different from mine and I can't say that mine was the better," said Drinkwater. "They are too different to be compared that way."

"The stage play was an inspiration in directing the screen story," said Rosen.

The playwright, here on a lecture tour, visited the studio as the guest of Carmel Myers.

FEW FOREIGNERS IN KANSAS

Kansas has comparatively few residents who are not native Americans and nearly two-thirds of the residents of the State are native Jayhawkers. The compilation of the decennial census by the State Board of Agriculture revealed that Kansas has few foreign born and even there has been a marked decrease in the foreign born in the last ten years. The total population of the State was 1,812,986 March 1. Of these, 1,681,646, or 92.7 per cent, were born in the United States, 88,010 were foreign born, while the place of birth was not recorded for 43,512. The foreign born population comprised but 4.85 per cent of the State's total this year, as compared with 6.89 per cent in 1915.—[Topeka correspondent of Kansas City Star.

MOST PEOPLE HONEST

That the great majority of people are honest was demonstrated once again the other day when a taxicab dashed up to 24 Walker street, New York City, the telephone company's long-distance headquarters, and out jumped a man who insisted on paying for a telephone call to Havana, Cuba, which he said he had just made. He did not leave any name.

A short time before that a call had come through from a telephone pay station at Broadway and Eighty-second street for a number in Havana. The operator told the man it would cost $13.65 for three minutes' conversation. He talked for thirty-three minutes, and when he was through, was told his conversation would cost him $105.11 more. Without showing the least concern he began stuffing quarters and dimes into the box until it would hold no more. Then the operator asked him to wait until she could send up a collector, but when the collector arrived he found that the man had made his way to the Walker street building, where payment for the call was completed.—[Telephone Press.

Advertisements on rate holder rates on application.

To estimate the cost of want ads count 5 average words per line. Words containing more than 6 letters should be counted as two words.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times for payment of Want Ads as no mistakes will be rectified without them.

Consecutive order advertisements for the Daily or Sunday Times cannot be discontinued or changed after 4:30 p.m. of the day preceding date of insertion.

Cancellations of advertisements before appearance cannot be guaranteed to take effect until after the advertisement has appeared once. Countermands must be received by 2:30 p.m. for daily issue and 6 p.m. Friday for Sunday issues.

Rates for display advertising will be furnished on request.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

The inadvertent omission or incorrect publishing of advertising will be rectified only by cancellation of the charge made for the service rendered.

FRIDAY, 8 P.M. is closing hour for the early issue of the Sunday Times.

BERLIN WE TO HEIRE

Father Defied Miss Mackay

New York Society Girl T Vows Despite Oppositi Voiced by Parent

"Without My Consent," Magnate of Marriage t Song Writer

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—I Berlin, the Russian immigrant former Bowery saloon waiter later became a popular song w and producer of reviews, married Miss Ellin Mackay, da ter of Clarence H. Mackay, hea the Postal Telegraph Comp The ceremony was performe Deputy City Clerk McCormic the Municipal Building.

When informed of the marr Mr. Mackay, prominent layma the Roman Catholic Church, a statement asserting: "The ding was a complete surprise was without my knowledge or sent. Beyond that I have not to say."

Three years ago Miss Mac who is 22 years of age, made debut in society. Berlin gave age as 37.

SPECIAL DISPENSATION

Mr. Mackay's persistent op tion delayed the marriage w had been expected for month friends of Berlin and Miss Mac Her mother, who now is the of Dr. Joseph A. Blake, gave consent several months ago.

Berlin's song "Rememb which was sung by John Mc mack in the international program New Year's night, is to have been written to Miss kay.

In a recent magazine article Mackay said that society girls frequenting cabarets because wanted privacy from "unattra people" often found in society another article she said that m ern society girls marry as choose, "without chasing eli young men."

The only witnesses at the ding were Ben Bloom and Mr. Mrs. Max Winslow. Neither nor his wife gave any info tion where they will spend honeymoon.

GAINS SUCCESS

Soon after arriving in this c try, a penniless and friendless migrant boy, Berlin was empl as singing waiter in "Nigger M Saulter's saloon in the Bow Soon he began to write songs, when the first measure of suc reached him, he changed his n
